SCHOOL BUSES: A POLICE SHADOW

In a scene repeated throughout Marin and Southern Sonoma today, pupils alight from a school bus at Coleman School in San Rafael under the tight surveillance of a police car. The cryptic threats of the Zodiac killer against school children have brought unusual police precautions. Most law enforcement agencies said they were following school buses, although others declined to divulge their procedures in fear of tipping their hand. (Independent-Journal photo)

Pentagon Scuttles Cease-Fire Rumors

Unilateral Nixon Try Held Futile

WASHINGTON (AP) — A high defense official said today the Pentagon opposes a unilateral cease-fire in Vietnam unless the North Vietnamese also agree to stop the shooting.

The official said the Pentagon does not believe a unilateral cease-fire by the United States, without some assurance the enemy would go along, "would be a successful approach.'

The comment came as President Richard M. Nixon prepared to make a major Vietnam address Nov. 3. It appeared to be designed to scotch rumors Nixon would announce a cease-fire at that time.

The defense official, who spoke to newsmen under the stipulation he not be identified by name, cautioned against speculation on what Nixon will say in his speech but he said it will be important.

In that address, the official said, the administration's Vietnam program "will be set forth in detail." He declined to indicate whether further U.S. troop withdrawals are in prospect.

The defense official's mention of Pentagon opposition to a unilateral cease-fire came shortly after Gen. William C. Westmoreland, Army Chief of Staff, told a Greenwood, S.C., audience he opposes such a move.

Comments by the two thus tended to knock down reports earlier this week that the military advisers to the President were recommending that the United States halt firing.

The official also suggested it is wrong to equate the administration's so-called "protective reaction" tactics in the war with a cease-fire.

Scott Proposes Vietnam War Halt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania proposed today that the United States declare a cease-fire in Vietnam. He denied he was floating a trial balloon for President Richard M. Nixon.

"I hope that a cease-fire may be called for," Scott said, thus joining in a proposal sounded repeatedly by Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the majority leader. "This is not a trial balloon for the President, it's a personal hope."

Scott said the current U.S. tactics of protective reaction to enemy assault come close to a cease-fire.

"But there is no formalized cease fire," he said. "I think the time has come to move from protective reaction to an announcement that on a certain date we will stop firing, and if we are not fired on a cease fire will occur."

Scott did not suggest any date. But he said such a move could not occur in advance of Nixon's report next month to the nation on Vietnam.

"I wouldn't think anything could happen of that kind before Nov. 3," he told reporters on the Senate floor.

Mansfield said the new approach of protective reaction "means we have moved a long distance in the direction of a cease fire and stand fast policy."

He said it means U.S. forces fire only when there is a threat they will be fired upon.

Mansfield praised Nixon "for initiating this new and highly significant tactic."

Scott said the cease fire he seeks should cover both U.S. and South Vietnamese forces.

Meanwhile, the White House took note of cautious expressions of support in Congress for Nixon's Vietnam policies.

Nixon's press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, was asked how he characterized the spectacle of Sens. Mansfield, J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and George D. Aiken, R-Vt., coming out almost simultaneously for administration policy.

Ziegler refused to characterize. But later he said he assumed that the course of action with respect to Vietnam that Nixon outlined May 14 in a speech to the nation, was being taken into consideration.

This policy may come up for elaboration in Nixon's speech Nov. 3.

Over the last few days, Fulbright has said he thought Nixon was doing the best he could to settle the war. Mansfield said he regarded administration policy as amounting to a cease-fire. Aiken has spoken along similar lines.

Additionally, House GOP Leader Gerald Ford of Michigan has voiced some optimism about peace prospects and said he expects the U.S. commitment in Vietnam to be reduce substantially in the next year.

Asked whether that was a correct appraisal, Ziegler referred to Nixon's forthcoming speech.

Ziegler was asked if he thought Nixon's bid for 60-day moratorium on criticism of his Vietnamese policy was having some success. The press secretary said he thought it was being accepted.

Earlier, Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., accused Vice

Zodiac Fails To Show For Belli Rendezvous

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A man who said he was Zodiac, killer of five persons in the Bay Area, set up a secret meeting with attorney Melvin Belli today in a startling series of telephone calls to a television talk show.

Police said they "don't know" whether the calls were from a hoaxer. They worked closely with the show's producers and host, Jim Dunbar, of KGO-TV.

Belli, the morning show's guest, agreed to meet the man at a secret location in a city starting with the letter "D" — possibly Daly City just south of San Francisco. Belli was ordered to come alone.

Shortly after noon today, in a United Press International story from San Francisco, Belli reported to authorities he waited 45 minutes at the appointed meeting place in nearby Daly City, but there was no sign of the other man.

The caller spoke at least seven times with Dunbar and Belli between 7 a.m. and 9 a.m. The clandestine meeting was set up off camera.

The killings since December 1968, in the Napa and Vallejo areas and San Francisco, have been accompanied by a bizarre assortment of encoded message segments to newspapers, telephone calls following the killings, and letters directly to newspapers, taunting police and boasting of Zodiac's process.

Zodiac has threatened to kill again, and has struck fear into the areas where he has killed.

Today's development started at 2 a.m. when the man who said he was Zodiac telephone police and said he wanted to talk to Belli or another well-known attorney, F. Lee Bailey.

Then he repeatedly called the television station.

"I'll kill," he told Dunbar, unless he could talke to Belli. All the conversations were heard live by the television audience.

In all the talk show calls, the man talked with Dunbar and Belli. In the fourth call, at 7:30 a.m., the man described suffering bad headaches.

Suddenly he said, "I'm going to kill them. I'm going to kill all those kids."

In a letter last week to the San Francisco Chronicle, the writer, identified as Zodiac by police handwriting experts, said he planned to make a busload of school children his next victims.

He said he would lay in wait, put a bullet through a bus tire, then pick off the children "as

Gun Selling Surprise To Witnesses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Kansas City police officers said today they would never have released confiscated weapons to the Army's former provost marshal general had they known he intended to sell them for private profit.

But retired Maj. Gen. Carl C. Turner, citing the wording of receipts for the 96 guns he obtained, insisted the officers knew the weapons they gave him were for his personal collection, not for Army training or display.

His testimony and that of the police officials was heard by a Senate subcommittee investigating charges that, as provost marshal, Turner blocked an Army investigation of an alleged multimillion-dollar graft by a ring of top enlisted men.

Turner heard his testimony contradicted by Clarence Kelley, chief of the Kansas City police department, and two other police officials.

"He was quite clear . . . that the guns eventually would go to the military police museum at

New Move To Force Open Georgia Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government asked today for a preliminary injunction to force Georgia to desegregate its 192 public school systems by the opening of the 1970-71 school year.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said the request was included in a motion, filed in Atlanta federal court, that sought to expedite a desegregation suit which the Justice Department brought against Georgia last Aug. 1.

SUPERVISORS RECOIL

Communal Family Caravan Tries Touch On Marin Welfare Cash

A large communal family of 62 persons from New York, including a one-year-old baby, marched into the Civic Center yesterday and demanded money and food to continue their trek to Los Angeles.

If refused, they threatened to file 62 individual applications for general relief, said Betty Presley, director of the Department of Public Social Services.

Miss Presley reported the confrontation to the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday afternoon and asked for a decision on what to do.

"We said no, but it went over like a dead balloon," said Miss Presley. She said the group came in five buses and two pickup trucks and was stalled somewhere on a street in Sausalito.

"They are asking for $500 to repair their vehicles, plus money for gasoline and food to get to Los Angeles."

Supervisors backed up Miss Presley, telling her to stick by her denial and give routine treatment if they demanded individual applications.

"If it's individual applications, my decision would be a denial," said Miss Presley.

"Ask them if they've tried working," suggested Louis H. Baar.

"My decision would be a firm no," added Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. "And if they want to apply individually, let them."

"They deserve routine handling," said Chairman John F. McInnis. And if routine handling means delay, the group will have to put up with it just like anyone else, said McInnis.

Michael Wornum pointed out that if such a group got blanket approval, it would be an invitation for every group to come in and demand: "Give me money to move on."

Send them to Sonoma County," suggested William A. Gnoss. "They need grape pickers over there."

Late in the afternoon, Miss Presley returned to report that one family of five, including three children, had planted themselves in the welfare office all afternoon and insisted that the children be fed or taken to a receiving home. "We'd be willing to take the children for tonight and take the case to court tomorrow."

"It makes sense to take care of the children if they need food or medical care," said Arrigoni.

But he said he is opposed to subsidizing adults who use children to get aid for themselves.

Supervisors authorized Miss Presley to take the children to a receiving home and follow the regular legal processes.

Lebanon's Prime Minister Quits; Mideast Crisis Grow

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lebanon's prime minister resigned today as protests mounted at home and in neighboring Arab countries against the Lebanese army's attempt to check Arab guerrillas using the country as a base for attacks against Israel.

Prime Minister Rashid Karami submitted his resignation as mobs rioted in the Arab quarter of Beirut, the Lebanese capital, stoning police from behind improvised barricades.

Karami's cabinet quit last year when the guerrilla question erupted in riots, but the government stayed on in a caretaker capacity while Karami sought to form a new government.

Lebanon, a country with a population almost evenly divided between Christians and Moslems, has sought to steer a militarily neutral stance in the Arab-Israeli conflict. But the presence of 200,000 Palestinian refugees in the country and the growth of the Arab guerrilla movement have upset the balance.

Tens of thousands of demonstrators marched peacefully through Baghdad and Amman. The demonstrators in the Iraqi capital shouted, "Death to the criminal rulers of Lebanon!" and, "Down with imperialist-backed regimes!" Baghdad Radio reported.

The Iraqi government offered its army's assistance to Arab guerrillas in Lebanon.

Syria took the lead in the protests, closing its border with Lebanon last night a few hours after the Palestine Liberation Organization reported 14 guerrillas killed and 25 wounded in a Lebanese army attack on three guerrilla villages.

The PLO also claimed five Lebanese civilians were killed in

Russian In 'Oh, Boy!' Mockup Trip

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — A Russian cosmonaut, using a sophisticated American space simulator, uttered a good American exclamation today as he guided a lunar landing mockup to rendezvous with a command module.

"Oh, boy! Oh, boy! Oh, boy!" exclaimed Maj. Gen. Georgi T. Beregovoy, 48, in English as his mockup and the simulated command capsule touched.

The scene was a darkened room at the Manned Spacecraft Center here. It contains the two simulators which move, turn, roll and dip, using cushions of air. An American pilot maneuvered the command module.

General Beregovoy and another cosmonaut, Konstantin Feoktistov, 43, are on a tour of the United States.

Before that, each went inside less sophisticated mockups of the lunar landing and command modules. These have controls and instruments like the real things, and sceones are projected on the windows that give those inside the feeling of being in space.

In this demonstration, the cosmonauts' talk grew particularly excited when the simulation appeared to take them over the moon's surface. They spoke in Russian then.

Earlier today, the two toured mission control, the electronic nerve center of manned space flights. They asked questions of Glynn Lunney, the mission controller for Apollo 8.

The cosmonauts watched the Apollo 12 mission control team practice translunar injection. Apollo 12 is scheduled to take off for the moon in November.

The two were guests last night at a dinner given them by

Greyhound May Run Away If Ferry Sails

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SAN FRANCISCO — Marin commuters soon may have no bus service to gripe about.

This was the prediction yesterday from the president of Greyhound Lines West, Frank L. Nageotte.

The decision last Thursday by Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District directors to go into the ferryboat business, and to discard all proposals for a commuter bus service, showed his company no longer can expect any relief from its deficit service to Marin, Nageotte told the Independent-Journal.

The California Public Utility Commission's staff testified in two previous Greyhound fare-hearings that the PUC should allow the bus company to abandon its Marin service—unless a public agency promptly came forward to take over the service, Nageotte noted.

Greyhound has been trying for years to do just that, but the PUC has held off granting permission to abandon the service. In fare hearings last year, however, the PUC staff said Greyhound could not be forced to wait forever.

Nageotte said his company will decide in the next few weeks whether to seek a "sizable" fare increase as well as abandonment. Greyhound thus would be asking the PUC to "take your pick," Nageotte said.

Greyhound probably will hold off a decision on whether to seek abandonment of its Marin service pending PUC action on an 8.75 per cent fare increase previously asked by the company, he said. Action on it is expected in a few weeks, he added.

Greyhound's annual loss in Marin is almost $300,000, Nageotte said, adding the deficit is subsidized by profitable service elsewhere in the state. The Marin deficit could drag the rest of Greyhound's operations

Federal Aide Sees End To HCL Spiral

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs rose five-tenths of 1 per cent in September, continuing the nation's sharpest inflationary spiral in some 20 years, the Labor Department reported today.

Clothing prices rose at about double the usual increase for September; food prices failed to show their usual decline for the month; housing costs continued to rise and there were increases for all kinds of consumer services, said the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The increase boosted the governent's Consumer Price Index to 129.3. This means it cost $12.93 last month for every $10 worth of goods and services in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

However, Asst. Commissioner Arnold Chase of the bureau said it was encouaging that the rate of acceleration of price increases had stopped and he predicted next year's rise in living costs would be less than this year's.

Living costs have risen 4.5 per cent so far in 1969 compared with 3.4 per cent in the first nine

ANTI-SHAH PROTEST—Iranian students and others clash with police outside the Iranian Consulate in San Francisco while the Shah of Iran was conferring yesterday with President Richard M. Nixon in Washington. The protest was short-lived with police using clubs to break up the crowd. (AP Wirephoto)

Short Bay Protest To Shah's Visit With Nixon

COMBINED AP & UPI

SAN FRANCISCO — A brief flurry of club-swinging broke out yesterday when demonstrators, protesting a U.S. visit by the Shah of Iran, attempted to break thorugh police lines at the Iranian Consulate.

Only one of the 200 demonstrators was arrested. The youths were mainly from the Iranian Student Association and Students for a Democratic Society.

Raymond Croteau, 30, was arrested for battery on a police officer. Authorities said he struck officer Fred Mott with a portable no parking sign in an attempt to break through the line of 40 policemen.

The demonstrators carried signs reading "Down with the Shah" and "Defeat U.S. Imperialism." They passed out leaflets calling the Shah a "puppet" of "U.S. Imperialism."

Iranian Consul General Hossein Eshraghi said "a handful of Iranian students do this sort of thing frequently" but said "they do not represent the Iranian students of the Bay Area which number about 2,000."

Meanwhile last night, President Richard M. Nixon wound up a state visit by the Shah of Iran with an exchange of glowing toasts, expressions of mutual interest in football and an invitation for Nixon to visit the Shah's kingdom again.

In champagne toasts at a state dinner Nixon had such warm tributes for the Shah, whom he met on visits to Iran in 1953 and 1968, that his visitor declared:

"I am overwhelmed by the warmth of your sentiments, which could only come from a true friend, someone who is sharing your problems and understanding your problems."

During the day the two heads of state conferred privately. The Shah reportedly wants increased military aid for his nation, which he believes should be the major peacekeeping force in the strategic Persian Gulf.

Nixon noted at the dinner the Shah had been a guest in the White House of every president beginning with Harry S Truman and joked: "On that count he's far ahead of me."

One thing they both have in common, Nixon said, is a love for sports and playing football. But there was a difference, Nixon conceded: "I sat on the bench. He was captain of the team."

The Shah declared that he was "waiting with the greatest anticipation" for another visit from Nixon to his homeland.

Condemed Arkansas Inmate Fights Death

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP) — William Lee Maxwell is fighting for his life before the U.S. Suprtme Court and victory might determine whether men in death houses across the nation will live.

"I believe every man was born for something and maybe I was born to go through all this," said Maxwell, an inmate on Tucker's death row for seven years.

Maxwell, a Negro, faces death for his 1962 conviction in the rape of a white woman in Hot Springs. His appeal to the Supreme Court raises questions that could affest the validity of the convictions of about 500 condemned men in the United States, including those at San Quentin.

"A LONG WAY"

George Howard Jr. of Pine Bluff, one of his attorneys, says Maxwell's case "could go a long way in abolishing the death sentence."

The appeal challenges the constitutionality of allowing juries to impose the death sentence without following certain guidelines or standards, and questions the system of permitting juries to determine guilt and punishment at the same time.

The Supreme Court has postponed arguments on the case until the ninth seat on the bench —the one for which President Nixon has nominated Judge Clewent F. Haynsworth Jr. — is filled.

"If everything turns out right, the seven years I spent down here were not in vain," Maxwell says. "If 500 peoples' lives can be saved, I've accomplished something."

CLAIMS INNOCENCE

Maxwell maintains he is innocent. He sought unsuccessfully to overturn his death sentence in the Arkansas Supreme Court and lower federal courts, alleging initially that the death penalty was discriminatorily applied against Negroes accused of raping white women.

He has reached the age of 30 thanks to several stays of execution. He came within hours once of dying on "Old Satan," or "Sparky," as the death row inmates call the state's homemade 56-year-old electric chair.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller has since declared a moratorium on executions until the Supreme Court rules on the death penalty. The chair has been dismantled and stored in the prison tailor shop.

Maxwell said he had prepared himself for death.

"I wasn't going to jump or shout," he says. "I wasn't afraid."

Kennedy TV Tape Played In Courtroom

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (UPI) —The flat Boston accent of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy broke an expectant hush in the courtroom.

"I made immediate and repeated attempts to save Mary Jo by diving into the strong and murky currents, but succeeded only in increasing my state of utter exhaustion and alarm," the voice said.

Playing in the courtroom yesterday was a tape of a broadcast Kennedy made to national radio and television audiences recalling the night of July 18 when his automobile plunged off a narrow wooden bridge into a tidal pond on Chappaquiddick Island, Mass.

DESCRIBES ATTEMPT

He described a futile attempt to rescue his passenger, Mary Jo Kopechne, 28, a Washington, D.C. secretary, from her death.

Mary Jo's parents, Joseph and Gwendolyn Kopechne, sat side by side in the courtroom of Judge Bernard Brominski Tuesday when the 12-minute tape was played.

Minutes later, Joseph Kopechne broke into tears. His wife sat with her head down, her chin on her hands.

Judge Brominski now must decide if Mary Jo's body should be taken from its grave in a nearby Larksville, Pa., cemetery so an autopsy can be performed.

PETITIONS COURT

Edmund S. Dinis, a Massachusetts district attorney, had petitioned the Luzerne County, Pa., court for an order permitting exhumation of Mary Jo's body for an autopsy.

Joseph Kopechne opposed the motion, telling the court in a low voice, "We feel now more than ever that we do not want an autopsy."

$5,000 X-Ray Wanted For Scanning Reagan Packages

SACRAMENTO (AP) — That package coming into Gov. Ronald Reagan's office could be just an apple pie from an admirer—

How do you tell the difference?

Buy an X-ray machine and give any suspicious package the once-over, says the retired Army major general who runs the state's housekeeping services.

The recommendation yesterday from Andrew J. Lolli, of San Rafael, director of the General Services Department, was the latest to improve security around Reagan, already the best-guarded chief executive in state history.

Eleven positions recently were added to the State Police for guard purposes at his home, and bullet-proof glass was installed in his Capitol office last year.

Now, Lolli said, the time has come to buy a portable X-ray machine at a cost of about $5,000 to scan any suspicious packages reaching the governor's office.

He noted that at present, packages that arouse doubt in the Capitol are handed over to a state policeman. Lolli pointed out he "has to drive the suspicious package on a jarring 25-mile journey to Folsom Prison. The policeman is in danger, delivery of the package is delayed, and very few packages can be examined."

At Folsom, the package is X-rayed. Packages received in Los Angeles go to a private medical office for X-ray.

Lolli said the machine would pay for itself easily by saving the costs involved in transport under the present system.

He also noted the machine could be carried with Reagan—or any future governor — when he travels.

Beatle Alive And Well In England

LONDON (AP) — Beatle Paul McCartney protested today that reports of his death were exaggerated and friends of the millionaire pop musician insisted he was alive and well and driving around England with his wife, two children and a dog.

"We are being flooded with telephone calls, cables and letters about rumors in the United States that Paul has been dead for years," said Apple, the Beatles' business organization, "and they are all ridiculous."

"I saw him nine days ago and he was the same Beatle I've always seen," said an employee of London's Savoy Hotel where Paul attended a night club opening last week.

Marinites Win Sonoma Quarry Permit Renewal

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County supervisors yesterday reversed the board of zoning adjustments decision and granted McPhail's of San Rafael a use permit for its sand and gravel operation in Alexander Valley, northeast of Healdsburg.

The use permit had been revoked last month by the board when neighbors complained that the operation had become a nuisance over the years. Noise, dust, smoke and increased truck traffic were cited by residents.

Company officials and attorneys pointed out that the quarry serves a good purpose in reducing the dangers of floods in the valley. Also noted were the large company payroll and its low bidding record on county projects.

Dory Previn, who has written the lyrics for some of his songs, issued a statement yesterday saying:

Skyjack Trouble

BERLIN (AP) — While Poland is demanding extradition of two East Germans who hijacked a Polish airliner to West Berlin, French authorities indicate they may put the pair on trial because the plane landed in the French sector of the city.

Two young armed East Berliners forced the pilot of the Warsaw-to-Brussels flight to land in West Berlin Sunday night. They are being held by French authorities and have asked for political asylum. The plane was returned.

The West German government condemned the hijacking and appears to fear it may hinder Bonn's attempts to improve relations with Poland.

New Flood Fear

TUNIS (AP) — New torrential rains pounded Tunisia last night and today, nearly isolating Tunis and Bizerte from the rest of the country.

Broadcasts warned residents of low-lying suburbs to head for higher ground. Basements filled, and some ancient buildings in the Medina showed signs of crumbling.

Floodwaters surging down normally dry riverbeds, or wadis, swept away bridges and cut highways. Some rivers changed from one bed to another, carrying away everything in their paths.

Saigon To Take Over Major Base

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government announced today that its forces on Friday will take over a major US.S. base in the critical Third Corps military zone surrounding Saigon for the first time.

The South Vietnamese said the sprawling Black Horse base camp 40 miles east of the capital will be transferred to South Vietnam's 18th Infantry Division, paving the way for more American troop withdrawals beyond the 60,000 already announced.

The camp, which contains 14 miles of roads and 955 buildings, was until last June the operational base of the U.S. 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment and since then the U.S. 199th Light Infantry Brigade has been stationed there.

There has been speculation that both the 11th Armored Cavalry regiment, now stationed 65 miles north of Saigon at Quan Loi, and the 199th Light Infantry Brigade will be withdrawn from Vietnam in 1970.

Meanwhile, allied battlefield communiques indicated stepped-up action across the country, but spokesmen said fighting was still at the relatively low level that has prevailed for the past seven weeks.

Allied air and ground forces reported killing 145 enemy soldiers in a dozen small clashes from the Mekong Delta to the demilitarized zone. Not more than 25 enemy were reported killed in any single fight.

South Vietnamese losses were put at three killed and 32 wounded. The U.S. Command reported one American killed and nine wounded in ground fighting and said three Americans were killed and two wounded in some of the 22 enemy rocket and mortar attacks reported from 8 a.m. Tuesday to 8 a.m. Wednesday.

South Vietnamese headquarters said two civilians were killed by enemy shelling, and 12 civilians and two government soldiers were killed when a bus ran over a Viet Cong mine in the Mekong Delta 70 miles southwest of Saigon.

U.S. B52 bombers attacked North Vietnamese base camps along the demilitarized zone for the first time in 12 days shortly after sporadic fighting broke out in the northern frontier region.

Chilean General Calls Off Revolt For Pay

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)— Gen. Roberto Viaux called off his regiment's 22-hour revolt for more pay today, ending Chile's first military uprising in 37 years. Viaux proclaimed his "absolute loyalty" to President Eduardo Frei.

Viaux went on nationwide radio to announced he had turned his rebel command over to a presidential envoy, Gen. Alfredo Mahn. The government said the general will be court-martialed. He was not arrested.

Viaux's eight-point communique disclaimed responsibility for the wounding of 14 civilians last night in an outburst of gunfire from his regiment's surrounded headquarters.

The revolt had "no political concommitance whatsoever" and was the result of "absolute sincereity and profound frankness," Viaux said. He had emphasized all along that the revolt was not against the government but against the army high command.

Viaux said the aim of the insurrection was to get improvements for the army including "remunerations commensurate with the importance of the mission performed by (army) members..."

"I am satisfied with the solution of the conflict," Viaux said. "This matter was strictly to obtain an improvement in the material and economic situation of the armed forces." No pay raises were announced.

As he left for home, Viaux told newsmen he would be subject to military justice, meaning he could face a summary court martial even though technically retired.

The government said gunfire from roofs of the rebels' besieged barracks wounded 14 civilians, including a 17-year-old girl. Three of the wounded were in critical condition.

Piledriver Clamor End's In Sight

That hammering that has driven Kentfield and College of Marin crazy for weeks should end in a few days.

The racket has come from a steam-powered piledriver which is sinking 231 piles for the new science building on the college campus. Each piling goes 65 to 70 feet deep.

Starting this week, Amoroso Construction Co. had only 71 piles left to go, plus any piles that may have to be redriven. At a top rate of 25 piles a day, the company should finish early next week, barring rain, reported Earlene Jones, college publicist.

Central Valley Fires, Marin's Cars Make Smog

Heavy smog which hung over Marin County and the North Bay yesterday broke a record by reaching 93 on the combined pollutant index, reported Richard B. Hacker of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

The smog, caused by local cars, industry, and backyard burning combined with wind conditions blowing in particles from agricultural burning in the Sacramento Valley, was to remain with us today but in a much milder dose, he noted.

The index reading was expected to drop today to between 25 and 50, which is regarded as light, Hacker said, because of dropping temperatures and overcast skies which allow better ventilation of the air.

The all time high smog reading for the Bay Area was reached last year by San Francisco with an index figure of 121. Smog level reached 88 there yesterday.

The darkish color, so apparent in the sky yesterday, was caused by nitrogen dioxide from automobiles, Hacker said.

"right down into the doldrums," he declared.

Ferryboats "just won't be relief," Nageotte said. "It looks to me like San Francisco made the decision; it's unfortunate for the people in Marin," he said, "but the San Francisco supervisors aren't too concerned with what happens to them."

The pro-ferryboat decision by the bridge board, Nageotte said, was the "handwriting on the wall" for Greyhound.

The company carries about 3,800 daily commuters from Marin to San Francisco.

Given the fact that about 1.5 commuters crowd into each car, the loss to the bus service would add tbout 2,500 cars to bridge traffic—equal to the number of additional autos expected over the next three years, by which time the congestion is expected to stretch another hour to a total of three hours each morning and evening.

months of last year, which had been the sharpest increase since the Korean War year of 1951.

Prices in September were 5.8 per cent above a year earlier.

Despite the price increases, the bureau reported that the purchasing power of some 45 million rank and file workers rose last month because of a five-cent gain in average hourly earnings.

The average pay check last month rose $1.29 to $117.80 per week.

After taxes the average pay check was $102.44, up 99 cents from August, and after allowing for the rise in living costs, it was 40 cents higher for the average worker with three dependents.

The report said food prices were up one-tenth of one per cent because of higher restaurant charges, but groceries purchased for home use remained unchanged.

Housing costs rose six-tenths of one per cent in September, clothing rose 1.7 per cent and medical costs were five-tenths of one per cent higher.

The only major price category showing a decline was transportation, down five-tenths of one per cent because of lower prices for new and used cars.

About 74,000 workers with cost of living escalator clauses in their labor contracts will receive wage hikes based on the rise in prices over varying periods.

They include some 22,000 workers, mostly in the aerospace industry, who will get eight or nine cents more per hour because of the rise over the past year.

Another 21,000, in public transit and aerospace, will get hourly increases ranging from three to five cents based o the price rise from June to September.

Flagpole At High School Little Shorter

The flagpole at San Rafael High School was eight feet shorter today because somebody tried to saw it down.

Police on patrol at 2 a.m. last Saturday discovered that someone had sawed the 55-foot pole about eight feet above the ground, or a foot above its steel supports. About one inch of the pole's diameter remained unsawed.

School maintenance men attempted to brace the pole, but on Monday a crane was called to take it down. Yesterday, eight feet sawed off the bottom, it was replace on its base.

Charles L. Condrotte, business manager for the city schools, said the two visits by the crane, to take the pole down and replace it, cost taxpayers $326.50. A new pole would have cost $750 to $800 plus installation cost, he said.

Condrotte disclosed that this was the second attempt to saw down the flagpole. In the first attempt, about two months ago, a night maintenance man at work at the school heard a chain saw and went to investigate. He reported he saw two men — or grown boys — run in different directions. The pole has not yet been damaged.

Although police discovered the damage Saturday and notified Principal Alen W. Ellsberg, there was no report at San Rafael police headquarters nor entry on the police log for that night.

The White House said Agnew's Sunday statement of antiwar demonstrators had not been discussed in advance with Nixon.

Youth Back In Jail In Theft Probe

A Petaluma youth, already pending trial in Marin on three felony charges, was arrested on suspicion of burgling a San Anselmo house and possessing stolen property yesterday, police reported.

John Edward Brown, 19, of 621 West First Street, was held at Marin County Jail in lieu of $2,500 bail. A companion, Genice Ann Hollis, 15, of San Francisco, was booked into Marin Juvenile Hall on suspicion of burglary.

Police said a witness called at 10:30 a.m. yesterday to report a burglary in progress at the Adolph Lopez residence, 9 Ancha Vista Avenue, Apt. A.

Police spotted Brown and Miss Hollis a few minutes later walking on Red Hill Avenue, and said they found a radio and a gold bracelet on Brown when they stopped the two.

Another witness told police he saw the two climb a fence leaving Lopez's residence, the girl handing some items over the fence to Brown.

Police said they also recovered another radios, a camera, a typewriter, a class ring and two knives, which the pair had dropped.

Brown pleaded innocent Monday in Marin Superior Court to charges of burgling Mac's Saw Service in San Rafael Sept. 13 and burgling and stealing a car from Dexter Pontiac in San Rafael Aug. 13. He was free on $750 bail pending trial Jan. 19.

Brown was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court

the villages of Kafr Shams, Majdal Salam and Al Shakra, and that 30 to 40 guerrillas were arrested. It said Lebanese troops and tanks had surrounded the villages, and both Lebanese and Israeli artillery attacked them.

Libya's new leftist military government asked the Lebanese ambassador to return home and inform his government of Libya's "concern over the bloody incident," Egypt's official Middle East News Agency reported. The Libyan cabinet also recalled its ambassador in Lebanon.

In Israel, meanwhile, explosions ripped through three apartment buildings in Haifa early today, killing one man and injuring 10 other persons. Police said saboteurs were responsible.

The explosions went off at intervals of about one hour. All the buildings were on Mount Carmel, overlooking Haifa Bay.

There have been a series of Arab sabotage attacks in the Haifa area recently.

Military spokesmen in Tel Aviv said Arabs in Jordan fired rockets and mortar shells at a potash plant on the shore of the Dead Sea last night. No casualties were reported, but there was some damage to the plant's electrical system, the army said.

Israel took what was regarded as a major step toward ennexation of the Syrian Golan Heights yesterday by establishing a law court there in the town of El Quneitra. Justice Minister Ya'acov Shapiro said Israel would see to it "that peace comes and the Golan Heights will flourish for eternity under Israeli law."

East Bay Youth Jailed Over Novato Cutting

A 20-year-old Martinez man was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon after he allegedly stabbed a woman with a paring knife during an argument in a car in Novato Monday.

Carl James Griswold was told to return to court today to find out if his bail would be reduced from $1,500. He was held in jail in lieu of the bail.

Police reported that the driver of the car, Stephen J. Terrell, 20, also of Martinez, said that he was driving Griswold and Geraldine L. Brenchley, 39, also of Martinez, to Novato when they began arguing.

When they reached Highway 101 and Diablo Avenue, Griswold pulled out a knife and struck Miss Brenchley in the arm, Terrell told police. After Terrell took the knife away from Griswold, he drove to Novato General Hospital, where Miss Brenchley was treated and Griswold was arrested.

they come bouncing out."

San Francisco Police Capt. Martin Lee, watching the program, said he did not believe the caller was a prankster.

"It is a person with a mental problem," he said. "I don't know if it is the one we want."

The talk show started at 7 a.m. The first call from Zodiac came in 10 minutes later, a brief garbled few words. He hung up.

The second call came at 7:20 a.m., when the man asked Belli to meet him on the roof of the Fairmont Hotel on Nob Hill.

In a call before 8 a.m., the man told Belli and Dunbar, "I don't want to be hurt."

Both men told the caller he would be cared for, and Belli promised to represent the man as his attorney.

Throughout the telephone calls, the man was referred to as "Sam."

In one conversation, there was discussion of the gas chamber. Belli told the man "no one has gone to the gas chamber in years." (California's last execution was April 1967).

Belli told the caller at 8:25 a.m. "You want to live, don't you? Well, this is your passport."

The man who called himself Zodiac spoke in a croaky, indistinct, drifting voice. Here is a segment of the conversation he had with Belli and Dunbar:

"Did you attempt to call one other time when Belli was with us two or three weeks ago?" asked Dunbar.

"Yes," the man said.

"Why did you want to talk to Belli?"

"I don't want to be hurt."

Belli said, "You're not going to be hurt if you talk to me."

"You're not going to the gas chamber," said Dunbar.

Belli added, "I wouldn't think that they'd ask for capital punishment . . . we should ask the district attorney — you want me to do that, Sam? "You want me to talk to the district attorney."

The talk show was seen by an audience breakfasting before switchboards lit up with dozens of calls.

A police spokesman said: "People are furious . . . people are scared. Nine out of 10 said it was cooked up by somebody as a cheap publicity stunt."

He did not say if police thought it was Zodiac or if attempts were made to trace the calls.

In developments yesterday, police reported they believed Zodiac apparently used a different weapon each time he struck and may have an arsenal from which to choose for future murders he has threatened.

Fort Gordon, Ga.," said Charles Don Bishop, a retired Kansas City police official.

Bishop said he never would have recommended that Kelley release the guns to Turner if he had thought otherwise.

Kelley said such disposal of weapons confiscated by police officers in their official duties would be "unethical and improper.

Turner, however, said the official receipts he signed contradicted the officers' testimony.

Turner read into the record of the hearing a receipt he signed which said the weapons were to be used for spare parts "in connection with weapons which he (Turner) maintains in a gun collection."

Bishop said Turner told him he would use some of the weapons in lectures on firearm safety to civic groups. But Bishop said repeatedly he had been given to understand all of the guns were eventually to be donated to the military police museum.

"No statement was made nor did I feel that any was implied that these weapons were to be for General Turner's personal use or for resale," Kelley testified.

The committee, which resumed hearings today after several days of recess, had heard testimony earlier from Turner concerning charges he had improperly obtained confiscated guns for his own use from civilian police officials in Chicago and Kansas City.

Span Panel Will Tackle Business Of Ferryboats

The nitty gritty of getting into the ferryboat business will be tackled by the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District's finance-auditing committee at 9:30 a.m. Friday in district offices at the toll plaza.

The committee agenda includes fixing the amount of reserves available to finance ferries and hiring personnel to set up the ferry system.

The district's "committee of the whole" voted last Thursday to go immediately into the ferryboat business, and scuttled all proposals by Marin County to also set up a commuter bus system.

The committee's recommendations will go before the full board when it meets at 10 a.m. Oct. 31 in Lakeport, Lake County, in the chambers of the board of supervisors. The finance-auditing committee also will meet at 9:30 a.m. that day.

Also scheduled in Lake County is a meeting at 11 a.m. on Oct. 30 of the district's legislation-public relations committee at the Konocti Resort. It will hear an appeal by Lake County supervisors to annex to the bridge district, and review of proposal that the district print a newsletter to burnish its image.

Injuries Minor

Timothy Hughes, 22, of Gate 5, Sausalito, was treated at Marin General Hospital early yesterday for multiple scrapes and bruises suffered when his car skidded at 1:10 a.m. on a curve and overturned in the Gate 6 area, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Mill Valley Up For New Award

The City of Mill Valley has been nominated for the new Bay Area Environment Award established recently by the San Francisco Bay Area Council.

The nomination was made Monday by the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce board, according to secretary Carol Healy.

Mrs. Healy said the board, in its presentation to the council, will emphasize the improvement in appearance and environment of the city between Jan. 1, 1967, and Sept. 1, of this year, the contest period. Stress will be placed on the paintup, cleanup campaign sponsored by the chamber, she said.

The award recognizes enhancement or preservation of the Bay Area environment. Winners will be announced late in November at a special event to be announced.

The council environment committee, headed by Mortimer Fleishhacker Jr., will judge the entries, consulting with planning, sociology, art, architecture, economic development and other experts.

Teen-Ager Forces Plane To Havana

MIAMI (AP) — Claiming he was turned down in his bid to go the honest way, a shaky teen-ager yanked a gun on a Pan American stewardess Tuesday and pirated a plane to Cuba. Thirty-six persons were aboard.

The boy said his parents now live in California. He did not name the city.

Pointing the gun as he talked, the youth told passengers he had tried to get a visa to visit Cuba but was refused by Mexican officials.

So, he said he "uglied himself up" by cutting his shoulder-length hair in order to board the plane unnoticed and forced the pilot of the Mexico City-Miami flight to head for Havana.

The hijacker told passengers he was Henry Shorn, 17, of Detroit, according to Florida State Sen. Tom Slade of Jacksonville.

"He said he was going down to join the revolution," said Slade.

The Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs is scheduled to be opened in Austin, Tex. in the fall of 1970.

Taster's Choice, the new kind of freeze-dried coffee, is here.

An entirely new freeze-dried process. Now you get a freeze-dried coffee that looks like fresh-ground. Smells like it. Tastes like it, too.

They said it couldn't be done. You couldn't combine the look, the flavor, and the aroma of real fresh-perked coffee with the convenience of an instant. But that was before exclusive Taster's Choice freeze-dried process was discovered.

Taster's Choice starts with perfect-perked coffee. We begin with freshly roasted, freshly-ground, premium coffee beans. Then, our coffee is perked by experts using an exclusive new method. The result? Perfect-perked coffee. Hearty, robust coffee with the kind of flavor you'd like to get every time. And—as you'll discover—you'll be able to.

Another big difference. Here again is where Taster's Choice leaves all others. We freeze it . . . quick as a wink . . . to forty degrees below zero. This sudden cold traps all the freshly-brewed coffee flavor and aroma. Next, all the ice is vacuumed away. Dry vacuumed, so not one bit of the flavor and aroma is lost.

Looks like ground coffee. What's left is pure, fresh-brewed coffee. In crystals, not powder. It looks like ground coffee, and needs no refrigeration. All you do is add boiling water, and presto! You have coffee with fresh-perked flavor: Taster's Choice Freeze-Dried Coffee.

Just like that, you're a champion coffee maker every time. Taster's Choice has all the deep, rich flavor and hearty coffee aroma you used to have to perk up a pot for, whenever you wanted real coffee. Try it. It's Freeze-Dried. Taster's Choice looks like, smells like, tastes like your own fresh-perked. Maybe even better.

THE TREE THAT GOT TOO OLD

San Rafael City Hall lost a landmark of sorts this week when workmen toppled an 85-foot Monterey Pine that was estimated at up to 100 years old by William Vanning, city tree foreman. The tree had begun to rot through the center. Measuring five feet at the stump, the monster took nearly two working days to fell. The saw is handled by John Camlow (left) and Gene Howell. Nixon Leads Guests In Silent Prayer

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Richard M. Nixon led members of Congress in three minutes of silent prayer today for God's guidance of America's leaders in making "difficult decisions" on the critical problems facing them.

"There are times when we need help beyond ourselves to make the right decision," Nixon said at a White House prayer breakfast.

The breakfast, held in connection with the annual observance of the National Day of Prayer, was attended by about 80 members of the Senate and House who participate in weekly prayer meetings at the Capitol.

Nixon's house guest, Rev. Dr. Billy Graham, told the group that only by turning to God could Americans find the resources of mutual love and toleration needed to keep the country from tearing itself apart in its current dissensions.

Nixon preceded his own brief remarks by reading a quotation from President John Adams which is inscribed over the fireplace of the White House state dining room, where the breakfast was held. Adams said:

"I pray Heaven to bestow the best of blessings on this house and all that shall hereafter inhabit it. May none but honest and wise men ever rule under this roof."

Nixon commented: "No matter how honest or wise a President may try to be, at times of great challenge there has to be something more than honesty and wisdom in the leadership of this country."

He then asked his guests to join him in three minutes of silent prayer in his own Quaker tradition.

Four-Lane Washington Street Plan Gets Nod

Plan lines for the proposed widening of East Washington Street to four lanes were approved last night by the Petaluma Planning Commission.

Accepted were the recommendations of City Engineer David A. Young and Ben C. Albritton of Whitlow, Hoffman and Albritton civil engineers of San Rafael.

The plan line begins at the area of reconstruction of the Washington Street Bridge. The width of 69 feet would be continued along the presently 42-foot-wide street to Highway 101.

Albritton said the plan was established to cause a minimum of disruption of businesses and properties, but that 64 parcels would be affected and 18 buildings disturbed to some degree.

Construction cost for the project was estimated at $323,000 with another $1 million for rights-of-way.

Most of the acquisition would involve properties on the south side of the street, Albritton said. Major building's affected would include Cavanagh Lumber Co., Tivoli Hotel, Carl's Market, Colony Paint Store and Studdert's meat market.

The plan would permit four traffic lanes rather than two with protected left turn lanes at major intersections and street parking in most blocks.

The recommended plan will be presented to the city council for public hearings next month.

The planning commission also approved tentative maps for two additional sections of the Casa Grande Manor subdivision between Ely Road and Crinella Drive.

Guilty Pleas To Reduced Charges

Sharlene Osborne, 18, and Roger Wayne Ploof, 20, both of San Rafael, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municiapl Court to a reduced charge of petty theft.

They had originally been charged with a felony count of burglary stemming from the theft of household articles from Miss Osborne's mother's home in San Anselmo Oct. 14.

Judge Hadden W. Roth set sentencing for Ploof for next Tuesday and Oct. 31 for Miss Osborne.

Family-Child Advisers Pick A Chairman

Jocelyn Bell, Fairfax housewife, will head the newly formed Family and Children's Services Advisory Committee as chairman.

She was elected last night at a meeting of the committee at the Civic Center. Eldon Hasstedt of Novato, acting chairman, was elected vice chairman of the 30-member committee.

The group adopted bylaws and decided that only the two officers will be needed. Frances Miller of the Department of Public Social Services is consultant.

The committee, appointed last August by the Marin County Board of Supervisors, gives advice to the supervisors and the social services department on policies and programs in child welfare services and aid to families with dependent children.

The committee members discussed work training and the new federally-aided Work Incentive (WIN) program which started in August.

Lillian Inke, chief of vocational services in the social services department, reported that in 1967-68 more than 400 persons receiving public aid had been placed on jobs, and most of them are still employed. She said the WIN program will probably help improve the employment picture.

Charles B. Weers, a human rights commissioner, stressed the need for vocational training for high school students. He said the schools make the vocations unattractive.

Winifred Frederick, a member of the committee, said a vocational college could be the answer — giving the student a trade and the status of a degree at the same time.

Next meeting of the committee will be at 8 p.m. on Nov. 18 in the civic center.

Federal Cash Sought In Antimeasles Drive

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Bay Area Health Association is asking federal help as it considers mass vaccinations in an effort to head off German measles epidemics.

German measles, usually a mild disease, occasionally leads to birth of defective babies if the woman contacts the disease during certain times in pregnancy.

Vaccinating children to "decrease the reservoir of infection in the community" is a new concept, said Dr. James Chin of the State Health Department on Tuesday.

Whether such a program would be successful still is under discussion.

Dr. Erwin Braff, director of the Bureau of Disease Control for the San Francisco Health Department, asked: "To what extent does a parent want his son to be vaccinated because maybe the lady down the street may be pregnant next yearg"

Another problem is money. Dr. Chin said vaccine costs around $1.50 a dose and there are 800,000 children in the nine counties surrounding San Francisco Bay.

The health association is asking the U.S. Public Health Service to grant $1 million for such a program.

(Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, Marin County Health Officer, said the county wants to participate in the vaccination program, but has not yet received word from the state on Marin's role.)

Ax Murderer Is Declared Insane

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (AP) — A 20-year-old laborer accused of killing seven persons with an ax at a Saskatchewan farmhouse was declared insane in a jury's not-guilty verdict yesterday and ordered committed to a mental institution.

The jury deliberated four and one-half hours before delivering the verdict on Moses McCallum of Buffalo Narrows, Sask. The seven victims and McCallum were Metis, people of mixed Indian and white ancestry.

McCallum originally was charged with the murder of all seven. But the government dropped five charges. He pleaded innocent to murdering Thomas Pederson, 32, on Jan. 30 at Pederson's house in the province's rugged northwest, and J. B. Herman, 48, a visitor.

The bodies of four of Pederson's children also were found in the house, and his wife died later from her wounds. A 7-year-old son recovered and testified briefly during the eight-day trial.

Treasure Island Guard Acquitted

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A special court martial has acquitted a Marine guard charged with brutality at the Treasure Island Naval Base brig.

After eight minutes deliberation yesterday, the court martial of five officers acquitted Lance Cpl. Thomas J. Kamerick, 21, a Vietnam war veteran who had been accused of striking Fireman Apprentice Kenneth Eugene Conn, 21.

Conn, who had been confined for larceny, said Kamerick hit him "hard enough to jolt me." But a Navy medical officer failed to find any mark indicating he had been hit.

The case came as part of a charge by civilian attorney Donald A. Jelinek that 30 prisoners had been mistreated.

Judge Gerald Levin, in federal court, was told the Navy was investigating and a report of the court martial is to be presented to the judge.

Policy Is Asked On Public Building Uses

Marin County should set a policy to prevent irresponsible persons from reserving meeting space at the Civic Center and other public buildings, Supervisor Louis H. Baar declared yesterday.

At his suggestion, the supervisors asked the county administrator and the county counsel to draft a workable and legal policy that will apply to all organizations and individuals.

Baar said he was concerned when he read in the Independent-Journal that Mill Valley writer Peter Edler of 50 Shell Road had reserved the supervisors chambers for a forum Friday night.

On Oct. 7, Edler told the supervisors that welfare workers at the Civic Center are hypocritical and discourteous to recipients, then stared at the ceiling and scribbled the word "God" on the blackboard before stepping down.

"Mr. Edler I don't think is a responsible party," said Baar. He wanted to cancel the Edler's Friday night reservation.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said rules on the use of public buildings must be applied uniformly, and individuals cannot be singled out. He explained that uniform criteria could be set up, such as limiting use to organizations which have been in existence for a certain time.

Chairman John F. McInnis said he, too, detected "a slight irresponsible nature" in Edler but added that the reservation which is already made for Friday should not be canceled.

Supervisors agreed not to rescind Edler's reservation but asked the county staff to prepare a policy on use of public buildings.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

CLOSED MEETING — Met for 90 minutes on the fate of Dr. Clyde G. Miller, community mental health director who is suspended with pay until the end of this month, and announced no decision. McInnis said the board also discussed briefly the county's lawsuit to halt logging on the Ethel Righetti ranch on Bolinas Ridge.

AMBULANCE — Approved a contract with Doctors Ambulance Service, which offered to provide emergency ambulance service for another year with the same county guarantees on fees. The county will pay $14.95 for each unpaid emergency run, and $24.95 plus 99 cents per mile for each unpaid trip to transport medically indigent and mentally ill patients.

TOMALES FIRE STATION — Hired San Rafael architects Crawford and Banning to design a new county fire substation on Dillon's Beach Road west of Tomales. Because the new station would be a replica of the Hicks Valley substation, the architects agreed to design the $37,000 structure for $1,650, less than half the normal 10 per cent fee.

CONFERENCE — Approved a $110 outlay authorizing Assistant County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella to attend the National Association of County Officials welfare conference in Washington, D.C., on Nov. 22.

WORKABLE PROGRAM — Heard a host of objections to the wording of the annual "Workable Program for Community Improvement," a document required to qualify Marin for federal Housing and Urban Development funds. Supervisors postponed approval for a week and set a public workshop session for 7:30 p.m. tomorrow, when County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker will explain the document in the planning commission chambers at the Civic Center.

SHERIFF'S POSSE — Approved the membership application of the Mounted Sheriff's Posse to Fair-Marin, as recommended by the group's membership.

SEASHORE ACQUISITION — Asked the county administrator to gather all resolutions from Bay Area counties in support of the Point Reyes National Seashore acquisition and send them in one batch to Washington, D.C.

PARKING — Reaffirmed the present policy of designating reserved parking spaces at the new Hall of Justice only for department heads and each judge.

Fair-Marin Votes New Directors

Two incumbents and an attorney from Ross were named yesterday by the Marin County Board of Supervisors to serve three-year terms on the board of directors of Fair-Marin.

They are incumbent Stephen A .Zellerbach of San Francisco, president of the Crown-Zellerbach textbook publishing business; Dudley F. Miller, a Ross attorney representing the Marin Conservation League, and incumbent Richard H. Miehling of San Rafael, who represents American Legion posts.

The three received the most votes among six nominated by the Fair-Marin membership at the annual meeting held on Oct. 13.

They will join the following four holdover directors on the seven-man board: Harold Stockstad, Lotte McWatters, Marilyn Miskimen, and W. P. (Doc) Duhamel.

Fair-Marin board of directors will operate the new Veterans Memorial Auditorium and the 80-acre fairgrounds site at the Civic Center.

The Santa Fe and Oregon trails started at Independence, Mo.

Zucker In Crossfire On Planning

Marin County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker drew conflicting crossfire yesterday during a workshop session with the board of supervisors.

Chairman John F. McInnis told Zucker he should finish up all the general plans in the county, get them updated and pin them down with precise zoning regulations before all the open spaces are gobbled up with development.

Supervisor Louis H. Baar, on the other hand, told Zucker he should not get too precise with general planning and should let the developer come in with ideas of their own.

"I don't think the developer will walk in and accept any pat plan for an area," said Baar. "If you make plans too precise in the western areas, you're going to have people forming their own cities and they'll throw out your plans anyway."

Supervisor Michael Wornum agreed that general plans should be kept up to date but declared they should not be tied down to too many specifics." The whole point of a general plan is to set a general guideline for the future, said Wornum. "We need room to maneuver . . . in the end it is a political decision for elected officials to decide."

Wornum also said the planning staff should not get too involved with local plans like the Fairfax General Plan but should stick to county planning.

Zucker, who did not have time to reply to the suggestions and criticisms, won assurance from the supervisors he would have his say next Tuesday at another workshop session at 9 a.m.

"Obviously we have to have dialogue," said Zucker. He noted that the supervisors themselves seem to have conflicting views, and said discussions are valuable in giving him a sense of direction.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss said he is concerned with high cost of housing and rentals and asked Zucker to make studies on how young families with children will be able to live in the county.

Supervisor Peter Arrigoni Jr. called for another look at the Williamson Act which allows ranchers to put their property in agricultural preserves for 10 years, thus getting lower assessments.

W"We are getting a lot of five, 10 and 15-acre parcels coming in as agricultural preserves," said Arrigoni. "I think some of them are a direct subterfuge. It's getting to be a tax dodge.

Can Apply For Maritme Academy

Applications for nomination to the California Maritime Academy were invited today by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

Each state legislator can appoint one young man to the academy for the class entering in August 1970.

Academy graduates receive a federal license as a Merchant Marine officer, a bachelor of science degree in either nautical science or marine engineering, and may also receive a commission as an ensign in the Naval Reserve.

Interested persons may write the senator's Sacramento office, Room 5050, State Capitol.

Guilty Plea To Carrying Weapon

Arthur Lawrence Hathaway, 22, of Novato, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a reduced charge of carrying a weapon. He had originally been charged with a felony count of possessing a billy-club Oct. 4.

Judge Hadden W. Roth placed Hathaway on one year probation and fined him $50.

Cleaver Students Lose Credit Suit

OAKLAND (UPI)—A suit to compel University of California regents to grant academic credit for a course taught by Black Panther Eldridge Cleaver was dismissed yesterday by Superior Court Judge Gordon Minder.

The regents had changed rules to keep Cleaver from teaching a social analysis course on the Berkeley campus last year, but students who had signed for the class attended anyway.

The lawsuit was brought by 16 students who took the course and six professors.

The judge said the regents acted within the scope of their authority in moving against Cleaver, who was accused of participation in the April 6, 1968, shootout with Oakland police. The Black Panther subsequently jumped bail and fled the country.

Joint Meeting Date

A joint meeting between the Mill Valley City Council, planning commission and developers of a proposed shopping center for southeast Mill Valley will be held Nov. 15 at 2 p.m. in city hall, not Nov. 2, as erroneously reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Priority Road Work List Given Approval

A highway priority list for action by the state Highways Commission in 1971-72 won unanimous approval by the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

On a motion by Supervisor Peter Arrigoni Jr. and a second by Supervisor Louis H. Baar, the supervisors approved a priority list recommended to them by the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau.

The list will be presented to the California State Chamber of Commerce for endorsement at a luncheon scheduled Monday at Holiday Inn in Terra Linda.

Here are the top priority projects:

1. Route 101 through Novato, 2.3 miles. Construct new freeway and install improved access to Gnoss Field and McGraw Hill Book Co. on an interim basis.

2. Route 101 from Spencer Avenue to Terra Linda, 13.2 miles. Widen all portions to eight lanes.

3. Widen and relocate Tiburon Boulevard from Reed Ranch Road to Avenida Miraflores, 0.6 miles.

4. Route 101 between North San Pedro Road and Terra Linda, one mile. Construct to freeway standards. Review design of interchange at North San Pedro Road. Include for a portion of the route a median width sufficient for future transit facilities.

5. Shoreline Highway from 101 to Point Reyes Station. Interim improvements to existing alignment. (Marin is asking the state to start studies on a new scenic Shoreline route, mostly along Bolinas Ridge.)

Eight other projects are listed further down on the priority list.

Judo Instruction To Begin Tomorrow

A second session of judo instruction for children, sponsored by the Petaluma Park and Recreation Department, will be held tomorrow through Nov. 27 at the Kenilworth Recreation Center.

Beginning and advanced classes will be held from 6 to 8 p.m. on Thursdays. Youngsters must be between 6 and 14. Classes will be conducted by the Marin School of Self Defense.

Six In Race In Las Gallinas

(Second of eight articles)

Sewer line overflows into home systems and pollution of bay waters are the chief problems facing the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District, according to six candidates vying for three seats on the board of directors.

Four newcomers and two incumbents will run for three posts on Nov. 4. Jack Baken of Terra Linda, who held the third seat, died last month.

The district board, with 33 other sanitary districts, municipalities and treatment plants in the Bay Area, has been asked by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board to submit by Oct. 28, plans and time schedules for disinfecting wastes discharged into San Francisco Bay.

The Las Gallinas board has said, however, it has not received official notification of the request. As soon as it arrives, the board has indicated, it will begin steps to chlorinate wastes within 60 days.

Dist. Engineer J. Warren Nute has estimated the cost of modernizing district chlorinating equipment at $7,500.

Following are statements and biographical background of the candidates in alphabetical order:

G. P. LEAL, 47, of 612 Tamarack Drive, Terra Linda. He is a retired Army major and now vice president of Fox and Carskadon Real Estate Agency in San Rafael.

Leal said the board should act promptly to meet pollution standards of the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board. "The (treatment plant) chlorinator is not being used. I think we should activate the chlorinator to minimize pollution."

SESTO F. LUCCHI (incumbent), 47, of 8 Clover Hill Court, Twelve Oaks Hill, San Rafael. He is senior utilities engineer for the California Public Utilities Commission, current chairman of the sanitary board, and was a director of the Terra Linda Community Services District board from 1963 to 1966.

Lucchi lists five problems faced by the district:

1. Economical staging of needed treatment plant enlargements.

2. Minimize the bypassing of storm water that infiltrates the system.

3. Maintain effluent within standards set by the water quality board.

4. Develop ways to locate and repair serious leaks and cracks in the Gallinas Village system.

5. Reduce the cost of sludge dewatering (centrifuge process.)

JAMES L. McNULTY, 50, of 813 Descanso Way, Santa Venetia. A retired Air Force captain, he is a dispatcher for the San Rafael Police Department.

"The immediate problem is to eliminate odors from around the pumping stations," said McNulty. "Beyond that, we must go to a tertiary treatment plant to return pure water back into the creek. That, of course, is a long range process."

A. M. PETROFSKY (incumbent), 41, of 35 De Ford Drive, Terra Linda. He is a civil engineer with Jacobs Associates in San Francisco.

"One of the immediate problems is water overflow that is being bypassed," said Petrofsky. "The Terra Linda pumping plant is where the bypass occurs. Pumping capacity is insufficient, and this should be corrected. Then comes expansion of the plant itself. This can be staged over the next two years at a cost of probably $100,000 per year."

The district is in "tremendous financial shape," said Petrofsky. "We cut the operating tax rate from 8 cents to 4 cents this year."

Largely because of a higher tax rate than necessary, Petrofsky said, the district has accumulated a large cash reserve of about $900,000. "What I see wrong with that is that old residents are paying for future expansion, whereas it is the new residents who are creating the need for expansion. We not only cut the rate this year but I hope to keep it cut."

The district's overflow problem is caused partially by water infiltration in the lines, said Petrofsky. "More emphasis is needed next year to cut down on infiltration."

On water pollution, he said. "Our district is in pretty good shape compared with other districts named by the Regional Water Quality Control Board." He favors installing a chlorinator for about $18,000 as part of $100,000 in plant improvements for next year. Petrofsky foresees installation within 10 years of a second and more efficient treatment plant.

FRANK SOLOMON JR., 41, an attorney, lives at 757 Appleberry Drive, Marinwood. He is a member of the Marinwood Community Services District board, and chairman of the citizens advisory committee on buildings and grounds in the Dixie School District.

"Residents should get better treatment. For example, when sewage backups occurred in Santa Venetia, people were told they would be paid for damages and then were told they wouldn't. Ultimately, they had to file suit."

Solomon contended that it is far better to improve the sewage system than to have sewer backups, followed by cleanups and lawsuits.

"We need a chlorinator and ultimately tertiary treatment to reduce pollution. It is unfortunate to have a district with $1 million in surplus funds unnecessarily polluting the bay."

Solomon said he would reexamine the district operations for economy and efficiency.

RICHARD G. TAIT, 30, of 9 Mount Shasta Court, Marinwood. He is a civil engineer with Harding, Miller, Lawson and Associates of San Rafael.

"I feel the board is taking a passive position toward implementing the Regional Water Quality Control Board's requirements to reduce pollution. A chlorinator should be installed now. They all want to wait until the state forces compliance."

Tait said the treatment plant seems to be in reasonable condition but one of the major problems is to increase the capacity of the pumping plants. "Since the cost of installing new facilities can be paid out of current funds, the district should install these facilities now."

Minor Mishap Hurts Children

Two small children were treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday afternoon following a minor auto accident on Redwood Road, near Ross Common, Ross.

Mia M. Seminario, 4, of 22 Rock Road, Kentfield, and Roberta Root, 5, of 850 Bolinas Road, Fairfax, both suffered head cuts.

The girls were passengers in a car driven by Joan M. Seminario, 31, also of Kentfield. Police said the auto's brakes failed as Mrs. Seminario attempted to park, causing the car to jump the curb and hit a tree.

Miller Backed On Printing Of Document

Dr. Clyde G. Miller, director of community mental health services, acted properly in preparing more than 50 copies of his "Trouble in Mental Health Land" documents at county expense last month, the Marin County Board of Supervisors decided yesterday by 4 to 1 vott.

The documents, printed at the Marin Copy Center in San Rafael, cost the county $122.69.

Two residents complained that the documents were prepared as a personal defense of Dr. Miller and therefore should not be a county charge.

Auditor-Congroller Michael Mitchell and purchasing agent Doug Edelen asked the supervisors for a decision before the bill is paid by the county.

On a motion by Supervisor Michael Wornum and a second by Supervisor Peter Arrigoni Jr., supervisors accepted County Administrator Alan Bruce's recommendation that the bill be paid as a proper county charge.

Supervisor Louis H. Baar, the lone dissenter, declared: "I have a felling this was political." He questioned in particular the wide distribution given to Dr. Miller's documents, including almost 50 organizations and individual board members of some of the organizations.

"Why did all these organizations receive the copies; for example, the Department of Mental Hygiene in San Francisco and Sacramento?" asked Baar.

"They all have some connection with mental hygiene in Marin," replied Bruce. "There is nothing in the package distributed which can be construed as self-serving or as personal defense of Dr. Miller on personal questions."

The other four supervisors agreed with Bruce.

The documents were distributed by Dr. Miller just prior to and during the Sept. 30 hearing, when charges were made that he failed to communicate with mental health agencies, particularly the Community Mental Health Center headed by Dr. Donald P. Wilson.

That night, after a closed meeting, the supervisors suspended Dr. Miller with pay for 30 days and asked the Marin General Hospital board of directors to suspend Dr. Wilson, which the hospital board refused.

BAY CRUSADE OVER HALF WAY TO GOAL

The United Bay Area Crusade announced today it has attained 64 per cent of the 1969 goal, or $10,561,098.

The goal is $16.5 million.

Several Marin firms and employee groups were recognized for campaign contributions at a United Crusade luncheon on Treasure Island.

Ferryboat Issue Due Radio Debate

The Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District's firm stand in favor of ferryboats to the exclusion of a commuter bus system, announced last week, will be discussed at 9 a.m. tomorrow on the KTIM Sounding Board.

Panelists will be Stephen C. Leonoudakis and William C. Black, district board members from San Francisco, and Michael Wornum and Dean N. Meyer, board members from Marin.

Questions may be called in for the broadcast tomorrow. The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be repeated on tape at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

The highest award for bravery in the United States, the Medal of Honor, was first presented in 1863.

To maintain the same purchasing power, a man who earned $5,000 to $10,000 in 1949, would now have to earn about 60 per cent again as much, according to the National Consumer Finance Association.

LITTER WAR REPORT

Patterson Says Sausalito's Trying

By ANNE BARDWELL

Sausalito is trying, was the message heard last night by the Sausalito City Council in a lengthy written report by City Mgr. George M. Patterson on what the city's doing to combat its litter problem.

Patterson, retorting to critics who blame him for the city's untidy image, outlined past, present and proposed measures for combating the ever increasing volume of litter.

The report was presented by City Engineer Norman Wohlschlaeger, acting city manager while Patterson's is on vacation.

Despite Patterson's detail, it was Wohlsclhaeger who came up with the revolutionary proposal to deal with both the litter and the, at times, horrendous traffic problem in downtown Sausalito.

Ban all parking from downtown streets said Wohlschlaeger in a supplimental analysis of the city's street sweeping problems.

Noting he previously had recommended the parking ban to facilitate traffic flow along Bridgeway, he said that the parking ban would allow the street sweeper to work the streets twice a day or more often if necessary.

Wohlschlaeger's suggestion dropped like a dud bomb on the council, which didn't bat a collective eye at the idea. Although the parking ban proposal is not new in Sausalito, it is the first time it has been recommended by a staff member as a feasible and preferred solution to the downtown problems.

If parking is banned, Wohlschlaeger said, the sidewalks on Bridgeway should be widened to approximately 15 feet to keep the street to two lanes and to facilitate pedestrian traffic.

Benches and planter boxes could be located on the sidwealks to add to the mall effect, he said.

In his report, Patterson outlined actions already taken by the city including increasing street sweeping downtown from four to seven days a week and in residential areas from once every two weeks to once a week, and quadrupling refuse containers.

The city also has purchased a flusher truck to clean streets, adopted a new litter ordinance which will be effective as soon as Marin Municipal Court moves to the new Hall of Justice, instituted a new animal control ordinance, if effect for the first time this month, and sent letters to businessmen urging their cooperation in keeping sidewalks and streets clean.

Further, Patterson said, the city is enforcing refuse ordinances regarding businesses placing garbage cans on the streets and sidewalks, has hired an additional maintenance man who spends 50 to 75 per cent of his time cleaning downtown, and has asked tour bus companies to request cooperation of their passengers in the antilitter campaign.

Patterson said other measures the city could take include hiring more permanent and temporary personnel to clean up the streets and purchasing a vacuum and spray for the sidewalks.

As to improving the appearance of the city, Patterson noted the council has planned and/or budgeted for fiscal 1969-70 painting of the gazebo, planting of Vina Del Mar Park extension, cleaning and sealing the elephants and war memorial at Vina Del Mar Park, possibly cleaning and sealing the park fountain, construction of Princess Park, landscaping on South Bridgeway, renovation of parking lot No. 1, removal of the Sausalito Taxi Co. structure, improvements in parking lot, No. 4, on Humboldt Street, planting of street ends, North Bridgeway widening, planting the Third Street playground area, a new sign ordinance, and proposed bond issues to reconstruct Tiffany Beach and improve fire and police facilities.

After the central waterfront plan is adopted, Patterson recommended that parking lots which will not be phased out be paved, permanent landscaping for Carl Gabrielson Park, more refuse containers of more attractive design, and a new library and city hall.

Further, Patterson, said, development of the distillery property and development envisioned in the central waterdront plan "also will remove some unsightly areas of the city."

He also noted he planned to report on zoning violations in the near future so the council could act on them.

The report was referred to the council's litter committee for study and recommendations.

First Phase Of Princess Park Is Let

Faced with bids 80 per cent higher than expected for the construction of Princess Park in downtown Sausalito, the Sausalito City Council last night approved the first development phase and promised to complete the park at a later date, perhaps next spring.

The contract for first phase development was awarded on a 4-0 vote to low bidder Ciocca and Weirick of Sausalito for $30,600. Councilman Jan Paul Dyk was absent.

However, total cost for the first phase will be $35,094, city Engineer Norman Wohlschaeger told the council, including $2,394 in architects fees, $900 in landscaping and $1,200 in additional rock fill to protect the southerly end of the park until the total project is completed.

The total park project had been estimated at $26,500 by landscape architect Roland B. Mayes of Eckbo, Dean Austin and Williams of San Francisco.

The council transferred $12,744 from its $36,647 in unallocated reserves to cover the increased costs.

Since this was its second attempt to find a low bidder who approached the estimates, the council indicated it was sorely tempted to send the entire project back to the drawing board for a less costly design.

However, Councilman Robin Sweeny said "This is one of the most important spots in the community . . . it's a lovely design, but it's also a budget problem."

The park as designed would be a series of concrete terraces stepping down the bay's edge with tides washing over lower terraces. Mayes said any less expensive solution would abandon the terrace concept and deal with a platform extending over the water.

The council then agreed to ask Trident Inc., prior owners of the property for a time extension on its agreement to develop the park by the end of this year.

This, the council said, would allow the city to finish the park, estimated to cost an additional $15,000, next spring near the end of the fiscal year when reserve funds would not be so vital.

Stolen Fairfax Car Rolled Off Hill Afire

A car stolen in Fairfax last night was set afire and pushed over an embankment off a fire road in the hills above Fairfax last night, the California Highway Patrol said today. It was destroyed.

The patrol said the car owned by Albert S. Covaia of 380 Oak Manor Drive, was last seen by its owner about 9 p.m. It was pushed over the embankment on Iron Spring Road two miles south of Tama Rancho Road about an hour later. The patrol said the car rolled several times in a 100-foot plunge.

Tiffany Beach Foe Recants, Backs Bonds

J. Herbert Madden, owner of the Sausalito Yacht Harbor, who earlier this year publicly opposed reconstruction of Tiffany Beach, last night recanted his statement in a letter to the Sausalito City Council.

In effect, Madden said he was sorry for what he had previously said, and noted he now supports passage of the $65,000 bond issue for reconstruction of the beach at the south end of Bridgeway.

Mr. Tiffany was my personal friend and fellow city employee for many years," Madden said, adding he had signed a petition opposing the beach bond issue because he feared it would fail and thus frustrate city efforts to reconstruct the beach.

"A majority vote against the measure would limit the city in its ability to build the beach in the future, Madden said.

He also said he had planned to raise money for the beach reconstruction through contributions from friends of Tiffany and other residents.

However, he said, "Now the matter is on the ballot, I strongly urge . . . yes on this measure."

The Sausalito City Council also:

Suspect Denies Car Theft Count

One of two car theft suspects who were captured and then evacuated Sunday by the California Highway Patrol's helicopter unit pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to an auto theft charge.

A preliminary hearing for Donald Lee Humes, 30, of San Frnacisco, was set for next Tuesday.

A co-defendant, Don Borges, 30, of Belmont, was still hospitalized today in Marin General Hospital, where he was being treated for injuries suffered when the reportedly stolen car crashed four miles east of Bolinas.

The helicopter followed the stolen car from Mount Tamalpais and when it crashed, evacuated Borges to the hospital. Humes was taken to the hospital by ambulance where he was treated for cuts on his face.

Hearing Set In Pot Case

Four young persons arrested Sept. 17 after Mill Valley police broke up an alleged pot party in the back reaches of Blithedale Canyon yesterday were arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on drug charges.

A preliminary hearing was set for Nov. 18 for David Keith Blakey, 19, of San Anselmo, and Robert Edwin Blake II, 22, of Forest Knolls who are charged with marijuana possession and being in a place where narcotics were used.

William Cullen Packard III, 23, and Janet Ellen Shreve, 21, both of Mill Valley, who are only charged with being in a place where narcotics were used, were also told to return to court Nov. 18.

Dinner, Not Meeting

The monthly meeting next Tuesday of the Marin County Republicann Central Committee has been canceled in lieu of a committee-sponsored dinner that night for Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, at the Holiday Inn, San Rafael, reported chairman Charles Michals.

BETTER THAN ARREST

New Law Gives Aid In Narcotics Woes

SACRAMENTO (AP) — "Must I have my own child arrested?" asks the parent who has discovered his son or daughter is taking drugs or narcotics.

Up to now, there has been little else mothers or fathers could do, unless the child volunteered to be helped.

"A parent can do little in a case like this," said television personality Art Linkletter after his daughter, Diane, 20, plunged to her death from a sixth-floor apartment window. Linkletter said he had known for six months she had been taking LSD.

California parents will have new hope beginning Nov. 10 when a bill passed by the 1969 legislature becomes law. The measure establishes procedures under which parents can have children treated at community mental health clinics without fear of facing criminal charges.

The measure was explained yesterday by Assemblyman Gordon Duffy, Republican chairman of the Assembly Health Committee.

He made an unusual appeal to reporters to give the bill — one of hundreds going into effect Nov. 10 — wide publicity so parents would be aware the procedures exist.

"If a tragic circumstance such as that which occurred in regard to Art Linkletter's daughter could be prevented by informing parents of the existence of this law, then your job, as well as mine, will have been ably fulfilled," Duffy said.

If the child refused to volunteer for help, Duffy said, the parents could file in superior court for involuntary treatment in a community mental health clinic supported 90 per cent with state funds.

"The traditional guarantees of the doctor-patient relationship would exist and a person treated under these procedures would not be subject to arrest if he were in treatment," Duffy explained.

The bill also allows police to refer youngsters to the clinics, without arresting them.

Prober Says Drug Firms' Products Go Underground

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Half of the dangerous drugs produced in the United States find their way into the illicit market and, "are killing our youth," says the chief counsel of the House Select Committee on Crime.

Richard W. Kurrus, the counsel, said the four-day committee hearing opening here tomorrow will focus on the need to fill a void in federal laws controlling dangerous drugs and their ingredients.

He said in an interview yesterday that the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs reports 63,000 known users of heroin, "but there are 10 to 20 times that number of persons dependent on dangerous drugs," drugs which he said "are killing our youth," and "are the biggest source of suicides and account for 50,000 accidental deaths."

Legislation is needed to control basic chemicals used to make the amphetamines known as "speed" such as methedrine, Kurris said.

"Now all one needs is the formula—the ingredients can be obtained without any trouble," he continued.

"We calculate that about 50 per cent of the dangerous drugs produced in the United States find their way into the illicit market.

"There is vast unregulated overproduction, insufficient restriction on purchasers and lack of control on exports.

"Shipments made to Mexico far exceed that country's medical needs. About 60 per cent of these drugs come back on the illicit market, much of it from kids who go into business because the pills are readily available."

Kurrus said the committee hopes to come up with a dangerous drug code to recommend for adoption by states.

Wins on Negro vote

Liberal Wins Mayor Race In Atlanta

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Liberal Democrat Sam Massell piled up big margins in Negro districts to win election as mayor yesterday over Republican Rodney Cook.

Massell, 42, vice mayor of Atlanta for eight years, received 62,632 votes to Cook's 51,289.

Cook, an alderman and state legislator, carried most of the mainly white wards, but was far behind in Negro areas.

Massell, a Jew, will have as his vice mayor Maynard Jackson, a Negro, first of his race to win the city's second highest office. Jackson won a majority in the Oct. 7 general election and was not involved in yesterday's runoff.

Of Atlanta's 218,000 registered voters, about 85,000 are Negroes. One election observer said about 70 per cent of the black voters cast ballots.

Retiring Democratic Mayor Ivan Allen Jr., who called for Massell to withdraw from the race last Sunday because of what he termed improper fund raising, called the vice mayor's win "a great victory." He went to Massell's headquarters to congratulate him. Allen said it appeared Massell had won a "strong mandate."

Massell claimed he was "smeared" when newspapers reported that his brother, accompanied by a police captain, solicited campaign funds from nightclubs. Massell denied any personal wrongdoing.

Las Vegas Memorial Stirs Religious Flap

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A life-size statue of Christ is planned as a peace shrine in the hotel-casino district of this garish gambling capital. A Jewish leader objects.

"This war memorial is not in the ecumenical spirit," said Rabbi Aaron Gold of Temple Beth Shalom. "It would also be a monument to a war still going on and challenged by many Americans as immoral."

James Bilbray, the Clark County assessor, said the design of the $25,000 shrine has not been completed.

"If they want a Star of David standing on it we'll do that too," he said.

The Las Vegas Convention Authority, the city's tourism agency, voted yesterday to allow a private group to build the peace shrine on county property in front of the convention center. A plaque would list the names of the dead from Nevada in all wars.

"We're trying to do something constructive—to get away from the sin city idea," said Bilbray.

"We don't want to let one little group of people kill this thing. We've got enough of that in this country now," he said.

Bilbray said the project would be underwritten by a Dunes Hotel executive, Jake Gottlieb, who is a Jew.

Rabbi Gold said, "When I told Mr. Gottlieb it would be a religious symbol he said he wanted out."

Gottlieb could not be reached for comment.

Airline Orders 750 Jobs Trimmed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Pan American World Airways says it is eliminating 750 ground and flying jobs because increased competition on the Hawaii run has put the airline in the red.

The jobs discontinued, a Pan Am spokesman said yesterday, are those of 300 grounds workers and 450 second officers and third crewmen who also serve as pilots.

The spokesman said many of the jobs would disappear through attrituion — when a worker leaves, the job is not filled. Pan Am said any layoffs would be based on need and seniority.

Sinatra Balks At Appearing Before Panel

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Frank Sinatra says he does not care to figure in "any three-ring circus" and refuses to appear voluntarily before a New Jersey agency investigating organized crime.

The New Jersey State Investigation Commission, probing alleged criminal activity in Monmouth County, had a warrant issued for Sinatra's arrest last week after the 53-year-old entertainer failed to answer a subpoena. The warrant is enforceable only in New Jersey.

In a statement issued yesterday, Sinatra said:

"For many years every time some Italian names are involved in any inquiry I get a subpoena. I appear. I am asked questions about scores of persons unknown to me. I am asked questions based on rumors and events which have never happened. I am subjected to the type of publicity I do not desire and do not seek."

He said he was willing to answer "any and all appropriate questions" by deposition or personal interview.

According to a prediction of the American Bottled Water Assn., the nation will be spending some $95 million annually on bottled water by 1970.

Pentagon Is Surprised By Enlistments

WASHINGTON (AP) — The armed services surprisingly are filling their enlistment quotas—and then some—despite President Richard M. Nixon's move to reduce the impact of the draft.

Enlistment figures from the Army, Marines, Navy and Air Force show they have had no trouble reaching their volunteer objectives.

Pentagon manpower officials anticipated a drop in enlistments after Nixon more than a month ago canceled November-December draft calls and said he would order Selective Service reforms about Jan. 1.

Officials said they don't know how to explain what's been happening.

The Army recruiting command reported it signed up 20,525 young men during September—114.7 per cent of the objective of 17,900.

The Marine Corps said its September enlistment quota of 6,100 was exceeded by 68 men and its October quota of 6,200 was more than half filled as of Oct. 11.

The Navy reported it planned for 8,000 volunteers in September, and 8,046 signed on.

The Air Force asked for 7,342 volunteers in September but fell 9 men short.

Party Ideas For Parent Halloween

While the junior-size goblins and witches are out making their rounds, invite their grown-up counterparts to wait for the trick-and-treaters at your house. And, to make that wait a pleasant one, and easy on the hostess, plan chilled glasses of Apple-Ginger old-fashioneds and light-as-a-ghost applesauce meringue. Make the meringue early in the day, pour in rich, thick gravenstein applesauce just before serving for a treat in the best traditions of Halloween.

APPLESAUCE MERINGUE
(Makes 1 8" circle or 12 large shells)

- ⅛ tsp. salt
- 4 eggs whites
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- ½ tsp. vinegar
- ¾ tsp. vanilla
- ¾ cup slivered almonds
- 1 1-lb., 1 oz. can applesauce (approx. 2 cups)

Add salt to egg whites.

Beat until stiff, but not dry.

Add sugar, about 1 tbsp. at a time and beat well after each addition.

Beat in vinegar and vanilla well.

Fold in ½ cup of almonds.

Cover cookie sheet with waxed paper and form egg mixture into a circle about 8 inches in diameter. Make the outer two inches of the circle about one inch higher than the rest. If preferred, make individual ovals of egg mixture and make a depression in each with back of spoon.

Bake in very slow oven (250° F.) about 50 minutes. Remove to serving platter with spatula. Cool.

Fill depression with applesauce and sprinkle with remaining almonds.

For best results, do not attempt to make meringue during humid weather.

APPLE-GINGER OLD FASHIONED
(Serves approx. 8)

- 1 qt. apple juice, chilled
- 1 7-fl. oz. bottle gingerale, chilled
- Maraschino Cherries

Mix apple juice and gingerale in pitcher.

Pour over ice cubes in old fashioned glasses and decorate with maraschino cherry.

FOR A SOPHISTICATED Sunday evening pancake dessert treat guests to Bing Cherry Foldovers. Time-saving pancake mix gives you more time with guests since pancakes can be made in minutes at dessert-time.

Owls And Jack O'Lanterns Are Tricky Cereal Cookies

Merry Jack-o'-Lanterns smile from the window sill and Cookie Owls ask "Whooooo's coming to the party?" For Halloween fun, decorate the party scene with homemade goodies and greet local ghosts and goblins with this colorful array, too. A few simple tricks help you make these special treats.

Puffed rice candy balls, tinted orange and trimmed with gumdrop eyes and licorice mouths, make appealing, tasty jack-o'-lanterns. Cookie Owls are convenient oatmeal refrigerator cookies flavored with peanut butter and chocolate. The two-tone owl faces are easy to shape and decorate with chocolate chip eyes and cashew beaks. For an extra touch, make holes in some of the cookies before baking; then string bright ribbon through the finished cookies and hang them on a small tree branch.

Doughnuts made from pancake mix are festive when glazed with vanilla or chocolate icing, and candied apples take on new flavor interest with a maple flavored glaze.

MERRY JACK-O'-LANTERNS

- 6 cups puffed rice
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 4 cups miniature marshmallows
- 1 teaspoon orange extract
- ¼ teaspoon red food coloring
- ¼ teaspoon yellow food coloring
- 8 medium-sized gumdrops
- 8 medium-sized black gumdrops, each cut into 3 triangles
- 8 pieces black string licorice, each about 2 inches long

Heat puffed rice in shallow baking pan in preheated moderate oven (350° F.) 10 minutes. Pour into a greased large bowl. Melt butter and marshmallows in top of double boiler over boiling water, stirring occasionally until smooth. Stir in orange extract and red and yellow food coloring.

Pour over puffed rice, stirring until evenly coated. With greased hands, shape to form 8 balls. Let stand several hours or until firm.

Using thick confectioners sugar frosting fasten a green gumdrop on top of each ball for a stem, 3 triangles for eyes and nose and a piece of black string licorice for a mouth. Let jack-o'-lanterns stand until frosting is set. Makes 8 jack-o'-lanterns.

COOKIE OWLS

- ⅔ cup shortening, soft
- 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup crunchy peanut butter
- 1⅓ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
- 1 envelope (1 oz.) no-melt chocolate flavored ingredient
- Semi-sweet chocolate pieces
- Whole cashews

Beat together shortening and sugar until creamy. Add egg, vanilla and peanut butter; blend thoroughly. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Add to creamed mixture; blend well. Stir in oats.

Divide dough in half. Shape one half to form a roll 8 inches long. Add chocolate to other half. Roll out chocolate dough on waxed paper to form an 8-inch square. Place roll on chocolate dough; wrap chocolate dough around roll; pinch seam together. Wrap in waxed paper; chill at least 1 hour.

Cut into ¼-inch slices. For each owl face, pinch chocolate dough to form 2 "ears." use 2 chocolate pieces for "eyes" and a cashew for a "beak." Place on ungreased cookie sheets. (If desired, make small hole in cookies with wooden skewer. After cookies have baked, thread ribbon through hole to hang on tree.) Bake in preheated moderate oven (350° F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes about 2½ dozen cookies.

If dough is refrigerated several hours, allow to stand at room temperature about 10 minutes before slicing.

Apples Are A Must For Halloween Party Foods

Planning a Halloween party? Here are some new ideas using apples that will help light-up your party. Fudgy Applesauce Bars are like spicy brownies and Cranberry-Baked Apples are a tasty variation of the old favorite.

For making applesauce, the United States Department of Agriculture recommends using tart varieties such as Gravenstein, Jonathan and Newtown. For baking use the firmer-fleshed varieties . . . Rome Beauty, Northern Spy and Winesap.

FUDGE APPLESAUCE BARS

- ⅓ cup margarine
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup unsifted flour
- ⅓ cup cocoa
- ½ teaspoon soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon allspice
- ½ cup chopped nuts
- 1 cup applesauce
- ¼ cup milk
- Confectioner's sugar

Beat margarine and sugar together until creamy; beat in eggs. Combine dry ingredients, mix well. Add nuts. Stir in dry ingredients with applesauce and milk. Stir only to blend. Pour into a greased 9-inch square baking pan. Bake at 350° about 45 to 50 minutes or until it tests done. Cool. Cut into squares and dust with confectioner's sugar. Makes 9 servings.

CRANBERRY-BAKED APPLES

- 6 cored baking apples
- ½ cup whole cranberry sauce
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 6 teaspoons sugar
- 1 cup water

Place cored apples in a baking dish. Mix cranberry sauce and cinnamon together; fill centers of apples. Dot each apple with butter and sprinkle each with 1 teaspoon sugar. Pour water in baking dish. Bake in 375° oven 45-60 minutes or until apples are tender. Baste frequently with liquid in pan. Serves 6.

Try Elegant Bing Cherry Foldovers As A Dessert After Sunday Dinner

Pancakes for dessert? Any time is pancake time. Increasing use of pancakes as desserts in restaurants has made pancake creations like Bing Cherry Foldovers popular. Delicious pancakes, traditionally a breakfast favorite, star in this glorious Sunday evening dessert.

The pancakes are made from a mix. Bing cherry sauce can be prepared ahead so when it's dessert-time all you do is make the pancakes, reheat the sauce and assemble the foldovers.

Sour cream sandwiched inside Bing Cherry Foldovers provides a flavor contrast to sweet bing cherry sauce. Accented with orange juice and peel, the cherry sauce makes these foldovers a sophisticated Sunday evening pancake dessert. Serve Bing Cherry Foldovers as your next Sunday evening dessert and you'll be at your Sunday-best.

BING CHERRY FOLDOVERS
Makes 4 Servings

Cherry Sauce

- 1 1-lb. can dark sweet cherries
- ¼ cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- Juice of ½ orange
- 1 teaspoon grated orange peel

Pancakes

- 1 cup pancake mix
- 1 cup milk
- 1 egg
- 1 tablespoon melted or liquid shortening
- Dairy sour cream

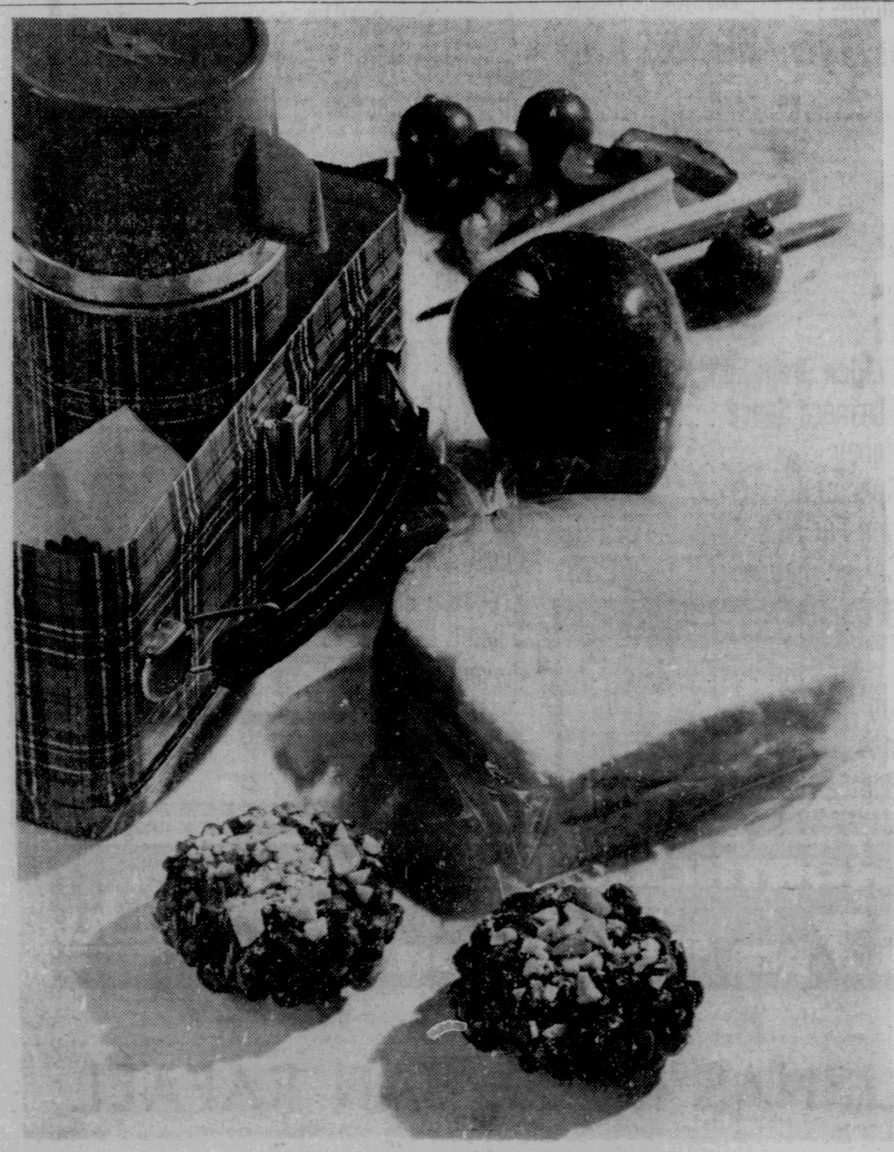
For cherry sauce, drain cherries, reserving syrup. Add enough water to syrup to make 1 cup liquid. Combine sugar and cornstarch in saucepan. Stir in liquid, orange juice and orange peel. Cook, stirring constantly until thickened and clear. Add cherries. Keep warm for serving.

For pancakes, place mix, milk, egg and shortening in bowl. Stir lightly until batter is fairly smooth. For each pancake, pour about ¼ cup batter onto hot, lightly greased griddle to make 8 pancakes. Turn pancakes when tops are covered with bubbles and edges look cooked. Turn only once.

To assemble, spread sour cream on each pancake; fold over. Top with warm cherry sauce.

Vary Sandwiches

To enhance flavor of egg-salad sandwich filling, try adding these variations: Prepared mustard, curry powder, chopped green pepper, bacon bits, pickle relish, chopped olives, fresh water cress, parsley or dill.



Put No-Bake Cookies In Lunchbox

It's lunchbox toting time as the youngsters are well into their schoolwork. They'll look forward to lunchtime if some cereal no-bake cookies are in the box.

A cheering note to mother — the cookies can be made ahead and stored in the refrigerator until lunch-packing time.

CHOCOLATE CHEWS
Makes 2 dozen cookies

- 2¾ cups puffed wheat
- 2¾ cups puffed rice
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 oz. (2 sq.) unsweetened chocolate
- 6 cups miniature marshmallows
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- ⅔ cup chopped salted peanuts

Heat puffed wheat and puffed rice in shallow baking pan in preheated moderate oven (350°F.) about 10 minures. Pour into large greased bowl. Melt butter, chocolate and marshmallows in top of double boiler over hot water, stirring occasionally until smooth. Remove from heat. Add vanilla. Pour over cereal, stirring until evenly coated.

With greased hands, shape to form 24 two-inch patties. As each patty is formed press both sides of it into chopped peanuts. Refrigerate until chocolate is firm.

Mr. Blackwell Thumbs Nose At No Bra

By LINDA DEUTSCH

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "It is cruel for a designer to ask a woman over 30 not to wear a bra," declared Mr. Blackwell as he unveiled his new spring couture collection. "It's a sick trend and I think it should stop."

The flamboyant designer-fashion critic thumbed his nose at the "natural" trend Monday with his most feminine collection in years. It included fitted coats, sculptured gowns, and even the return of the sheath dress. All bodices definitely have bras.

"All this faddist stuff is not for me," said Mr. Blackwell—that is his professional name. His first name is Richard. His own suit in beige corduroy was more subdued than his usual flashy attire.

The tone of his collection is softly elegant with flowing capes and coats over sheath gowns. A new touch for evening is the sleeveless full length satin coat over matching short-sleeved satin dress with bead trim.

Like others in this week's California Fashion Creators showing, Blackwell draws on fashion history. He brings back the chemise of the 20s, pussy-cat bows of the 40s—an enormous beaded bow forms the bodice of a bold print gown—and the sheaths of the 1950s.

But his forte remains the elaborate, flowing evening gown —this time a lime and pink daisy print silk with a five-foot-long billowing cape-train. He calls the dress "the little princess."

Following the trend of femininity without frills there's not a ruffle in sight.

Malia of Hawaii showcased wide patio pants, hostess gowns and flowing muu muus—all in bright tropical prints that have become a West Coast signature. Malia hides little printed bikinis under flair pants and tunics—a hint at the covered-up look ahead in swimwear.

The Blackwell and Malia collections followed showings of five dress designers who predicted "a rennaissance of romance" in the decade ahead. Flounces, flared "skater" shirts, long midcalf silk print dresses and yards of rustling silk scarves pointed the way to the future.

PART OF Mr. Blackwell's spring collection being shown in Los Angeles this week is a pants-dress that can go from patio to party. Therese Baldwin wears the multicolored zigzag silk print heavily fringed at the bottom and cuffs.

Spring Fashions Bring Changes But No Revolution

NEW YORK (UPI)—The words of one New York designer sum up the biggest news in women's fashions for 1970.

"For spring, a woman can have everything," says Mollie Parnis. So those bracing for a revolution can relax, although there are changes. Those fretting that abbreviated hemlines will be out of date can relax also; they aren't, although there are plenty of the longer looks to skirts, from just below the knees on the ankle.

Miss Parnis is one of the fashion leaders in New York speaking her forecast as the giant ready-to-wear industry shows its spring 1970 collections for the nation's store buyers and the fashion press from major cities.

WHAT "EVERYTHING" shapes up to, in major trends from shows thus far:

—Skirt lengths seesawing from mini to midcalf to ankle to floor, depending on the time of the day, the type of garment.

—Huge shawls replacing jackets or coats as an offbeat covering for day or evening.

—Nostalgia for the 1930's and 1940's, showing in revival of soft crepes, or fitted suits which are purely suit and not costume-like, and a softness of fabric and line putting away—finally—any harsh geometic look to clothes.

—Ruffles by the thousands of yards, part of the softness trend too.

—The new look to an oldtime flatterer, the lacy white collar set against black taffeta.

—Continuation of pants for both day and at-home or evenings out, with some of the new evening jumpsuits cut so clingy in some collections the clothes could be a second skin.

MOST OF THE new look shows up in the Bill Blass collection for Maurice Rentner. Blass believes in the return of the suit, doing it with blazers and cardigan jackets over tailored shirts and snappy skirts. Some of his nostalgic suits team gray flannel tops with white crepe skirts.

In one of his softest moods Blass ruffles short, short dinner dresses from collar to hemline.

In almost all collections, there is more shape to the figure. Some of the shapeliest come from Chester Weinberg.

Weinberg used slinky crepes, without bras of course, for at-home pajamas fitting like a second skin, in dresses that were mere nothings depending strictly on the figure for shape, their self-fabric belts slung loosely around the upper hipbone.

The message for the longer skirt came strongest, thus far, from Weinberg, whose collection drew repeated applause from press and buyers. Proportion should dictate length, Weinberg said, and then hauled some of his tubular silhouetted dress and pants outfits down to midcalf.

OSCAR DE LA RENTA played the field with lengths, showing many ankle length coats over miniskirted little dresses with two piece effect. The minis showed with fisherman's boots, well above the knee, for spring yet!

As at many firms, soft fabrics took over at De la Renta's too, notably in his printed organzas and feathered chiffons.

There's a casual ease to spring, done exceptionally well by Don Simonelli for Modelia, who dips back to the 1930's occasionally. Fingertip length and longer, skinny jackets cross over at the front bathrobe style with casual ties. Jackets are collarless, often worn with long crepe scarf tied casually around the throat.

Haitian Women Give Babies Massive Dose Of Love

FERMATHE, Haiti (WMNS) —Once a Haitian woman in this mountain village has given birth, she doesn't lift a finger for at least one month, remaining home with a towel around her shoulders "to keep the milk warm," placing socks on her ordinarily bare feet, and watching placidly while someone else does the cooking, cleaning and water-fetching.

The American director of New-Mother Care at the Baptist Mission Hospital, Mrs. Wallace Turnbull, says such apparent extremism makes sense. "If I had it to do all over again with my own children," she says, "I'd do exactly the same. By concentrating so completely on the new baby, by giving him this massive dose of love right at the beginning, Haitain mothers seem to get their children started right on a very hard life. For the most part, they grow up happy and well-adjusted."

PARENTS-TO-BE

Men, Women Share Dorm At Stanford

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Young men and women at a Stanford University dormitory are living in adjacent single rooms in what officials call an experiment in advanced coeducational living.

"It's going quite well," says William Leland, associate dean of students.

Many of the students' parents approve. No parent has complained.

Joseph Katz, executive director of the school's Institute for the Study of Human Problems, said the 40 students' coeducational living may have led to a "partial moratorium on sex."

Students initiated the change last spring by drafting a floor plan assigning names of men and women in next-door rooms at Roble Hall, previously an all-women's dorm and one of the oldest structures on campus.

Peter Bulkeley, a new dean visiting Roble, saw the suggested plan on a wall and thought the assignments already had been approved.

"Sounds like a great idea," he said.

Asst. Prof. John Palmer and his wife, directors of the dormitory, understood Bulkeley's remark to mean official approval and men were moved into rooms assigned by the plan.

The Palmers say they have encountered no special problems so far in the experiment, which progresses beyond the now fairly common college coeducational housing with men and women on separate floors or corridors.

The bath-and-toilet problem was resolved by assigning one to men and one to women.

The program has brought approving comments from some parents.

"I approve 100 per cent," said Mrs. Anne Huston Gilliand of Corvallis, Ore., whose daughter Sue lives in the dorm. "When I went to Stanford 25 years ago, the boys were at one end of the campus and the girls at the other. Dates became too important. They created tension between boys and girls."

Coed Monica Ploeser of Santa Clara said she senses a more relaxed attitude toward women among men students.

Robert Blees of Los Angeles, a Dartmouth graduate whose son is in the group, said, "It's a fine idea. I'm not shocked at all."

Katz said the coeducational units avoid "over idealization" of the opposite sex and a good deal of the mutual teasing and destructive behavior characteristic of campus dating.

On a longer-range basis, Katz said, participants may develop attitudes that will lead them to stronger marriages.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

If They Are Friends As Well As Lovers, Age Shouldn't Matter

DEAR HELEN:

Why does the world ridicule a woman who marries a man younger than she, while if an older man picks a young chick, he's considered quite the blade?

I have been happily married for 27 years to a man 12 years younger. He was 21, I was 33 when we wed, and we went through some rough times trying to ignore the barbs and innuendos.

Yet had he been 33 and I 21, not one eyebrow would have been raised. This is idiotic when you consider that women live longer than men, age more slowly, and really come into their prime when they are over 30. I've read that men start going downhill by age 25.

The lady next door is married to a man younger than her daughter. I don't think either she or I look older than our husbands, although we never lie about our ages.

Isn't it time we cast aside another one of those false rules — that the man should be older than the woman he marries? Or anyway, not younger? What counts is: Are you friends as well as lovers. — YOUNG SIXTY

DEAR 60:

You're so right. If two people care enough, age shouldn't matter. The key to happiness here is that each must be absolutely sure of the other's love — so sure, in fact, that those whispers become a private joke between them. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am 62 years old, crippled and live alone. I must do my own grocery shopping and, with the aid of a crutch, I manage very well. Some stores do not have the automatic doors, and it's difficult for me to enter.

This may surprise some of your readers, but I have found that the young people who might be termed hippies are the ones who go out of their way to help me. Those with long hair and somewhat unusual dress are most kind and thoughtful — and this happens repeatedly. — MRS. D. H.

DEAR MRS. H.:

Thank you for pointing out what too many elders won't see: When we accept young people, they go out of their way to accept us! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband is a coffee hound. When he's on the job, he and his buddies make at least two trips a day for coffee. When he's off, it's at least four time a day. These trips to town last anywhere from one to three hours. Sometimes they leave as late as 1 a.m. for coffee.

You can see this cuts into my husband's at-home time. There are many repair jobs around the house that have been waiting several years, just because he's addicted to coffee. What can I do? — DISGUSTED

DEAR DIS:

Coffee isn't the problem. Congenialtiy is! Your husband is addicted to getting out with the boys, and the only way you can change him is to make staying home with the girl just as much fun.

Meanwhile, be glad he sticks to coffee. — H.

Going Barefoot Can Eliminate Shoe Allergies That Cause Foot Rashes

SAN MATEO (WMNS) — Barefoot students and children may have a point.

A dermatologist at the San Mateo Medical Clinic reports that shoe allergies have become increasingly common since 1940, affecting men, women and children, soles, toes and insteps. Big toes are particularly susceptible. Occasionally and mysteriously, only one foot is affected.

Since such rashes may readily be confused with fungal infections and other skin disorders, Dr. Ernst Epstein advises patch tests with scrapings from various parts of the patient's entire shoe wardrobe. The linings and rubber adhesives are usually at fault.

Treatment may be laborious and will almost certainly be expensive. Although the rash can be easily cleared up, it may be necessary to discard every pair of old shoes in favor of all-leather sandals or a similar unlined shoe. Then, says Dr. Epstein, one pair of shoes may be bought for testing — to be discarded if the rash reappears.

For men, Dr. Epstein recommends a "hypoallergenic" shoe made of vegetable-tanned leather and nonrubber adhesives. But no such shoe is manufactured for women or children.

Fall Focus Is On Men's Booty Shoes

The focus for fall is on men's feet, and they can bet their boots on that. Boots and boot-look shoes, whether slip-ons, ties or moccasins, offer comfort, style and durability.

Toelines remain on the broad side, sometimes built up or "walled" and occasionally still rounded off in a knobby shape.

American leathers making up the new collections include grained, smooth, antiqued, cordovan, waxy and brushed textures, plus glove, split cowhide, embossed, aniline, suede and new glazed "wet look" leathers.

SLIP-ONS show off high-rise tongues for a bootish air. Medallion toes, side and turtleneck goring, perfed borders, monkstraps are other features.

Trim is of a more refined nature than that used in past seasons.

The brawny leather boot itself is ready for service in town, suburb and country. There are demi-boots and jodhpurs for office wear, demi-boots for evening and rugged boots and chukkas for outdoors-ing it through fall and winter.

LEATHER BROGUES and oxfords show both traditional and novelty stylings. Perfs, pinking, wing-tips are planned to please the traditionalist, while very squared-off toelines, brass studs, heavily stitched or wheeled extension soles offer variety.

Major moc styles include hand-sewns, moc-boots, tassel ties, beefroll mocs and welted brogue types, many well-hardwared with brass plates, studs, rivets.

THE BETTER HALF By Bob Barnes

"Boy, what a DAY!. . .The cocktail hour will be extended to an hour and a half this evening."

Recipe Requests

A survey shows that homemakers under 25 want recipes for two that are hearty and filling, while women from 25 to 35 look for recipes that will delight their children. Women with higher incomes want interesting company menus, foreign foods and desserts other than cakes and pies.

Model Steps Behind Camera

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—For several years now Sue Houle has been a pretty face in front of a camera, viewed by millions of Americans. But she'd prefer to work behind a camera.

She's on the way to having her way about that.

With her blonde, blue-eyed advantages and feminine determination, the petite Bostonian model is quietly crashing the traditionally male world of serious photography.

She is gambling lucrative careers in cosmetics and television commercials on the theory that men will turn to a pretty photographer for an important portrait just as quickly as they will accept a cute barber.

Like makeup, a career must fit the individual woman, the 28-year-old cosmetics expert says. And after doing national commercials for everything from cars to pizza sticks and from ceiling materials to bathing suits, Miss Houle finds photography most satisfying to her.

"There's nothing quite like capturing a fleeting expression that will never come back quite the same way," she says.

Right now Miss Houle is concentrating her cameras on California men. But she's looking forward to a safari during which she can photograph elephants in Africa.

She was surprised by the way executives and actors accepted a female photographer.

"I thought men would insist on being photographed by other men. I would," she said. "But some of them think it is chic to be able to tell their friends their portrait was done by a girl."

It probably helps when the girl is a curvesome 110 pounds, has long blonde hair, has appeared in more than 30 television commercials, stars in a cosmetics film and knows what she's doing with a complicated camera.

Miss Houle started out doing portraits of women for the same studio that photographed Marilyn Monroe. But she switched to men because she spent too much time touching up mistakes she found in the women's makeup.

"Too many women," she says, "try to follow fads and fashions in makeup. The only rule today is use what is good for you," she said.

For the safari, Miss Houle will join 25 other men and women for a month. The safari is sponsored by the Los Angeles Zoo Association. She plans to photograph the animals in infra red color, which she says will produce some fabulously blue elephants.

She also wants to shoot some of those fleeting expressions she expects to find when California men move to the African jungles.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Butterflies' Is First Comedy Hit

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — A nifty package of laughter and sentiment, "Butterflies Are Free," opened last night at the Booth Theater, notably enhancing Broadway's supply of amiable entertainment.

Coupled with a script expertly crafted by Leonard Gershe, a Hollywood film-writer, are a trio of hip-hooray performances by Eileen Heckart, Keir Dullea and Blythe Danner.

The play concerns a mom-bossed blind youth who plunges into romance with a kooky Greenwich Village lass. A very corny contrivance with a marshmallow core, certainly, but redeemed from simple gag-rich banality by a certain basic honesty.

Dullea and Miss Danner scamper about in their sky-light garret pad for half the show like a pair of happy grasshoppers. He is on a two-month parole from suburban conformity, she is an impetuous survivor of a six-day marriage.

Their swift trip from compassion to bed is made amid slick Gershe comments on multiple aspects of the current scene. Then the play takes on more meaning with Miss Heckart's unexpected arrival and the ensuing struggle between youthful impetuousness and parental determination.

With several character turn-abouts the play proceeds to predictable conclusion without faltering in its ability to beguile if not exactly enthrall.

Miss Heckart is impeccably acidulous; Dullea makes you believe in happiness despite handicap, and Miss Danner rambles fetchingly as the personification of unthinking vitality. In a brief appearance as a rakish hippy who catalyses the finale, Michael Glaser does better than well.

Director Milton Katselas and Designer Richard Seger haven't overlooked any details in equipping the entertainment with right-now verve. Don't expect a masterpiece. Just enjoy. "Butterflies Are Free" looks like a long-run winner.

What other press critics said:

John Chapman, Daily News: " . . . a darling play, a lovely play. It is funny when it means to be, sentimental when it is so inclined and heart-warming. And it is beautifully performed . . . This play, which the author calls a comedy, has heart."

Richard Watts Jr., New York Post: "It is humorous, winning and quietly moving as well as delightfully acted and I think it will have a large and well deserved popularity."

Clive Barnes, New York Times: " . . . the first successful new comedy of the Broadway season and should have audiences laughing for months to come . . . It is theater for people who do not really care about theater and even those who do, if they are honest with themselves, will get many laughs and a few guilty shudders of sentiment."

New Cabinet Takes Over In Germany

BONN (AP)—West Germany's first Socialist government was sworn in today and immediately went into session. One of its first acts was expected to be a revaluation of the mark, bringing its official value to the neighborhood of the free-exchange rate now prevailing.

Bundestag President Kai-Uwe Von Hassell administered the oath of office to the 15 ministers of Chancellor Willy Brandt's coalition of Social Democrats and Free Democrats at a session of the lower house. Brandt took the oath after the Bundestag elected him yesterday.

The brief meeting of the Cabinet dealt mainly with the appointments of state secretaries, the No. 2 men in the various ministries. Informed sources said the government would deal with the revaluation question Friday afternoon. The decision is expected to be announced during the weekend.

The Cabinet called on President Gustav Heinemann, who also is a Social Democrat. He noted that it was the first time in almost 40 years for the Socialists to head a national government. The last Social Democratic government held office in 1930, during the ill-fated Weimar Republic.

Brandt's government replaces a coalition of West Germany's two major parties, the Christian Democrats and Social Democrats. The Christian Democrats topped the Socialists in the September general election but did not win a majority, and the liberal Free Democrats threw in with the Socialists.

There were no surprises in the Cabinet list announced by Brandt last night.

Walter Scheel, leader of the Free Democrats, becomes vice chancellor and foreign minister, the posts held by Brandt in the former government.

Karl Schiller, the Socialist economics minister, kept that portfolio and Helmut Schmidt, former Bundestag floor leader for the Social Democrats, was appointed defense minister.

Brandt will outline his government's policies to the Bundestag next Tuesday.

Arbor Day began in Nebraska.

U.S. Film Will Launch Big Festival

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The 13th annual San Francisco Film Festival opens tonight with a Hollywood production, "THE Secret of Santa Vittoria," starring Anthony Quinn and Anna Magnani.

Quinn and Miss Magnani, as well as producer-director Stanley Kramer, will be in the audience. Festivities will be emceed by Victor Borge.

The festival will show 23 feature films, involving 20 nations in the evening during its 12-day run. In addition there will be afternoon tributes to famous movie makers and new directors, who will appear in person to discuss their work.

Among those in the former category who will come here to discuss their work will be directors Mike Nichols, Sidney Lumet, and John Schlesinger and film star Bette Davis.

Hundreds of shorts, avant garde works and film discussions will also be held throughout the city. For instance, there will be a Friday midnight world premier of "Futz," Tom O'Horgan's filming of the wild off-Broadway hit he directed. It tells of a man in love with a pig.

Following tonight's black-tie opening at Masonic Auditorium, the city's society and many of the world's famous film names will mingle in a flittering late supper at the Fairmont Hotel.

Tomorrow's feature will include Poland's "Everything for Sale," and France's 'L'Horizon."

Service Station Robbery Denied

Edward Charles Lenhart, 39, of San Rafael, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of robbing a San Rafael service station of $16 Friday.

Lenhart, who allegedly used a toy pistol during the holdup, will return to court next Tuesday for a preliminary hearing.

He is accused of robbing Bob's Texaco Station at 1524 Second Street after first applying for a job there.

MUSIC REVIEW

Blind Youth Hailed As Rock Opera Star

By JOSH MILLS

NEW YORK (AP) — "See me, feel me, touch me, heal me," Tommy asks the world again and again.

This deaf and blind English lad is the hero of the first rock opera, "Tommy," performed by The Who this week at the Fillmore East.

Tommy becomes a pinball champion, then a messiah, in two dozen rock songs, most of them written by Peter Townshend. He's The Who's guitarist, who dubbed the work "rock opera."

It's not really opera. The English quartet takes turns with the role of Tommy and divides the minor roles. But there's nothing to prevent its presentation in opera format.

"Tommy" became a best-selling album after its release in June and is still high on the sales charts. But The Who had never performed it completely in the United States and this one-week run was set to make up for that.

Last night The Who played at a furious pace for nearly two hours, starting with early hits and Townshend's first experiment in rock story-telling, "A Quick One While He's Away," three songs long.

Townshend, drummer Keith Moon and bass guitarist John Entwistle are fine musicians, whose flamboyant stage manners don't hamper their music. Townshend jumps, jogs and kicks about while playing. Moon clowns and bounces sticks in the air without missing a beat. Lead singer Roger Daltrey swings the microphone around by its cord and catches it.

Each musician shows his skills within the songs, instead of taking long solos—a refreshing change for anyone often subjected to drum or bass solos. Each song sparkles with Moon's sharp punctuationd and thunders with the bass line. Entwistle even picked up the guitar melody on his bass one time.

Daltrey wasn't in top voice, possibly from having to sing over the 12 amplifiers The Who set up. But he was still a notch above most rock singers, with four arduous nights to go. Townshend and Entwistle chip in fine singing.

"Tommy" may be the complaint of a younger generation that feels ignored. Perhaps Townshend's trying to tell us it's time to build bridges. "Tommy" might be one, if the enthusiastic applause of the few adults in the aundience is an indicator.

Harry Elmer Chapman, 43, of Mill Valley, was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on charges of possessing methamphetamine and a hypodermic needle March 8 after a preliminary hearing yesterday in municipal court. He was told to appear in court Monday for arraignment.

Paintings On Display

Paintings by San Rafael artists Dania and Bruce Bomberger are on display, for an indefinite period, at the Montecito center branch of the Bank of America, 333 Third Street, San Rafael.

Lawmaker's Bill To Aid Point Reyes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A California congressman has introduced a House bill aimed at forcing the government to complete the funding of Point Reyes National Seashore.

The legislation, by Democrat Jeffery Cohelan, Oakland, would prevent the executive branch from entering any new offshore oil lease agreements with private companies until all money now in the Land and Water Conservation fund is released.

The fund, which is partially supported by revenues paid for oil leases by petroleum companies, is supposed to be used only for the purchase of national park land.

Cohelan said each year there is $200 million earmarked for national park land purchases, but only $124 million was released this year.

"This will prove disastrous to California since the Point Reyes National Seashore north of San Francisco is currently being purchased out of water fund money," Cohelan said.

This is money from recreation fees, motorboat fuel taxes and sale of surplus government property. The remainder of the $200 million fund comes out of the royalty money paid into the treasury by oil companies.

Cohelan warned unless the park land is purchased soon, soaring land costs will allow commercial enterprises to outbid the federal government, "leaving the natural beauties of Point Reyes to the mercy of highways and neon lights."

Cohelan said his proposal, cosponsored by 16 other congressmen, is an attempt to carry out the original objective of the Land and Water Conservation Act.

"If Congress prevents oil companies from obtaining new federal offshore drilling leases until the fund money is released, the petroleum producers in the country will 'jawbone' the president into releasing the funds," Cohelan daid.

EUGENE E. CRAWFORD

Crawford To Head State's Architects

Eugene E. Crawford of Mill Valley, a partner in the architectural firm of Crawford and Banning in San Rafael, has been elected to take office Jan. 1 as the 1970 president of the 3,500-member California Council of the American Institute of Architects.

Crawford, a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was recently elected to the College of Fellows of the American Institute of Architecture for outstanding achievement.

He was president of the Northern California Chapter of the AIA in 1964 and a former lecturer in architectural design at the University of California at Berkeley.

Crawford is a member of the Marin County Board of Appeals and a member of the board of directors of the Marin Builders Exchange.

His work has included a variety of projects, among them office buildings for the Bank of Marin, the Northwestern and Marin County Savings and Loan associations and the Marin Municipal Water District.

Extension Sought For Bay Dredging

A Sausalito firm has applied to the Army Corps of Engineers for a three-year extension to continue commercial dredging in San Francisco Bay waters adjacent to the southwestern side of Angel Island.

The United Sand and Gravel division of the A. G. Schoonmacher Company, Inc., estmates that approximately 350,000 cubic yards of material would be removed annually and that the dredging would reach a maximum depth of 60 feet below mean lower low water.

Schoonmacher spokesmen said a hopper dredge towed or pushed by a tug would be used for the work and that no anchors, buoys, cables or other obstructions to navigation would result from the operation, as the vessels would be under way at all times.

Any objections to the operation should be forwarded in triplicate by Nov. 29 to the U.S. Army Engineer District, San Francisco Corps of Engineers, 100 McAllister Street, San Francisco, 94102.

Three Suspects Deny Marijuana

Three young persons arrested in a narcotics raid Oct. 9 on a house at 82 Southern Heights Boulevard, San Rafael, entered innocent pleas yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to various drug charges.

A preliminary hearing for Patricia Maryann O'Neill, 22, and Lawrence David Johnson, 22, both of San Rafael, and John Thomas Dervin, 22, of Sausalito, was set for Nov. 6.

Miss O'Neill is accused of possessing marijuana for sale, cultivating and possessing the weed, being in a place where narcotics were used and maintaining a premise for the use or sale of narcotics.

Johnson is charged with possessing marijuana, being in a place where narcotics were used and being under the influence of drugs. Dervin is accused of growing and possessing marijuana and being in a place were narcotics were used.

Two Networks Offer Campaign Rate Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two of the three major television networks, hoping to head off a congressional crackdown on the cost of campaigning, said today they will slash rates for political advertisements.

The National Broadcasting Co. said it would reduce rates in next year's elections by 50 per cent. The American Broadcasting Co. said its rates would be cut by 33 and one third per cent.

The announcement came as the presidents of NBC, ABC and the Columbia Broadcasting system testified before a Senate Commerce subcommittee.

Julian Goodman, president of NBC, said the 50 per cent discount would apply to the five television stations it owns.

But he said the network was seeking ways to help the 195 TV stations it serves to offer time at reduced cost to local candidates.

Goodman said plans also are in the making to offer reduced rate time slots to the 1972 presidential contenders.

Another plan would make available some free half-hour segments, he said, if Congress waivers the law that requires broadcast stations to give equal time to candidates seeking the same office.

President Leonard H. Goldenson of ABC said his network has already granted political discounts of 33 and one-third per cent for spot announcements on its own television stations and that this would be extended to ABC-owned radio stations.

Marinite Gets Jail Sentence

I-J Special Report

PLACERVILLE — A 19-year-old Marin youth, arrested here Sept. 6 while speeding in a car reported stolen from his father in Novato, was sentenced to five days in El Dorado County Jail yesterday by Judge J. B. Johnson in El Dorado Justice Court.

The youth, Thomas R. Cunningham Jr., of no fixed address, was sentenced on the speeding complaint. Charges of joyriding and drunken driving were dismissed.

When stopped on Highway 50, Cunninghan had no identification or driver's license and a record check revealed the car had been reported stolen from his father at 1116 Elm Drive, Novato, according to sheriff'd deputies.

Demos Slate A Reception For Unruh

A public reception for Assemblyman Jesse M. Unruh, D-Los Angeles, an unannounced candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in next year's contest will be held in Marin on Nov. 22 the Marin County Democratic Central Committee announced last night.

The reception will be from 6 to 8 p.m., probably in Sausalito, committee chairman S. Robert Politzer said. The location will be announced, he said.

Committee members, who met in the Marin County Courthouse in San Rafael, adopted a resolution declaring Tamalpais High School District's attempts to regulate hair length was "a clear-cut interference with individual rights."

The length of students' hair, the resolution said, was "a matter of personal chaoice."

In other action, the committee adopted resolutions urging President Richard M. Nixon to declare "an immediate, permanent ceasefire" in Vietnam, and commending Peter C. Meyer, county elections officer, for "his progressive administration."

Petluma Youngster Wins Poetry Award

Two Boys Dart Into Car

Two boys were hospitalized, one in serious condition after running in front of a moving car at 3:55 p.m. yesterday at Hamilton Air Force Base, according to base officials.

In serious condition today at Letterman General Hospital with a broken leg and multiple cuts on his head, was Lawrence E. Horn, 4, son of Sgt. and Mrs. Burton L. Horn of 213 Marin Road on the base. In good condition at the base hospital with multiple cuts on his face and body was Mark Johnson, 7, son of Sgt. and Mrs. Stebling L. Johnson of 108 Bodkin Road on the base.

The two boys ran in front of a car driven by T/Sgt. Lowell D. Hinkle, 33, of 832 San Jose Boulevard, Novato, about 100 feet east of the main gate.

COLLEGE BOOSTER ASKS LOAN CUTS

Kettenhofen Threatens To Quit Foundation Unless Unruly Students Lose Loan Rights

The president of the College of Marin Foundation yesterday urged termination of foundation aid to students who disrupt the "proper administration and operation" of the school.

Ernest N. Kettenhofen, in a letter to Dr. Louis H. Herkenhoff, the college's acting superintendent-president, reacted firmly to the clamorous meeting of the Marin Junior College District board Oct. 17 in which students chanted and shouted for more aid.

"I am dismayed and saddened by the recurring activities of some malicious and self-centered pseudo-students who continually disregard the philosophy of 'due precess of orderly dissent' when it is so vitally needed," Kettenhofen said.

He urged that the foundation "go on record immediately to permanently disqualify any student financial assistance through the foundation if they are so foolishly guilty of such destructive civil disobedience that infringes on the orderly and proper administration and operation of the priceless educational objectives and programs at the College of Marin."

Kettenhofen said he would resign from the foundation, to which he has belonged since its inception, if the group were to reject his request "or its equivalent."

Kettenhofen said he was currently negotiating with "several substantial donors" to the foundation to help "conscientious and worthy" students.

His letter was read yeaterday at a meeting of the college financial aid committee at which Charles M. Herndon, financial aid officer, was asked to seek federal approval if increasing the income base beyond which aid cannot be given single students from $1,900 to $2,500 because of high cost of living in Marin.

A subcommittee of three teachers, three students and counselor Charles Sizemore was created to dispense money now on hand. The subcommittee was to meet today.

Water's Bad Taste Blamed On Microbe

The bad taste in the water of the North Marin County Water District has been traced to a harmless bacteria, actinomycete, which gives the water an "earthy" taste after it has been killed in the chlorination process, Manager Eugene Churchill reported last night to the water district board.

The bacteria have almost disappeared from Stafford Lake and the water from it could be used again, Churchill said. The district quit using the lake water on Oct. 10 and switched to Russian River water after it received complaints on the taste.

During the interval, the district started installing new chlorinators at the treatment plant at Stafford Lake. These should be completed so the district can switch back to the lake water next week, he said. The North Marin district had trouble with the same bacteria two years ago and Marin Municipal Water District has had trouble with it for the past two years, Churchill said.

The North Marin County Water District board also:

METERS — Was informed the district had a water use increase of 4 per cent, or from 9,190 meters last year to 9,558 meters this year, but a slight drop in the use of water in September of this year compared to September 1968.

RESTAURANT — Approved an agreement for water service and the installation of a fire hydrant for the Jack-In-the-Box restaurant on Ignacio Boulevard, to cost the restaurant $2,085.

LEAKS — Received a report that the district had only five main leaks in the past six months compared to 81 during the same period in 1961. This is due to the district's policy of replacing old mains, Churchill said.

Hub Trustees Decide On School Remodeling

First priority for remodeling at Isabel Cook School will go to improved ventilation, the San Anselmo School District board agreed last night.

The board authorized bids for a roof cooling system to serve five classrooms which face Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and have sealed windows to keep out traffic noise.

Other work needed at the school includes improved heating and toilet systems, Supt. Stephen L. Parodi reported.

Several parents of Cook pupils spoke in favor of the improvements last night. The board was recently assured by the city that no widening of Drake is imminent.

The board accepted several gifts from the Wade Thomas School Parent-Teacher Association for the school, including materials and labor for a kindergarten playhouse, five film strip projectors, storage cubbyholes and materials from Creative Playthings.

Completing its hiring for an expanded single-session kindergarten program this year, the board hired Robin M. Barnett to teach kindergarten at Isabel Cook School and Elaine F. Heller to teach kindergarten at Sleepy Hollow School. Mrs. Barnett will receive $8,848 a year and Mrs. Heller $9,547, both salaries pro-rated for the remainder of the school year.

The San Anselmo School District Board Also:

HANDICAPPED — Approved an agreement with the Marin County schools office for the county to provide classes for educationally handicapped pupils in seventh and eighth grades, and to handle any overflow of educationally handicapped pupils in first through sixth grades which the San Anselmo classes cannot handle.

TEACHERS — Recognized the San Anselmo Elementary Teachers Association as a qualified certificated employee association and agent for district teachers this year.

MEETING — Was told the annual joint meeting with the San Anselmo City Council will be at 8 p.m. Nov. 13 at city hall.

CONFERENCES — Was told minimum class days will be held from Nov. 3 through Nov. 14 for first through sixth grades so teachers can confer with parents after the class day ends at 2 p.m.

VOTES — Was advised by Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino that under a new state law, a majority of the entire five-member board will be needed to take action. In the past boards have been able to act with a majority of the quorum present. The change in the Education Code was passed by this year's legislature.

UNIFICATION — Was told by Trustee Representative Basil H. Scalabrini that there appears to be little local sentiment for submitting a new unification proposal to the voters until more study by school committees. Trustees from San Anselmo and three other school districts last week asked that no unification plan be submitted to the voters in 1970.

Navy Is Seeking Officer Students

Marin high school seniors and graduates interested in the Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps four-year scholarship program must apply by Nov. 14, Gerald A. Adair, local Marin Navy recruiter, announced today.

The Navy College Aptitude Tests will be given on Dec. 13, he reported.

Students in the program spend college summers in training at sea and receive a regular commission after graduation.

Applications are available at Marin high schools and at the Navy Recruiting Station, 910 D Street, San Rafael.

Student Leaders Demanding 'Due Process' On Ousters

The student government at College of Marin has rejected the College's appeal procedure in the case of three suspended students, and said the three should be tried by "a true due process system."

The students want a committee of students only to consider their appeal from Monday's suspension by Dean of Students Irwin P. Diamond. The three, suspended for actions at a clamorous meeting last week of the Marin Junior College District board, are Del Mar Jackson, William Nason and Brigardo Groves.

The Associated Students Executive Council met yesterday and issued a letter to the district board declaring "all proceedings regarding the appeals . . . are herewith suspended until a true due process system is established. In accordance with the 14th Amendment of the United States Constitution, we students intend to exercise our rights of due process."

SEEKS REVISION!

Student body president Kimo Campbell said the council wanted to revise the college policy manual so students would be tried by students in matters dealing only with students, and by a student-faculty board in matters involving faculty.

Campbell conceded that the present case did not involve students only, but said the committee rejected the appeal procedure anyway in order to set up a new system.

"We do have a due process procedure," Diamond said today. The committee on student conduct, which is to hear the appeals, is composed of four students, two faculty members and an administrator.

The committee was to meet this afternoon. If the student members or the suspended students do not appear, Diamond said, the suspension will stand.

INVOLVES ALL

A committee of peers might be appropriate in an action involving only students, Diamond said, but the current case "involved the board, the faculty, the administration and the public."

Campbell named student vice president George J. Shea to head a committee to rewrite the student conduct rules to provide for all-student hearings.

Campbell said the council heard, but did not approve or act on, a letter from the Black Students Union rejecting the charges against the three and indicting the board for bringing about the suspension. BSU members refused to disclose the contents of the letter by telephone today, but offered to discuss it at the BSU office on campus.

Nicasio Again Urges Tam Bussing Service

Nicasio School District trustees, concerned over the threatened curtailment of bus service by the Tamalpais High School District, decided to write again urging the Tam district board to continue paying for it, according to secretary Beverly Alberigi.

The district has been faced with curtailment for several months and alternatives, such as having students drive their own cars to Sir Francis Drake High School in San Anselmo, have been rejected in favor of the Tam district continuing to provide and pay for bus service. The Nicasio School District board also:

LAND — Instructed trustee John L. Shepherd to contact the county coundel's office to negotiate with Marin Municipal Water District for the purchase of about three acres of land adjacent to the school.

SHED — Approved purchase of a metal shed for $115 to store flammable materials as recommended following a recent fire inspection.

LIGHTS — Learned the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. has not yet reported on a meter investigation the board requested. The board asked that the meter be checked because it felt the $80 to $100 a month bills for the three-classroom school were excessive.

POINT REYES — Adopted a resolution urging acquisition of the remaining land in the Point Reyes National Seashore.

Stereo, Tapes Stolen

A $100 car stereo and $80 worth of tapes were reported stolen sometimes yesterday afternoon from an auto belonging to Donald R. Whitted of Vallejo while the car was parked on Brooks Street, San Rafael police reported.

Mill Valley Names New Fiscal Chief

Carl W. Reynolds, finance director for the City of Delano, has been hired as Mill Valley finance director, City Mgr. William H. Cunningham announced yesterday.

Cunningham said Reynolds, who is in his early 50s, will start the new job Nov. 3. He will be paid $12,025 annually.

Reynolds will replace former finance director James L. Phillips who resigned Sept. 26 after only four weeks on the job, citing "an unbelieveable backlog" of work as his reason.

Reynolds has been finance director in Delano, a city of 14,652 population for the past four years. Before that he worked as accounting director for the city of Azusa and as senior accountant with a certified public accounting firm in Covina.

He is a graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles with a bachelor's degree in business administration and a major in accounting. He is married and has two children.

Cunningham noted Reynolds was the first finance director for Delano and organized its newly created finance department. He also is familiar with data processing concepts, Cunningham said.

Cunningham added he is "looking forward" to having Reynolds on the job which has been filled for only one month out of the past five.

Meetings Put Off

The Marin County Housing Authority and Marin County Redevelopment Agency will not meet tonight as scheduled due to lack of a quorum, according to Executive Director Donald O Stutsman. A new date for the meetings will be announced, Stutsman said.

Hearing Scheduled On Pot Possession

A preliminary hearing has been set for Nov. 13 in Marin Municipal Court for Kenneth Stanley Ross II, 22, of Novato, who is accused of possessing marijuana Oct. 11.

Ross was arrested by Novato police who stopped him for not having a taillight on his truck. Officers said Ross had with him three hand-rolled cigarettes and loose vegetable matter, believed to be marijuana.

MENTAL HEALTH SHAKEUP

No Trims Pledged In Child Services

By WAT TAKESHITA

There will be no change or reduction in mental health services for children, under the administrative reorganization that is taking place, the director of Marin Community Mental Health Center assured Marin residents today.

Dr. Donald P. Wilson explained that the treatment of new patients at the children's services office, 20 H Street in San Rafael, is being held up only a week or two until the administrative reorganization is completed. He stressed that treatment of the present caseload and all emergency services for children are cointuing, and telephone calls are being taken for new child referrals. "By no means should people refrain from calling," he added.

Just what is Wilson's current "administrative reorganization"?

Up to now, two deputy directors served under Wilson. They were Dr. Joseph P. Gutstadt, deputy director for adult outpatient services; and Dr. Leon R. Wanerman, deputy director for children's services. Each was on half time at $1,021 apiece per month.

This will be changed as follows: Dr. C. Hardin Branch, chairman of the department of psychiatry at University of Utah, will become the sole full-time deputy director under Wilson at $2,084 per month. Gutstadt and Wanerman will be reassigned to share new post of chief of in-service training, each on half-time with no change in pay.

Wilson said in-service training is a budgeted item but there was no title for the job in the past.

Dr. John Guerrant, chief of the inpatient units, will remain in that position.

In the past, adult services under Gutstadt had three separate sections — emergency team, alcoholism and drug abuse, and the basic adult group.

Children's services under Wanerman had these sections: South Marin team, Novato team, juvenile crime prevention team, and the basic child group.

Hereafter, Gutstadt and Wanerman will confine their activities to in-service training. Their former duties (adult and children's services) will be consolidated under one deputy director.

The new structure under Branch will have five teams as follows: One will be a team dealing with alcoholism, drug abuse, juvenile delinquency and crime prevention. The other four will be geographical teams serving South Marin, Novato, San Rafael and Ross Valley (including West Marin).

"Each team will have six positions, three for adult services and three for children's services.

The total number of staff positions remains unchanged; they have merely been rearranged under the five teams.

The main difference is that under the old structure, adult and children's services were separate, whereas they are consolidated in the new structure.

"The main purpose of consolidation," said Wilson, "is to bring about more coordination."

He gave these examples:

Children's services might be working with schools. Parents of a student may be getting adult treatment, and the student may be having difficulty because of the emotional conditions of the parents. Under the consolidated structure, the problems of a child at school as related to conditions at home can be quickly coordinated.

Children's services may be working with churches. Adult services may be working with the same churches. If they work as a team, they can coordinate, divide the work, and reduce duplication.

This is how the new structure will operate.

The deputy director (Dr. Branch) will coordinate the five teams, through which the entire county will get consultations and education as well as emergency services, outpatient diagnosis and treatment for children, adults and families, said Wilson.

"The deputy director will coordinate in such a way that emergency services are readily available for the entire county at all times, and outpatient treatment programs allow for a flexible referral system between the teams. For example, if one team has some time because of a temporary lull, they can be assigned to help out another that is swamped."

Each team is to assign personnel hours so that a minimum of one-fifth is spent in indirect services and program planning. For example, they would help develop alternative services in cooperation with other groups such as half way houses, church groups, volunteer services for people in crises, police and probation group programs.

"One of the main focuses of these teams is to provide these indirect services to the community," said Wilson.

There will be no change in the physical facilities — Mental Health Center at Marin General Hospital, plus a small office in Novato and the H Street office in San Rafael. "I wish to assure the community that there will be no dimunition of children's services."

Wilson said the reorganization is a continuation of a process started before the current controversy which led to the Sept. 30 suspension with pay of Dr. Clyde G. Miller, director of community mental health services.

Rohnert Park Cool To Bid For Hospital

The Rohnert Park City Council has taken a dim view of the proposal by developer Paul Golis that the city donate six acres for a proposed hospital cil last night took a dim view of site.

Mayor James E. Rodgers said Gollis urged the council Monday night to establish a hospital foundation and to donate the land.

Rodgers said the council was reluctant to give half of the 12-acre site earmarked for a future civic center. The foundation concept was also coldly received and Rodgers pointed out that Councilman Arthur N. Roberts already serves on the Sonoma County Medical Facilities Committee.

Golis also asked the council to consider a change in zoning on his property near the proposed hospital site to permit medical offices and a convalescant hospital.

The council said the land should remain zoned as multiple family residential.

The Rohnert Park City Council also:

UNDERGROUNDING — Adopted an ordinance requiring that all new developments have underground utility lines.

ZONING — Approved an amendment to the planned unit development district regulations that would permit Young America Homes, Inc. to build a subdivision with 45-foot lot widths.

CHAMBER — Heard a presentation from Bart C. Mitchell on making the chamber of commerce autonomous through dues receipts and a plan to do away with the city business license fax. A study session with chamber directors will be scheduled next month.

Gonorrhea Caseload

Twenty-six cases of gonorrhea, 17 streptococci infections, three cases of shigella, two of infectious hepatitis and one case each of salmonella, mumps and measles were reported in Marin last week, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

San Domenico Special School Open House Set

Persons interested in attending free secretarial classes next month at San Domenico School in Sleepy Hollow have been invited to an open house at the school Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m.

Free transportation to the open house will be provided by the Education Corps of Marin County and the Marin Clunty Economic Opportunity Council, so-sponsors of the educational program.

Transportation will leave St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church in Marin City at 2 p.m. Transportation will also be provided at 2:30 p.m. at the Marin County Courthouse in San Rafael and at 2:45 p.m. in the Red Hill Shopping Center, San Anselmo.

Lack Of Quorum

The Belvedere Planning Commission did not meet last night for lack of a quorum, chairman George Banning reported. The meeting was rescheduled for 8 p.m. Monday in city hall.

Marin Span Work Is Economy Victim

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California will spend $782.63 million for highways during fiscal 1970-71, but will defer more than $126 million in contract awards, including the widening of Richardson Bay Bridge, to help cool down the state's economy, in line with President Richard M. Nixon's anti-inflationary federal spending cuts.

The budget approved by the State Highway Commission Tuesday is $72 million less than the $854,773,000 it is spending this fiscal year.

More than half the total, as usual, goes for construction, right - of - way and engineering. This comes to $434.27 million.

There was no discussion of details of the construction section of the budget during more than three hours of debate, but friction developed between the Division of Highways and the Reagan administration over whether to sacrifice some landscape projects to increase spending for safety.

State Highway Engineer John Legarra, head of the Division of Highways, had recommended that the commission spend about $12 million for landscaping as part of a five-year plan his staff had worked up.

But James A. Moe, the Reagan administration's spokesman as director of the Department of Public Works, recommended that $6 million in landscape work be deferred and the money used "to correct deficiencies in traffic safety."

The commission finally compromised and raised landscape spending to $9 million and safety projects to $13 million — an increase of $3 million for each.

Widening of Richardson Bay Bridge to eight lanes at a cost of $2.9 million was to have been begun next fiscal year under a $1.6 million allocation, with the remaining $1.3 million in fiscal 1971-72.

A spokesman for the commission, however, said that the bridge widening may yet be funded in time for work to begin next spring. Funding will depend on federal cutbacks in construction — which the state is attempting to balance with its own cutbacks to spead the impact throughout the state.

All that was included in the approved budget yesterday for Marin was $50,000 for rights-of-way on various state routes.

In Sonoma, $1,935,000 was budgeted, including $950,000 for rights - of - way purchases and $385,000 for construction of southbound entrance and exit ramps on Highway 101 at the Rohnert Park Expressway, and enlargement of culverts at Hinebaugh and Todd Creeks. The Sonoma County Flood Control and Water Conservation District is to pay the balance of the $600,000 cost.

But deferred beyond next fiscal year was a $750,000 project to improve Highway 116 for four miles, from Highway 101 in Petaluma to the Lakeville Road. The project included construction of shoulders, resurfacing and rebuilding two bridges. This project, however, may be refunded in time for construction next spring, the commission spokesman said.

Most Feared Driver: 21 To 25 Age Drinker

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The drinking driver who is involved in an auto accident in California is likely to be 21 to 25 years old, male and more of a fatal danger to himself than others.

Those facts emerged today from a detailed report by the California Highway Patrol on accidents in 1968 in which the symbol "HBD" appeared on the report.

It stands for "had been drinking."

In 1968, that symbol appeared on 31,228 fatal and injury accident reports.

Some 856 drivers who were obviously drunk or whose ability was impaired by alcohol were involved in fatal accidents last year Of these, 489 were single-car accidents, 329 involved another vehicle and 38 hit a pedestrian.

However, the number of fatalities involving a drinking driver dropped by 73 from 1967, to 1,688. Patrol officials said they didn't know why.

Of the 5,852 persons who died on state roads last year, 34.8 per cent were in an accident which involved a drinking driver.

Drunks also can kill themselves on foot, the patrol noted. It reported 177 pedestrians who had been drinking died in motor vehicle accidents.

The most frequent violation by drinking drivers involved in fatalities was exceeding the speed limit.

Four Drinking Drivers Fined

Four persons have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving.

Joseph Paul Becker, 40, of San Francisco, who was arrested May 18 in Sausalito was placed on six months' probation and fined $100.

Casey Johnson, 45, fo San Francisco, who was arrested Oct. 5 on Highway 101, was placed on two years' probation, sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $302.

Kurk Richard Toohey, 34, of 9 Peninsula Road, Belvedere, who was arrested Aug. 14 on Golden Gate Bridge, was placed on one-year probation and fined $240.

William Patrick Regan, 38, of Forest Knolls, who was arrested Aug. 16 in Forest Knolls, was placed on one-year probation and fined $75.

More, Bigger Explosions; The Question Is, Why?

"'Everything appears to be normal,' the Atomic Energy Commission said. The weapon's force was estimated at less than the equivalent of one million tons of TNT."

That is a paragraph from an Associated Press report from Las Vegas on Oct. 8, after the AEC set off the latest in its long — and recently speeded-up — series of underground nuclear explosions in Nevada.

THAT BLAST came only a few days after the AEC set off a million-ton explosion in a 4,000-foot deep hole in the Aleutians — and breathed a sigh of relief that it did not trigger an earthquake or tidal wave as some scientists had feared.

It came less than a month after the AEC shipped a trainload of radioactive waste from its Rocky Flats, Colo., plant by rail to a burial ground near Idaho Falls, Idaho.

It came less than two months after a hydrogen "device" — again with the force of a million tons of TNT — was exploded underground in Nevada, shaking buildings in Las Vegas. And it was also less than two months after a 40,000-ton explosion in Colorado knocked bricks off chimneys in the towns of Grand Valley and Rifle. And it was less than three months after a "low yield" (equal to 20,000 tons of TNT) underground explosion in Nevada admittedly leaked radiation poison into the atmosphere.

A MONTH BEFORE that, a "medium yield" (equal to 200,000 tons of TNT) Nevada explosion set off a tremor recorded on seismographs 200 miles distant.

Some nuclear testing almost had to be delayed. A fire broke out May 11 at the AEC's plant in Rocky Flats, Colo. The AEC rushed to the Senate with warning that this might halt nuclear missile production for the rest of the year. Senators quickly appropriated $45 million to repair the plant. But they did it behind closed doors. Not until more than a month later was the "near-tragedy" bared when the committee's minutes were made public.

BLAST BY BLAST, the AEC announces the explosions—because they obviously cannot be concealed. But there is little information as to how many of them are planned, or as to the possible results.

Some came to light, however, last April, thanks to Howard Hughes, the multimillionaire industrialist who owns a lot of real estate in Nevada and appears to be buying the state piece by piece.

Hughes felt the value of his real estate was threatened by the continuing explosions. So he put the AEC on the spot with some questions. He got this answer, as reported from Las Vegas by United Press International:

"Future underground nuclear tests in Central Nevada will have a punch of several megatons and detonations in Alaska will be larger."

THOSE HORRENDOUS explosions are yet to come.

The AEC has been chary with information about the number and force of such explosions. And it has never answered the key question:

Why?

It would appear that the destructive force of the atom was proved a long time ago at Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Must scientists, underwritten by the taxpayers, behave like children playing with fire, until they destroy the world to find out how powerful that force can be?

The Last Frontier

Space is the last frontier. First man polluted the land, the air and the fresh water. Now, he has a good start at ruining the oceans with sewage, chemicals and assorted rubbish. Those who fly much tell us it is not uncommon to find debris, such as a half-water-soaked mattress, miles and miles from any coastline.

Just recently, man first set foot upon the moon. And when he left, the moon was a bit littered. A creature from another planet might shake his head and say we are hopeless.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

State Employees' Strike Threat May Bring Retaliatory Laws

By JAMES K. WOODWORTH

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The California State Employees' Association is carrying a chip on its shoulder.

This was shown by the approval recently by the organization of removing the "no-strike" pledge from its constitution.

The action, according to CSEA, puts "teeth in the campaign for higher pay and improved benefits."

"FOR TWO YEARS, 1967 and 1968, the (CSEA general) council overwhelmingly rebuffed attempts to remove the no-strike pledge, expressing the belief the legislature and the governor would respond to a display of good faith by the employees.

"That belief was wrong. It didn't work," the CSEA statement declares. "Council delegates stressed time and again they don't currently anticipate a strike . . . Delegates felt it was time to put guts in the demand to be heard. Years of frustration were vented in the chorus of 'ayes' for removal of the no-strike clause. The legislature and the governor know it is time for action."

ONE PART of the statement certainly is true: the legislature and the governor do know it is time for action, but it may turn out to be a different kind of action than anticipated by the state employees.

When state employees charge that the list of inequities attendant to their employment with the state is growing almost daily, it is a statement that needs much clarification.

Are these inequities claimed by the CSEA determined when comparisons are made with other state governments, or the federal government? Or are they comparisons with private enterprise?

Comparison with private industry would be unfair to the state since there is a vast difference between the state and private enterprise. It is like comparing apples with oranges.

Should the comparison be made with federal jobs, then in most cases, the state worker certainly has the best of it.

IF THE ACTION of the association's general council is upheld by the many chapters that must ratify the action on removing the no-strike pledge, then the state legislature has received its warning and the 1970 session of that body should result in some legislation banning strikes by state employees.

State employees, like the rest of us, always believe they are worth more than they are receiving in pay and benefits.

While demanding more pay and benefits, and backing these demands with a threat of strike, the CSEA is opposing economy in state government, particularly any economies which result in a cutback in the number of employees.

With the nation and the state threatened by run-away inflation, it is common sense to hold the line on state spending if possible. If the employees are demanding additional pay, then cuts must be made elsewhere in the system.

Threats sometimes backfire.

Hair Issue Even Reaches Vietnam

I'd just like to put in my two cents worth about the Bob Troppmann hair thing that's causing a lot of hate and letter writing. Before I entered the service of our country I had semi-long hair and liked it that way. I was never in any team of any kind at Redwood. But I want to give my written and moral support to Mr. Troppmann who from what I observed during my time at Redwood was an excellent coach, respected and I suppose loved by the people on his teams. Hair, I've decided, is not absolutely important; it's the person underneath that hair that counts. Valmar Schaff is not quite right when he alludes that Mr. Troppmann cannot lead his men and implies that Troppmann is the second coming of Hitler (I-J, Oct. 1). I must add also, that I find Tom Wickert's "hair," such as it is or perhaps isn't, not to my personal liking. Much too long and hippyish.

Mr. Troppmann, don't resign, and all the rest of you clowns sit down. Everything will be right in the end.

Times Have Changed And So Must Rules

Your editorial of Oct. 13 printed at great length excerpts from a letter by Mrs. Carol Pasquinelli regarding the action of Supt. Robert Torrey in rescinding the haircut regulation. Mrs. Pasquinelli has made an unwarranted and totally unjustified insinuation concerning Coach (Douglas) Basham's action in permitting "long-haired" members of the team to run. . . . You may be certain that Coach Basham has not won the confidence and cooperation of the boys by shows of favoritism.

The editorial comments on the fact that the school board meeting drew so large a turnout. It is unfortunate that the so-called "concerned" parents who were busy with their petitions did not feel compelled to appear in equally large numbers last spring when a seminar was held at the Little Theater of Redwood High School to discuss drug problems there. . . . Is it possible that the parents of Redwood High School students have a rather warped view of what issues are truly important? Where were they then?

Superintendent Torrey is to be congratulated, not chastised, for posing questions to the athletic coaches concerning the relevance of existing rules. Times have changed and rules must be changed or adapted accordingly. . . .

You conclude your editorial with the following: "We trust the Tamalpais High School District Board will get the message." I would guess that they most certainly did get the message very clearly that those who would fight to keep the status quo are also those who threaten, harangue and hate.

SMALL WORLD

Achilles' Heel?

'Why Does Everyone Seem To Hate Us?'

I have never seen so many happy people before here and in San Francisco. Today, Oct. 15, as it was raining I could hear them remark "Man oh man, I hope those traitors get soaked!" or "I hate rain but today I love it." It seems as though the majority of people hate these doves and peace marchers. Why? There are a few of them that riot. People can be deadly and dangerous. Specially when they are silent and icy with a cold fierce stare. Look out!

I am a peace marcher and I am worried. I have never rioted, only been with those that have. Although I never condoned it I did try to stop them.

I am afraid that a lot of people will let go some time and taks out after the few of us who are only dedicated to peace and a people's world. Just why does everyone seem to hate us?

Professionals Show They Really Care

Anyone wanting a list of outstanding doctors and lawyers in Marin should keep handy the advertisement on page 7 of the Oct. 15 I-J.

Those professionals who signed the get-out-of-Vietnam statement show they really care, beyond the dollar-producing aspect of the professions they represent.

I am ashamed that I and my colleagues in the profession of education were not similarly standing up publicly to be counted.

Some Footnotes On Red Tape Plaint

Thank you for printing my story "Novatan Winning Bureaucracy War," Sept. 29. The article was well written and fair — however may I add a few more items?

The social worker was not interested in my previous experience with children, or perhaps this is of little or no consequence. . . .

With regards to the breakdown in communications: after the social worker's first visit, I felt something was lacking. Therefore I contacted the supervisor and questioned her, only to be informed that this particular social worker was more than efficient and lengthy visits were necessary before my capabilities could be decided.

May I conclude with, "Is it any wonder Marin County lacks a sufficient number of good day care homes?" . . .

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

An officer on a navy supply ship was drilling his crew one sunny, hot morning on deck. "I want every man," he commanded, "to lie on his back, put his legs in the air, and move them as if he was riding a bicycle." Moments later he hollered, "Hey Murphy, over there, why the devil have you stopped?" "If you please, sir," was the reply, "I'm coasting."

THE DRUMMONDS

On The Record, Russ Leaders Would Lose In Real Election

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — It's not five years since Party Chairman Leonid Brezhnev and Premier Alexei Kosygin tossed Nikita Khrushchev out and seized power in Russia.

Fortunately for them, there is no way the Russian people can render a verdict, no way they can turn them out of office for poor performance.

During this time, the voters of France ousted Charles de Gaulle, the voters of West Germany ousted Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger, and the people of Czechoslovakia cheered when Alexander Dubcek ousted the Stalinist reactionary — until the Russian army voted the other way.

But in the Doviet Union the government is of the party by the party and for the party, and if people don't like it they are free to go to jail.

IF THERE COULD be an opposition party in the Soviet Union, what would it be saying about the five-year record of the Brezhnev-Kosygin team?

It certainly wouldn't be less than this — that the new ruling group:

— Earned the hostility of most of the Communist governments and most of the people of its Eastern European empire.

— Lost the support of the Communist parties of Western Europe and many elsewhere because of the occupation of Czechoslovakia.

— Ignited a war in the Middle East from which the whole world still suffers.

— Partly restored Josef Stalin to respectability and began a new reign of repression against independent-minded artists, writers, teachers and others.

— Continued to put arms ahead of consumer goods and kept the Russian standard of living at a distressingly low level.

— Lost the race to the moon.

THE SOVIET UNION has lost the trust of its Eastern European neighbors. It has been unable to repair its break with Yugoslavia. Romania pursues an independent foreign policy. Czechoslovakia is a nation under Russian siege. And the Brezhnev doctrine — that the Soviet Union possesses unlimited sovereignty but other Communist nations possess only limited sovereignty and are subject to Russian intervention whenever the Kremlin chooses — has slienated Communist leaders the world over.

The Russian economy — industrial and agricultural — is in difficulty. The rate of growth appears to be slowing down, and the outlook now is that farm output may well fall below last year's figure.

Yes, there is substantial tranquility throughout the Soviet Union. There are no protests against the draft, there is no visible campus unrest against the continued sale of heavy armaments to Egypt to replace what was lost in the 1967 war, there is no longer any visible revolt against the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

No protest, no dissent, no demonstration — all quiet because the protesters, the dissenters and the demonstrators have been repressed with a vigor reminiscent of Stalin. The secret police are again busy at their work to make sure that more writers like Anatoly Kuznetsov are not allowed to slip out of the country, to defect and tell the truth. Intellectuals are given steady jobs at hard labor.

IT SEEMS EVIDENT that today the Soviet Union has the tranquility of the jail in which those who might disturb that tranquility are kept in solitary But dissenting Russian intellectuals have shown themselves made of stern stuff. They will surely break out again and shatter this artificial peace.

Six months after Brezhnev and Kosygin maneuvered themselves into power, one of the most experienced of the western diplomats in Moscow said privately: "The wrong men got in." He meant that the prospect for some liberalization within the Soviet Union and for improved relations with the West were dimmer than ever.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Spy Role Assigned Russian Who Tried To Steal Plane

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Alexander S. Khomyakov, the Russian "diplomat" wounded in a plot to steal a Lebanese Mirage jet fighter, has been positively identified as a top agent for GRU, the Russian military intelligence organization.

That non-diplomatic identification puts the bizarre attempted theft on a new focus. It has also promoted some interesting speculation among officials here.

The incident, early this month, was interesting enough for the U.S. intelligence community without the further embellishment. Diplomat Khomyakov and Vladimir Vasiliev, an embassy employee, were charged with the plot after a gun battle with Lebanese military police in Beirut.

Also involved in the incident was a flight lieutenant in the Air Force of Lebanon who, according to Lebanese authorities, had played along with the Russian offer of a $2 million bribe to fly one of Lebanon's French-built Mirages to a Russian airfield near Baku on the Caspian Sea.

ACCORDING to Lebanese reports, the pilot, Lt. Mahmoud Mattar, had accepted a $200,000 down payment when military police broke into Vasiliev's apartment on signal. Mattar, according to Lebanon's official account, had taped all his negotiations with the Russians on a small recording device.

There were other cloak-and-dagger touches too. Khomyakov, shot five times in the gunplay, was reported to have attempted suicide twice before he was declared persona non grata and returned to Moscow. For a couple of days the incident was widely publicized as a lovely spy story.

Russian authorities denied everything, however, and very quickly a lid was applied to news of developments in Beirut. Officials here assume that the United Arab Repbulic and other Arab states pressured Lebanon to soft-pedal the incident, which was embarrassing the Arabs' Russian friends.

KHOMYAKOV, ostensibly the first secretary in the Russian embassy in Beirut, proves to be an experienced hand in the Middle East.

Information available here indicates that he arrived in Istanbul in 1950 as an aide to the naval attache at the Russian embassy there. After some home leave in Russia in 1953, he returned to Turkey as the assistant naval attache and remained there until 1955.

In 1960 Khomyakov was again sent to Istanbul, this time as the Russian embassy's economic attache. On that assignment he remained for five years, until 1965.

His "diplomatic" assignment to Lebanon was also supposed to serve as the press officer for Russian Ambassador Sarvar Azimov.

AUTHORITIES HERE are convinced that Khomyakov used the naval attache, economist and press office posts as cover for his work as a top operative for GRU in the Middle East.

The purpose of the botched plot is what intrigues authorities here. The French-built Mirage is not a new war plane, and it is not at all apparent why such a theft was worth $2 million — or a $200,000 bribe — even if the mission had not failed.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

School Board's Opt To Live In Constant Fiscal Misery

By BRYCE W. ANDERSEN

"Annual income 20 pounds, annual expenditure 19, 19 and six, result happiness. Annual income 20 pounds, annual expenditure 20 pounds ought and six, result misery." — Mr. Micawber in Dickens's "David Copperfield."

California school boards must love misery.

This year has provided a good example. At the time school districts had to adopt their budgets, there was uncertainty as to how much money they would receive from the state. Two school finance bills were still in the legislature, with no assurance either would pass.

Accordingly, the school districts in most cases provided for the maximum general purpose tax allowed them, added whatever overrides they could, then came up with budgets which could be financed from these sources plus the amount they were assured from the state. With few exceptions, they found it possible to give teachers and other employees a cost-of-living raise within such a budget.

THE SCHOOL FINANCE bill that finally passed the legislature, however, provided more money than the schools had expected. Most districts received a considerable "windfall."

This could have meant the districts would have a nice cushion toward next year, if they had wished. Since the budgets already adopted provided for programs the boards had agreed to accept, and gave employees raises to meet the increase in living costs, the additional state money could have been held in reserve against emergencies, or to provide needed funds in case next year's legislature proves more miserly.

"Result: Happiness."

WITH FEW EXCEPTIONS, however, the school districts did not even consider such an approach. As soon as the amount of additional state funds was known, administrators went to work putting back items that had been cut for economy's sake. And in many cases, they recommended an additional raise for teachers, beyond the cost-of-living increase already granted.

If restoring items previously considered, and giving another raise to employees, did not eat up all the additional funds, the administrators inserted new items — programs that had been suggested previously but had not been considered as they were too expensive.

These budget revisions are now going to the boards for approval, which — again with few exceptions — they will get. The result will be that every penny of the school districts' income is committed, although that income is considerably more than was expected. Reserves will not be built up. And if anything goes wrong during the year — as something often does — the boards will be in the familiar position of having to make cuts in midterm or go to county governments to beg for loans against next year's taxes.

THIS PROCESS has been going on for so many years that it has become an unquestioned ritual.

Each year, all the schools' available income is committed in advance. Personnel are added, new programs launched, which eat up every penny. If more money becomes available, the same is done with it —as was the case this year.

When the next year rolls around, the process is repeated. The new personnel, once added, are rarely dropped. The new programs, once launched, are rarely abandoned — even when they prove less than satisfactory. There are again demands for more new programs, more personnel, more salary increases.

All the money in sight is again budgeted. Often it is not enough to cover all the new programs, added personnel, increased salaries. So the board goes to the people to ask an increase in the general operating tax limit to meet the demands, and the school boards' and teachers' associations go to the legislature to ask more state money.

Sometimes (not regularly, but sometimes) they get both —higher tax limits and greater state appropriations. And when they do, these also are promptly budgeted en toto, so that the following year it is the same story over again.

("Result: misery.")

'New Life' Styles To Be Forum Topic

Members of the Establishment will discuss "new life styles" with representatives of the younger generation at a panel discussion sponsored by the Mill Valley Forum at 8 p.m. today in Mill Valley City Hall.

Establishment representatives who have achieved a measure of success will question the young about new ideas concerning work and leisure, sex and marriage, community and communes, drugs and art and women's liberation.

The meeting will be the first sponsored this year by the forum, which has been holding community discussions on current issues for the past three years.

Representing the young will be Pat Hansen, who has lived in communes for five years and worked with the Students for a Democratic Society, the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party, Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee and the Women's Liberation Front in San Francisco, and George Weddleton, leader of the Fairfax Fight Against Hippie Ordinances, who will discuss the drug culture and its importance in his life.

Also speaking for the young will be Eliu Carranza, a San Jose State College art education student and Vietnam veteran, who hopes to teach in Mexican-American community, and Chris Schuepbach, director of the Mill Valley Drop In House for Teen-Agers and a teacher of disturbed children at the Behavior Therapy Institute in Sausalito.

Establishment representatives will be Joyce Gross, former Mill Valley School District trustee; Hubert James, a Mill Valley manufacturer's representative, and Marvin Haiken, former trial attorney for the Department of Justice in Washington, D. C., assistant U.S. attorney for Northern California and a member of the Marin Democratic Central Committee.

Marna Cohen, a psychiatric social worker with the University of California Medical Center, will moderate.

For the first time, the forum discussion will be in the round with panelists sitting in the audience. Spectators will be invited to participate in the discussion.

Kidnaped Swiss Free In Colombia

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Two Swiss citizens kidnaped Oct. 5 were found today by Colombian police.

Hermann Buff, 30, secretary to the Swiss Embassy in Bogota and Josef Straessler, 15, son of the Swiss consul in Cali, were found shortly after midnight between Buga and Cali, in the western part of the country.

The two were kidnaped by several men disguised as soldiers and carrying submachine guns. The kidnapers demanded $300,000 ransom, and the government offered $60,000 for information leading to recovery of the victims.

The police announcement did not say whether the ransom was paid.

Of the first five U.S. presidents, four were natives of Virginia—George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, James Madison and James Monroe.

Extension Of Hilltop Route Gets Endorsed

To the delight of about 150 spectators, the Novato Planning Commission has narrowly endorsed a hilltop route for the proposed eastern extension of De Long Avenue.

City Planning Director Brian W. Mattson said the vote at Monday night's commission meeting was 3-2, with Lee C. Wise, George S. Quesada and Wayne Sartain in favor and Eugene McGillicuddy and Kay England opposed.

The decision requires city council ratification.

De Long Avenue now dead ends at the proposed route of the Highway 101 bypass, but the state Division of Highways sought to extend it to obtain fill for the bypass project. When the division proposed a route that would take the extension near a group of homes, residents protested.

Approximately 150 residents of the area east of the proposed bypass attended the meeting last night and all agreed on a hilltop route, Mattson said.

Arguing in favor of the hilltop route were John Schoonover, president of the Gnoss Estates Association; Guthrie R. Greene, representing the North Marin Federation, and Howard Slade of the Poplar Terrace Improvement Association.

The Novato Public Works Department estimated the lower route would cost $180,000 and the upper route, $375,000.

The commission in other business, permitted Novato Toyota to erect a 105-square-foot and 18-foot-high free-standing dign and a 35-square-foot sign for its sales parts and service headquarters.

The commission also agreed that the northwest corner of Novato Boulevard and Tamalpais Avenue should be used commercially. A service station was denied several years ago at that location because it is adjacent to the Novato branch of the Marin County Library.

Funds Approved For Remodeling Of Fire Station

The Tamalpais Fire Protection District board has approved spending up to $500 for emergency temporary remodeling of Station 1, spokesman Bernard Lenhart reported.

Lenhart said the remodeling calls for installation of a shower room and quarters for additional men. The board, meeting Monday night, also set a survey Sunday of Station 2 in Homestead Valley to determine need for facilities there.

The Tamalpais Fire Protection District board also:

BEAUTIFICATION — Decided to discuss with the parks and recreation committee of the Tamalpais Community Services District the possibility of a cooperative planting program at the stations.

HIRED — Approved hiring of Jack Nepil as mechanic starting in January at $750 a month.

CONTRACT — Approved around -the-clock radio maintenance contract with delta communications for $78 a month.

POINT REYES — Approved a resolution backing purchase of the rest of the proposed Point Reyes National Seashore.

Nature Walks

Conservationist Elizabeth Terwilliger of Mill Valley will lead groups of mothers and children on nature walks on six consecutive Friday mornings starting this week at 9:30 a.m. from the Louise A. Boyd Science Museum, 76 Albert Park Lane, San Rafael.

Cleanup Drive Success Again

Novato is about 1,200 cubic yards of litter cleaner after two Saturdays of the fall cleanup campaign, William Bode, assistant city engineer, has reported to the city's beautification committee.

The amount is the total refuse dumped by residents at the free pickup area, Bode told the committee Monday night.

In addition, 20 high school students hired by the city for the two Saturdays picked up an additional 50 cubic yards of debris from roadsides, Bode reported.

The committee planned to view a flood control project in Napa today.

Teacher Query Stalls Fairfax Pay Decision

A recommendatinn to give Fairfax School District employees an additional 2 per cent salary increase with extra money received from the state was tabled last night after teachers questioned the distribution.

Supt. H. Reginald Hammond said the Fairfax Teachers' Association Salary Committee appeared before the board to question the distribution of the additional money to all employees instead of just to teachers.

His recommendation was to divide the $12,000 among both teaching and nonteaching employees, he reported.

Apparently, he said, teachers misunderstood the proposed distribution when it was promised earlier. The board directed Hammond to meet with the salary committee before making a decision.

Employees had received a 4.5 per cent salary increase and a promise there would be more if more funds were available. The additional money would bring raises almost up to the point requested by teachers, 7 per cent.

The Fairfax School District board also:

READING — Learned that while Manor Schoor qualifies for state funds for two teachers in a reading specialist program, only one may be hired. Hammond said the program must start by Nov. 3 but tests for certification are not given until Nov. 8.

OBJECTIVES — Was told the first meeting of the citizens committee studying district goals and objectives will be held at 8 p.m. Nov. 6 at White Hill School. Three members of the district board will sit in on the meeting.

TRANSPORTATION — Reiterated its position that there will be no school buses this year, when concerned parents discussed safety of children corssing busy streets. Board President Laurence G. Hermann reported the Fairfax City Council had promised to cooperate in solving the problem.

ENROLLMENT — Heard enrollment now stands at 1,122, up eight from the last meeting, continuing the reversal of last year's trend. Hammond could not explain why it is going up this year.

UNIFICATION — Adopted a resolution asking the Marin County Committee on School District Reorganization to stop studying unification plans for the Tamalpais H9gh School District.

CREDIT — Rejected a request from Diane Dreier, home economoics teacher, that she be granted six units of in-service credit for a trip to Europe.

POINT REYES — Approved a resolution urging completion of Point Reyes National Seashore, but added to the resolution the point that the board believes the seashore is important as an educational tool.

DELEGATES — Supported Lawrence I. Kramer of San Rafael, David D. Ring of Tamalpais, and Eleanor Nettle of San Mateo, as delegates to the California School Boards Association.

Hurricane Laurie On Slow Course

MIAMI (AP) — Coastal residents watched warily today as Hurricane Laurie churned slowly toward the Florida Keys with 90 mile per hour winds.

The big, wet storm circled slowly southward during the early morning hours and lost some of its fury in the waters of the Gulf of Mexico.

It was moving on a southeast course, headed for Florida's southwest tip.

Forecasters at the National Hurricane Center in Miami said Laurie was about 315 miles southwest of Fort Myers and 375 miles west northwest of Key West at midmorning, moving southward at about 10 m.p.h. The storm's calm center was pinpointed in the Gulf at Latitude 25.4 north, Longitude 86.8 west.

Gales extended out 175 miles to the east, toward Florida and storm tides were forecast along the Florida West Coast. Boaters along a 350 mile stretch of shoreline were alerted to watch for the storm.

Laurie's slow movement made its future track hard to predict, said Gil Clark at the hurricane center. But he said the shift to a southerly track made further intensification unlikely.

If Laurie continued on its southeasterly course it would enter remote Florida Bay, some 50 miles south of Naples, early tomorrow and across the Florida Keys north of Key West.

However, Clark pointed out forecasters had no way of knowing for certain what course the storm would be on by late today.

Pupils Plan Play

Safecrackers Get $13,000 Haul In Petaluma

Safecrackers took $10,000 in cash and $3,000 in jewelry from Petaluma Grocery, 601 Petaluma Boulevard North, Petaluma, late Monday or early yesterday, police reported today.

Police said the burglars worked for several hours on the heavy safe using screwdrivers and small tools taken from a downstairs hardware box. The tools and papers from the safe were left behind.

Police were uncertain whether the burglars had hidden in the store at the 9 p.m. closing Monday or had entered through a skylight at the rear of the building. Inspector William Reed said it was obvious that exit was made through the skylight because gravel from the roof had been dropped onto cartons below.

Raymond Hing, store manager, discovered the burglary yesterday morning and said the safe had contained $10,000 in small bills, a large silver pearl valued at $2,000 and a jade necklace valued at $1,000.

Split Novato Council Orders Lagoon Work

The Novato City Council last night awarded a $1,500 contract for the small boat lagoon and authorized a contract for $17,250 for the spray pool in Pioneer Memorial Park on Simmons Lane.

The vote on each item was 3-2 with Mayor Harley A. McAskill and Councilman Babe Silva against.

The contract for the small boat lagoon was awarded to D. Piccinini Co. of San Francisco, the only bidder.

The $17,250 contract for the spray pool with Martin Metal and Associates will be submitted to the council later for final approval.

The mechanical filter for the water will be installed by the public works department at a cost estimated at $1,500 to $1,700 by Parks and Recreation Director Edward W. Adams.

The council, which had made an offer of $29,350 for the Rodoni property just north of the Community House would not raise its offer to the $33,500 price asked by Frank Perachiotti. A motion to hire a second appraiser on the property failed. The city's first appraisal was the figure offered for the property.

The council voted unamiously to support Holmes S. Norvell, vice mayor of Corte Madera, for appointment to the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

Youth To Superior Court On Burglary

Stanley Robert Wagner, 18, of Terra Linda, was bound over to Marin Superior Court on a charge of burglarizing a boat in Lowrie's Yacht Harbor in San Rafael Oct. 12 after a preliminary hearing in municipal court yesterday.

He was told to appear in court Monday for arraignment.

The Critical Viaduct Bottleneck

By JOANNE GRANT

Watching the traffic population seemingly exploding daily — on the Highway 101 viaduct through San Rafael and the city streets parallel to it — the contractor is ready to try a new tactic to speed up the work.

Unwilling to abandon what he believes can be done with a little extra money, J. Paul Silvestri Jr. of Murphy-Pacific Enterprises has decided he may hire a private traffic engineer to review the problem.

An engineer may succeed in convincing the state Division of Highways of the need for finishing the viaduct as soon as possible, Silvestri believes. The traveling public has failed, he added.

Based on a study by Stanford Research Institute, Silvestri believes it is costing the traveling public about $15,000 a week just sitting in their cars crawling through San Rafael.

Silvestri has been working since July to convince the highway division to spend about $100,000 extra on the $2.7 million project to speed the work by six to 12 months. In return, he promised to cut 100 working days from the contract or pay a penalty.

On Sept. 2, Silvestri presented his plan at a meeting in Sacramento to representatives of the state Department of Public Works and the highways division. A public works spokesman reported after the meeting the department was definitely interested in the proposal and appeared confident at least part of it could be implemented.

A later letter to Silvestri, reinforced the announcement.

It said: "Studied of the rough costs submitted to date indicate that only about 50 per cent would be directly applicable to project acceleration."

It warned that unless Silvestri submitted a detailed cost analysis to support the other half, state participation would not be recommended, and was signed by the resident engineer, J. M. Bouler.

After that, Silvestri said yesterday, he was called on repeatedly by representatives of the highway division for more information, which, he said, he gave. He said he also submitted an outline; a time schedule, and items of work he proposed to do.

He also revealed yesterday he had offered to tie a completion time to a calendar date instead of the customary number of working days to further bind himself.

On Oct. 2, Alan S. Hart, chief engineer of district four, wrote Silvestri his proposal had been rejected because he failed to supply "more detailed information."

Hart left no alternative in his letter to Silvestri, but Hart's assistant, Jack O. Grasberger, said the possibility of reconsideration is open if the required data is submitted.

Based on that, Silvestri is willing to do something to call more attention to the problem, such as the traffic engineer's survey, but he does not plan to return to the division of highways immediately. "It's their turn to come to me," he added.

Highway division engineers have maintained that the opening of additional lanes over Puerto Suello Hill will ease the situation considerably. They also have contended that Silvestri could finish the job early and save money by reducing overhead.

The latter has some validity, Silvestri admitted, but "not the amount of money they're talking about." The gain would not be equal to the risk he would have to take, he said.

Both Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, and Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, have said they support Silvestri's proposal to speed the work. Both have also said they would do what they could, without tangible results.

Another problem discussed yesterday in connection with the viaduct work was the increasing clogging of city streets as motorists apparently attempt to avoid the viaduct.

S. K. Herzog, a member of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce highway committee, said traffic backs up on Third Street in central San Rafael because of difficulties in moving traffic on Irwin Street.

A new proposal to provide temporary relief on the existing viaduct has been well received by the Chamber of Commerce.

The plan, to remove the center barrier and use changeable lane markers to provide three lanes in the appropriate direction during rush hours, is an "excellent" idea, believes Glenn Adair, chamber manager who has been working hard on the viaduct bottleneck.

However, the California Highway Patrol said it would oppose the idea because removing the center barrier would create a tremendous risk of head-on accidents. Severe accidents prompted the barrier in the first place, the patrol said.

The highway division was also opposed, indicating one lane would not carry off-peak traffic. In addition, the division believes the viaduct project will be complete by next summer regardless of the contract date, and the expense would be too much for such a short time.

Purchase Of Unsold Bonds Is Rejected

Richardson Bay Sanitary District directors last night declined to purchase any of the Reed School District's $180,000 in unsold construction bonds, director Douglas de La Fontaine reported.

Reed District representatives have asked all public agencies in the school district's boundaries to consider purchasing the bonds at 5 per cent interest because the district has been unable to sell them on the open market at such a low interest rate.

Last week, the Tiburon City Council agreed to purchase $10,000 in bonds.

De La Fontaine said the board decided the district did not have adequate cash reserves to purchase long term bonds. Also, he said, the board agreed that since four school districts lie within its boundaries it should not favor one district and cannot afford to purchase bonds from all districts.

The board also set a special meeting for 8 p.m. Nov. 4 at the Trestle Glen treatment plant to discuss a new retirement plan.

Directors also voted to pay time-and-a-half for work in excess of 40 hours per week for all employees, he said.

HANOI PRISONER OF WAR

Only A Photograph To His Children

By JOANNE GRANT

"When Bill comes home he'll have a family," said Julie Butler, smiling and proudly hugging young Peter and Sheila.

Bill is Capt. William Buter, 28, husband, father, pilot—and prisoner of war.

He has never seen Sheila nor the home in Glenwood where his wife waits with subdued impatience for his return.

To his children, he is a man in a picture, usually with an airplane in the background.

A Stanford graduate who had majored in biology, Butler fell in love with flying and in March 1964 enlisted in the Air Force for a five-year stint with pilot training.

He was assigned to duty in Vietnam in August 1967 and Mrs. Butler went to live with her family near Sacramento until the baby was born.

On Nov. 20, 1967, about three weeks after his daughter arrived, Butler's F105 was shot down near Hanoi.

Until two months ago, he was ofiicially listed as "presumed captured," a term used when authorities don't really know what has happened to a man; a classification that is tough to live with. "Not knowing for sure is terrible," said Mrs. Butler quietly.

Then, in August, she learned her husband is alive, in a North Vietnam prison camp.

"I was very optimistic all along," said the spunky Mrs. Butler, explaining Air Force authorities had told her his parachute was seen after the plane was downed. Usually, Americans are rescued quickly, because there is a bounty on their heads, she added.

The news that Butler was alive came from a trio of prisoners released last summer by the North Vietnamese and Mrs. Butler was invited to meet with one to learn more.

The man who had seen her husband reported he'd suffered a broken leg when his plane was downed but that he'd been walking on it without help two months later.

Beyond that there wasn't much the returned prisoner could tell her about her husband — contact among prisoners is simply not allowed by the North Vietnamese.

From her conference with the former prisoner, contacts with other families of prisoners, the Air Force and extensive research, Mrs. Butler has pieced together a picture of the life her husband must be leading with the more than 1,340 other Americans believed to be prisoners of war in Southeast Asia.

Physically, even the best of the prison camps are miserable, but more difficult, Mrs. Butler believes, is the mental anguish. "The biggest thing they have to fight over there is boredom," she said.

Prisoners are kept in solitary as much as possible, with little to occupy their minds or bodies.

For example, she learned the boxes families sent for Christmas last year were delivered, but first, all reading matter, games or anything that might occupy the mind were removed.

She doesn't believe letters are ever delivered, except for propaganda purposes, such as when news reporters visit the single "show" camp near Hanoi which has been opened from time to time.

Families of American prisoners are allowed to write three letters through the Red Cross and one to a Hanoi address each month. Mrs. Butler shares these opportunities with her husband's parents and they all write faithfully, though they're convinced the letters are not delivered.

"If one day they decide to let a package of Red Cross letters in, I want mine to be in it," said Mrs. Butler firmly.

On the other hand, enemy prisoners, some 4,500 held in South Vietnam, are permitted to write, but don't, having been told in advance their letters will not be delivered in the north. The north does not acknowledge having men in the south, she explained, adding the supposed lack of troops makes the Americans "war criminals" in the eyes of the North Vietnamese.

Mrs. Butler, allied with other wives and parents of the missing men, is working hard to change that and all aspects of North Vietnam's treatment of the captured Americans; to force them to follow the articles of the Geneva Convention concerning prisoners of war.

For example, North Vietnam has never released the names of the men its holds and many families, estimate at 800, have had men missing for as long as five years without a word. "A list would do a lot about easing the burden," she said.

United in a somewhat informal group, the National League of Families of American Prisoners in Southeast Asia, they ask friends to write letters to arouse world opinion to force Hanoi to treat prisoners humanely.

Their first campaign had letters flowing to senators and representatives and now they are working on foreign governments and United Nations ambassadors to make them aware of the concern.

"This is not a political issue, but a humanitarian one which transcends political boundaries," said Mrs. Butler, stressing the group is independent of the U.S. government.

The group also serves as an information exchange and offers support in times of depression.

"You can get down sometimes," said Mrs. Butler, explaining that a call to another wife — there are two others in Marin and about 20 in the Bay Area — eases the loneliness. "Someone else's problems are always worse," she said.

And the Air Force does its part. "I was astounded at the way they help," she said.

A central casualty division is available to answer questions and each base has a casualty officer whose duties include seeing that the wives and families of war prisoners have no problems.

It's still a long wait. "At first I thought it would be two years. Now I think it will be one more," said Mrs. Butler.

A LONG WAIT — Julie Butler holds Peter, 3, and Sheila, who will be 2 Saturday as she talks of her husband, Capt. William Butler, a prisoner of war whom she hasn't seen im more than two years — except in pictures such as the one she is holding. (Independent-Journal photo by Bob Hax)

Nixon Opposes Hike In GI Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon, battling Congress over money again, says a $60 increase over the $130 monthly education benefit available to a returning Vietnam veteran is excessive.

The $60 increase is in a bill that goes on the Senate calendar today and may be called up tomorrow for debate.

"As President, I have no option but to view with extreme concern the possible enactment of this measure," Nixon said yesterday in possibly hinting a veto if the bill passes.

The President's statement came in a letter to Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex., chairman of a Senate Labor subcommittee which championed the $60 boost.

Closed Session

Ross Mayor Frederick S. Allen said yesterday he has called a closed meeting of the town council at 8 p.m. tomorrow in town hall to discuss charges against a town employee.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Both Men, Women Have More Fat In Bodies When They Age

VAN DELLEN

Most of us gain weight with age. The added poundage is fat and the proportion is greater in women than in men. In a group of persons varying in age from 20 to 60 years, the fat content of women was 23.7 per cent whereas in men it was 16.8 per cent.

These individuals were not considered to be stout.

X-ray studies showed that as men grew older, fat was deposited in the flanks. The hips and breast areas were next, and the least fat was noted over the shins and the mid-portion of the arms.

THE FAT CONTENT of the body of normal women increased from 26 per cent at age 25 to 38 per cent at 55. The deposits were most marked over the chest, hips, waist, and back. The extremities remained the same.

All of the women in this study were of ideal weight for their age and height.

These changes account for the middle-age spread, bay window, and other uncomplimentary bulges that occur with each succeeding decade. The adornment may be a natural phenomenon.

In this respect, slender hips and waistlines separate the boys from the men.

STANDARD INSURANCE weight tables take into consideration body build (frame), but not tissue composition. An athlete's fat may be converted to muscle after extensive strenuous exercise. Since muscle is heavier, the individual may weigh more than the charts allow for maximum health.

Professional football players in peak condition may be 20 per cent (or more) overweight according to the tables for their height and age. Yet, they have little fat and can hardly be considered obese.

BELCHES ALL NIGHT

C. C. writes: I am in my 60s and spend so many sleepless nights belching, I'm afraid to eat. I am sure my diet is not proper, therefore, I plan to give up meats. Are vegetarians less prone to this condition?

REPLY

No. The manner is which you eat is more likely to be responsible than the types of foods consumed. An exception to the rule is a carbonated beverage. Many nervous people belch because they swallow considerable air, especially when gulping their food and also before belching. Now and then the symptom is secondary to gallbladder disease.

A HUNDRY FEELING

J. E. writes: After my gallbladder operation, I was put on the diet. I eat well and I feel fine, but have a feeling of hunger. What should I do?

REPLY

Bring this to the attention of the doctor who put you on the diet. You may get fat if you abide by the dictates of your stomach. If hunger pangs develop between meals, you may have too little sugar in the blood.

KNUCKLE CRACKING

E. P. writes: What makes a person constantly crack his knuckles?

REPLY

These is no explanation for many bad habits. The person you inquire about may not know what to do with his hands. Or, knuckle cracking may be his way of working off tension.

THROAT IS SCRATCHY

G. B. writes: My throat feels scratchy, as though a foreign body was imbedded in it. The doctor found nothing wrong. Could this sensation be a nervous reaction?

REPLY

Yes, provided your physician has made a thorough search of the scratchy area.

TELEVISION IN REVIEW

'The Odd Couple' To Become ABC Series

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"The Odd Couple," Neil Simon's smash Broadway hit that also was made into a movie, will become a half-hour situation comedy series on ABC-TV next season.

The stars will be Tony Randall and Jack Klugman.

Randall will play the part of Felix Ungar, an overly neat and fussy television newsman recently divorced by his wife. The role was created by Art Carney on Broadway and then done by Jack Lemmon in the movie.

Klugman will portray Oscar Madison, a slovenly, divorced, sportswriter friend of Felix who runs a messy household which includes a very sloppy, weekly poker game. This part was played by Walter Matthau as Oscar on Broadway. He later continued in the role on the London stage.

GOOD COMBO

Numerous actors and comedians have taken on the parts of Felix and Oscar in the many productions of "The Odd Couple." But the casting of Randall and Lugman seems a hard combination to beat.

Fine comedy teams are, curiously, all too rare on video. One thinks of the old Jim Arness-Dennis Weaver relationship on "Gunsmoke"—as Matt and Chester. Then there were Bill Cosby and Bob Culp on "I Spy," and John Astin and Marty Ingels in "I'm Dickens ... He's Fenster." And of course there are Carney and Jackie Gleason on the Gleason series.

Not to be overlooked, however, are Bob Denver and Herb Edelman of CBS-TV's "The Good Guys," for their slapstick comedy pairing has increased greatly in skill in their relatively short time on the air. The series, which did rather well in the ratings last season, is reported a bit iffy at the moment, but one hopes the network realizes this comedy team is worth more of a shot than many other performers with far less talent.

A HEADACHE

Another situation comedy that went through a headache is NBC's Debbie Reynolds show. The comedienne pulled a one-day walkout after a cigarette commercial was used on her debut, and the tobacco sponsor soon quit the show as a result. This meant subsequent advertisers sought for the series were in a buyers' market, and the price was naturally lower, affecting income all around.

Says the daily trade paper "Variety": "As a result of the performer's blast against American Brands .. there has been an agreement reached between Filmways TV (the comedienne's partner) and Miss Reynolds, whereby 'substantial' adjustments and mutual changes were made in her contract to give 'relief' to the network. This was to compensate NBC-TV for financial damage incurred when the sponsor pulled out of the show ..."

Spanish-American Leader Resigns

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Reies Lopez Tijerina, leader and founder of a Spanish-American group claiming to be heirs of old Spanish land grants, has resigned from the group, apparently angered over action it took while he sat in jail.

In a letter written yesterday in the Albuquerque City Jail, Tijerina resigned as president of the Spanish-American Alianza, saying he does not believe in the present course of the group's administration. "My motto is justice but not independence nor revolution against the present government of the United States," he wrote.

A weekend convention of the Alianza called for establishment of an independent country for Spanish-Americans called "La Republica de Aztlan."

Cosmonauts Get Heroes' Welcome

MOSCOW (AP) — Top Soviet leaders and the people of Moscow gave a heroes' welcome today to seven cosmonauts who made history's first troika space flight.

The four colonels and three civilian engineers from Soyuz 6, 7 and 8, arrived in the Soviet capital from the Baikonur cosmodrome in an Ilyushin 62 airliner, accompanied by a formation of six jet fighters.

Communits Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, President Nikolai V. Podgorny and other high-ranking Soviet leaders greeted the cosmonauts at Moscow's VIP Vnukovo Airport on a gray fall day.

South African farmers have increased the volume of agricultural output by 92 per cent in the last 20 years and the industry is now the second largest single earner of foreign currency in the country.

Reagan Flays Moratorium

FLINT, Mich. (UPI)—California Gov. Ronald Reagan said last night persons who marched in parades and demonstrations during last Wednesday's Vietnam moratorium "did indeed lend comfort and aid to the enemy."

Reagan, speaking at the 5th annual Michigan Republican legislators' dinner here, said the moratorium "was a moratorium on free speech and discussion of all sides of the issue. The organizers took care of that."

The dinner was attended by 1,500 receptive party faithful who paid $100 a plate. It was considered a kickoff to the 1970 state election campaign.

Dinner To Mark U.N. Observance

United Nations Day will be celebrated with an international dinner at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Sonoma State College cafeteria.

Dr. Urban Whitaker, dean of undergraduate studies at San Francisco State College, will speak on "Individual Responsibility for the United Nations."

The dinner is co-sponsored by the Model United Nations of the college and the Sonoma County chapter of the United Nations Association. Music will be provided by members of the college opera workshop.

Leary's Son Warned Of Court Scene

SANTA ANA (UPI) — John Leary, 20, son of Dr. Timothy Leary was warned by a judge yesterday that if he didn't stop spitting on the courtroom carpet he would be jailed for three days.

The long-haired youth was present with his father and mother for a pretrial hearing on a motion to suppress evidence that resulted in charges of possession of marijuana and LSD against the three.

Young Leary denied he was spitting and his attorney, Marvin Cooper, told Superior Court Judge Byron McMillan that the youth was wiping the saliva on his trousers.

The judge directed that a large box of tissues be placed before Leary and the hearing proceeded.

The family was arrested last Dec. 26 in Laguna Beach, by police man Neal Purcell. Leary is noted for experimenting with LSD and other drugs.

The officer testified earlier that he saw the Leary station-wagon blocking a residential street and stopped to investigate.

He said John was down on "all fours" in the back seat. Purcell said John's pupils were dilated and he was acting erratic, thus leading the officer to believe John had been smoking marijuana.

Dr. David A. Smith of San Francisco, founder of the Haight Asbury Medical Center and a nationally known expert on the use of drugs, testified for the defense. He said it is almost impossible to detect marijuana users because their pupils do not dilate, their behavior is not odd and only a slight redness of the whites of their eyes betrays them.

Smith said young Leary's eyes were dilated when he was arrested because of fear and darkness, not because he was high on marijuana.

The first electric street railway in the United States made its inaugural run Aug. 10, 1885.

JIM GILMARTIN

You Saw It First
In The Ol' I-J

I see where the Associated Press learned yesterday that automotive engineering whiz Roger Penske is switching from Chevrolet Camaros to American Motors' Javelins for the Trans-American Sedan road racing series for the so-called "Pony" cars.

I-J readers got wind of that scoop here last Friday, and I must confess I got my tip from William C. McCormick Jr., executive veep of Sears Point International Raceway.

McCormick also adds an ironic twist to the story: Penske is the state of Pennsylvania's largest Chevrolet dealer. By switching his racing allegiance, I imagine Roger will now become Pa.'s largest American Motors dealer.

Even I'm Going To Switch

MORE TIPS: Ronnie Kaplan, who headed the A. M. Javelin team this year, will switch to Dodge Darts, Carroll Shelby will abandon his Ford Mustang team and Bud Moore will take over the entire Mustang operation. Me? I'm switching from VW to Datsun to get a new slant on economy driving. So solly, Adolph.

I MUST BE well read in Missoula because my implication here last week that University of Montana is a small potatoes football school has hurt some feelings. So far I've heard from alumni, the Grizzly coaching staff and the U.M. Director of Information. I expect the Governor to be knocking at the door next.

What I said was that I was surprised that a "major football power" didn't proselyte San Anselman Karl Stein, now a Montana star. The Grizzlies are undefeated in six games this season and are rated in the NCAA "College Division" football polls, not "Major Division."

Not Small, Not Major, Either

But the Grizzlies are NOT a small college team, according to a release from the school's Sports Information Director, Don Brunnel, who writes: "The only reason Montana is not considered major college is that we do not schedule five or more majors in a season. While we're not considered major by the NCAA, Coach Jack Swarthout's team is far from a small college club."

Which is what I think I said in the first place. Anyhoo, the larcenous Mr. Stein swiped his eighth pass interception of the season last Saturday, breaking the school record and moving to within two interceptions of the Big Sky Conference record. Bill Hickerson, another San Anselman, is another defensive standout for the Grizzlies at middle linebacker.

SAN RAFAEL furniture tycoon Milt Schwartz swears he saw an NBC television crew at Sunday's 49er-Atlanta game filming segments for next week's production of "Laugh-In."

Coach Injured In Accident

LARRY McINERNEY of Greenbrae, seriously injured in an auto accident on Highway 101 in Marin last Friday night, is the head football coach at Galileo High in San Francisco.

HERE'S A GOOD quote from Nate "The Great" Thurmond of the S. F. Warriors that aspiring young basketballers might remember:

"When I was in high school my coach pointed out that if I scored 20 points and the man I was guarding scored 25, all I had accomplished was a minus five. I've never forgotten that."

Which is one of the reasons Nate is generally regarded as the finest all around pivot man in basketball — at both ends of the court.

Thurmond To Test Hawks' New Center

ATLANTA (AP) — Nate Thurmond will have something besides a height advantage tonight when his San Francisco Warriors play Atlanta's unbeaten Hawks in a National Basketball Association game.

Because Zelmo Beaty decided to sign with the Los Angeles Stars of the American Basketball Association, he won't be on hand to oppose Thurmond at center.

In his place will be Jim Davis, a forward who was switched to the center spot. Davis lacks experience at that position-and at 6 feet 9, is two inches shorter than Thurmond.

Atlanta is 2-0 in the association's west division, while San Francisco is 0-1.

Baseball's Ultimatum To Seattle

CHICAGO (AP) — The City of Seattle has been given a little more than a week to meet a three-point ultimatum or face the possibility of losing the Pilots' American League baseball franchise.

The matter came to a head yesterday when the American League held an informal session following a joint meeting of the National and American Leagues concerning schedules and players' problems.

TO MEET AGAIN

Binding the situation was President Joe Cronin's acknowledgement that the American League will meet again in Chicago Oct. 29 ostensibly to study the 1970 schedule.

However, it was learned that the meeting will be held to find out if Seattle will abide by the three-point ultimatum which is:

1. Sicks' Stadium, temporary home of the Pilots, must be enlarged from 22,500 seats to 28,000 by the start of the 1970 season.

2. Plans must be completed for breaking ground for a $40 million domed stadium by Dec. 31, 1970, and the structure must be ready for opening day of the 1973 season.

EVIDENCE

3. There must be evidence of enough Seattle financial interest so that Cleveland investor William Daley, who owns more than 50 per cent of the club, can get out and give the Pilots local ownership.

Cronin and six owners met Monday night to hear the plea of a Seattle delegation bent on keeping the club in the Pacific Northwest.

Both the American and National Leagues met jointly yesterday to hear progress reports on 41 requests from the Players' Association after which Cronin and all American League owners or their representatives convened to discuss the Seattle situation.

OPTIMISTIC

Following that meeting, Cronin said he was optimistic that Seattle would meet the requirements to remain in the American League.

Daley, however, added to the possibility of a franchise shift by saying if Seattle cannot hold onto the ball club, it would very likely go to Milwaukee.

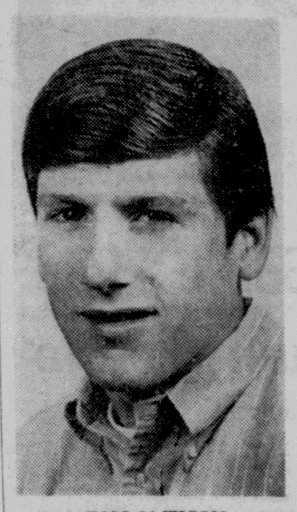
"I'd prefer to keep the club in Seattle," said Daley, "and I'm so sincere about that that I'd sell my end for less to Seattle than to groups from other cities that are interested.

"But if the franchise should be moved, I'm sure Milwaukee will get it for one big reason. The American League prefers Milwaukee over the other bidders."

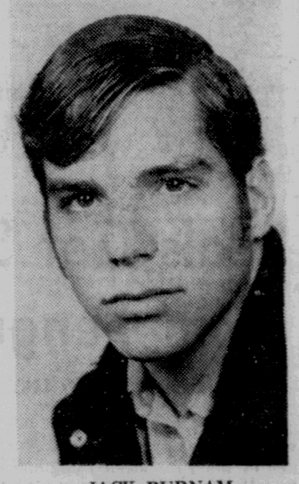
Films Of 49ers To Be Shown

Travel films and highlights of the 1968 San Francisco 49ers football season will be shown at 8 p.m. today at the Petaluma Veterans' Memorial Building.

Sponsored by the American Legion Post 28 of Petaluma, the public may attend the showings that will also include films on underwater spear fishing, Yellowstone National Park and Yosemite National Park.



TOM JACKSON
Key players . . .



JACK BURNAM
. . . in victories

PREPS OF WEEK

Two Grid Stars Share Honors

An ace quarterback in the Marin County Athletic League and a young linebacker from a very young school are the Independent-Journal's back and lineman of the week.

Tom Jackson, easily the league's standout quarterback, was one of the few backs last week to generate any kind of offensive excitement as he tossed two long touchdown bombs, completed eight of 16 passes for 159 yards to spark Terra Linda High School's defending MCAL champions to a 28-12 win over Tamalpais.

Jack Burman, a junior linebacker for fledgling and unbeaten San Marin High of Novato, was the key man in a tremendous San Marin defensive effort that held Novato to just 10 yards total offense and one first down in a 9-0 Mustang win Saturday.

Jackson, an occasionally brilliant thrower last season, seems to have settled down into a steadily excellent quarterback who specializes in the long touchdown bomb, who calls his own game and who may have a sparkling future in the offing.

"He's got an awful lot of talent," said Terra Linda coach Don Lucas. "I don't think he's reached his full potential yet. He does a lot of things naturally that you just can't teach or coach. He's easily the best passer we've had here."

LAUDS RECEIVERS

Jackson doesn't really prefer throwing long instead of short. Things have just sort of worked that way.

"I like to throw either way," he said. "But one of our ends will come in the huddle and say he can beat his man, so we call the play. And I've got some great receivers."

Jackson threw two long TD bombs against defensively tough Riordan in the Trojans' 21-13 opening-game loss. The strikes came within two minutes of each other and today Jackson feels the Trojans could probably beat the unbeaten Crusaders.

So far this season, Jackson has thrown nine touchdown passes, most of them fairly long and sudden. In league play, he has four, two each against Drake and Tamalpais.

"I couldn't do anything without our line," he said. "That has to be one of the best lines ever at Terra Linda."

Passing is Jackson's thing, however. He admits he probably couldn't do much without it.

"I doubt if i'd be playing if I couldn't throw," he said. "That's it. I can't do much of enything else. I'm not too fast, and I don't block that well."

Burnam is still flushed over that triumph against Novato. It's the biggest athletic moment, and despite the fact that the fellow is only a junior, that's saying a lot. Burnam was the starting catcher on the Novato Babe Ruth baseball team that went all the way to the World Series in Alaska in 1967.

"That (the football game) has to be my greatest thrill," Burnam said. "That was some kind of game."

QUITE A DAY

Burnam had a lot to do with the outcome. His linebacking on that day was on a par with anybody in the league, including his rival at Novato, Dave Perron.

Burnam stopped sweeps, broke up plays in the backfield, stopped possible breakaways and was in more than half of the plays.

He had no comments about possibilities that the Mustangs might be able to upset Terra Linda.

"One at a time," he said "I'm going to think of the games one at a time."

The Mustangs, still unbeaten in four varsity tries, meet the Trojans on Saturday, Nov. 1 at 1:30 p.m., on the San Rafael High School field.

Ригney To Take Twins Job

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — President Calvin Griffith of the Minnesota Twins says he has offered the job of manager to Bill Rigney, who is expected to accept it tomorrow.

Rigney had a two-year contract with the California Angels, also an American League baseball club, when he was fired On May 28.

AGREED

"I offered Rigney the job in Chicago," Griffith said late last night on his return from an American League meeting in Chicago. "We have agreed on a one-year contract and also the terms."

Griffith added, "the only thing holding up the signing is that Rigney wants to make a settlement with the California Angels on his 1970 contract."

Rigney would succeed Billy Martin, who in his first years as a major league manager piloted the Twins to the A.L. Western Division crown. Griffith fired Martin Oct. 13, after the Twins lost three straight games to Baltimore in the league championship playoff.

REDUCED LIST

Griffith said early this week he had reduced his original list of 50 managerial possibilities to four. He said they were Billy Hunter, Baltimore coach; Joe Schultz, Seattle Pilots' manager in 1969; Eddie Yost, New York Mets' coach, and Rigney.

Rigney, 51, is well-known among baseball fans in the Minneapolis and St. Paul areas. He managed the old American Association Minneapolis Millers in 1954-55, before he became manager of the old New York Giants in 1956. He remained manager of the Giants in New York and then San Francisco until early in the 1960 season. He went to the Angels in 1961. In 1962, California finished third in the American League and Rigney was named Manager of the Year.

He was fired by the Angels' new general manager, Dick Walsh, after California had won 11 games and lost 28 as of May 28 this season. He has been doing color commentary for radio broadcasts of Giant games this past season.

MUST-WIN SITUATION

Tough Task For Marin

From now on, it's must-win time for College of Marin's football team.

The Tars can't really afford to lose another Camino Norte Conference game if they want to keep any thoughts of repeating as co-champions.

College of Marin, which lost to West Valley (Campbell) in its opener last week, 34-27, faces its first must situation Friday when it entertains long-time rival Solano Junior College of Vallejo at Marin Catholic High in Kentfield, 3 p.m.

The Tars came out of the West Valley heartbreaker with only one semi-serious injury — a back sprain to safety Jim Taylor — and with a lot of wounded pride and the knowledge that they can indeed move the football.

'BEAT OURSELVES'

"We just beat ourselves in that one," coach Dick Read said "So many penalties, and those interceptions. We helped them an awful lot. On the other hand,we really moved the football, scoring four times like that on legitimate drives."

The conference race, if the first weekend was any indication of things to come, is already shaping up into a dogfight between West Valley and DeAnza of Cupertino. DeAnza smashed a supposedly strong Contra Costa team last week, 48-8 while Santa Rosa nicked Solano, 7-6.

One point could be the point spread Friday. The Tars and Solano have a tradition of tight battles. College of Marin won their first meeting, 33-0 in 1963 but since it's been nip and tuck. Solano won 6-0 in 1964. College of Marin gained a 14-14 tie in 1965 on a punt return in the last 54 seconds, won 16-15 in 1966, and 21-20 last year. They didn't play in 1967.

Solano is 3-2 on the season with non-league wins over Menlo, Cabrillo (Apotos) and Monterey while losing to Eureka's College of the Redwoods, 42-6, in addition to Santa Rosa.

"They're a real quick team," Read said. "They have people like Spencer Davis, a 9.9 sprinter, in the backfield and probably Fred Brown, last year's outstanding back of the conference."

Brown sat out half of the Santa Rosa game, but is expected to be ready for the Tars.

GOOD BALANCE

"They're a very well-balanced team," Read said. "They alternate quarterbacks — Doug Herren, who is fairly quick, and Mike Golovich, who is a good thrower."

The Tars have pretty good throwers themselves in a pair of Redwood High School grads — Jim Peters and Kevin Wilson. In fact, the offense is no real worry for Read. And the defense is getting better.

"They're coming along," he said. "We got a lot of penalties for aggressiveness, but that's partly eagerness and will iron itself out."

Bench, Seaver Head Star-Studded Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Bench of the Cincinnati Reds and Tom Seaver of New York's world champion Mets head The Associated Press' all-star major league baseball team announced today.

The 21-year-old Bench, who hit .293 with 20 homers and 90 runs batted in in his second full season in the majors, was the top vote-getter, attracting 264 in the nation-wide balloting by 283 sports writers and broadcasters.

Seaver, the smooth right-hander whose 25-7 record was the best in the majors and whose exuberance and zest played a big role in the Mets miracle, was next with 237 votes.

He was the only member of the world champions to make either the first or second team.

In fact, Cincinnati was the only team to land two players on the first team—outfielder Pete Rose, who led the National

SAN FRANCISCO OPEN GOLF

It's Tough To Find A Favorite

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Billy Casper is the defending champion and Arnold Palmer the sentimental choice, but a clear cut favorite is hard to find in the $100,000 San Francisco Open Golf Tournament.

With numerous winners on the tour already this year and no one dominating the game as Palmer, Casper, Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus have done in recent years, a flock of young lions must be among the top choices.

They include Ray Floyd, the controversial PGA champion and winner of three events; outspoken Dave Hill, the only other three-time winner this year; steady Frank Beard, the year's leading money winner; and possibly slim Dale Douglass, who has played very well in recent events.

Palmer, however, is almost certain to be the gallery favorite. The 40-year-old millionaire is on a comeback from a two-month absence from the game that he, more than any other man, made a popular favorite.

He hasn't won in more than a year and had a disappointing last start in his comeback in the Sahara Invitational last week, finishing far back in the field. But the old crowd-appeal magic still exists.

Nicklaus, winner of the Sahara, is taking a week off. "I haven't been home in four weeks, and that's too long," big Jack said after his victory in Las Vegas.

Also among the missing are Lee Trevino and Orville Moody, who teamed to win the World Cup for the United States a few weeks ago. Both are on tour in the Far East. Player is through for the year.

George Archer, the Masters champion who had to pull out of the Sahara because of continuing tendonitis in his left elbow, is a question mark. If he's able to play, the 6-foot-6 Archer must be rated among the favorites because of his familiarity with the Harding Park course.

The tournament, being played under the San Francisco Open Label for the first time, replaces the Lucky International on the tour schedule. It's under new sponsorship.

The site is the 6,677-yard par 71 Harding Park golf course, a heavily played municipal layout on the shore of Lake Merced, one of the more testing municipal courses in the area.

The pro-amateur event, a prelude to the regular tournament, was held today. The tourney gets underway tomorrow and lasts until Sunday.

Bay Area Tracks Name New Boss

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Golden Gate Fields and Tanforan race tracks both named a new general manager yesterday — Philip J. Dunn, advertising and promotions director for the Aqueduct, Belmont and Saratoga meetings in New York.

Dunn in December will succeed Bob Gunderson, who will devote full time to his duties as general manager of the California Jockey Club, which operates Bay Meadows here.

ARCADIA — Bill Shoemaker, America's top jockey, has been suspended for five days beginning Friday on a race interference charge and the penalty puts him out of Saturday's $116,175 Oak Leaf Stakes at Santa Anita. His mount Sailors Mate was a strong favorite.

The Shoe's suspension was announced yesterday after the board of stewards at Oak Tree looked at films of his disqualification last Saturday when he finished first oboard Knight in Armor.

The stewards ruled he interfered with the second place finisher at the 16th pole.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

If you're not bending your back and your left knee, you are not delivering the ball as well as you might. You'll frequently leave pins standing on a pocket hit and wonder why. Get down. Start the ball from as slight an angle as possible and it will roll, rather than skid, into the pins.

Crucial Contests In Marin Warner Grid This Week

San Rafael Junior Bulldogs and Novato Junior Hornets, two teams which fought to a scoreless tie in their meeting earlier this season, will be trying for the Marin County Pop Warner Football League championship in separate games this weekend.

San Rafael will be going against Terra Linda Junior Trojans 1 p.m. Saturday at Terra Linda High School field, and Novato will be hosting Drake Junior Pirates at 2 p.m. Sunday on the Novato High School field. San Rafael and Novato each have won three games without a loss, in addition to playing that scoreless tie.

In Saturday's other season-ending game, Redwood hosts Tamalpais at 1 p.m. on the Redwood High School field in Larkspur.

In last week's games, San Rafael blanked Redwood, 20-0; Drake whipped Tamalpais, 28-6, and Novato thrashed Terra Linda, 34-14.

McCovey, Others To Be Honored

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI)—A day long celebration on Oct. 25 will honor major league baseball players who began their careers here.

Heading the list will be Tommie Agee and Cleon Jones of the New York Mets. Others to be honored are Hank and Tommy Aaron of the Atlanta Braves, Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants, Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs, Amos Otis of the Mets, Frank and Milt Bolling, Satchel Paige and Eddie Stanky.

Bobby Burnett rushed for 766 yards in 1966 for the Buffalo Bills.

League with a .348 average, was the Reds' other representative.

Others on the first team were Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants at first, Rod Carew of Minnesota at second, Rico Petrocelli of Boston at shortstop, Ron Santo of the Chicago Cubs at third, outfielders Hank Aaron of Atlanta and Frank Howard of Washington and left-handed pitcher Mike Cueller of Baltimore's American League champs.

Bench was an overwhelming choice as catcher. The young slugger's nearest rival, Bill Freehan of Detroit, drew only eight votes.

SOLID CHOICE

Seaver similarly was a solid choice as the right-handed pitcher, drawing 211 votes more than runnerup Denny McLain of Detroit, the 31-game winner of 1968 who was 24-9 last season.

Carew, who led the American League with a .322 average, beat out Glenn Beckert of the Cubs as the second baseman, 217 votes to 42.

Petrocelli, who hit .297 with 40 homers and 96 RBI, also had a comfortable margin over another Cub, Don Kessinger, at short —234 votes to 40.

Aaron, who helped the Braves to the N.L. West title with a .299 average, 44 homers and 96 RBI, led the outfield balloting with 224.

Rose was next with 186 while Howard, who had his greatest year with 48 homers, 111 RBI and a .296 average, had 112.

RUNNERSUP

The three runnersup were Frank Robinson of Baltimore (.308), Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh (.345) and Reggie Jackson of Oakland (.276), who led the A.L. in homers much of the season before being sidelined late in the campaign and finishing with 47.

Jackson edged out Cleon Jones of the Mets for final outfield spot on the second team by just three votes.

Because of some vote splitting, Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota wound up as both the first and third baseman of the second team.

Killebrew, who hit .277 in leading the majors with 49 homers and 140 RBI, played both positions during the season and had 53 votes at first and 83 at third. However, his total vote for both positions—136—would still have put him behind either Santo at third or McCovey at first.

KEY ROLE

McCovey, who played a key role in the Giants' pennant bid, drew the attention of the voters with 45 homers, 126 RBI and a .320 average.

Santo, the Cubs' captain, produced 129 RBI, 29 homers and a .287 average.

Seals Get Some Help From Penguin Goalie

By DAVID DIETZ

OAKLAND — In his net or out of it, Joe Daley, lanky goaltender of the Pittsburgh Penguins, found persistent misery last night.

In goal, Daley could have found urgent use for a barn door as the Oakland Seals scored three easy tallies that carried them to a 4-3 win and back into first place in the Western Division of the National Hockey League.

Out of the goalmouth, Daley embellished his role as game goat. Near the end of the game, with the Penguins threatening to tie, Daley wandered behind his net for a loose puck. Ted Hampson, the Seals' diminutive center, chugged along and rammed the helpless goalie, sending him crashing ignominiously to the ice.

The Penguins, showered with boos from a crowd of 2,812, roughed up Hampson for his tactics and drew a penalty with less than two minutes left that crushed any hope for a tie.

Daley's loose goaltending helped the Seals rush to a 3-0 lead. First, Norm Ferguson's shot from behind the Pittsburgh net at 3:02 of the first period caromed off Daley's skate. Twelve minutes later, Bill Hice's skate. Twelve minutes later, Bill Hicke's backhand shot struck Daley's leg pad and spun into the net.

Left wing Gary Jarrett scored the Seals' third goal — Oakland's only "honest" tally of the night — when he beat Daley with a whistler from 30 feet at 1:15 of the second period.

But the Penguins, aided by Oakland lapses, swept back. Goals by Ron Schock, Wally Boyer, a former Seal, and Bob Woytowich tied the game. Woytowich's tally came when the Seals had one man in the penalty box and Daley had been lifted in favor of another attacker when Oakland was about to be penalized again.

With 12 minutes left in the game, Daley was Oakland's benefactor for the last time. Hicke fed helmeted Mike Laughton about 20 feet out and Laughton's soft backhander skipped off Daley's leg into the cage.

Outside the Penguins' dressing room later, Pittsburgh coach Red Kelly probably had the thoughts of his goaltender in mind when he said, "It's bad enough when you lose a game, but when you give it away. . . ."

San Jose '11' Will Wear Armbands

SAN JOSE (UPI)—Members of the San Jose State College football team say the entire squad will wear multi-colored armbands Saturday as an answer to the racial troubles currently affecting their opponents, the Wyoming Cowboys.

Fourteen black players were dismissed from the Cowboy squad by coach Lloyd Eaton after joining a Wyoming Black Students Alliance protest of alleged racial discrimination at Brigham Young University. The Cowboys, without the services of their black players, defeated BYU last weekend, 40-7.

SPECULATION

There had been speculation that some San Jose State players would join the protest of the Wyoming blacks by refusing to play Saturday in Wyoming and Nov. 8 at Brigham Young.

But four Spartan players—two blacks and two whites—issued a statement yesterday saying the team had voted unanimously in a pre-practice meeting to go ahead with the game Saturday.

Defensive end Tony Jackson and halfback Frank Slaton joined split end Glenn Massengale and tight end Mark Woods in announcing the Spartans will wear multi-colored armbands as a "symbolic gesture of our understanding of the feelings about BYU."

ARMBANDS

All members of the team will wear multi-colored armbands expressing our concern for all racial minorities—not just on the football field, but within the greater society," the players said.

BYU has been the target of protest several times in recent years. Blacks have been criticizing the beliefs of the church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) which operates the Provo, Utah, university.

There are no blacks on BYU's football squad, and BYU president Ernest L. Wilkinson says there are almost no blacks living in Provo. He claims there is only one black family living in the town of more than 36,000.

49er Nolan Still Shopping For QB

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — It will be Friday before the winless San Francisco 49ers know whether veteran quarterback John Brodie will start against Baltimore on Sunday.

Brodie, who has a chronic case of "pitcher's elbow" that is crippling his passing ability, will rest his arm until Friday.

Coach Dick Nolan, who has been shopping around the National Football League for a replacement, said yesterday all inquiries were fruitless.

He expressed confidence that reserve quarterback Steve Spurrier will be able to fill the gap if necessary.

Nolan said he hopes Brodie can work out the arm problem. "If it lingers," Noland said, "it could be very serious, but I'm optimistic to the point where I don't think it will be.'

Trojans Lead Offense Marks

Terra Linda and San Marin high schools rule the statistical roost after three weeks of Marin County Athletic League football action.

Terra Linda, unbeaten in league play with a 2-0 mark, has the most high-powered offense, with no fear of looking back. The Trojans are averaging 300 yards per game, some 105 yards better than runnerup San Rafael.

San Marin, also unbeatedn in league play with a 2-0 mark, and bolstered by a 9-0 win over Novato, has the best defensive record, allowing 98 yards per game, 25 yards less than runnerup San Rafael.

The Mustangs were helped considerably by the Novato game, in which they allowed the Hornets just 10 yards total offense, including no yards passing.

Redwood has the best defense against the rush, allowing just 45 yards rushing per game.

On the individual scene, Jay Lehman of Redwood, a sophomore, Tom Jackson of Terra Linda, Mark Silverman of Drake, Clifford Hall of Tamalpais and Bod Daniele of Terra Linda lead the pack.

Lehman is the top rusher with 165 yards, followed closely by Silverman with 16. Jackson tops all the passers with 262 yards on 12 of 28 completions. Next in line is Tamalpais sophomore Dan Locey with 12 of 22 completions for 175 yards and three touchdowns. Jackson has thrown four touchdown strikes.

Silverman and Hall top the receivers with eight catches each, just a shade ahead of Jim Dominguez of Drake with seven catches.

Daniele leads the scoring with four touchdowns, seven extra points and a field goal, all good for 34 points.

Ron Petroni of Tomales continues to lead Marin County rushers with a whopping 708 yards in 63 carries. Runnerup is Mark Lewis of Marin Catholic with 414 yards. Petroni also jumped into the scoring lead with a four-touchdown splurge against Middletown, pushing his season total to 56 points, six ahead of Daniele, who has 50.

Jackson leads the passers with 33 completions in 67 tries good for 696 yards and nine touchdowns. Hall is the top receiver with 13, followed by Dominquez with 12 and Dewy Forry of Terra Linda and Daniele with 11 each.

Coast's Top Quarterback To Be Decided Saturday

Dennis Dummit is a dandy quarterback. He proved that once again when he directed UCLA's undefeated Bruins to their sirth straight victory in a 32-0 shutout of California's Golden Bears. The Bruins believe Dummit is the best quarterback in the Pacific-8.

Stanford will dispute that and with good reason. Stanford's Jim Plunkett still is the total offense leader in the Pac-8 with a slight passing and rushing edge over Dummit.

THIS SATURDAY in Stanford Stadium football fans will get an opportunity to watch Dummit and Plunkett in direct head-to-head competition when the Bruins and Indians clash.

At the moment just 37 yards separate Dummit and Plunkett in total offense. Plunkett leads with 1,330 yards to Dummit's 1,293.

PLUNKETT'S PASSING edge over Dummit is 36 yards, just one rushing. It couldn't be much closer.

Of 153 passes, Plunkett has completed 88 for 1,237 yards and a .575 percentage. Of 107 passes, Dummit has completed 61 for 1,201 yards and a .570 percentage. Plunkett has thrown seven interceptions, Dummit three.

IN 24 option keepers, Plunkett added 93 rushing yards to his total. In 57 carries, Dummit added 92 yards to his.

There will be much more at stake in the Stanford-UCLA game than Plunkett's and Dummit's total offense records. Stanford could get back on the Pasadena road to the roses with a win over the Bruins who are 3-0 in the Pac-8. Stanford is 2-1 in the conference because of that 26-24 loss to USC a couple of weekends ago on Ron Ayala's 34-yard field goal just as the clock was ticking the final second of the game.

SHOULD STANFORD beat the Bruins and the Bruins beat the Trojans next month in their season finale, Stanford, UCLA and USC conveivably could wind up in a Pac-8 tie with one defeat each. Of course, that possibility is contingent on their winning their other Pac-8 games. But it's interesting speculation.

However, there isn't anything speculative about Dummit being a top quarterback. He is the difference between the 1968 and 1969 Bruins. The Bruins of last year and this year are the same except for Dummit who joined them this year as a junior college transfer from Long Beach City College.

LAST SEASON the Bruins finished 3-7. This year they are 6-0. It's all Dummit's doing. This becomes evident in light of the fact that most of last year's Bruin regulars on defense and offense—30 of them—are back this year.

THE BRUIN running game still is focused on Greg Jones and Mickey Cureton. Owen Cooper and George Farmer still are the UCLA pass receivers. Dummit's direction of them in a balanced running-passing game is the reason the Bruins are 6-0 this season as contrasted with last year's 3-7 record.

Grid Game Changed

Sonoma State College's football game against San Francisco State College's junior varsity has been changed from Saturday at Durst Field in Petaluma to Friday night at 7:30 at Analy High School, Sebastopol.

Boxing's Al Weill Dies At 76

MIAMI (UPI)—Al Weill, who made his reputation as a matchmaker for Madison Square Garden and later used the knowledge he picked up to manage Rocky Marciano to the heavyweight title, died last night in a state hospital after a long illness.

The 76-year-old Weill is survived by his wife, Sonja, a son, daughter and two grandchildren. The burial is to be tomorrow in Miami.

FOUR CHAMPS

He was the manager of four world champions during his colorful career—featherweight Joey Archibald, lightweight Lou Ambers, welterweight Marty Servo and Marciano—and his shrewd ability to pick opponents was responsible for the success of his fighters.

His death follows Marciano's by less than two months. Charley Goldman, the gnome-like trainer who always worked with Weill and polished Marciano's crude style, and Alfie Columbo, Marciano's best friend and advisor, also died this year.

A BUNDLE

Besides the Garden, Weill had made matches for several small clubs, the Polo Grounds and Ebbetts Field. During the middle of the depression, he had attracted a gate of $118,000 for a Tournament of Chanpions at the Polo Grounds and came out with $25,000.

He also was the man who first took notice of an unorthodox South American named Arturo Godoy and brought him to the United States for two title bouts with Joe Louis.

Early Wynn holds the record for most years pitched in the major leagues—23.

Dixon Is Still Question Mark

OAKLAND (AP) — A decision on the availability of Oakland Raiders fullback Hewritt Dixon probably won't be made until near game time Sunday when the Raiders meet the San Diego Chargers.

Hewritt has been out of action with a bruised knee but is believed to have recovered sufficiently to play.

Though the team is at full strength for the first time since winning the 1967 AFL championship, Raiders' Coach John Madden has developed a keen appreciation for its reserve forces.

Madden said he was well satisfied with the 50-21 win over Buffalo in which reserve players had a chance at some extended playing.

MARIN-SONOMA GOLF NOTES

Palmer's Secret Visit

By RALPH CHATOIAN

If you happened to be around Meadow Club in Fairfax Tuesday of last week, that guy who looked like Arnold Palmer getting out of a helicopter WAS Arnold Palmer.

It was Arnie without his Army, a very secret thing put on by Newsweek Magazine.

Newsweek, you see, has contracted Palmer for four days to play a little golf with some of the magazine's top advertising clients. There were 24 of them from all parts of the country, and Arnie played three holes of golf with six different foursomes, all of the men being able to say, "I played golf with Arnie."

Meadow Club was honored to be chosen as the site for the affair, since it was the first time one of these "meet Arnie" things has been held on the West Coast, according to Meadow Club pro Joe Ferrero.

Palmer, competing in the Sahara Invitational last week, and his pilot flew Arnie's personal jet to San Francisco International Airport from Las Vegas, Nev., and from there came to Meadow Club by helicopter, landing in the parking lot. That's when some of the Meadow Clubbers began getting suspicious.

Newsweek people, you see, demanded strict secrecy concerning Palmer's visit. But when the Meadow Club members who happened to be present heard over the club's P.A. system, "Arnold Palmer, you're wanted on the telephone," the bag was out of the cat, or something like that.

So, although it was raining heavily, about 20 club members volunteered for Army duty and followed Palmer and the golfers around the course.

And what did Arnie shoot?

"A 69, and in the rain, too," said Ferrero. "He didn't even line up a putt, just walked up and hit. He is quite a guy. I just can't say enough good things about him." It sounds like Joe's bucking for sergeant stripes.

THERE'S GOING to be a Pro-Am golf tournament at the Meadow Club, with all proceeds going to San Rafael's Marindale School for the orthopedically handicapped, that is if enough players help out.

Dr. Doug Ramsey, one of the tourney organizers, said more players are needed for the tournament which is scheduled for Nov. 3, a shotgun start at 12:30 p.m. Each foursome will consist of three amateurs and a Bay Area professional. Cost is $30, which includes lunch. And all the money, says Dr. Ramsey, goes to the Marindale School. To enter, call the pro shop at Meadow Club.

MILL VALLEY'S club champion is scheduled to be decided Saturday when Earl Brown goes against Jim Brown (no relation) in the long delayed finals. Latest date change for the heralded meeting was from Sunday to Saturday.

Chuck Akins won the ninth annual Columbus Day golf tourney last Friday at Sonoma National. His 77-10—67 won over Ray Fowler, 79-10—69. In guest flight, Rocky Alexander won with blind bogey score of 52 to Msgr. John Farrell's 59. Hole-in-one contest won by John Phalen, 2 feet, 6 inches.

FIRST ROHNERT PARK Invitational is scheduled Nov. 16, an 18-hole tourney with gross, handicap and Calloway divisions. The $8 entry fee includes golf, lunch and prizes.

MEMBERS of Petaluma Golf and Country Club will gather tomorrow night at 6 o'clock for their annual club dinner and awards night.

AMONG tournaments coming up around the area will be the Cellars Invitational Monday at San Geronimo National, with 120 golfers expected; a home-and-home match hosted by Petaluma Golf and Country Club against golfers from Mill Valley Golf Club Sunday, starting at 8:30 a.m., with 30 golfers from each club going at it; and a Colgate-Palmolive employees' tourney for 50 players Saturday at Peacock Gap Country Club in San Rafael.

Mrs. Johnson Wins Oakview Tourney

Mrs. Bo Johnson took Class A honors in the Oakview Rovers Ladies' Golf Club's medal tournament at Peacock Gap yesterday with a 101-26-75.

She was followed by Mrs. Robert Greene, 118-84-34. Class B honors went to Mrs. Frank Martin, 116-31-65. Runnerup was Mrs. Ted Steiger, 120-36-84.

Today is Wednesday. Oct. 22, the 295th day of 1969 with 70 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The mornings stars are Mercury, Venus, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening star is Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1836, Gen. Sam Houston was sworn in as first president of the Republic of Texas.

In 1883, the Metropolitan Opera House in New York City staged its grand opening with a performance of "Faust."

In 1962, President John F. Kennedy announced the arms blockade of Cuba after Soviet missiles were discovered on the island.

In 1968, the Apollo 7 astronauts splashed down after an 11-day earth orbital flight.

A thought for the day: George Bernard Shaw said, "There is only one religion, though here are a hundred versions of it."

Restaurant Gets Sign Approval

An identification sign for Hamby's take-out food restaurant at 600 Miller Avenue has been approved by the Mill Valley Architectural Advisory Committee, Howard R. McGill, zoning administrator reported.

McGill said the restaurant owners agreed to a block letter sign attached to the bulding.

A pale yellow enamel was approved for the Sycamore Avenue street light standards, McGill said.

The committee, meeting Monday night, also named member August Rath as its representative to the joint street lighting committee.

An Unusual Play Must Be Executed To Halt The Enemy

Not all opponents are equally hostile. In some cases, one opponent may be a tiger, while the other is just a pussycat. If you can tell the difference, keep the tiger at a safe distance even if this means giving an unexpected trick to the tame tabby.

CLUB LEAD

When West led the king of clubs, declarer had to win with dummy's ace in order to preserve a possible second club trick in the South hand. South's jack would provide a second stopper if West continued the clubs; but it would be worthless if East led clubs.

Under these circumstances, it was clear that East was the tiger and West the pussycat. South didn't mind losing a trick to West, but he had to keep East out of the lead at almost any cost.

Since declarer needed four diamond tricks to make sure of his contract, he led the nine of diamonds from dummy, intending to duck the trick around to West if allowed to do so.

COVERS NINE

East naturally covered the nine of diamonds with the ten (it would have done him no good to play low), and South won with the ace. The fall of the seven gave declarer a clue to the diamond position.

South led a spade to dummy's king and led the six of diamonds, once more intending to pass the trick to West if East played low. East put up the eight of diamonds, and South won with the king. West's spade discard confirmed South's suspicions.

HEART TO DUMMY

Now South led a heart to dummy's king and led the deuce of diamonds. South had the Q-5-3 of diamonds behind East's J-4 and could safely finesse with the five to make sure of five diamond tricks. If South had played the diamonds "normally," East would have won a diamond trick, and then his club return would defeat the contract.

The hand is not quite worth an opening bid. If the jack of hearts were the queen, you would open one heart.

Three Inducted Into Service

Three men were inducted into the armed forces this month by the Marin County Selective Service Board, executive secretary Joy M. Kinser reported yesterday.

They are John M. McNaboe of San Anselmo, Curtis O. Kamai of Sausalito and Meludi Miles of Mill Valley.

The county draft quota for October was seven, but the quota is seldom filled, Mrs. Kinser said. The quota for November is 37.

Nader Wants Firms' Executives On Ballot

BERKELEY (UPI) — Consumer crusader Ralph Nader believes executives of the nation's top 200 corporations ought to be elected by the public.

"The leaders of the largest industries have more power than the politicians, yet are not responsive to the public good," Nader told a University of California audience Monday night.

"Not one of the presidents of the top 200 corporations has ever spoken at a university or to a city council," he said. "They don't like speaking before groups they don't control."

Nader singled out the auto industry for perpetrating "organized crime" on the public. He said the greatest contribution Communism has made to the world is to keep a car out of the average Russian and Chinese garage.

The crusader for consumers was particularly irked at the industry's failure to adopt in the construction of automobiles safety features "that were realized a couple of millennia ago."

Nader, who uses sarcasm the way a carpenter handles a hammer, said: "Although Hippocrates realized the human body had a greater relation to a flat yielding surface than to a sharp protruding edge, this was not realized by Detroit in 1969."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Payroll Deduction Good Way To Buy Into Funds

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Our company offers a plan whereby employees can purchase shares from Keystone Custodian Funds through payroll deductions. I have never bought stock but would like to begin. Is there a good company? — R.H.

A. Keysyone Custodian acts as investment adviser for 10 mutual funds; its eleventh is now in registratiion. Close to $1.5 billion in combined assets are under its management. The various funds cover a wide range of investment goals from stability to performance. Each has consistently achieved above-average results within the limits of its stated goals. In the past 10 years two income and one balanced fund were in the top 8 per cent for income return. Over the same period three Keystone growth funds reached the top 8 per cent for performance results. Regular purchase through payroll deductions offers the additional benefit of dollar-cost averaging. By studying the literature on each fund you can determine which one most closely meets your needs.

Q. I have $16,000 in the bank drawing 5 per cent interest. Would it be sensible to invest $10,000 in bonds for their 8 per cent interest? — G.S.

A. A good many Americans have done just this. Disintermediation — the tranferral of capital from one form of savings to another — has reached unprecedented levels. This year individual savings deposits should total about $7.5 billion, down $10 billion from 1968. Conversely, individual investments in various bonds and other money market instruments are expected to rise 12 per cent this year.

Individuals in the past have played an insignificant role in this particular investment area. Yet this year individuals as a group will invest almost as much as institutions, excluding banks.

Wall Street Still Rising

NEW YORK (UPI)—Peace hopes triggered another sharp advance on Wall Street today in heavy trading.

Volume exceeded 18,000,000 shares.

Motorola, one of the many strong spots in the electronics, climbed several points.

Singer Co., which spurted 5 1-8 yesterday, continued to attract demand. The concern has entered the office copier market.

Motors were another impressive group, while Dow gained ground among the chemicals. The chemical firm plans to invest up to $250 million during the next five years at its complex in West Germany.

Airlines and aircrafts showed scattered strength. But several oils lost ground, including Midwest Oil Corp., which reported an increase in nine months' net.

Steels traded in both directions.

Among the most active issues were Benguiet, Occidental and International Telephone.

Prices climbed on the American Stock Exchange in active trading.

Hurricane Gnaws Fruit Firm Profit

BOSTON (BW) — United Fruit Co.'s earnings for the third quarter ended Oct. 4 were $9,176,000, equal to $1.11 per common share before making provision of $3.2 million of net after-tax loss as a result of Hurricane Francelia.

After that loss, earnings available to common stock were $5,976,000, or 72 cents per common share. Net earnings for the third quarter of 1968 were $5,896,000, or 73 cents per common share.

Earnings after taxes available to common stock in the first nine months of 1969 were $31,219,000, or $3.80 per common share before the special charge for the hurricane loss of $3.2 million. The company earned $3.80 per common share for the entire 1968 fiscal year.

After providing for the hurricane loss, earnings for the nine months amounted to $28,019,000, or $3.41 per common share. The company earned $26,161,000, or $3.25 per common share in the comparable 1968 period.

Chrysler Corp. Sales Off A Bit Worldwide

DETROIT (BW) — Worldwide sales of Chrysler Corp. and its consolidated subsidiaries for the first nine months of 1969 totaled $5.2 billion, compared with a record $5.3 billion for the same period of 1968.

Net earnings amounted to $93.2 million, or $1.97 a share, compared with a record ~~$179.5~~ million, or $3.83 a share, for the nine-month period a year ago.

Tire Firm Still Has Franchise Despite Shop's Loss In Blaze

The Marin County dealership for Firestone tires is still held by Brodie and Schwerin, who formerly operated San Rafael Tire and Brake which was destroyed by fire last July.

This together with the fact that the firm has not ruled out succeeding itself when a new San Rafael location is secured, negates any claim Deming and Granger might make to successorship (as carried in this column of Oct. 6), according to Arthur W. Brodie.

Meanwhile, Brodie and Schwerin is servicing its commercial, truck, ready-mix and construction accounts from the Novato store, Novato Firestone, at 7374 Redwood Highway, under the management of Ronald Lammer.

The firm also has the Firestone dealership in Petaluma under the name of Petaluma Firestone, at 19 Petaluma Boulevard South. Vern Bergstrom is the manager here.

DOROTHEA PORTRAIT STUDIO at 1311 Fourth Street, San Rafael has been sold by Mrs. Dorothea Rode to Marin Upholstery at 1321 Fourth Street. The latter will continue the combined studio and picture framing business. Mrs. Rode is said to be moving to Arizona.

ALFA PHOTOJOURNALISTS COOPERATIVE, with offices in London and New York, has opened a Marin office at 704 Cabin Drive, Mill Valley, directed by Walter Odets.

Activities of the cooperative, composed of both photographers and journalists, are described as "environmental portraiture work for private individuals," along with book and magazine work.

A FACILITY of the Marin County Communications Department for the repair of county communications vehicles will be opened at 77 Mitchell Boulevard, Northgate Industrial Park on Nov. 1. The county has leased 3,000 square feet in the structure owned by builder John Ribeiro, through William W. Hoey and Co.

Involve Public, Probers Urge Tam Trustees

A survey of community attitudes in Tamalpais High School District indicates the district needs to try to involve the public to greater extent in decisions, the men who made the survey told board members last night.

Mervin D. Field of Belvedere, who heads Field Research Corp., and his assistant, Peter Sherril, reviewed the survey findings in a special workshop meeting with three district trustees: chairman Bette Wallace, David D. Ring and Frank L. Miller. Trustees Gloria Melbostad and Robert W. Corlett were absent.

MAIN SORE POINT

The survey, made last May, showed general public satisfaction with the school district, despite the fact it followed the third successive bond issue defeat at the polls, said Field. But it pointed up some areas of public concern, particularly over discipline.

Sherril, who plumped repeatedly for trying to get the community more involved, told the trustees:

"You should have some kind of program to bring teachers together with parents as often as possible." Such a program, he said, might result in parent-teacher confrontations, but "this would be good — both parties can benefit."

SOCIAL PROBLEM

Field and Sherrill said they were struck with the findings about social responsibility. Citizens and faculty polled in the May survey agreed this is an area calling for greater emphasis. An 22 per cent of community members who added volunteered comments on the survey sheets expressed concern over lack of discipline — which Field and Sherril agreed is a closely related matter.

Trustee Ring, in a series of questions, sought to find out whether the persons who made this comment in the survey might be the same ones who chastised board and superintendent in a boisterous meeting two weeks ago over rescinding of Redwood High School haircut regulations for athletes. Field said most of the comments were unsigned but it might be possible to check how many came from each high school's attendance area.

Principal Harold Allison of Sir Francis Drake High School suggested what was absent from the survey comments might be important, too. Although 22 per cent commented on lack of discipline, 15 per cent on "deplorable school attire and hair length," none made the comment that the schools are too strict and repressive, he noted.

TEACHERS CONCERNED

Although the survey showed teachers did not put such high emphasis on developing social responsibility. Sherril said he spent yesterday talking with teachers at Drake High and found general concern over this and the related matter of discipline.

Part of the problem, Sherril suggested, "is the isolation that education sits in."

"Allowing teachers to live in isolation and protecting them from the public" only serves to increase distrust, he suggested.

Trustees came to no conclusion as to what should be done to promote greater community participation, but agreed that some approach should be worked out.

Fire Chief Reports Loggers Cleaning Up

Loggers on the Ethel Righetti Ranch on Bolinas Ridge have cleaned up about 90 per cent of the logs and slash since the county filed a court suit last month, County Fire Chief Louis Bloom reported yesterday.

He said he visited the logging area this morning and found most of the logs hauled away and the debris stacked in neat piles ready for burning. Chief Bloom said recent rain did not cause any slides.

SCHOOL BUSES: A POLICE SHADOW

In a scene repeated throughout Marin and Southern Sonoma today, pupils alight from a school bus at Coleman School in San Rafael under the tight surveillance of a police car. The cryptic threats of the Zodiac killer against school children have brought unusual police precautions. Most law enforcement agencies said they were following school buses, although others declined to divulge their procedures in fear of tipping their hand. (Independent-Journal photo)

Pentagon Scuttles Cease-Fire Rumors

Unilateral Nixon Try Held Futile

WASHINGTON (AP) — A high defense official said today the Pentagon opposes a unilateral cease-fire in Vietnam unless the North Vietnamese also agree to stop the shooting.

The official said the Pentagon does not believe a unilateral cease-fire by the United States, without some assurance the enemy would go along, "would be a successful approach.'

The comment came as President Richard M. Nixon prepared to make a major Vietnam address Nov. 3. It appeared to be designed to scotch rumors Nixon would announce a cease-fire at that time.

The defense official, who spoke to newsmen under the stipulation he not be identified by name, cautioned against speculation on what Nixon will say in his speech but he said it will be important.

In that address, the official said, the administration's Vietnam program "will be set forth in detail." He declined to indicate whether further U.S. troop withdrawals are in prospect.

The defense official's mention of Pentagon opposition to a unilateral cease-fire came shortly after Gen. William C. Westmoreland, Army Chief of Staff, told a Greenwood, S.C., audience he opposes such a move.

Comments by the two thus tended to knock down reports earlier this week that the military advisers to the President were recommending that the United States halt firing.

The official also suggested it is wrong to equate the administration's so-called "protective reaction" tactics in the war with a cease-fire.

Scott Proposes Vietnam War Halt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania proposed today that the United States declare a cease-fire in Vietnam. He denied he was floating a trial balloon for President Richard M. Nixon.

"I hope that a cease-fire may be called for," Scott said, thus joining in a proposal sounded repeatedly by Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the majority leader. "This is not a trial balloon for the President, it's a personal hope."

Scott said the current U.S. tactics of protective reaction to enemy assault come close to a cease-fire.

"But there is no formalized cease fire," he said. "I think the time has come to move from protective reaction to an announcement that on a certain date we will stop firing, and if we are not fired on a cease fire will occur."

Scott did not suggest any date. But he said such a move could not occur in advance of Nixon's report next month to the nation on Vietnam.

"I wouldn't think anything could happen of that kind before Nov. 3," he told reporters on the Senate floor.

Mansfield said the new approach of protective reaction "means we have moved a long distance in the direction of a cease fire and stand fast policy."

He said it means U.S. forces fire only when there is a threat they will be fired upon.

Mansfield praised Nixon "for initiating this new and highly significant tactic."

Scott said the cease fire he seeks should cover both U.S. and South Vietnamese forces.

Meanwhile, the White House took note of cautious expressions of support in Congress for Nixon's Vietnam policies.

Nixon's press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, was asked how he characterized the spectacle of Sens. Mansfield, J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and George D. Aiken, R-Vt., coming out almost simultaneously for administration policy.

Ziegler refused to characterize. But later he said he assumed that the course of action with respect to Vietnam that Nixon outlined May 14 in a speech to the nation, was being taken into consideration.

This policy may come up for elaboration in Nixon's speech Nov. 3.

Over the last few days, Fulbright has said he thought Nixon was doing the best he could to settle the war. Mansfield said he regarded administration policy as amounting to a cease-fire. Aiken has spoken along similar lines.

Additionally, House GOP Leader Gerald Ford of Michigan has voiced some optimism about peace prospects and said he expects the U.S. commitment in Vietnam to be reduce substantially in the next year.

Asked whether that was a correct appraisal, Ziegler referred to Nixon's forthcoming speech.

Ziegler was asked if he thought Nixon's bid for 60-day moratorium on criticism of his Vietnamese policy was having some success. The press secretary said he thought it was being accepted.

Earlier, Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., accused Vice

Zodiac Fails To Show For Belli Rendezvous

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A man who said he was Zodiac, killer of five persons in the Bay Area, set up a secret meeting with attorney Melvin Belli today in a startling series of telephone calls to a television talk show.

Police said they "don't know" whether the calls were from a hoaxer. They worked closely with the show's producers and host, Jim Dunbar, of KGO-TV.

Belli, the morning show's guest, agreed to meet the man at a secret location in a city starting with the letter "D" — possibly Daly City just south of San Francisco. Belli was ordered to come alone.

Shortly after noon today, in a United Press International story from San Francisco, Belli reported to authorities he waited 45 minutes at the appointed meeting place in nearby Daly City, but there was no sign of the other man.

The caller spoke at least seven times with Dunbar and Belli between 7 a.m. and 9 a.m. The clandestine meeting was set up off camera.

The killings since December 1968, in the Napa and Vallejo areas and San Francisco, have been accompanied by a bizarre assortment of encoded message segments to newspapers, telephone calls following the killings, and letters directly to newspapers, taunting police and boasting of Zodiac's process.

Zodiac has threatened to kill again, and has struck fear into the areas where he has killed.

Today's development started at 2 a.m. when the man who said he was Zodiac telephone police and said he wanted to talk to Belli or another well-known attorney, F. Lee Bailey.

Then he repeatedly called the television station.

"I'll kill," he told Dunbar, unless he could talke to Belli. All the conversations were heard live by the television audience.

In all the talk show calls, the man talked with Dunbar and Belli. In the fourth call, at 7:30 a.m., the man described suffering bad headaches.

Suddenly he said, "I'm going to kill them. I'm going to kill all those kids."

In a letter last week to the San Francisco Chronicle, the writer, identified as Zodiac by police handwriting experts, said he planned to make a busload of school children his next victims.

He said he would lay in wait, put a bullet through a bus tire, then pick off the children "as

Gun Selling Surprise To Witnesses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Kansas City police officers said today they would never have released confiscated weapons to the Army's former provost marshal general had they known he intended to sell them for private profit.

But retired Maj. Gen. Carl C. Turner, citing the wording of receipts for the 96 guns he obtained, insisted the officers knew the weapons they gave him were for his personal collection, not for Army training or display.

His testimony and that of the police officials was heard by a Senate subcommittee investigating charges that, as provost marshal, Turner blocked an Army investigation of an alleged multimillion-dollar graft by a ring of top enlisted men.

Turner heard his testimony contradicted by Clarence Kelley, chief of the Kansas City police department, and two other police officials.

"He was quite clear . . . that the guns eventually would go to the military police museum at

New Move To Force Open Georgia Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government asked today for a preliminary injunction to force Georgia to desegregate its 192 public school systems by the opening of the 1970-71 school year.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said the request was included in a motion, filed in Atlanta federal court, that sought to expedite a desegregation suit which the Justice Department brought against Georgia last Aug. 1.

SUPERVISORS RECOIL

Communal Family Caravan Tries Touch On Marin Welfare Cash

A large communal family of 62 persons from New York, including a one-year-old baby, marched into the Civic Center yesterday and demanded money and food to continue their trek to Los Angeles.

If refused, they threatened to file 62 individual applications for general relief, said Betty Presley, director of the Department of Public Social Services.

Miss Presley reported the confrontation to the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday afternoon and asked for a decision on what to do.

"We said no, but it went over like a dead balloon," said Miss Presley. She said the group came in five buses and two pickup trucks and was stalled somewhere on a street in Sausalito.

"They are asking for $500 to repair their vehicles, plus money for gasoline and food to get to Los Angeles."

Supervisors backed up Miss Presley, telling her to stick by her denial and give routine treatment if they demanded individual applications.

"If it's individual applications, my decision would be a denial," said Miss Presley.

"Ask them if they've tried working," suggested Louis H. Baar.

"My decision would be a firm no," added Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. "And if they want to apply individually, let them."

"They deserve routine handling," said Chairman John F. McInnis. And if routine handling means delay, the group will have to put up with it just like anyone else, said McInnis.

Michael Wornum pointed out that if such a group got blanket approval, it would be an invitation for every group to come in and demand: "Give me money to move on."

Send them to Sonoma County," suggested William A. Gnoss. "They need grape pickers over there."

Late in the afternoon, Miss Presley returned to report that one family of five, including three children, had planted themselves in the welfare office all afternoon and insisted that the children be fed or taken to a receiving home. "We'd be willing to take the children for tonight and take the case to court tomorrow."

"It makes sense to take care of the children if they need food or medical care," said Arrigoni.

But he said he is opposed to subsidizing adults who use children to get aid for themselves.

Supervisors authorized Miss Presley to take the children to a receiving home and follow the regular legal processes.

Lebanon's Prime Minister Quits; Mideast Crisis Grow

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lebanon's prime minister resigned today as protests mounted at home and in neighboring Arab countries against the Lebanese army's attempt to check Arab guerrillas using the country as a base for attacks against Israel.

Prime Minister Rashid Karami submitted his resignation as mobs rioted in the Arab quarter of Beirut, the Lebanese capital, stoning police from behind improvised barricades.

Karami's cabinet quit last year when the guerrilla question erupted in riots, but the government stayed on in a caretaker capacity while Karami sought to form a new government.

Lebanon, a country with a population almost evenly divided between Christians and Moslems, has sought to steer a militarily neutral stance in the Arab-Israeli conflict. But the presence of 200,000 Palestinian refugees in the country and the growth of the Arab guerrilla movement have upset the balance.

Tens of thousands of demonstrators marched peacefully through Baghdad and Amman. The demonstrators in the Iraqi capital shouted, "Death to the criminal rulers of Lebanon!" and, "Down with imperialist-backed regimes!" Baghdad Radio reported.

The Iraqi government offered its army's assistance to Arab guerrillas in Lebanon.

Syria took the lead in the protests, closing its border with Lebanon last night a few hours after the Palestine Liberation Organization reported 14 guerrillas killed and 25 wounded in a Lebanese army attack on three guerrilla villages.

The PLO also claimed five Lebanese civilians were killed in

Russian In 'Oh, Boy!' Mockup Trip

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — A Russian cosmonaut, using a sophisticated American space simulator, uttered a good American exclamation today as he guided a lunar landing mockup to rendezvous with a command module.

"Oh, boy! Oh, boy! Oh, boy!" exclaimed Maj. Gen. Georgi T. Beregovoy, 48, in English as his mockup and the simulated command capsule touched.

The scene was a darkened room at the Manned Spacecraft Center here. It contains the two simulators which move, turn, roll and dip, using cushions of air. An American pilot maneuvered the command module.

General Beregovoy and another cosmonaut, Konstantin Feoktistov, 43, are on a tour of the United States.

Before that, each went inside less sophisticated mockups of the lunar landing and command modules. These have controls and instruments like the real things, and sceones are projected on the windows that give those inside the feeling of being in space.

In this demonstration, the cosmonauts' talk grew particularly excited when the simulation appeared to take them over the moon's surface. They spoke in Russian then.

Earlier today, the two toured mission control, the electronic nerve center of manned space flights. They asked questions of Glynn Lunney, the mission controller for Apollo 8.

The cosmonauts watched the Apollo 12 mission control team practice translunar injection. Apollo 12 is scheduled to take off for the moon in November.

The two were guests last night at a dinner given them by

Greyhound May Run Away If Ferry Sails

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SAN FRANCISCO — Marin commuters soon may have no bus service to gripe about.

This was the prediction yesterday from the president of Greyhound Lines West, Frank L. Nageotte.

The decision last Thursday by Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District directors to go into the ferryboat business, and to discard all proposals for a commuter bus service, showed his company no longer can expect any relief from its deficit service to Marin, Nageotte told the Independent-Journal.

The California Public Utility Commission's staff testified in two previous Greyhound fare-hearings that the PUC should allow the bus company to abandon its Marin service—unless a public agency promptly came forward to take over the service, Nageotte noted.

Greyhound has been trying for years to do just that, but the PUC has held off granting permission to abandon the service. In fare hearings last year, however, the PUC staff said Greyhound could not be forced to wait forever.

Nageotte said his company will decide in the next few weeks whether to seek a "sizable" fare increase as well as abandonment. Greyhound thus would be asking the PUC to "take your pick," Nageotte said.

Greyhound probably will hold off a decision on whether to seek abandonment of its Marin service pending PUC action on an 8.75 per cent fare increase previously asked by the company, he said. Action on it is expected in a few weeks, he added.

Greyhound's annual loss in Marin is almost $300,000, Nageotte said, adding the deficit is subsidized by profitable service elsewhere in the state. The Marin deficit could drag the rest of Greyhound's operations

Federal Aide Sees End To HCL Spiral

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs rose five-tenths of 1 per cent in September, continuing the nation's sharpest inflationary spiral in some 20 years, the Labor Department reported today.

Clothing prices rose at about double the usual increase for September; food prices failed to show their usual decline for the month; housing costs continued to rise and there were increases for all kinds of consumer services, said the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The increase boosted the government's Consumer Price Index to 129.3. This means it cost $12.93 last month for every $10 worth of goods and services in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

However, Asst. Commissioner Arnold Chase of the bureau said it was encouaging that the rate of acceleration of price increases had stopped and he predicted next year's rise in living costs would be less than this year's.

Living costs have risen 4.5 per cent so far in 1969 compared with 3.4 per cent in the first nine

ANTI-SHAH PROTEST—Iranian students and others clash with police outside the Iranian Consulate in San Francisco while the Shah of Iran was conferring yesterday with President Richard M. Nixon in Washington. The protest was short-lived with police using clubs to break up the crowd. (AP Wirephoto)

Short Bay Protest To Shah's Visit With Nixon

COMBINED AP & UPI

SAN FRANCISCO — A brief flurry of club-swinging broke out yesterday when demonstrators, protesting a U.S. visit by the Shah of Iran, attempted to break thorugh police lines at the Iranian Consulate.

Only one of the 200 demonstrators was arrested. The youths were mainly from the Iranian Student Association and Students for a Democratic Society.

Raymond Croteau, 30, was arrested for battery on a police officer. Authorities said he struck officer Fred Mott with a portable no parking sign in an attempt to break through the line of 40 policemen.

The demonstrators carried signs reading "Down with the Shah" and "Defeat U.S. Imperialism." They passed out leaflets calling the Shah a "puppet" of "U.S. Imperialism."

Iranian Consul General Hossein Eshraghi said "a handful of Iranian students do this sort of thing frequently" but said "they do not represent the Iranian students of the Bay Area which number about 2,000."

Meanwhile last night, President Richard M. Nixon wound up a state visit by the Shah of Iran with an exchange of glowing toasts, expressions of mutual interest in football and an invitation for Nixon to visit the Shah's kingdom again.

In champagne toasts at a state dinner Nixon had such warm tributes for the Shah, whom he met on visits to Iran in 1953 and 1968, that his visitor declared:

"I am overwhelmed by the warmth of your sentiments, which could only come from a true friend, someone who is sharing your problems and understanding your problems."

During the day the two heads of state conferred privately. The Shah reportedly wants increased military aid for his nation, which he believes should be the major peacekeeping force in the strategic Persian Gulf.

Nixon noted at the dinner the Shah had been a guest in the White House of every president beginning with Harry S Truman and joked: "On that count he's far ahead of me."

One thing they both have in common, Nixon said, is a love for sports and playing football. But there was a difference, Nixon conceded: "I sat on the bench. He was captain of the team."

The Shah declared that he was "waiting with the greatest anticipation" for another visit from Nixon to his homeland.

Condemed Arkansas Inmate Fights Death

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP) — William Lee Maxwell is fighting for his life before the U.S. Suprtme Court and victory might determine whether men in death houses across the nation will live.

"I believe every man was born for something and maybe I was born to go through all this," said Maxwell, an inmate on Tucker's death row for seven years.

Maxwell, a Negro, faces death for his 1962 conviction in the rape of a white woman in Hot Springs. His appeal to the Supreme Court raises questions that could affest the validity of the convictions of about 500 condemned men in the United States, including those at San Quentin.

"A LONG WAY"

George Howard Jr. of Pine Bluff, one of his attorneys, says Maxwell's case "could go a long way in abolishing the death sentence."

The appeal challenges the constitutionality of allowing juries to impose the death sentence without following certain guidelines or standards, and questions the system of permitting juries to determine guilt and punishment at the same time.

The Supreme Court has postponed arguments on the case until the ninth seat on the bench —the one for which President Nixon has nominated Judge Clewent F. Haynsworth Jr. — is filled.

"If everything turns out right, the seven years I spent down here were not in vain," Maxwell says. "If 500 peoples' lives can be saved, I've accomplished something."

CLAIMS INNOCENCE

Maxwell maintains he is innocent. He sought unsuccessfully to overturn his death sentence in the Arkansas Supreme Court and lower federal courts, alleging initially that the death penalty was discriminatorily applied against Negroes accused of raping white women.

He has reached the age of 30 thanks to several stays of execution. He came within hours once of dying on "Old Satan," or "Sparky," as the death row inmates call the state's homemade 56-year-old electric chair.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller has since declared a moratorium on executions until the Supreme Court rules on the death penalty. The chair has been dismantled and stored in the prison tailor shop.

Maxwell said he had prepared himself for death.

"I wasn't going to jump or shout," he says. "I wasn't afraid."

Kennedy TV Tape Played In Courtroom

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (UPI) —The flat Boston accent of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy broke an expectant hush in the courtroom.

"I made immediate and repeated attempts to save Mary Jo by diving into the strong and murky currents, but succeeded only in increasing my state of utter exhaustion and alarm," the voice said.

Playing in the courtroom yesterday was a tape of a broadcast Kennedy made to national radio and television audiences recalling the night of July 18 when his automobile plunged off a narrow wooden bridge into a tidal pond on Chappaquiddick Island, Mass.

DESCRIBES ATTEMPT

He described a futile attempt to rescue his passenger, Mary Jo Kopechne, 28, a Washington, D.C. secretary, from her death.

Mary Jo's parents, Joseph and Gwendolyn Kopechne, sat side by side in the courtroom of Judge Bernard Brominski Tuesday when the 12-minute tape was played.

Minutes later, Joseph Kopechne broke into tears. His wife sat with her head down, her chin on her hands.

Judge Brominski now must decide if Mary Jo's body should be taken from its grave in a nearby Larksville, Pa., cemetery so an autopsy can be performed.

PETITIONS COURT

Edmund S. Dinis, a Massachusetts district attorney, had petitioned the Luzerne County, Pa., court for an order permitting exhumation of Mary Jo's body for an autopsy.

Joseph Kopechne opposed the motion, telling the court in a low voice, "We feel now more than ever that we do not want an autopsy."

$5,000 X-Ray Wanted For Scanning Reagan Packages

SACRAMENTO (AP) — That package coming into Gov. Ronald Reagan's office could be just an apple pie from an admirer—

How do you tell the difference?

Buy an X-ray machine and give any suspicious package the once-over, says the retired Army major general who runs the state's housekeeping services.

The recommendation yesterday from Andrew J. Lolli, of San Rafael, director of the General Services Department, was the latest to improve security around Reagan, already the best-guarded chief executive in state history.

Eleven positions recently were added to the State Police for guard purposes at his home, and bullet-proof glass was installed in his Capitol office last year.

Now, Lolli said, the time has come to buy a portable X-ray machine at a cost of about $5,000 to scan any suspicious packages reaching the governor's office.

He noted that at present, packages that arouse doubt in the Capitol are handed over to a state policeman. Lolli pointed out he "has to drive the suspicious package on a jarring 25-mile journey to Folsom Prison. The policeman is in danger, delivery of the package is delayed, and very few packages can be examined."

At Folsom, the package is X-rayed. Packages received in Los Angeles go to a private medical office for X-ray.

Lolli said the machine would pay for itself easily by saving the costs involved in transport under the present system.

He also noted the machine could be carried with Reagan— or any future governor — when he travels.

Beatle Alive And Well In England

LONDON (AP) — Beatle Paul McCartney protested today that reports of his death were exaggerated and friends of the millionaire pop musician insisted he was alive and well and driving around England with his wife, two children and a dog.

"We are being flooded with telephone calls, cables and letters about rumors in the United States that Paul has been dead for years," said Apple, the Beatles' business organization, "and they are all ridiculous."

"I saw him nine days ago and he was the same Beatle I've always seen," said an employee of London's Savoy Hotel where Paul attended a night club opening last week.

Marinites Win Sonoma Quarry Permit Renewal

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County supervisors yesterday reversed the board of zoning adjustments decision and granted McPhail's of San Rafael a use permit for its sand and gravel operation in Alexander Valley, northeast of Healdsburg.

The use permit had been revoked last month by the board when neighbors complained that the operation had become a nuisance over the years. Noise, dust, smoke and increased truck traffic were cited by residents.

Company officials and attorneys pointed out that the quarry serves a good purpose in reducing the dangers of floods in the valley. Also noted were the large company payroll and its low bidding record on county projects.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

For Slow Change

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI served notice today that he would accept only moderate and gradual changes in the Roman Catholic Church.

He denounced what he called a "hurried need for revision" and said it would lead to "corrosive self-criticism and even self-injury." He called on the half-billion Catholics to have trust in his guidance.

The Pope's remarks, made to his weekly general audience in St. Peter's Basilica, appeared aimed at cautioning against expecting radical and immediate reforms to come out of the world bishops' synod now meeting at the Vatican.

Hillary Waits

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — Sir Edmund Hillary, who led the first successful Mount Everest climb, says the Nepal government has so far declined to let him make an attempt on the virgin peak Karyolung.

Karyolung, 21,700 feet high, is 15 miles west of Everest.

Hillery flew here Monday from New Zealand to seek permission for the attempt, but a Nepal government official said the mountain was "not open for climbing."

Backs Museum

JAKARTA (AP) — President Suharto has accepted offers from the Rockefeller Foundation and several other private U.S. organizations to create a museum in the New Guinea province of West Irian, the government announced today.

It was believed the museum would be a memorial to Michael Rockefeller, the son of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller who disappeared in 1961 on West Irian's south coast.

A Fatal Error

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Christiaan Barnard, the South African surgeon who won fame with his pioneering heart transplants, says he once made an error which cost the life of a 7-year-old boy in a University of Minnesota operating room.

In a copyright article in McCall's magazine, Barnard said a scaple cut by mistake into the child's heart.

Barnard quoted the chief surgeon, Dr. C. Walton Liliehal, as saying: "We've all made these mistakes."

The boy was not identified.

Aga Khan Weds

PARIS (AP) — The Aga Khan, immensely wealthy titular head of the Ismaili Moslem sect, married Englishwoman Lady Sarah Crichton Stuart in a private ceremony yesterday at a district town hall, a spokesman says.

They will be married again under Moslem rites in his Paris home Oct. 28.

Seated Again

GABORONE, Botswana (AP) — Sir Seretse Khama was sworn in today for his second term as president of this inland republic in southern Africa.

All In Jail

MOGADISHU, Somalia (AP) — Prime Minister Mohamed Ibrahim Egal and his entire cabinet have been arrested by Somanli's new military junta and will be put on trial, Mogadishu Radio said today.

They were reported being held in a military warehouse outside of town.

Egal returned from the United States last Friday following the assassination of President Abdirashid Ali Shermarke.

The army seized power before dawn yesterday, breaking a nine-year tradition of democracy in this arid, nomadic land on the eastern tip of Africa. It pledged to abolish corruption and tribalism.

Up To Previn

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Composer Andre Previn has declined to say whether he plans to marry actress Mia Farrow, who is expecting his baby, but his wife says he can have a divorce if he wants one.

Dory Previn, who has written the lyrics for some of his songs, issued a statement yesterday saying:

"I would never stand in his way. We have a mutual respect, and he has always known he can have his freedom any time he wants it. But the fact is, he has never asked for it."

Skyjack Trouble

BERLIN (AP) — While Poland is demanding extradition of two East Germans who hijacked a Polish airliner to West Berlin, French authorities indicate they may put the pair on trial because the plane landed in the French sector of the city.

Two young armed East Berliners forced the pilot of the Warsaw-to-Brussels flight to land in West Berlin Sunday night. They are being held by French authorities and have asked for political asylum. The plane was returned.

The West German government condemned the hijacking and appears to fear it may hinder Bonn's attempts to improve relations with Poland.

New Flood Fear

TUNIS (AP) — New torrential rains pounded Tunisia last night and today, nearly isolating Tunis and Bizerte from the rest of the country.

Broadcasts warned residents of low-lying suburbs to head for higher ground. Basements filled, and some ancient buildings in the Medina showed signs of crumbling.

Floodwaters surging down normally dry riverbeds, or wadis, swept away bridges and cut highways. Some rivers changed from one bed to another, carrying away everything in their paths.

Saigon To Take Over Major Base

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government announced today that its forces on Friday will take over a major US.S. base in the critical Third Corps military zone surrounding Saigon for the first time.

The South Vietnamese said the sprawling Black Horse base camp 40 miles east of the capital will be transferred to South Vietnam's 18th Infantry Division, paving the way for more American troop withdrawals beyond the 60,000 already announced.

The camp, which contains 14 miles of roads and 955 buildings, was until last June the operational base of the U.S. 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment and since then the U.S. 199th Light Infantry Brigade has been stationed there.

There has been speculation that both the 11th Armored Cavalry regiment, now stationed 65 miles north of Saigon at Quan Loi, and the 199th Light Infantry Brigade will be withdrawn from Vietnam in 1970.

Meanwhile, allied battlefield communiques indicated stepped-up action across the country, but spokesmen said fighting was still at the relatively low level that has prevailed for the past seven weeks.

Allied air and ground forces reported killing 145 enemy soldiers in a dozen small clashes from the Mekong Delta to the demilitarized zone. Not more than 25 enemy were reported killed in any single fight.

South Vietnamese losses were put at three killed and 32 wounded. The U.S. Command reported one American killed and nine wounded in ground fighting and said three Americans were killed and two wounded in some of the 22 enemy rocket and mortar attacks reported from 8 a.m. Tuesday to 8 a.m. Wednesday.

South Vietnamese headquarters said two civilians were killed by enemy shelling, and 12 civilians and two government soldiers were killed when a bus ran over a Viet Cong mine in the Mekong Delta 70 miles southwest of Saigon.

U.S. B52 bombers attacked North Vietnamese base camps along the first time in 12 days shortly after sporadic fighting broke out in the northern frontier region.

Chilean General Calls Off Revolt For Pay

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)— Gen. Roberto Viaux called off his regiment's 22-hour revolt for more pay today, ending Chile's first military uprising in 37 years. Viaux proclaimed his "absolute loyalty" to President Eduardo Frei.

Viaux went on nationwide radio to announced he had turned his rebel command over to a presidential envoy, Gen. Alfredo Mahn. The government said the general will be court-martialed. He was not arrested.

Viaux's eight-point communique disclaimed responsibility for the wounding of 14 civilians last night in an outburst of gunfire from his regiment's surrounded headquarters.

The revolt had "no political concommitance whatsoever" and was the result of "absolute sincereity and profound frankness," Viaux said. He had emphasized all along that the revolt was not against the government but against the army high command.

Viaux said the aim of the insurrection was to get improvements for the army including "remunerations commensurate with the importance of the mission performed by (army) members..."

"I am satisfied with the solution of the conflict," Viaux said. "This matter was strictly to obtain an improvement in the material and economic situation of the armed forces." No pay raises were announced.

As he left for home, Viaux told newsmen he would be subject to military justice, meaning he could face a summary court martial even though technically retired.

The government said gunfire from roofs of the rebels' besieged barracks wounded 14 civilians, including a 17-year-old girl. Three of the wounded were in critical condition.

Piledriver Clamor End's In Sight

That hammering that has driven Kentfield and College of Marin crazy for weeks should end in a few days.

The racket has come from a steam-powered piledriver which is sinking 231 piles for the new science building on the college campus. Each piling goes 65 to 70 feet deep.

Starting this week, Amoroso Construction Co. had only 71 piles left to go, plus any piles that may have to be redriven. At a top rate of 25 piles a day, the company should finish early next week, barring rain, reported Earlene Jones, college publicist.

Central Valley Fires, Marin's Cars Make Smog

Heavy smog which hung over Marin County and the North Bay yesterday broke a record by reaching 93 on the combined pollutant index, reported Richard B. Hacker of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

The smog, caused by local cars, industry, and backyard burning combined with wind conditions blowing in particles from agricultural burning in the Sacramento Valley, was to remain with us today but in a much milder dose, he noted.

The index reading was expected to drop today to between 25 and 50, which is regarded as light, Hacker said, because of dropping temperatures and overcast skies which allow better ventilation of the air.

The all time high smog reading for the Bay Area was reached last year by San Francisco with an index figure of 121. Smog level reached 88 there yesterday.

The darkish color, so apparent in the sky yesterday, was caused by nitrogen dioxide from automobiles, Hacker said.

"right down into the doldrums," he declared.

Ferryboats "just won't be relief," Nageotte said. "It looks to me like San Francisco made the decision; it's unfortunate for the people in Marin," he said, "but the San Francisco supervisors aren't too concerned with what happens to them."

The pro-ferryboat decision by the bridge board, Nageotte said, was the "handwriting on the wall" for Greyhound.

The company carries about 3,800 daily commuters from Marin to San Francisco.

Given the fact that about 1.5 commuters crowd into each car, the loss to the bus service would add tbout 2,500 cars to bridge traffic—equal to the number of additional autos expected over the next three years, by which time the congestion is expected to stretch another hour to a total of three hours each morning and evening.

months of last year, which had been the sharpest increase since the Korean War year of 1951.

Prices in September were 5.8 per cent above a year earlier.

Despite the price increases, the bureau reported that the purchasing power of some 45 million rank and file workers rose last month because of a five-cent gain in average hourly earnings.

The average pay check last month rose $1.29 to $117.80 per week.

After taxes the average pay check was $102.44, up 99 cents from August, and after allowing for the rise in living costs, it was 40 cents higher for the average worker with three dependents.

The report said food prices were up one-tenth of one per cent because of higher restaurant charges, but groceries purchased for home use remained unchanged.

Housing costs rose six-tenths of one per cent in September, clothing rose 1.7 per cent and medical costs were five-tenths of one per cent higher.

The only major price category showing a decline was transportation, down five-tenths of one per cent because of lower prices for new and used cars.

About 74,000 workers with cost of living escalator clauses in their labor contracts will receive wage hikes based on the rise in prices over varying periods.

They include some 22,000 workers, mostly in the aerospace industry, who will get eight or nine cents more per hour because of the rise over the past year.

Another 21,000, in public transit and aerospace, will get hourly increases ranging from three to five cents based o the price rise from June to September.

Flagpole At High School Little Shorter

The flagpole at San Rafael High School was eight feet shorter today because somebody tried to saw it down.

Police on patrol at 2 a.m. last Saturday discovered that someone had sawed the 55-foot pole about eight feet above the ground, or a foot above its steel supports. About one inch of the pole's diameter remained unsawed.

School maintenance men attempted to brace the pole, but on Monday a crane was called to take it down. Yesterday, eight feet sawed off the bottom, it was replace on its base.

Charles L. Condrotte, business manager for the city schools, said the two visits by the crane, to take the pole down and replace it, cost taxpayers $326.50. A new pole would have cost $750 to $800 plus installation cost, he said.

Condrotte disclosed that this was the second attempt to saw down the flagpole. In the first attempt, about two months ago, a night maintenance man at work at the school heard a chain saw and went to investigate. He reported he saw two men — or grown boys — run in different directions. The pole has not yet been damaged.

Although police discovered the damage Saturday and notified Principal Alen W. Ellsberg, there was no report at San Rafael police headquarters nor entry on the police log for that night.

The White House said Agnew's Sunday statement of antiwar demonstrators had not been discussed in advance with Nixon.

Youth Back In Jail In Theft Probe

A Petaluma youth, already pending trial in Marin on three felony charges, was arrested on suspicion of burgling a San Anselmo house and possessing stolen property yesterday, police reported.

John Edward Brown, 19, of 621 West First Street, was held at Marin County Jail in lieu of $2,500 bail. A companion, Genice Ann Hollis, 15, of San Francisco, was booked into Marin Juvenile Hall on suspicion of burglary.

Police said a witness called at 10:30 a.m. yesterday to report a burglary in progress at the Adolph Lopez residence, 9 Ancha Vista Avenue, Apt. A.

Police spotted Brown and Miss Hollis a few minutes later walking on Red Hill Avenue, and said they found a radio and a gold bracelet on Brown when they stopped the two.

Another witness told police he saw the two climb a fence leaving Lopez's residence, the girl handing some items over the fence to Brown.

Police said they also recovered another radios, a camera, a typewriter, a class ring and two knives, which the pair had dropped.

Brown pleaded innocent Monday in Marin Superior Court to charges of burgling Mac's Saw Service in San Rafael Sept. 13 and burgling and stealing a car from Dexter Pontiac in San Rafael Aug. 13. He was free on $750 bail pending trial Jan. 19.

Brown was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court

the villages of Kafr Shams, Majdal Salam and Al Shakra, and that 30 to 40 guerrillas were arrested. It said Lebanese troops and tanks had surrounded the villages, and both Lebanese and Israeli artillery attacked them.

Libya's new leftist military government asked the Lebanese ambassador to return home and inform his government of Libya's "concern over the bloody incident," Egypt's official Middle East News Agency reported. The Libyan cabinet also recalled its ambassador in Lebanon.

In Israel, meanwhile, explosions ripped through three apartment buildings in Haifa early today, killing one man and injuring 10 other persons. Police said saboteurs were responsible.

The explosions went off at intervals of about one hour. All the buildings were on Mount Carmel, overlooking Haifa Bay.

There have been a series of Arab sabotage attacks in the Haifa area recently.

Military spokesmen in Tel Aviv said Arabs in Jordan fired rockets and mortar shells at a potash plant on the shore of the Dead Sea last night. No casualties were reported, but there was some damage to the plant's electrical system, the army said.

Israel took what was regarded as a major step toward ennexation of the Syrian Golan Heights yesterday by establishing a law court there in the town of El Quneitra. Justice Minister Ya'acov Shapiro said Israel would see to it "that peace comes and the Golan Heights will flourish for eternity under Israeli law."

East Bay Youth Jailed Over Novato Cutting

A 20-year-old Martinez man was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon after he allegedly stabbed a woman with a paring knife during an argument in a car in Novato Monday.

Carl James Griswold was told to return to court today to find out if his bail would be reduced from $1,500. He was held in jail in lieu of the bail.

Police reported that the driver of the car, Stephen J. Terrell, 20, also of Martinez, said that he was driving Griswold and Geraldine L. Brenchley, 39, also of Martinez, to Novato when they began arguing.

When they reached Highway 101 and Diablo Avenue, Griswold pulled out a knife and struck Miss Brenchley in the arm, Terrell told police. After Terrell took the knife away from Griswold, he drove to Novato General Hospital, where Miss Brenchley was treated and Griswold was arrested.

they come bouncing out."

San Francisco Police Capt. Martin Lee, watching the program, said he did not believe the caller was a prankster.

"It is a person with a mental problem," he said. "I don't know if it is the one we want."

The talk show started at 7 a.m. The first call from Zodiac came in 10 minutes later, a brief garbled few words. He hung up.

The second call came at 7:20 a.m., when the man asked Belli to meet him on the roof of the Fairmont Hotel on Nob Hill.

In a call before 8 a.m., the man told Belli and Dunbar, "I don't want to be hurt."

Both men told the caller he would be cared for, and Belli promised to represent the man as his attorney.

Throughout the telephone calls, the man was referred to as "Sam."

In one conversation, there was discussion of the gas chamber. Belli told the man "no one has gone to the gas chamber in years." (California's last execution was April 1967).

Belli told the caller at 8:25 a.m. "You want to live, don't you? Well, this is your passport."

The man who called himself Zodiac spoke in a croaky, indistinct, drifting voice. Here is a segment of the conversation he had with Belli and Dunbar:

"Did you attempt to call one other time when Belli was with us two or three weeks ago?" asked Dunbar.

"Yes," the man said.

"Why did you want to talk to Belli?"

"I don't want to be hurt."

Belli said, "You're not going to be hurt if you talk to me."

"You're not going to the gas chamber," said Dunbar.

Belli added, "I wouldn't think that they'd ask for capital punishment . . . we should ask the district attorney — you want me to do that, Sam? "You want me to talk to the district attorney."

The talk show was seen by an audience breakfasting before switchboards lit up with dozens of calls.

A police spokesman said: "People are furious . . . people are scared. Nine out of 10 said it was cooked up by somebody as a cheap publicity stunt."

He did not say if police thought it was Zodiac or if attempts were made to trace the calls.

In developments yesterday, police reported they believed Zodiac apparently used a different weapon each time he struck and may have an arsenal from which to choose for future murders he has threatened.

Fort Gordon, Ga.," said Charles Don Bishop, a retired Kansas City police official.

Bishop said he never would have recommended that Kelley release the guns to Turner if he had thought otherwise.

Kelley said such disposal of weapons confiscated by police officers in their official duties would be "unethical and improper.

Turner, however, said the official receipts he signed contradicted the officers' testimony.

Turner read into the record of the hearing a receipt he signed which said the weapons were to be used for spare parts "in connection with weapons which he (Turner) maintains in a gun collection."

Bishop said Turner told him he would use some of the weapons in lectures on firearm safety to civic groups. But Bishop said repeatedly he had been given to understand all of the guns were eventually to be donated to the military police museum.

"No statement was made nor did I feel that any was implied that these weapons were to be for General Turner's personal use or for resale," Kelley testified.

The committee, which resumed hearings today after several days of recess, had heard testimony earlier from Turner concerning charges he had improperly obtained confiscated guns for his own use from civilian police officials in Chicago and Kansas City.

Authorities still uncertain of the actual cause have variously blamed the downfall of dinosaurs on volcanic dust, meteorites, cosmic radiation, sunspots, disease, hormone imbalance, heat sterilization, dwindling brain power, racial old age, and even what scholars term Weltschmerz, of "world weariness."

Span Panel Will Tackle Business Of Ferryboats

The nitty gritty of getting into the ferryboat business will be tackled by the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District's finance-auditing committee at 9:30 a.m. Friday in district offices at the toll plaza.

The committee agenda includes fixing the amount of reserves available to finance ferries and hiring personnel to set up the ferry system.

The district's "committee of the whole" voted last Thursday to go immediately into the ferryboat business, and scuttled all proposals by Marin County to also set up a commuter bus system.

The committee's recommendations will go before the full board when it meets at 10 a.m. Oct. 31 in Lakeport, Lake County, in the chambers of the board of supervisors. The finance-auditing committee also will meet at 9:30 a.m. that day.

Also scheduled in Lake County is a meeting at 11 a.m. on Oct. 30 of the district's legislation-public relations committee at the Konocti Resort. It will hear an appeal by Lake County supervisors to annex to the bridge district, and review of proposal that the district print a newsletter to burnish its image.

Mill Valley Up For New Award

The City of Mill Valley has been nominated for the new Bay Area Environment Award established recently by the San Francisco Bay Area Council.

The nomination was made Monday by the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce board, according to secretary Carol Healy.

Mrs. Healy said the board, in its presentation to the council, will emphasize the improvement in appearance and environment of the city between Jan. 1, 1967, and Sept. 1, of this year, the contest period. Stress will be placed on the paintup, cleanup campaign sponsored by the chamber, she said.

The award recognizes enhancement or preservation of the Bay Area environment. Winners will be announced late in November at a special event to be announced.

The council environment committee, headed by Mortimer Fleishhacker Jr., will judge the entries, consulting with planning, sociology, art, architecture, economic development and other experts.

Teen-Ager Forces Plane To Havana

MIAMI (AP) — Claiming he was turned down in his bid to go the honest way, a shaky teen-ager yanked a gun on a Pan American stewardess Tuesday and pirated a plane to Cuba. Thirty-six persons were aboard.

The boy said his parents now live in California. He did not name the city.

Pointing the gun as he talked, the youth told passengers he had tried to get a visa to visit Cuba but was refused by Mexican officials.

So, he said he "uglied himself up" by cutting his shoulder-length hair in order to board the plane unnoticed and forced the pilot of the Mexico City-Miami flight to head for Havana.

The hijacker told passengers he was Henry Shorn, 17, of Detroit, according to Florida State Sen. Tom Slade of Jacksonville.

"He said he was going down to join the revolution," said Slade.

The Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs is scheduled to be opened in Austin, Tex. in the fall of 1970.

Taster's Choice, the new kind of freeze-dried coffee, is here.

An entirely new freeze-dried process. Now you get a freeze-dried coffee that looks like fresh-ground. Smells like it. Tastes like it, too.

They said it couldn't be done. You couldn't combine the look, the flavor, and the aroma of real fresh-perked coffee with the convenience of an instant. But that was before exclusive Taster's Choice freeze-dried process was discovered.

Taster's Choice starts with perfect-perked coffee. We begin with freshly roasted, freshly-ground, premium coffee beans. Then, our coffee is perked by experts using an exclusive new method. The result? Perfect-perked coffee. Hearty, robust coffee with the kind of flavor you'd like to get every time. And—as you'll discover—you'll be able to.

Another big difference. Here again is where Taster's Choice leaves all others. We freeze it . . . quick as a wink . . . to forty degrees below zero. This sudden cold traps all the freshly-brewed coffee flavor and aroma. Next, all the ice is vacuumed away. Dry vacuumed, so not one bit of the flavor and aroma is lost.

Looks like ground coffee. What's left is pure, fresh-brewed coffee. In crystals, not powder. It looks like ground coffee, and needs no refrigeration. All you do is add boiling water, and presto! You have coffee with fresh-perked flavor: Taster's Choice Freeze-Dried Coffee.

Just like that, you're a champion coffee maker every time. Taster's Choice has all the deep, rich flavor and hearty coffee aroma you used to have to perk up a pot for, whenever you wanted real coffee. Try it. It's Freeze-Dried. Taster's Choice looks like, smells like, tastes like your own fresh-perked. Maybe even better.

THE TREE THAT GOT TOO OLD

San Rafael City Hall lost a landmark of sorts this week when workmen toppled an 85-foot Monterey Pine that was estimated at up to 100 years old by William Vanning, city tree foreman. The tree had begun to rot through the center. Measuring five feet at the stump, the monster took nearly two working days to fell. The saw is handled by John Camlow (left) and Gene Howell. Nixon Leads Guests In Silent Prayer

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Richard M. Nixon led members of Congress in three minutes of silent prayer today for God's guidance of America's leaders in making "difficult decisions" on the critical problems facing them.

"There are times when we need help beyond ourselves to make the right decision," Nixon said at a White House prayer breakfast.

The breakfast, held in connection with the annual observance of the National Day of Prayer, was attended by about 80 members of the Senate and House who participate in weekly prayer meetings at the Capitol.

Nixon's house guest, Rev. Dr. Billy Graham, told the group that only by turning to God could Americans find the resources of mutual love and toleration needed to keep the country from tearing itself apart in its current dissensions.

Nixon preceded his own brief remarks by reading a quotation from President John Adams which is inscribed over the fireplace of the White House state dining room, where the breakfast was held. Adams said:

"I pray Heaven to bestow the best of blessings on this house and all that shall hereafter inhabit it. May none but honest and wise men ever rule under this roof."

Nixon commented: "No matter how honest or wise a President may try to be, at times of great challenge there has to be something more than honesty and wisdom in the leadership of this country."

He then asked his guests to join him in three minutes of silent prayer in his own Quaker tradition.

Four-Lane Washington Street Plan Gets Nod

Plan lines for the proposed widening of East Washington Street to four lanes were approved last night by the Petaluma Planning Commission.

Accepted were the recommendations of City Engineer David A. Young and Ben C. Albritton of Whitlow, Hoffman and Albritton civil engineers of San Rafael.

The plan line begins at the area of reconstruction of the Washington Street Bridge. The width of 69 feet would be continued along the presently 42-foot-wide street to Highway 101.

Albritton said the plan was established to cause a minimum of disruption of businesses and properties, but that 64 parcels would be affected and 18 buildings disturbed to some degree.

Construction cost for the project was estimated at $323,000 with another $1 million for rights-of-way.

Most of the acquisition would involve properties on the south side of the street, Albritton said. Major building's affected would include Cavanagh Lumber Co., Tivoli Hotel, Carl's Market, Colony Paint Store and Studdert's meat market.

The plan would permit four traffic lanes rather than two with protected left turn lanes at major intersections and street parking in most blocks.

The recommended plan will be presented to the city council for public hearings next month.

The planning commission also approved tentative maps for two additional sections of the Casa Grande Manor subdivision between Ely Road and Crinella Drive.

Guilty Pleas To Reduced Charges

Sharlene Osborne, 18, and Roger Wayne Ploof, 20, both of San Rafael, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municiapl Court to a reduced charge of petty theft.

They had originally been charged with a felony count of burglary stemming from the theft of household articles from Miss Osborne's mother's home in San Anselmo Oct. 14.

Judge Hadden W. Roth set sentencing for Ploof for next Tuesday and Oct. 31 for Miss Osborne.

Family-Child Advisers Pick A Chairman

Jocelyn Bell, Fairfax housewife, will head the newly formed Family and Children's Services Advisory Committee as chairman.

She was elected last night at a meeting of the committee at the Civic Center. Eldon Hasstedt of Novato, acting chairman, was elected vice chairman of the 30-member committee.

The group adopted bylaws and decided that only the two officers will be needed. Frances Miller of the Department of Public Social Services is consultant.

The committee, appointed last August by the Marin County Board of Supervisors, gives advice to the supervisors and the social services department on policies and programs in child welfare services and aid to families with dependent children.

The committee members discussed work training and the new federally-aided Work Incentive (WIN) program which started in August.

Lillian Inke, chief of vocational services in the social services department, reported that in 1967-68 more than 400 persons receiving public aid had been placed on jobs, and most of them are still employed. She said the WIN program will probably help improve the employment picture.

Charles B. Weers, a human rights commissioner, stressed the need for vocational training for high school students. He said the schools make the vocations unattractive.

Winifred Frederick, a member of the committee, said a vocational college could be the answer — giving the student a trade and the status of a degree at the same time.

Next meeting of the committee will be at 8 p.m. on Nov. 18 in the civic center.

Federal Cash Sought In Antimeasles Drive

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Bay Area Health Association is asking federal help as it considers mass vaccinations in an effort to head off German measles epidemics.

German measles, usually a mild disease, occasionally leads to birth of defective babies if the woman contacts the disease during certain times in pregnancy.

Vaccinating children to "decrease the reservoir of infection in the community" is a new concept, said Dr. James Chin of the State Health Department on Tuesday.

Whether such a program would be successful still is under discussion.

Dr. Erwin Braff, director of the Bureau of Disease Control for the San Francisco Health Department, asked: "To what extent does a parent want his son to be vaccinated because maybe the lady down the street may be pregnant next yearg"

Another problem is money. Dr. Chin said vaccine costs around $1.50 a dose and there are 800,000 children in the nine counties surrounding San Francisco Bay.

The health association is asking the U.S. Public Health Service to grant $1 million for such a program.

(Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, Marin County Health Officer, said the county wants to participate in the vaccination program, but has not yet received word from the state on Marin's role.)

Ax Murderer Is Declared Insane

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (AP) — A 20-year-old laborer accused of killing seven persons with an ax at a Saskatchewan farmhouse was declared insane in a jury's not-guilty verdict yesterday and ordered committed to a mental institution.

The jury deliberated four and one-half hours before delivering the verdict on Moses McCallum of Buffalo Narrows, Sask. The seven victims and McCallum were Metis, people of mixed Indian and white ancestry.

McCallum originally was charged with the murder of all seven. But the government dropped five charges. He pleaded innocent to murdering Thomas Pederson, 32, on Jan. 30 at Pederson's house in the province's rugged northwest, and J. B. Herman, 48, a visitor.

The bodies of four of Pederson's children also were found in the house, and his wife died later from her wounds. A 7-year-old son recovered and testified briefly during the eight-day trial.

Treasure Island Guard Acquitted

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A special court martial has acquitted a Marine guard charged with brutality at the Treasure Island Naval Base brig.

After eight minutes deliberation yesterday, the court martial of five officers acquitted Lance Cpl. Thomas J. Kamerick, 21, a Vietnam war veteran who had been accused of striking Fireman Apprentice Kenneth Eugene Conn, 21.

Conn, who had been confined for larceny, said Kamerick hit him "hard enough to jolt me." But a Navy medical officer failed to find any mark indicating he had been hit.

The case came as part of a charge by civilian attorney Donald A. Jelinek that 30 prisoners had been mistreated.

Judge Gerald Levin, in federal court, was told the Navy was investigating and a report of the court martial is to be presented to the judge.

Policy Is Asked On Public Building Uses

Marin County should set a policy to prevent irresponsible persons from reserving meeting space at the Civic Center and other public buildings, Supervisor Louis H. Baar declared yesterday.

At his suggestion, the supervisors asked the county administrator and the county counsel to draft a workable and legal policy that will apply to all organizations and individuals.

Baar said he was concerned when he read in the Independent-Journal that Mill Valley writer Peter Edler of 50 Shell Road had reserved the supervisors chambers for a forum Friday night.

On Oct. 7, Edler told the supervisors that welfare workers at the Civic Center are hypocritical and discourteous to recipients, then stared at the ceiling and scribbled the word "God" on the blackboard before stepping down.

"Mr. Edler I don't think is a responsible party," said Baar. He wanted to cancel the Edler's Friday night reservation.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said rules on the use of public buildings must be applied uniformly, and individuals cannot be singled out. He explained that uniform criteria could be set up, such as limiting use to organizations which have been in existence for a certain time.

Chairman John F. McInnis said he, too, detected "a slight irresponsible nature" in Edler but added that the reservation which is already made for Friday should not be canceled.

Supervisors agreed not to rescind Edler's reservation but asked the county staff to prepare a policy on use of public buildings.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

CLOSED MEETING — Met for 90 minutes on the fate of Dr. Clyde G. Miller, community mental health director who is suspended with pay until the end of this month, and announced no decision. McInnis said the board also discussed briefly the county's lawsuit to halt logging on the Ethel Righetti ranch on Bolinas Ridge.

AMBULANCE — Approved a contract with Doctors Ambulance Service, which offered to provide emergency ambulance service for another year with the same county guarantees on fees. The county will pay $14.95 for each unpaid emergency run, and $24.95 plus 99 cents per mile for each unpaid trip to transport medically indigent and mentally ill patients.

TOMALES FIRE STATION — Hired San Rafael architects Crawford and Banning to design a new county fire substation on Dillon's Beach Road west of Tomales. Because the new station would be a replica of the Hicks Valley substation, the architects agreed to design the $37,000 structure for $1,650, less than half the normal 10 per cent fee.

CONFERENCE — Approved a $110 outlay authorizing Assistant County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella to attend the National Association of County Officials welfare conference in Washington, D.C., on Nov. 22.

WORKABLE PROGRAM — Heard a host of objections to the wording of the annual "Workable Program for Community Improvement," a document required to qualify Marin for federal Housing and Urban Development funds. Supervisors postponed approval for a week and set a public workshop session for 7:30 p.m. tomorrow, when County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker will explain the document in the planning commission chambers at the Civic Center.

SHERIFF'S POSSE — Approved the membership application of the Mounted Sheriff's Posse to Fair-Marin, as recommended by the group's membership.

SEASHORE ACQUISITION — Asked the county administrator to gather all resolutions from Bay Area counties in support of the Point Reyes National Seashore acquisition and send them in one batch to Washington, D.C.

PARKING — Reaffirmed the present policy of designating reserved parking spaces at the new Hall of Justice only for department heads and each judge.

Fair-Marin Votes New Directors

Two incumbents and an attorney from Ross were named yesterday by the Marin County Board of Supervisors to serve three-year terms on the board of directors of Fair-Marin.

They are incumbent Stephen A. Zellerbach of San Francisco, president of the Crown-Zellerbach textbook publishing business; Dudley F. Miller, a Ross attorney representing the Marin Conservation League, and incumbent Richard H. Miehling of San Rafael, who represents American Legion posts.

The three received the most votes among six nominated by the Fair-Marin membership at the annual meeting held on Oct. 13.

They will join the following four holdover directors on the seven-man board: Harold Stockstad, Lotte McWatters, Marilyn Miskimen, and W. P. (Doc) Duhamel.

Fair-Marin board of directors will operate the new Veterans Memorial Auditorium and the 80-acre fairgrounds site at the Civic Center.

The Santa Fe and Oregon trails started at Independence, Mo.

Zucker In Crossfire On Planning

Marin County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker drew conflicting crossfire yesterday during a workshop session with the board of supervisors.

Chairman John F. McInnis told Zucker he should finish up all the general plans in the county, get them updated and pin them down with precise zoning regulations before all the open spaces are gobbled up with development.

Supervisor Louis H. Baar, on the other hand, told Zucker he should not get too precise with general planning and should let the developer come in with ideas of their own.

"I don't think the developer will walk in and accept any pat plan for an area," said Baar. "If you make plans too precise in the western areas, you're going to have people forming their own cities and they'll throw out your plans anyway."

Supervisor Michael Wornum agreed that general plans should be kept up to date but declared they should not be tied down to too many specifics." The whole point of a general plan is to set a general guideline for the future, said Wornum. "We need room to maneuver . . . in the end it is a political decision for elected officials to decide."

Wornum also said the planning staff should not get too involved with local plans like the Fairfax General Plan but should stick to county planning.

Zucker, who did not have time to reply to the suggestions and criticisms, won assurance from the supervisors he would have his say next Tuesday at another workshop session at 9 a.m.

"Obviously we have to have dialogue," said Zucker. He noted that the supervisors themselves seem to have conflicting views, and said discussions are valuable in giving him a sense of direction.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss said he is concerned with high cost of housing and rentals and asked Zucker to make studies on how young families with children will be able to live in the county.

Supervisor Peter Arrigoni Jr. called for another look at the Williamson Act which allows ranchers to put their property in agricultural preserves for 10 years, thus getting lower assessments.

W"We are getting a lot of five, 10 and 15-acre parcels coming in as agricultural preserves," said Arrigoni. "I think some of them are a direct subterfuge. It's getting to be a tax dodge.

Can Apply For Maritme Academy

Applications for nomination to the California Maritime Academy were invited today by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

Each state legislator can appoint one young man to the academy for the class entering in August 1970.

Academy graduates receive a federal license as a Merchant Marine officer, a bachelor of science degree in either nautical science or marine engineering, and may also receive a commission as an ensign in the Naval Reserve.

Interested persons may write the senator's Sacramento office, Room 5050, State Capitol.

Guilty Plea To Carrying Weapon

Arthur Lawrence Hathaway, 22, of Novato, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a reduced charge of carrying a weapon. He had originally been charged with a felony count of possessing a billy-club Oct. 4.

Judge Hadden W. Roth placed Hathaway on one year probation and fined him $50.

Cleaver Students Lose Credit Suit

OAKLAND (UPI)—A suit to compel University of California regents to grant academic credit for a course taught by Black Panther Eldridge Cleaver was dismissed yesterday by Superior Court Judge Gordon Minder.

The regents had changed rules to keep Cleaver from teaching a social analysis course on the Berkeley campus last year, but students who had signed for the class attended anyway.

The lawsuit was brought by 16 students who took the course and six professors.

The judge said the regents acted within the scope of their authority in moving against Cleaver, who was accused of participation in the April 6, 1968, shootout with Oakland police. The Black Panther subsequently jumped bail and fled the country.

Joint Meeting Date

A joint meeting between the Mill Valley City Council, planning commission and developers of a proposed shopping center for southeast Mill Valley will be held Nov. 15 at 2 p.m. in city hall, not Nov. 2, as erroneously reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Priority Road Work List Given Approval

A highway priority list for action by the state Highways Commission in 1971-72 won unanimous approval by the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

On a motion by Supervisor Peter Arrigoni Jr. and a second by Supervisor Louis H. Baar, the supervisors approved a priority list recommended to them by the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau.

The list will be presented to the California State Chamber of Commerce for endorsement at a luncheon scheduled Monday at Holiday Inn in Terra Linda.

Here are the top priority projects:

1. Route 101 through Novato, 2.3 miles. Construct new freeway and install improved access to Gnoss Field and McGraw Hill Book Co. on an interim basis.

2. Route 101 from Spencer Avenue to Terra Linda, 13.2 miles. Widen all portions to eight lanes.

3. Widen and relocate Tiburon Boulevard from Reed Ranch Road to Avenida Miraflores, 0.6 miles.

4. Route 101 between North San Pedro Road and Terra Linda, one mile. Construct to freeway standards. Review design of interchange at North San Pedro Road. Include for a portion of the route a median width sufficient for future transit facilities.

5. Shoreline Highway from 101 to Point Reyes Station. Interim improvements to existing alignment. (Marin is asking the state to start studies on a new scenic Shoreline route, mostly along Bolinas Ridge.)

Eight other projects are listed further down on the priority list.

Judo Instruction To Begin Tomorrow

A second session of judo instruction for children, sponsored by the Petaluma Park and Recreation Department, will be held tomorrow through Nov. 27 at the Kenilworth Recreation Center.

Beginning and advanced classes will be held from 6 to 8 p.m. on Thursdays. Youngsters must be between 6 and 14. Classes will be conducted by the Marin School of Self Defense.

Six In Race In Las Gallinas

(Second of eight articles)

Sewer line overflows into home systems and pollution of bay waters are the chief problems facing the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District, according to six candidates vying for three seats on the board of directors.

Four newcomers and two incumbents will run for three posts on Nov. 4. Jack Baken of Terra Linda, who held the third seat, died last month.

The district board, with 33 other sanitary districts, municipalities and treatment plants in the Bay Area, has been asked by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board to submit by Oct. 28, plans and time schedules for disinfecting wastes discharged into San Francisco Bay.

The Las Gallinas board has said, however, it has not received official notification of the request. As soon as it arrives, the board has indicated, it will begin steps to chlorinate wastes within 60 days.

Dist. Engineer J. Warren Nute has estimated the cost of modernizing district chlorinating equipment at $7,500.

Following are statements and biographical background of the candidates in alphabetical order:

G. P. LEAL, 47, of 612 Tamarack Drive, Terra Linda. He is a retired Army major and now vice president of Fox and Carskadon Real Estate Agency in San Rafael.

Leal said the board should act promptly to meet pollution standards of the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board. "The (treatment plant) chlorinator is not being used. I think we should activate the chlorinator to minimize pollution."

SESTO F. LUCCHI (incumbent), 47, of 8 Clover Hill Court, Twelve Oaks Hill, San Rafael. He is senior utilities engineer for the California Public Utilities Commission, current chairman of the sanitary board, and was a director of the Terra Linda Community Services District board from 1963 to 1966.

Lucchi lists five problems faced by the district:

1. Economical staging of needed treatment plant enlargements.

2. Minimize the bypassing of storm water that infiltrates the system.

3. Maintain effluent within standards set by the water quality board.

4. Develop ways to locate and repair serious leaks and cracks in the Gallinas Village system.

5. Reduce the cost of sludge dewatering (centrifuge process.)

JAMES L. McNULTY, 50, of 813 Descanso Way, Santa Venetia. A retired Air Force captain, he is a dispatcher for the San Rafael Police Department.

"The immediate problem is to eliminate odors from around the pumping stations," said McNulty. "Beyond that, we must go to a tertiary treatment plant to return pure water back into the creek. That, of course, is a long range process."

A. M. PETROFSKY (incumbent), 41, of 35 De Ford Drive, Terra Linda. He is a civil engineer with Jacobs Associates in San Francisco.

"One of the immediate problems is water overflow that is being bypassed," said Petrofsky. "The Terra Linda pumping plant is where the bypass occurs. Pumping capacity is insufficient, and this should be corrected. Then comes expansion of the plant itself. This can be staged over the next two years at a cost of probably $100,000 per year."

The district is in "tremendous financial shape," said Petrofsky. "We cut the operating tax rate from 8 cents to 4 cents this year."

Largely because of a higher tax rate than necessary, Petrofsky said, the district has accumulated a large cash reserve of about $900,000. "What I see wrong with that is that old residents are paying for future expansion, whereas it is the new residents who are creating the need for expansion. We not only cut the rate this year but I hope to keep it cut."

The district's overflow problem is caused partially by water infiltration in the lines, said Petrofsky. "More emphasis is needed next year to cut down on infiltration."

On water pollution, he said. "Our district is in pretty good shape compared with other districts named by the Regional Water Quality Control Board." He favors installing a chlorinator for about $18,000 as part of $100,000 in plant improvements for next year. Petrofsky foresees installation within 10 years of a second and more efficient treatment plant.

FRANK SOLOMON JR., 41, an attorney, lives at 757 Appleberry Drive, Marinwood. He is a member of the Marinwood Community Services District board, and chairman of the citizens advisory committee on buildings and grounds in the Dixie School District.

"Residents should get better treatment. For example, when sewage backups occurred in Santa Venetia, people were told they would be paid for damages and then were told they wouldn't. Ultimately, they had to file suit."

Solomon contended that it is far better to improve the sewage system than to have sewer backups, followed by cleanups and lawsuits.

"We need a chlorinator and ultimately tertiary treatment to reduce pollution. It is unfortunate to have a district with $1 million in surplus funds unnecessarily polluting the bay."

Solomon said he would reexamine the district operations for economy and efficiency.

RICHARD G. TAIT, 30, of 9 Mount Shasta Court, Marinwood. He is a civil engineer with Harding, Miller, Lawson and Associates of San Rafael.

"I feel the board is taking a passive position toward implementing the Regional Water Quality Control Board's requirements to reduce pollution. A chlorinator should be installed now. They all want to wait until the state forces compliance."

Tait said the treatment plant seems to be in reasonable condition but one of the major problems is to increase the capacity of the pumping plants. "Since the cost of installing new facilities can be paid out of current funds, the district should install these facilities now."

Minor Mishap Hurts Children

Two small children were treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday afternoon following a minor auto accident on Redwood Road, near Ross Common, Ross.

Mia M. Seminario, 4, of 22 Rock Road, Kentfield, and Roberta Root, 5, of 850 Bolinas Road, Fairfax, both suffered head cuts.

The girls were passengers in a car driven by Joan M. Seminario, 31, also of Kentfield. Police said the auto's brakes failed as Mrs. Seminario attempted to park, causing the car to jump the curb and hit a tree.

Miller Backed On Printing Of Document

Dr. Clyde G. Miller, director of community mental health services, acted properly in preparing more than 50 copies of his "Trouble in Mental Health Land" documents at county expense last month, the Marin County Board of Supervisors decided yesterday by 4 to 1 vott.

The documents, printed at the Marin Copy Center in San Rafael, cost the county $122.69.

Two residents complained that the documents were prepared as a personal defense of Dr. Miller and therefore should not be a county charge.

Auditor-Congroller Michael Mitchell and purchasing agent Doug Edelen asked the supervisors for a decision before the bill is paid by the county.

On a motion by Supervisor Michael Wornum and a second by Supervisor Peter Arrigoni Jr., supervisors accepted County Administrator Alan Bruce's recommendation that the bill be paid as a proper county charge.

Supervisor Louis H. Baar, the lone dissenter, declared: "I have a felling this was political." He questioned in particular the wide distribution given to Dr. Miller's documents, including almost 50 organizations and individual board members of some of the organizations.

"Why did all these organizations receive the copies; for example, the Department of Mental Hygiene in San Francisco and Sacramento?" asked Baar.

"They all have some connection with mental hygiene in Marin," replied Bruce. "There is nothing in the package distributed which can be construed as self-serving or as personal defense of Dr. Miller on personal questions."

The other four supervisors agreed with Bruce.

The documents were distributed by Dr. Miller just prior to and during the Sept. 30 hearing, when charges were made that he failed to communicate with mental health agencies, particularly the Community Mental Health Center headed by Dr. Donald P. Wilson.

That night, after a closed meeting, the supervisors suspended Dr. Miller with pay for 30 days and asked the Marin General Hospital board of directors to suspend Dr. Wilson, which the hospital board refused.

To maintain the same purchasing power, a man who earned $5,000 to $10,000 in 1949, would now have to earn about 60 per cent again as much, according to the National Consumer Finance Association.

BAY CRUSADE OVER HALF WAY TO GOAL

The United Bay Area Crusade announced today it has attained 64 per cent of the 1969 goal, or $10,561,098.

The goal is $16.5 million.

Several Marin firms and employee groups were recognized for campaign contributions at a United Crusade luncheon on Treasure Island.

Ferryboat Issue Due Radio Debate

The Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District's firm stand in favor of ferryboats to the exclusion of a commuter bus system, announced last week, will be discussed at 9 a.m. tomorrow on the KTIM Sounding Board.

Panelists will be Stephen C. Leonoudakis and William C. Black, district board members from San Francisco, and Michael Wornum and Dean N. Meyer, board members from Marin.

Questions may be called in for the broadcast tomorrow. The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be repeated on tape at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

The highest award for bravery in the United States, the Medal of Honor, was first presented in 1863.

LITTER WAR REPORT

Patterson Says Sausalito's Trying

By ANNE BARDWELL

Sausalito is trying, was the message heard last night by the Sausalito City Council in a lengthy written report by City Mgr. George M. Patterson on what the city's doing to combat its litter problem.

Patterson, retorting to critics who blame him for the city's untidy image, outlined past, present and proposed measures for combating the ever increasing volume of litter.

The report was presented by City Engineer Norman Wohlschlaeger, acting city manager while Patterson's is on vacation.

Despite Patterson's detail, it was Wohlschlaeger who came up with the revolutionary proposal to deal with both the litter and the, at times, horrendous traffic problem in downtown Sausalito.

Ban all parking from downtown streets said Wohlschlaeger in a supplimental analysis of the city's street sweeping problems.

Noting he previously had recommended the parking ban to facilitate traffic flow along Bridgeway, he said that the parking ban would allow the street sweeper to work the streets twice a day or more often if necessary.

Wohlschlaeger's suggestion dropped like a dud bomb on the council, which didn't bat a collective eye at the idea. Although the parking ban proposal is not new in Sausalito, it is the first time it has been recommended by a staff member as a feasible and preferred solution to the downtown problems.

If parking is banned, Wohlschlaeger said, the sidewalks on Bridgeway should be widened to approximately 15 feet to keep the street to two lanes and to facilitate pedestrian traffic.

Benches and planter boxes could be located on the sidwealks to add to the mall effect, he said.

In his report, Patterson outlined actions already taken by the city including increasing street sweeping downtown from four to seven days a week and in residential areas from once every two weeks to once a week, and quadrupling refuse containers.

The city also has purchased a flusher truck to clean streets, adopted a new litter ordinance which will be effective as soon as Marin Municipal Court moves to the new Hall of Justice, instituted a new animal control ordinance, if effect for the first time this month, and sent letters to businessmen urging their cooperation in keeping sidewalks and streets clean.

Further, Patterson said, the city is enforcing refuse ordinances regarding businesses placing garbage cans on the streets and sidewalks, has hired an additional maintenance man who spends 50 to 75 per cent of his time cleaning downtown, and has asked tour bus companies to request cooperation of their passengers in the antilitter campaign.

Patterson said other measures the city could take include hiring more permanent and temporary personnel to clean up the streets and purchasing a vacuum and spray for the sidewalks.

As to improving the appearance of the city, Patterson noted the council has planned and/or budgeted for fiscal 1969-70 painting of the gazebo, planting of Vina Del Mar Park extension, cleaning and sealing the elephants and war memorial at Vina Del Mar Park, possibly cleaning and sealing the park fountain, construction of Princess Park, landscaping on South Bridgeway, renovation of parking lot No. 1, removal of the Sausalito Taxi Co. structure, improvements in parking lot, No. 4, on Humboldt Street, planting of street ends, North Bridgeway widening, planting the Third Street playground area, a new sign ordinance, and proposed bond issues to reconstruct Tiffany Beach and improve fire and police facilities.

After the central waterfront plan is adopted, Patterson recommended that parking lots which will not be phased out be paved, permanent landscaping for Carl Gabrielson Park, more refuse containers of more attractive design, and a new library and city hall.

Further, Patterson, said, development of the distillery property and development envisioned in the central waterdront plan "also will remove some unsightly areas of the city."

He also noted he planned to report on zoning violations in the near future so the council could act on them.

The report was referred to the council's litter committee for study and recommendations.

First Phase Of Princess Park Is Let

Faced with bids 80 per cent higher than expected for the construction of Princess Park in downtown Sausalito, the Sausalito City Council last night approved the first development phase and promised to complete the park at a later date, perhaps next spring.

The contract for first phase development was awarded on a 4-0 vote to low bidder Ciocca and Weirick of Sausalito for $30,600. Councilman Jan Paul Dyk was absent.

However, total cost for the first phase will be $35,094, city Engineer Norman Wohlschaeger told the council, including $2,394 in architects fees, $900 in landscaping and $1,200 in additional rock fill to protect the southerly end of the park until the total project is completed.

The total park project had been estimated at $26,500 by landscape architect Roland B. Mayes of Eckbo, Dean Austin and Williams of San Francisco.

The council transferred $12,744 from its $36,647 in unallocated reserves to cover the increased costs.

Since this was its second attempt to find a low bidder who approached the estimates, the council indicated it was sorely tempted to send the entire project back to the drawing board for a less costly design.

However, Councilman Robin Sweeny said "This is one of the most important spots in the community . . . it's a lovely design, but it's also a budget problem."

The park as designed would be a series of concrete terraces stepping down the bay's edge with tides washing over lower terraces. Mayes said any less expensive solution would abandon the terrace concept and deal with a platform extending over the water.

The council then agreed to ask Trident Inc., prior owners of the property for a time extension on its agreement to develop the park by the end of this year.

This, the council said, would allow the city to finish the park, estimated to cost an additional $15,000, next spring near the end of the fiscal year when reserve funds would not be so vital.

Stolen Fairfax Car Rolled Off Hill Afire

A car stolen in Fairfax last night was set afire and pushed over an embankment off a fire road in the hills above Fairfax last night, the California Highway Patrol said today. It was destroyed.

The patrol said the car owned by Albert S. Covaia of 380 Oak Manor Drive, was last seen by its owner about 9 p.m. It was pushed over the embankment on Iron Spring Road two miles south of Tama Rancho Road about an hour later. The patrol said the car rolled several times in a 100-foot plunge.

Tiffany Beach Foe Recants, Backs Bonds

J. Herbert Madden, owner of the Sausalito Yacht Harbor, who earlier this year publicly opposed reconstruction of Tiffany Beach, last night recanted his statement in a letter to the Sausalito City Council.

In effect, Madden said he was sorry for what he had previously said, and noted he now supports passage of the $65,000 bond issue for reconstruction of the beach at the south end of Bridgeway.

Mr. Tiffany was my personal friend and fellow city employee for many years," Madden said, adding he had signed a petition opposing the beach bond issue because he feared it would fail and thus frustrate city efforts to reconstruct the beach.

"A majority vote against the measure would limit the city in its ability to build the beach in the future, Madden said.

He also said he had planned to raise money for the beach reconstruction through contributions from friends of Tiffany and other residents.

However, he said, "Now the matter is on the ballot, I strongly urge . . . yes on this measure."

The Sausalito City Council also:

Suspect Denies Car Theft Count

One of two car theft suspects who were captured and then evacuated Sunday by the California Highway Patrol's helicopter unit pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to an auto theft charge.

A preliminary hearing for Donald Lee Humes, 30, of San Frnacisco, was set for next Tuesday.

A co-defendant, Don Borges, 30, of Belmont, was still hospitalized today in Marin General Hospital, where he was being treated for injuries suffered when the reportedly stolen car crashed four miles east of Bolinas.

The helicopter followed the stolen car from Mount Tamalpais and when it crashed, evacuated Borges to the hospital. Humes was taken to the hospital by ambulance where he was treated for cuts on his face.

Hearing Set In Pot Case

Four young persons arrested Sept. 17 after Mill Valley police broke up an alleged pot party in the back reaches of Blithedale Canyon yesterday were arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on drug charges.

A preliminary hearing was set for Nov. 18 for David Keith Blakey, 19, of San Anselmo, and Robert Edwin Blake II, 22, of Forest Knolls who are charged with marijuana possession and being in a place where narcotics were used.

William Cullen Packard III, 23, and Janet Ellen Shreve, 21, both of Mill Valley, who are only charged with being in a place where narcotics were used, were also told to return to court Nov. 18.

Dinner, Not Meeting

The monthly meeting next Tuesday of the Marin County Republicann Central Committee has been canceled in lieu of a committee-sponsored dinner that night for Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, at the Holiday Inn, San Rafael, reported chairman Charles Michals.

BETTER THAN ARREST

New Law Gives Aid In Narcotics Woes

SACRAMENTO (AP) — "Must I have my own child arrested?" asks the parent who has discovered his son or daughter is taking drugs or narcotics.

Up to now, there has been little else mothers or fathers could do, unless the child volunteered to be helped.

"A parent can do little in a case like this," said television personality Art Linkletter after his daughter, Diane, 20, plunged to her death from a sixth-floor apartment window. Linkletter said he had known for six months she had been taking LSD.

California parents will have new hope beginning Nov. 10 when a bill passed by the 1969 legislature becomes law. The measure establishes procedures under which parents can have children treated at community mental health clinics without fear of facing criminal charges.

The measure was explained yesterday by Assemblyman Gordon Duffy, Republican chairman of the Assembly Health Committee.

He made an unusual appeal to reporters to give the bill — one of hundreds going into effect Nov. 10 — wide publicity so parents would be aware the procedures exist.

"If a tragic circumstance such as that which occurred in regard to Art Linkletter's daughter could be prevented by informing parents of the existence of this law, then your job, as well as mine, will have been ably fulfilled," Duffy said.

If the child refused to volunteer for help, Duffy said, the parents could file in superior court for involuntary treatment in a community mental health clinic supported 90 per cent with state funds.

"The traditional guarantees of the doctor-patient relationship would exist and a person treated under these procedures would not be subject to arrest if he were in treatment," Duffy explained.

The bill also allows police to refer youngsters to the clinics, without arresting them.

Prober Says Drug Firms' Products Go Underground

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Half of the dangerous drugs produced in the United States find their way into the illicit market and, "are killing our youth," says the chief counsel of the House Select Committee on Crime.

Richard W. Kurrus, the counsel, said the four-day committee hearing opening here tomorrow will focus on the need to fill a void in federal laws controlling dangerous drugs and their ingredients.

He said in an interview yesterday that the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs reports 63,000 known users of heroin, "but there are 10 to 20 times that number of persons dependent on dangerous drugs," drugs which he said "are killing our youth," and "are the biggest source of suicides and account for 50,000 accidental deaths."

Legislation is needed to control basic chemicals used to make the amphetamines known as "speed" such as methedrine, Kurris said.

"Now all one needs is the formula—the ingredients can be obtained without any trouble," he continued.

"We calculate that about 50 per cent of the dangerous drugs produced in the United States find their way into the illicit market.

"There is vast unregulated overproduction, insufficient restriction on purchasers and lack of control on exports.

"Shipments made to Mexico far exceed that country's medical needs. About 60 per cent of these drugs come back on the illicit market, much of it from kids who go into business because the pills are readily available."

Kurrus said the committee hopes to come up with a dangerous drug code to recommend for adoption by states.

Wins on Negro vote

Liberal Wins Mayor Race In Atlanta

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Liberal Democrat Sam Massell piled up big margins in Negro districts to win election as mayor yesterday over Republican Rodney Cook.

Massell, 42, vice mayor of Atlanta for eight years, received 62,632 votes to Cook's 51,289.

Cook, an alderman and state legislator, carried most of the mainly white wards, but was far behind in Negro areas.

Massell, a Jew, will have as his vice mayor Maynard Jackson, a Negro, first of his race to win the city's second highest office. Jackson won a majority in the Oct. 7 general election and was not involved in yesterday's runoff.

Of Atlanta's 218,000 registered voters, about 85,000 are Negroes. One election observer said about 70 per cent of the black voters cast ballots.

Retiring Democratic Mayor Ivan Allen Jr., who called for Massell to withdraw from the race last Sunday because of what he termed improper fund raising, called the vice mayor's win "a great victory." He went to Massell's headquarters to congratulate him. Allen said it appeared Massell had won a "strong mandate."

Massell claimed he was "smeared" when newspapers reported that his brother, accompanied by a police captain, solicited campaign funds from nightclubs. Massell denied any personal wrongdoing.

Las Vegas Memorial Stirs Religious Flap

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A life-size statue of Christ is planned as a peace shrine in the hotel-casino district of this garish gambling capital. A Jewish leader objects.

"This war memorial is not in the ecumenical spirit," said Rabbi Aaron Gold of Temple Beth Shalom. "It would also be a monument to a war still going on and challenged by many Americans as immoral."

James Bilbray, the Clark County assessor, said the design of the $25,000 shrine has not been completed.

"If they want a Star of David standing on it we'll do that too," he said.

The Las Vegas Convention Authority, the city's tourism agency, voted yesterday to allow a private group to build the peace shrine on county property in front of the convention center. A plaque would list the names of the dead from Nevada in all wars.

"We're trying to do something constructive—to get away from the sin city idea," said Bilbray.

"We don't want to let one little group of people kill this thing. We've got enough of that in this country now," he said.

Bilbray said the project would be underwritten by a Dunes Hotel executive, Jake Gottlieb, who is a Jew.

Rabbi Gold said, "When I told Mr. Gottlieb it would be a religious symbol he said he wanted out."

Gottlieb could not be reached for comment.

Airline Orders 750 Jobs Trimmed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Pan American World Airways says it is eliminating 750 ground and flying jobs because increased competition on the Hawaii run has put the airline in the red.

The jobs discontinued, a Pan Am spokesman said yesterday, are those of 300 grounds workers and 450 second officers and third crewmen who also serve as pilots.

The spokesman said many of the jobs would disappear through attrituion — when a worker leaves, the job is not filled. Pan Am said any layoffs would be based on need and seniority.

Sinatra Balks At Appearing Before Panel

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Frank Sinatra says he does not care to figure in "any three-ring circus" and refuses to appear voluntarily before a New Jersey agency investigating organized crime.

The New Jersey State Investigation Commission, probing alleged criminal activity in Monmouth County, had a warrant issued for Sinatra's arrest last week after the 53-year-old entertainer failed to answer a subpoena. The warrant is enforceable only in New Jersey.

In a statement issued yesterday, Sinatra said:

"For many years every time some Italian names are involved in any inquiry I get a subpoena. I appear. I am asked questions about scores of persons unknown to me. I am asked questions based on rumors and events which have never happened. I am subjected to the type of publicity I do not desire and do not seek."

He said he was willing to answer "any and all appropriate questions" by deposition or personal interview.

According to a prediction of the American Bottled Water Assn., the nation will be spending some $95 million annually on bottled water by 1970.

Pentagon Is Surprised By Enlistments

WASHINGTON (AP) — The armed services surprisingly are filling their enlistment quotas—and then some—despite President Richard M. Nixon's move to reduce the impact of the draft.

Enlistment figures from the Army, Marines, Navy and Air Force show they have had no trouble reaching their volunteer objectives.

Pentagon manpower officials anticipated a drop in enlistments after Nixon more than a month ago canceled November-December draft calls and said he would order Selective Service reforms about Jan. 1.

Officials said they don't know how to explain what's been happening.

The Army recruiting command reported it signed up 20,525 young men during September—114.7 per cent of the objective of 17,900.

The Marine Corps said its September enlistment quota of 6,100 was exceeded by 68 men and its October quota of 6,200 was more than half filled as of Oct. 11.

The Navy reported it planned for 8,000 volunteers in September, and 8,046 signed on.

The Air Force asked for 7,342 volunteers in September but fell 9 men short.

Party Ideas For Parent Halloween

While the junior-size goblins and witches are out making their rounds, invite their grown-up counterparts to wait for the trick-and-treaters at your house. And, to make that wait a pleasant one, and easy on the hostess, plan chilled glasses of Apple-Ginger old-fashioneds and light-as-a-ghost applesauce meringue. Make the meringue early in the day, pour in rich, thick gravenstein applesauce just before serving for a treat in the best traditions of Halloween.

APPLESAUCE MERINGUE
(Makes 1 8" circle or 12 large shells)

- ⅛ tsp. salt
- 4 eggs whites
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- ½ tsp. vinegar
- ¾ tsp. vanilla
- ¾ cup slivered almonds
- 1 1-lb., 1 oz. can applesauce (approx. 2 cups)

Add salt to egg whites.

Beat until stiff, but not dry.

Add sugar, about 1 tbsp. at a time and beat well after each addition.

Beat in vinegar and vanilla well.

Fold in ½ cup of almonds.

Cover cookie sheet with waxed paper and form egg mixture into a circle about 8 inches in diameter. Make the outer two inches of the circle about one inch higher than the rest. If preferred, make individual ovals of egg mixture and make a depression in each with back of spoon.

Bake in very slow oven (250° F.) about 50 minutes. Remove to serving platter with spatula. Cool.

Fill depression with applesauce and sprinkle with remaining almonds.

For best results, do not attempt to make meringue during humid weather.

APPLE-GINGER OLD FASHIONED
(Serves approx. 8)

- 1 qt. apple juice, chilled
- 1 7-fl. oz. bottle gingerale, chilled
- Maraschino Cherries

Mix apple juice and gingerale in pitcher.

Pour over ice cubes in old fashioned glasses and decorate with maraschino cherry.

Owls And Jack O'Lanterns Are Tricky Cereal Cookies

Merry Jack-o'-Lanterns smile from the window sill and Cookie Owls ask "Whooooo's coming to the party?" For Halloween fun, decorate the party scene with homemade goodies and greet local ghosts and goblins with this colorful array, too. A few simple tricks help you make these special treats.

Puffed rice candy balls, tinted orange and trimmed with gumdrop eyes and licorice mouths, make appealing, tasty jack-o'-lanterns. Cookie Owls are convenient oatmeal refrigerator cookies flavored with peanut butter and chocolate. The two-tone owl faces are easy to shape and decorate with chocolate chip eyes and cashew beaks. For an extra touch, make holes in some of the cookies before baking; then string bright ribbon through the finished cookies and hang them on a small tree branch.

Doughnuts made from pancake mix are festive when glazed with vanilla or chocolate icing, and candied apples take on new flavor interest with a maple flavored glaze.

MERRY JACK-O'-LANTERNS

- 6 cups puffed rice
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 4 cups miniature marshmallows
- 1 teaspoon orange extract
- ¼ teaspoon red food coloring
- ¼ teaspoon yellow food coloring
- 8 medium-sized gumdrops
- 8 medium-sized black gumdrops, each cut into 3 triangles
- 8 pieces black string licorice, each about 2 inches long

Heat puffed rice in shallow baking pan in preheated moderate oven (350° F.) 10 minutes. Pour into a greased large bowl. Melt butter and marshmallows in top of double boiler over boiling water, stirring occasionally until smooth. Stir in orange extract and red and yellow food coloring.

Pour over puffed rice, stirring until evenly coated. With greased hands, shape to form 8 balls. Let stand several hours or until firm.

Using thick confectioners sugar frosting fasten a green gumdrop on top of each ball for a stem, 3 triangles for eyes and nose and a piece of black string licorice for a mouth. Let jack-o'-lanterns stand until frosting is set. Makes 8 jack-o'-lanterns.

COOKIE OWLS

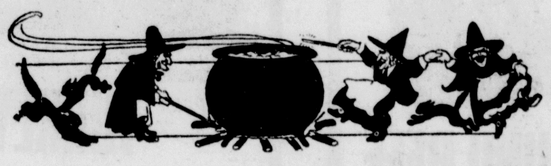
- ⅔ cup shortening, soft
- 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup crunchy peanut butter
- 1⅓ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
- 1 envelope (1 oz.) no-melt chocolate flavored ingredient
- Semi-sweet chocolate pieces
- Whole cashews

Beat together shortening and sugar until creamy. Add egg, vanilla and peanut butter; blend thoroughly. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Add to creamed mixture; blend well. Stir in oats.

Divide dough in half. Shape one half to form a roll 8 inches long. Add chocolate to other half. Roll out chocolate dough on waxed paper to form an 8-inch square. Place roll on chocolate dough; wrap chocolate dough around roll; pinch seam together. Wrap in waxed paper; chill at least 1 hour.

Cut into ¼-inch slices. For each owl face, pinch chocolate dough to form 2 "ears." use 2 chocolate pieces for "eyes" and a cashew for a "beak." Place on ungreased cookie sheets. (If desired, make small hole in cookies with wooden skewer. After cookies have baked, thread ribbon through hole to hang on tree.) Bake in preheated moderate oven (350° F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes about 2½ dozen cookies.

If dough is refrigerated several hours, allow to stand at room temperature about 10 minutes before slicing.



Apples Are A Must For Halloween Party Foods

Planning a Halloween party? Here are some new ideas using apples that will help light-up your party. Fudgy Applesauce Bars are like spicy brownies and Cranberry-Baked Apples are a tasty variation of the old favorite.

For making applesauce, the United States Department of Agriculture recommends using tart varieties such as Gravenstein, Jonathan and Newtown. For baking use the firmer-fleshed varieties . . . Rome Beauty, Northern Spy and Winesap.

FUDGE APPLESAUCE BARS

- ⅓ cup margarine
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup unsifted flour
- ⅓ cup cocoa
- ½ teaspoon soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon allspice
- ½ cup chopped nuts
- 1 cup applesauce
- ¼ cup milk
- Confectioner's sugar

Beat margarine and sugar together until creamy; beat in eggs. Combine dry ingredients, mix well. Add nuts. Stir in dry ingredients with applesauce and milk. Stir only to blend. Pour into a greased 9-inch square baking pan. Bake at 350° about 45 to 50 minutes or until it tests done. Cool. Cut into squares and dust with confectioner's sugar. Makes 9 servings.

CRANBERRY-BAKED APPLES

- 6 cored baking apples
- ½ cup whole cranberry sauce
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 6 teaspoons sugar
- 1 cup water

Place cored apples in a baking dish. Mix cranberry sauce and cinnamon together; fill centers of apples. Dot each apple with butter and sprinkle each with 1 teaspoon sugar. Pour water in baking dish. Bake in 375° oven 45-60 minutes or until apples are tender. Baste frequently with liquid in pan. Serves 6.

Try Elegant Bing Cherry Foldovers As A Dessert After Sunday Dinner

Pancakes for dessert? Any time is pancake time. Increasing use of pancakes as desserts in restaurants has made pancake creations like Bing Cherry Foldovers popular. Delicious pancakes, traditionally a breakfast favorite, star in this glorious Sunday evening dessert.

The pancakes are made from a mix. Bing cherry sauce can be prepared ahead so when it's dessert-time all you do is make the pancakes, reheat the sauce and assemble the foldovers.

Sour cream sandwiched inside Bing Cherry Foldovers provides a flavor contrast to sweet bing cherry sauce. Accented with orange juice and peel, the cherry sauce makes these foldovers a sophisticated Sunday evening pancake dessert. Serve Bing Cherry Foldovers as your next Sunday evening dessert and you'll be at your Sunday-best.

BING CHERRY FOLDOVERS
Makes 4 Servings

Cherry Sauce

- 1 1-lb. can dark sweet cherries
- ¼ cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- Juice of ½ orange
- 1 teaspoon grated orange peel

Pancakes

- 1 cup pancake mix
- 1 cup milk
- 1 egg
- 1 tablespoon melted or liquid shortening
- Dairy sour cream

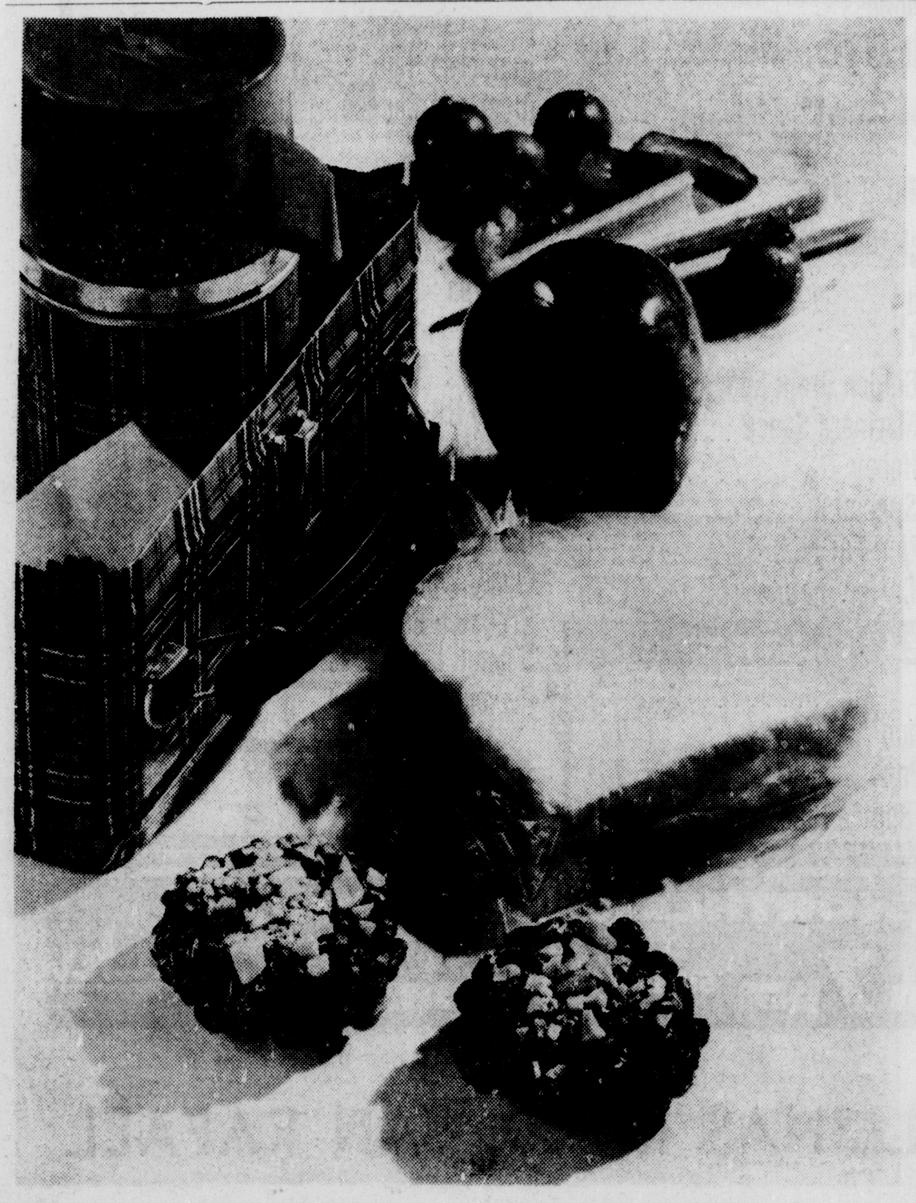
For cherry sauce, drain cherries, reserving syrup. Add enough water to syrup to make 1 cup liquid. Combine sugar and cornstarch in saucepan. Stir in liquid, orange juice and orange peel. Cook, stirring constantly until thickened and clear. Add cherries. Keep warm for serving.

For pancakes, place mix, milk, egg and shortening in bowl. Stir lightly until batter is fairly smooth. For each pancake, pour about ¼ cup batter onto hot, lightly greased griddle to make 8 pancakes. Turn pancakes when tops are covered with bubbles and edges look cooked. Turn only once.

To assemble, spread sour cream on each pancake; fold over. Top with warm cherry sauce.

Vary Sandwiches

To enhance flavor of egg-salad sandwich filling, try adding these variations: Prepared mustard, curry powder, chopped green pepper, bacon bits, pickle relish, chopped olives, fresh water cress, parsley or dill.



Put No-Bake Cookies In Lunchbox

It's lunchbox toting time as the youngsters are well into their schoolwork. They'll look forward to lunchtime if some cereal no-bake cookies are in the box.

A cheering note to mother — the cookies can be made ahead and stored in the refrigerator until lunch-packing time.

CHOCOLATE CHEWS
Makes 2 dozen cookies

- 2¾ cups puffed wheat
- 2¾ cups puffed rice
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 oz. (2 sq.) unsweetened chocolate
- 6 cups miniature marshmallows
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- ⅔ cup chopped salted peanuts

Heat puffed wheat and puffed rice in shallow baking pan in preheated moderate oven (350°F.) about 10 minures. Pour into large greased bowl. Melt butter, chocolate and marshmallows in top of double boiler over hot water, stirring occasionally until smooth. Remove from heat. Add vanilla. Pour over cereal, stirring until evenly coated.

With greased hands, shape to form 24 two-inch patties. As each patty is formed press both sides of it into chopped peanuts. Refrigerate until chocolate is firm.

Mr. Blackwell Thumbs Nose At No Bra

By LINDA DEUTSCH

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "It is cruel for a designer to ask a woman over 30 not to wear a bra," declared Mr. Blackwell as he unveiled his new spring couture collection. "It's a sick trend and I think it should stop."

The flamboyant designer-fashion critic thumbed his nose at the "natural" trend Monday with his most feminine collection in years. It included fitted coats, sculptured gowns, and even the return of the sheath dress. All bodices definitely have bras.

"All this faddist stuff is not for me," said Mr. Blackwell—that is his professional name. His first name is Richard. His own suit in beige corduroy was more subdued than his usual flashy attire.

The tone of his collection is softly elegant with flowing capes and coats over sheath gowns. A new touch for evening is the sleeveless full length satin coat over matching short-sleeved satin dress with bead trim.

Like others in this week's California Fashion Creators showing, Blackwell draws on fashion history. He brings back the chemise of the 20s, pussy-cat bows of the 40s—an enormous beaded bow forms the bodice of a bold print gown—and the sheaths of the 1950s.

But his forte remains the elaborate, flowing evening gown —this time a lime and pink daisy print silk with a five-foot-long billowing cape-train. He calls the dress "the little princess."

Following the trend of femininity without frills there's not a ruffle in sight.

Malia of Hawaii showcased wide patio pants, hostess gowns and flowing muu muus—all in bright tropical prints that have become a West Coast signature. Malia hides little printed bikinis under flair pants and tunics—a hint at the covered-up look ahead in swimwear.

The Blackwell and Malia collections followed showings of five dress designers who predicted "a rennaissance of romance" in the decade ahead. Flounces, flared "skater" shirts, long midcalf silk print dresses and yards of rustling silk scarves pointed the way to the future.

PART OF Mr. Blackwell's spring collection being shown in Los Angeles this week is a pants-dress that can go from patio to party. Therese Baldwin wears the multicolored zig-zag silk print heavily fringed at the bottom and cuffs.

Spring Fashions Bring Changes But No Revolution

NEW YORK (UPI)—The words of one New York designer sum up the biggest news in women's fashions for 1970.

"For spring, a woman can have everything," says Mollie Parnis. So those bracing for a revolution can relax, although there are changes. Those fretting that abbreviated hemlines will be out of date can relax also; they aren't, although there are plenty of the longer looks to skirts, from just below the knees on the ankle.

Miss Parnis is one of the fashion leaders in New York speaking her forecast as the giant ready-to-wear industry shows its spring 1970 collections for the nation's store buyers and the fashion press from major cities.

WHAT "EVERYTHING" shapes up to, in major trends from shows thus far:

—Skirt lengths seesawing from mini to midcalf to ankle to floor, depending on the time of the day, the type of garment.

—Huge shawls replacing jackets or coats as an offbeat covering for day or evening.

—Nostalgia for the 1930's and 1940's, showing in revival of soft crepes, or fitted suits which are purely suit and not costume-like, and a softness of fabric and line putting away—finally—any harsh geometic look to clothes.

—Ruffles by the thousands of yards, part of the softness trend too.

—The new look to an oldtime flatterer, the lacy white collar set against black taffeta.

—Continuation of pants for both day and at-home or evenings out, with some of the new evening jumpsuits cut so clingy in some collections the clothes could be a second skin.

MOST OF THE new look shows up in the Bill Blass collection for Maurice Rentner. Blass believes in the return of the suit, doing it with blazers and cardigan jackets over tailored shirts and snappy skirts. Some of his nostalgic suits team gray flannel tops with white crepe skirts.

In one of his softest moods Blass ruffles short, short dinner dresses from collar to hemline.

In almost all collections, there is more shape to the figure. Some of the shapeliest come from Chester Weinberg.

Weinberg used slinky crepes, without bras of course, for at-home pajamas fitting like a second skin, in dresses that were mere nothings depending strictly on the figure for shape, their self-fabric belts slung loosely around the upper hipbone.

The message for the longer skirt came strongest, thus far, from Weinberg, whose collection drew repeated applause from press and buyers. Proportion should dictate length, Weinberg said, and then hauled some of his tubular silhouetted dress and pants outfits down to midcalf.

OSCAR DE LA RENTA played the field with lengths, showing many ankle length coats over miniskirted little dresses with two piece effect. The minis showed with fisherman's boots, well above the knee, for spring yet!

As at many firms, soft fabrics took over at De la Renta's too, notably in his printed organzas and feathered chiffons.

There's a casual ease to spring, done exceptionally well by Don Simonelli for Modelia, who dips back to the 1930's occasionally. Fingertip length and longer, skinny jackets cross over at the front bathrobe style with casual ties. Jackets are collarless, often worn with long crepe scarf tied casually around the throat.

Haitian Women Give Babies Massive Dose Of Love

FERMATHE, Haiti (WMNS) —Once a Haitian woman in this mountain village has given birth, she doesn't lift a finger for at least one month, remaining home with a towel around her shoulders "to keep the milk warm," placing socks on her ordinarily bare feet, and watching placidly while someone else does the cooking, cleaning and water-fetching.

The American director of New-Mother Care at the Baptist Mission Hospital, Mrs. Wallace Turnbull, says such apparent extremism makes sense. "If I had it to do all over again with my own children," she says, "I'd do exactly the same. By concentrating so completely on the new baby, by giving him this massive dose of love right at the beginning, Haitain mothers seem to get their children started right on a very hard life. For the most part, they grow up happy and well-adjusted."

PARENTS-TO-BE

Men, Women Share Dorm At Stanford

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Young men and women at a Stanford University dormitory are living in adjacent single rooms in what officials call an experiment in advanced coeducational living.

"It's going quite well," says William Leland, associate dean of students.

Many of the students' parents approve. No parent has complained.

Joseph Katz, executive director of the school's Institute for the Study of Human Problems, said the 40 students' coeducational living may have led to a "partial moratorium on sex."

Students initiated the change last spring by drafting a floor plan assigning names of men and women in next-door rooms at Roble Hall, previously an all-women's dorm and one of the oldest structures on campus.

Peter Bulkeley, a new dean visiting Roble, saw the suggested plan on a wall and thought the assignments already had been approved.

"Sounds like a great idea," he said.

Asst. Prof. John Palmer and his wife, directors of the dormitory, understood Bulkeley's remark to mean official approval and men were moved into rooms assigned by the plan.

The Palmers say they have encountered no special problems so far in the experiment, which progresses beyond the now fairly common college coeducational housing with men and women on separate floors or corridors.

The bath-and-toilet problem was resolved by assigning one to men and one to women.

The program has brought approving comments from some parents.

"I approve 100 per cent," said Mrs. Anne Huston Gilliand of Corvallis, Ore., whose daughter Sue lives in the dorm. "When I went to Stanford 25 years ago, the boys were at one end of the campus and the girls at the other. Dates became too important. They created tension between boys and girls."

Coed Monica Ploeser of Santa Clara said she senses a more relaxed attitude toward women among men students.

Robert Blees of Los Angeles, a Dartmouth graduate whose son is in the group, said, "It's a fine idea. I'm not shocked at all."

Katz said the coeducational units avoid "over idealization" of the opposite sex and a good deal of the mutual teasing and destructive behavior characteristic of campus dating.

On a longer-range basis, Katz said, participants may develop attitudes that will lead them to stronger marriages.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

If They Are Friends As Well As Lovers, Age Shouldn't Matter

DEAR HELEN:

Why does the world ridicule a woman who marries a man younger than she, while if an older man picks a young chick, he's considered quite the blade?

I have been happily married for 27 years to a man 12 years younger. He was 21, I was 33 when we wed, and we went through some rough times trying to ignore the barbs and innuendos.

Yet had he been 33 and I 21, not one eyebrow would have been raised. This is idiotic when you consider that women live longer than men, age more slowly, and really come into their prime when they are over 30. I've read that men start going downhill by age 25.

The lady next door is married to a man younger than her daughter. I don't think either she or I look older than our husbands, although we never lie about our ages.

Isn't it time we cast aside another one of those false rules — that the man should be older than the woman he marries? Or anyway, not younger? What counts is: Are you friends as well as lovers. — YOUNG SIXTY

DEAR 60:

You're so right. If two people care enough, age shouldn't matter. The key to happiness here is that each must be absolutely sure of the other's love — so sure, in fact, that those whispers become a private joke between them. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am 62 years old, crippled and live alone. I must do my own grocery shopping and, with the aid of a crutch, I manage very well. Some stores do not have the automatic doors, and it's difficult for me to enter.

This may surprise some of your readers, but I have found that the young people who might be termed hippies are the ones who go out of their way to help me. Those with long hair and somewhat unusual dress are most kind and thoughtful — and this happens repeatedly. — MRS. D. H.

DEAR MRS. H.:

Thank you for pointing out what too many elders won't see: When we accept young people, they go out of their way to accept us! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband is a coffee hound. When he's on the job, he and his buddies make at least two trips a day for coffee. When he's off, it's at least four time a day. These trips to town last anywhere from one to three hours. Sometimes they leave as late as 1 a.m. for coffee.

You can see this cuts into my husband's at-home time. There are many repair jobs around the house that have been waiting several years, just because he's addicted to coffee. What can I do? — DISGUSTED

DEAR DIS:

Coffee isn't the problem. Congenialtiy is! Your husband is addicted to getting out with the boys, and the only way you can change him is to make staying home with the girl just as much fun.

Meanwhile, be glad he sticks to coffee. — H.

Going Barefoot Can Eliminate Shoe Allergies That Cause Foot Rashes

SAN MATEO (WMNS) — Barefoot students and children may have a point.

A dermatologist at the San Mateo Medical Clinic reports that shoe allergies have become increasingly common since 1940, affecting men, women and children, soles, toes and insteps. Big toes are particularly susceptible. Occasionally and mysteriously, only one foot is affected.

Since such rashes may readily be confused with fungal infections and other skin disorders, Dr. Ernst Epstein advises patch tests with scrapings from various parts of the patient's entire shoe wardrobe. The linings and rubber adhesives are usually at fault.

Treatment may be laborious and will almost certainly be expensive. Although the rash can be easily cleared up, it may be necessary to discard every pair of old shoes in favor of all-leather sandals or a similar unlined shoe. Then, says Dr. Epstein, one pair of shoes may be bought for testing — to be discarded if the rash reappears.

For men, Dr. Epstein recommends a "hypoallergenic" shoe made of vegetable-tanned leather and nonrubber adhesives. But no such shoe is manufactured for women or children.

Recipe Requests

A survey shows that homemakers under 25 want recipes for two that are hearty and filling, while women from 25 to 35 look for recipes that will delight their children. Women with higher incomes want interesting company menus, foreign foods and desserts other than cakes and pies.

Fall Focus Is On Men's Booty Shoes

The focus for fall is on men's feet, and they can bet their boots on that. Boots and boot-look shoes, whether slip-ons, ties or moccasins, offer comfort, style and durability.

Toelines remain on the broad side, sometimes built up or "walled" and occasionally still rounded off in a knobby shape.

American leathers making up the new collections include grained, smooth, antiqued, cordovan, waxy and brushed textures, plus glove, split cowhide, embossed, aniline, suede and new glazed "wet look" leathers.

SLIP-ONS show off high-rise tongues for a bootish air. Medallion toes, side and turtleneck goring, perfed borders, monk-straps are other features.

Trim is of a more refined nature than that used in past seasons.

The brawny leather boot itself is ready for service in town, suburb and country. There are demi-boots and jodhpurs for office wear, demi-boots for evening and rugged boots and chukkas for outdoors-ing it through fall and winter.

LEATHER BROGUES and oxfords show both traditional and novelty stylings. Perfs, pinking, wing-tips are planned to please the traditionalist, while very squared-off toelines, brass studs, heavily stitched or wheeled extension soles offer variety.

Major moc styles include hand-sewns, moc-boots, tassel ties, beefroll mocs and welted brogue types, many well-hardwared with brass plates, studs, rivets.

Model Steps Behind Camera

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—For several years now Sue Houle has been a pretty face in front of a camera, viewed by millions of Americans. But she'd prefer to work behind a camera.

She's on the way to having her way about that.

With her blonde, blue-eyed advantages and feminine determination, the petite Bostonian model is quietly crashing the traditionally male world of serious photography.

She is gambling lucrative careers in cosmetics and television commercials on the theory that men will turn to a pretty photographer for an important portrait just as quickly as they will accept a cute barber.

Like makeup, a career must fit the individual woman, the 28-year-old cosmetics expert says. And after doing national commercials for everything from cars to pizza sticks and from ceiling materials to bathing suits, Miss Houle finds photography most satisfying to her.

"There's nothing quite like capturing a fleeting expression that will never come back quite the same way," she says.

Right now Miss Houle is concentrating her cameras on California men. But she's looking forward to a safari during which she can photograph elephants in Africa.

She was surprised by the way executives and actors accepted a female photographer.

"I thought men would insist on being photographed by other men. I would," she said. "But some of them think it is chic to be able to tell their friends their portrait was done by a girl."

It probably helps when the girl is a curvesome 110 pounds, has long blonde hair, has appeared in more than 30 television commercials, stars in a cosmetics film and knows what she's doing with a complicated camera.

Miss Houle started out doing portraits of women for the same studio that photographed Marilyn Monroe. But she switched to men because she spent too much time touching up mistakes she found in the women's makeup.

"Too many women," she says, "try to follow fads and fashions in makeup. The only rule today is use what is good for you," she said.

For the safari, Miss Houle will join 25 other men and women for a month. The safari is sponsored by the Los Angeles Zoo Association. She plans to photograph the animals in infra red color, which she says will produce some fabulously blue elephants.

She also wants to shoot some of those fleeting expressions she expects to find when California men move to the African jungles.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Butterflies' Is First Comedy Hit

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — A nifty package of laughter and sentiment, "Butterflies Are Free," opened last night at the Booth Theater, notably enhancing Broadway's supply of amiable entertainment.

Coupled with a script expertly crafted by Leonard Gershe, a Hollywood film-writer, are a trio of hip-hooray performances by Eileen Heckart, Keir Dullea and Blythe Danner.

The play concerns a mom-bossed blind youth who plunges into romance with a kooky Greenwich Village lass. A very corny contrivance with a marshmallow core, certainly, but redeemed from simple gag-rich banality by a certain basic honesty.

Dullea and Miss Danner scamper about in their sky-light garret pad for half the show like a pair of happy grasshoppers. He is on a two-month parole from suburban conformity, she is an impetuous survivor of a six-day marriage.

Their swift trip from compassion to bed is made amid slick Gershe comments on multiple aspects of the current scene. Then the play takes on more meaning with Miss Heckart's unexpected arrival and the ensuing struggle between youthful impetuousness and parental determination.

With several character turn-abouts the play proceeds to predictable conclusion without faltering in its ability to beguile if not exactly enthrall.

Miss Heckart is impeccably acidulous; Dullea makes you believe in happiness despite handicap, and Miss Danner rambles fetchingly as the personification of unthinking vitality. In a brief appearance as a rakish hippy who catalyses the finale, Michael Glaser does better than well.

Director Milton Katselas and Designer Richard Seger haven't overlooked any details in equipping the entertainment with right-now verve. Don't expect a masterpiece. Just enjoy. "Butterflies Are Free" looks like a long-run winner.

What other press critics said:

John Chapman, Daily News: " . . . a darling play, a lovely play. It is funny when it means to be, sentimental when it is so inclined and heart-warming. And it is beautifully performed . . . This play, which the author calls a comedy, has heart."

Richard Watts Jr., New York Post: "It is humorous, winning and quietly moving as well as delightfully acted and I think it will have a large and well deserved popularity."

Clive Barnes, New York Times: " . . . the first successful new comedy of the Broadway season and should have audiences laughing for months to come . . . It is theater for people who do not really care about theater and even those who do, if they are honest with themselves, will get many laughs and a few guilty shudders of sentiment."

New Cabinet Takes Over In Germany

BONN (AP)—West Germany's first Socialist government was sworn in today and immediately went into session. One of its first acts was expected to be a revaluation of the mark, bringing its official value to the neighborhood of the free-exchange rate now prevailing.

Bundestag President Kai-Uwe Von Hassell administered the oath of office to the 15 ministers of Chancellor Willy Brandt's coalition of Social Democrats and Free Democrats at a session of the lower house. Brandt took the oath after the Bundestag elected him yesterday.

The brief meeting of the Cabinet dealt mainly with the appointments of state secretaries, the No. 2 men in the various ministries. Informed sources said the government would deal with the revaluation question Friday afternoon. The decision is expected to be announced during the weekend.

The Cabinet called on President Gustav Heinemann, who also is a Social Democrat. He noted that it was the first time in almost 40 years for the Socialists to head a national government. The last Social Democratic government held office in 1930, during the ill-fated Weimar Republic.

Brandt's government replaces a coalition of West Germany's two major parties, the Christian Democrats and Social Democrats. The Christian Democrats topped the Socialists in the September general election but did not win a majority, and the liberal Free Democrats threw in with the Socialists.

There were no surprises in the Cabinet list announced by Brandt last night.

Walter Scheel, leader of the Free Democrats, becomes vice chancellor and foreign minister, the posts held by Brandt in the former government.

Karl Schiller, the Socialist economics minister, kept that portfolio and Helmut Schmidt, former Bundestag floor leader for the Social Democrats, was appointed defense minister.

Brandt will outline his government's policies to the Bundestag next Tuesday.

Arbor Day began in Nebraska.

U.S. Film Will Launch Big Festival

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The 13th annual San Francisco Film Festival opens tonight with a Hollywood production, "THE Secret of Santa Vittoria," starring Anthony Quinn and Anna Magnani.

Quinn and Miss Magnani, as well as producer-director Stanley Kramer, will be in the audience. Festivities will be emceed by Victor Borge.

The festival will show 23 feature films, involving 20 nations in the evening during its 12-day run. In addition there will be afternoon tributes to famous movie makers and new directors, who will appear in person to discuss their work.

Among those in the former category who will come here to discuss their work will be directors Mike Nichols, Sidney Lumet, and John Schlesinger and film star Bette Davis.

Hundreds of shorts, avant garde works and film discussions will also be held throughout the city. For instance, there will be a Friday midnight world premier of "Futz," Tom O'Horgan's filming of the wild off-Broadway hit he directed. It tells of a man in love with a pig.

Following tonight's black-tie opening at Masonic Auditorium, the city's society and many of the world's famous film names will mingle in a flittering late supper at the Fairmont Hotel.

Tomorrow's feature will include Poland's "Everything for Sale," and France's 'L'Horizon."

Service Station Robbery Denied

Edward Charles Lenhart, 39, of San Rafael, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of robbing a San Rafael service station of $16 Friday.

Lenhart, who allegedly used a toy pistol during the holdup, will return to court next Tuesday for a preliminary hearing.

He is accused of robbing Bob's Texaco Station at 1524 Second Street after first applying for a job there.

MUSIC REVIEW

Blind Youth Hailed As Rock Opera Star

By JOSH MILLS

NEW YORK (AP) — "See me, feel me, touch me, heal me," Tommy asks the world again and again.

This deaf and blind English lad is the hero of the first rock opera, "Tommy," performed by The Who this week at the Fillmore East.

Tommy becomes a pinball champion, then a messiah, in two dozen rock songs, most of them written by Peter Townshend. He's The Who's guitarist, who dubbed the work "rock opera."

It's not really opera. The English quartet takes turns with the role of Tommy and divides the minor roles. But there's nothing to prevent its presentation in opera format.

"Tommy" became a best-selling album after its release in June and is still high on the sales charts. But The Who had never performed it completely in the United States and this one-week run was set to make up for that.

Last night The Who played at a furious pace for nearly two hours, starting with early hits and Townshend's first experiment in rock story-telling, "A Quick One While He's Away," three songs long.

Townshend, drummer Keith Moon and bass guitarist John Entwistle are fine musicians, whose flamboyant stage manners don't hamper their music. Townshend jumps, jogs and kicks about while playing. Moon clowns and bounces sticks in the air without missing a beat. Lead singer Roger Daltrey swings the microphone around by its cord and catches it.

Each musician shows his skills within the songs, instead of taking long solos—a refreshing change for anyone often subjected to drum or bass solos. Each song sparkles with Moon's sharp punctuationd and thunders with the bass line. Entwistle even picked up the guitar melody on his bass one time.

Daltrey wasn't in top voice, possibly from having to sing over the 12 amplifiers The Who set up. But he was still a notch above most rock singers, with four arduous nights to go. Townshend and Entwistle chip in fine singing.

"Tommy" may be the complaint of a younger generation that feels ignored. Perhaps Townshend's trying to tell us it's time to build bridges. "Tommy" might be one, if the enthusiastic applause of the few adults in the aundience is an indicator.

To Superior Court

Harry Elmer Chapman, 43, of Mill Valley, was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on charges of possessing methamphetamine and a hypodermic needle March 8 after a preliminary hearing yesterday in municipal court. He was told to appear in court Monday for arraignment.

Paintings by San Rafael artists Dania and Bruce Bomberger are on display, for an indefinite period, at the Montecito center branch of the Bank of America, 333 Third Street, San Rafael.

Lawmaker's Bill To Aid Point Reyes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A California congressman has introduced a House bill aimed at forcing the government to complete the funding of Point Reyes National Seashore.

The legislation, by Democrat Jeffery Cohelan, Oakland, would prevent the executive branch from entering any new offshore oil lease agreements with private companies until all money now in the Land and Water Conservation fund is released.

The fund, which is partially supported by revenues paid for oil leases by petroleum companies, is supposed to be used only for the purchase of national park land.

Cohelan said each year there is $200 million earmarked for national park land purchases, but only $124 million was released this year.

"This will prove disastrous to California since the Point Reyes National Seashore north of San Francisco is currently being purchased out of water fund money," Cohelan said.

This is money from recreation fees, motorboat fuel taxes and sale of surplus government property. The remainder of the $200 million fund comes out of the royalty money paid into the treasury by oil companies.

Cohelan warned unless the park land is purchased soon, soaring land costs will allow commercial enterprises to outbid the federal government, "leaving the natural beauties of Point Reyes to the mercy of highways and neon lights."

Cohelan said his proposal, cosponsored by 16 other congressmen, is an attempt to carry out the original objective of the Land and Water Conservation Act.

"If Congress prevents oil companies from obtaining new federal offshore drilling leases until the fund money is released, the petroleum producers in the country will 'jawbone' the president into releasing the funds," Cohelan daid.

Crawford To Head State's Architects

Eugene E. Crawford of Mill Valley, a partner in the architectural firm of Crawford and Banning in San Rafael, has been elected to take office Jan. 1 as the 1970 president of the 3,500-member California Council of the American Institute of Architects.

Crawford, a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was recently elected to the College of Fellows of the American Institute of Architecture for outstanding achievement.

He was president of the Northern California Chapter of the AIA in 1964 and a former lecturer in architectural design at the University of California at Berkeley.

Crawford is a member of the Marin County Board of Appeals and a member of the board of directors of the Marin Builders Exchange.

His work has included a variety of projects, among them office buildings for the Bank of Marin, the Northwestern and Marin County Savings and Loan associations and the Marin Municipal Water District.

Extension Sought For Bay Dredging

A Sausalito firm has applied to the Army Corps of Engineers for a three-year extension to continue commercial dredging in San Francisco Bay waters adjacent to the southwestern side of Angel Island.

The United Sand and Gravel division of the A. G. Schoonmacher Company, Inc., estmates that approximately 350,000 cubic yards of material would be removed annually and that the dredging would reach a maximum depth of 60 feet below mean lower low water.

Schoonmacher spokesmen said a hopper dredge towed or pushed by a tug would be used for the work and that no anchors, buoys, cables or other obstructions to navigation would result from the operation, as the vessels would be under way at all times.

Any objections to the operation should be forwarded in triplicate by Nov. 29 to the U.S. Army Engineer District, San Francisco Corps of Engineers, 100 McAllister Street, San Francisco, 94102.

Three Suspects Deny Marijuana

Three young persons arrested in a narcotics raid Oct. 9 on a house at 82 Southern Heights Boulevard, San Rafael, entered innocent pleas yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to various drug charges.

A preliminary hearing for Patricia Maryann O'Neill, 22, and Lawrence David Johnson, 22, both of San Rafael, and John Thomas Dervin, 22, of Sausalito, was set for Nov. 6.

Miss O'Neill is accused of possessing marijuana for sale, cultivating and possessing the weed, being in a place where narcotics were used and maintaining a premise for the use or sale of narcotics.

Johnson is charged with possessing marijuana, being in a place where narcotics were used and being under the influence of drugs. Dervin is accused of growing and possessing marijuana and being in a place were narcotics were used.

Two Networks Offer Campaign Rate Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two of the three major television networks, hoping to head off a congressional crackdown on the cost of campaigning, said today they will slash rates for political advertisements.

The National Broadcasting Co. said it would reduce rates in next year's elections by 50 per cent. The American Broadcasting Co. said its rates would be cut by 33 and one third per cent.

The announcement came as the presidents of NBC, ABC and the Columbia Broadcasting system testified before a Senate Commerce subcommittee.

Julian Goodman, president of NBC, said the 50 per cent discount would apply to the five television stations it owns.

But he said the network was seeking ways to help the 195 TV stations it serves to offer time at reduced cost to local candidates.

Goodman said plans also are in the making to offer reduced rate time slots to the 1972 presidential contenders.

Another plan would make available some free half-hour segments, he said, if Congress waivers the law that requires broadcast stations to give equal time to candidates seeking the same office.

President Leonard H. Goldenson of ABC said his network has already granted political discounts of 33 and one-third per cent for spot announcements on its own television stations and that this would be extended to ABC-owned radio stations.

Marinite Gets Jail Sentence

I-J Special Report

PLACERVILLE — A 19-year-old Marin youth, arrested here Sept. 6 while speeding in a car reported stolen from his father in Novato, was sentenced to five days in El Dorado County Jail yesterday by Judge J. B. Johnson in El Dorado Justice Court.

The youth, Thomas R. Cunningham Jr., of no fixed address, was sentenced on the speeding complaint. Charges of joyriding and drunken driving were dismissed.

When stopped on Highway 50, Cunninghan had no identification or driver's license and a record check revealed the car had been reported stolen from his father at 1116 Elm Drive, Novato, according to sheriff'd deputies.

Demos Slate A Reception For Unruh

A public reception for Assemblyman Jesse M. Unruh, D-Los Angeles, an unannounced candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in next year's contest will be held in Marin on Nov. 22 the Marin County Democratic Central Committee announced last night.

The reception will be from 6 to 8 p.m., probably in Sausalito, committee chairman S. Robert Politzer said. The location will be announced, he said.

Committee members, who met in the Marin County Courthouse in San Rafael, adopted a resolution declaring Tamalpais High School District's attempts to regulate hair length was "a clear-cut interference with individual rights."

The length of students' hair, the resolution said, was "a matter of personal chaoice."

In other action, the committee adopted resolutions urging President Richard M. Nixon to declare "an immediate, permanent ceasefire" in Vietnam, and commending Peter C. Meyer, county elections officer, for "his progressive administration."

Petluma Youngster Wins Poetry Award

An eighth grade pupil at St. Vincent de Paul Elementary School, Petaluma, has won first prize for her age group in the California Bicentennial youth poetry contest.

Two Boys Dart Into Car

Two boys were hospitalized, one in serious condition after running in front of a moving car at 3:55 p.m. yesterday at Hamilton Air Force Base, according to base officials.

In serious condition today at Letterman General Hospital with a broken leg and multiple cuts on his head, was Lawrence E. Horn, 4, son of Sgt. and Mrs. Burton L. Horn of 213 Marin Road on the base. In good condition at the base hospital with multiple cuts on his face and body was Mark Johnson, 7, son of Sgt. and Mrs. Stebling L. Johnson of 108 Bodkin Road on the base.

The two boys ran in front of a car driven by T/Sgt. Lowell D. Hinkle, 33, of 832 San Jose Boulevard, Novato, about 100 feet east of the main gate.

THE MEASURE OF A PLUMP SQUASH

Earl C. Cordy of 94 Butterfield Road, San Anselmo, checks the dimensions of a giant squash which refuses to stop growing atop a perch on his garage. COLLEGE BOOSTER ASKS LOAN CUTS

Kettenhofen Threatens To Quit Foundation Unless Unruly Students Lose Loan Rights

The president of the College of Marin Foundation yesterday urged termination of foundation aid to students who disrupt the "proper administration and operation" of the school.

Ernest N. Kettenhofen, in a letter to Dr. Louis H. Herkenhoff, the college's acting superintendent-president, reacted firmly to the clamorous meeting of the Marin Junior College District board Oct. 17 in which students chanted and shouted for more aid.

"I am dismayed and saddened by the recurring activities of some malicious and self-centered pseudo-students who continually disregard the philosophy of 'due precess of orderly dissent' when it is so vitally needed," Kettenhofen said.

He urged that the foundation "go on record immediately to permanently disqualify any student financial assistance through the foundation if they are so foolishly guilty of such destructive civil disobedience that infringes on the orderly and proper administration and operation of the priceless educational objectives and programs at the College of Marin."

Kettenhofen said he would resign from the foundation, to which he has belonged since its inception, if the group were to reject his request "or its equivalent."

Kettenhofen said he was currently negotiating with "several substantial donors" to the foundation to help "conscientious and worthy" students.

His letter was read yeaterday at a meeting of the college financial aid committee at which Charles M. Herndon, financial aid officer, was asked to seek federal approval if increasing the income base beyond which aid cannot be given single students from $1,900 to $2,500 because of high cost of living in Marin.

A subcommittee of three teachers, three students and counselor Charles Sizemore was created to dispense money now on hand. The subcommittee was to meet today.

Student Leaders Demanding 'Due Process' On Ousters

The student government at College of Marin has rejected the College's appeal procedure in the case of three suspended students, and said the three should be tried by "a true due process system."

The students want a committee of students only to consider their appeal from Monday's suspension by Dean of Students Irwin P. Diamond. The three, suspended for actions at a clamorous meeting last week of the Marin Junior College District board, are Del Mar Jackson, William Nason and Brigardo Groves.

The Associated Students Executive Council met yesterday and issued a letter to the district board declaring "all proceedings regarding the appeals . . . are herewith suspended until a true due process system is established. In accordance with the 14th Amendment of the United States Constitution, we students intend to exercise our rights of due process."

act on, a letter from the Black Students Union rejecting the charges against the three and indicting the board for bringing about the suspension. BSU members refused to disclose the contents of the letter by telephone today, but offered to discuss it at the BSU office on campus.

SEEKS REVISION!

Student body president Kimo Campbell said the council wanted to revise the college policy manual so students would be tried by students in matters dealing only with students, and by a student-faculty board in matters involving faculty.

Campbell conceded that the present case did not involve students only, but said the committee rejected the appeal procedure anyway in order to set up a new system.

"We do have a due process procedure," Diamond said today. The committee on student conduct, which is to hear the appeals, is composed of four students, two faculty members and an administrator.

The committee was to meet this afternoon. If the student members or the suspended students do not appear, Diamond said, the suspension will stand.

INVOLVES ALL

A committee of peers might be appropriate in an action involving only students, Diamond said, but the current case "involved the board, the faculty, the administration and the public."

Campbell named student vice president George J. Shea to head a committee to rewrite the student conduct rules to provide for all-student hearings.

Campbell said the council heard, but did not approve or

Water's Bad Taste Blamed On Microbe

The bad taste in the water of the North Marin County Water District has been traced to a harmless bacteria, actinomycete, which gives the water an "earthy" taste after it has been killed in the chlorination process, Manager Eugene Churchill reported last night to the water district board.

The bacteria have almost disappeared from Stafford Lake and the water from it could be used again, Churchill said. The district quit using the lake water on Oct. 10 and switched to Russian River water after it received complaints on the taste.

During the interval, the district started installing new chlorinators at the treatment plant at Stafford Lake. These should be completed so the district can switch back to the lake water next week, he said. The North Marin district had trouble with the same bacteria two years ago and Marin Municipal Water District has had trouble with it for the past two years, Churchill said.

The North Marin County Water District board also:

METERS — Was informed the district had a water use increase of 4 per cent, or from 9,190 meters last year to 9,558 meters this year, but a slight drop in the use of water in September of this year compared to September 1968.

RESTAURANT — Approved an agreement for water service and the installation of a fire hydrant for the Jack-In-the-Box restaurant on Ignacio Boulevard, to cost the restaurant $2,085.

LEAKS — Received a report that the district had only five main leaks in the past six months compared to 81 during the same period in 1961. This is due to the district's policy of replacing old mains, Churchill said.

Hub Trustees Decide On School Remodeling

First priority for remodeling at Isabel Cook School will go to improved ventilation, the San Anselmo School District board agreed last night.

The board authorized bids for a roof cooling system to serve five classrooms which face Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and have sealed windows to keep out traffic noise.

Other work needed at the school includes improved heating and toilet systems, Supt. Stephen L. Parodi reported.

Several parents of Cook pupils spoke in favor of the improvements last night. The board was recently assured by the city that no widening of Drake is imminent.

The board accepted several gifts from the Wade Thomas School Parent-Teacher Association for the school, including materials and labor for a kindergarten playhouse, five film strip projectors, storage cubbyholes and materials from Creative Playthings.

Completing its hiring for an expanded single-session kindergarten program this year, the board hired Robin M. Barnett to teach kindergarten at Isabel Cook School and Elaine F. Heller to teach kindergarten at Sleepy Hollow School. Mrs. Barnett will receive $8,848 a year and Mrs. Heller $9,547, both salaries pro-rated for the remainder of the school year.

The San Anselmo School District Board Also:

HANDICAPPED — Approved an agreement with the Marin County schools office for the county to provide classes for educationally handicapped pupils in seventh and eighth grades, and to handle any overflow of educationally handicapped pupils in first through sixth grades which the San Anselmo classes cannot handle.

TEACHERS — Recognized the San Anselmo Elementary Teachers Association as a qualified certificated employee association and agent for district teachers this year.

MEETING — Was told the annual joint meeting with the San Anselmo City Council will be at 8 p.m. Nov. 13 at city hall.

CONFERENCES — Was told minimum class days will be held from Nov. 3 through Nov. 14 for first through sixth grades so teachers can confer with parents after the class day ends at 2 p.m.

VOTES — Was advised by Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino that under a new state law, a majority of the entire five-member board will be needed to take action. In the past boards have been able to act with a majority of the quorum present. The change in the Education Code was passed by this year's legislature.

UNIFICATION — Was told by Trustee Representative Basil H. Scalabrini that there appears to be little local sentiment for submitting a new unification proposal to the voters until more study by school committees. Trustees from San Anselmo and three other school districts last week asked that no unification plan be submitted to the voters in 1970.

Navy Is Seeking Officer Students

Marin high school seniors and graduates interested in the Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps four-year scholarship program must apply by Nov. 14, Gerald A. Adair, local Marin Navy recruiter, announced today.

The Navy College Aptitude Tests will be given on Dec. 13, he reported.

Students in the program spend college summers in training at sea and receive a regular commission after graduation.

Applications are available at Marin high schools and at the Navy Recruiting Station, 910 D Street, San Rafael.

Nicasio Again Urges Tam Bussing Service

Nicasio School District trustees, concerned over the threatened curtailment of bus service by the Tamalpais High School District, decided to write again urging the Tam district board to continue paying for it, according to secretary Beverly Alberigi.

The district has been faced with curtailment for several months and alternatives, such as having students drive their own cars to Sir Francis Drake High School in San Anselmo, have been rejected in favor of the Tam district continuing to provide and pay for bus service. The Nicasio School District board also:

LAND — Instructed trustee John L. Shepherd to contact the county coundel's office to negotiate with Marin Municipal Water District for the purchase of about three acres of land adjacent to the school.

SHED — Approved purchase of a metal shed for $115 to store flammable materials as recommended following a recent fire inspection.

LIGHTS — Learned the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. has not yet reported on a meter investigation the board requested. The board asked that the meter be checked because it felt the $80 to $100 a month bills for the three-classroom school were excessive.

POINT REYES — Adopted a resolution urging acquisition of the remaining land in the Point Reyes National Seashore.

Stereo, Tapes Stolen

A $100 car stereo and $80 worth of tapes were reported stolen sometimes yesterday afternoon from an auto belonging to Donald R. Whitted of Vallejo while the car was parked on Brooks Street, San Rafael police reported.

Mill Valley Names New Fiscal Chief

Carl W. Reynolds, finance director for the City of Delano, has been hired as Mill Valley finance director, City Mgr. William H. Cunningham announced yesterday.

Cunningham said Reynolds, who is in his early 50s, will start the new job Nov. 3. He will be paid $12,025 annually.

Reynolds will replace former finance director James L. Phillips who resigned Sept. 26 after only four weeks on the job, citing "an unbelieveable backlog" of work as his reason.

Reynolds has been finance director in Delano, a city of 14,652 population for the past four years. Before that he worked as accounting director for the city of Azusa and as senior accountant with a certified public accounting firm in Covina.

He is a graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles with a bachelor's degree in business administration and a major in accounting. He is married and has two children.

Cunningham noted Reynolds was the first finance director for Delano and organized its newly created finance department. He also is familiar with data processing concepts, Cunningham said.

Cunningham added he is "looking forward" to having Reynolds on the job which has been filled for only one month out of the past five.

Meetings Put Off

The Marin County Housing Authority and Marin County Redevelopment Agency will not meet tonight as scheduled due to lack of a quorum, according to Executive Director Donald O Stutsman. A new date for the meetings will be announced, Stutsman said.

Hearing Scheduled On Pot Possession

A preliminary hearing has been set for Nov. 13 in Marin Municipal Court for Kenneth Stanley Ross II, 22, of Novato, who is accused of possessing marijuana Oct. 11.

Ross was arrested by Novato police who stopped him for not having a taillight on his truck. Officers said Ross had with him three hand-rolled cigarettes and loose vegetable matter, believed to be marijuana.

MENTAL HEALTH SHAKEUP

No Trims Pledged In Child Services

By WAT TAKESHITA

There will be no change or reduction in mental health services for children, under the administrative reorganization that is taking place, the director of Marin Community Mental Health Center assured Marin residents today.

Dr. Donald P. Wilson explained that the treatment of new patients at the children's services office, 20 H Street in San Rafael, is being held up only a week or two until the administrative reorganization is completed. He stressed that treatment of the present caseload and all emergency services for children are conintuing, and telephone calls are being taken for new child referrals. "By no means should people refrain from calling," he added.

Just what is Wilson's current "administrative reorganization"?

Up to now, two deputy directors served under Wilson. They were Dr. Joseph P. Gutstadt, deputy director for adult outpatient services; and Dr. Leon R. Wanerman, deputy director for children's services. Each was on half time at $1,021 apiece per month.

This will be changed as follows: Dr. C. Hardin Branch, chairman of the department of psychiatry at University of Utah, will become the sole full-time deputy director under Wilson at $2,084 per month. Gutstadt and Wanerman will be reassigned to share new post of chief of in-service training, each on half-time with no change in pay.

Wilson said in-service training is a budgeted item but there was no title for the job in the past.

Dr. John Guerrant, chief of the inpatient units, will remain in that position.

In the past, adult services under Gutstadt had three separate sections — emergency team, alcoholism and drug abuse, and the basic adult group.

Children's services under Wanerman had these sections: South Marin team, Novato team, juvenile crime prevention team, and the basic child group.

Hereafter, Gutstadt and Wanerman will confine their activities to in-service training. Their former duties (adult and children's services) will be consolidated under one deputy director.

The new structure under Branch will have five teams as follows: One will be a team dealing with alcoholism, drug abuse, juvenile delinquency and crime prevention. The other four will be geographical teams serving South Marin, Novato, San Rafael and Ross Valley (including West Marin).

"Each team will have six positions, three for adult services and three for children's services.

The total number of staff positions remains unchanged; they have merely been rearranged under the five teams.

The main difference is that under the old structure, adult and children's services were separate, whereas they are consolidated in the new structure.

"The main purpose of consolidation," said Wilson, "is to bring about more coordination."

He gave these examples:

Children's services might be working with schools. Parents of a student may be getting adult treatment, and the student may be having difficulty because of the emotional conditions of the parents. Under the consolidated structure, the problems of a child at school as related to conditions at home can be quickly coordinated.

Children's services may be working with churches. Adult services may be working with the same churches. If they work as a team, they can coordinate, divide the work, and reduce duplication.

This is how the new structure will operate.

The deputy director (Dr. Branch) will coordinate the five teams, through which the entire county will get consultations and education as well as emergency services, outpatient diagnosis and treatment for children, adults and families, said Wilson.

"The deputy director will coordinate in such a way that emergency services are readily available for the entire county at all times, and outpatient treatment programs allow for a flexible referral system between the teams. For example, if one team has some time because of a temporary lull, they can be assigned to help out another that is swamped."

Each team is to assign personnel hours so that a minimum of one-fifth is spent in indirect services and program planning. For example, they would help develop alternative services in cooperation with other groups such as half way houses, church groups, volunteer services for people in crises, police and probation group programs.

"One of the main focuses of these teams is to provide these indirect services to the community," said Wilson.

There will be no change in the physical facilities — Mental Health Center at Marin General Hospital, plus a small office in Novato and the H Street office in San Rafael. "I wish to assure the community that there will be no dimunition of children's services."

Wilson said the reorganization is a continuation of a process started before the current controversy which led to the Sept. 30 suspension with pay of Dr. Clyde G. Miller, director of community mental health services.

Rohnert Park Cool To Bid For Hospital

The Rohnert Park City Council has taken a dim view of the proposal by developer Paul Golis that the city donate six acres for a proposed hospital cil last night took a dim view of site.

Mayor James E. Rodgers said Gollis urged the council Monday night to establish a hospital foundation and to donate the land.

Rodgers said the council was reluctant to give half of the 12-acre site earmarked for a future civic center. The foundation concept was also coldly received and Rodgers pointed out that Councilman Arthur N. Roberts already serves on the Sonoma County Medical Facilities Committee.

Golis also asked the council to consider a change in zoning on his property near the proposed hospital site to permit medical offices and a convalescant hospital.

The council said the land should remain zoned as multiple family residential.

The Rohnert Park City Council also:

UNDERGROUNDING — Adopted an ordinance requiring that all new developments have underground utility lines.

ZONING — Approved an amendment to the planned unit development district regulations that would permit Young America Homes, Inc. to build a subdivision with 45-foot lot widths.

CHAMBER — Heard a presentation from Bart C. Mitchell on making the chamber of commerce autonomous through dues receipts and a plan to do away with the city business license tax. A study session with chamber directors will be scheduled next month.

Gonorrhea Caseload

Twenty-six cases of gonorrhea, 17 streptococci infections, three cases of shigella, two of infectious hepatitis and one case each of salmonella, mumps and measles were reported in Marin last week, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

San Domenico Special School Open House Set

Persons interested in attending free secretarial classes next month at San Domenico School in Sleepy Hollow have been invited to an open house at the school Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m.

Free transportation to the open house will be provided by the Education Corps of Marin County and the Marin Clunty Economic Opportunity Council, so-sponsors of the educational program.

Transportation will leave St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church in Marin City at 2 p.m. Transportation will also be provided at 2:30 p.m. at the Marin County Courthouse in San Rafael and at 2:45 p.m. in the Red Hill Shopping Center, San Anselmo.

Lack Of Quorum

The Belvedere Planning Commission did not meet last night for lack of a quorum, chairman George Banning reported. The meeting was rescheduled for 8 p.m. Monday in city hall.

Marin Span Work Is Economy Victim

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California will spend $782.63 million for highways during fiscal 1970-71, but will defer more than $126 million in contract awards, including the widening of Richardson Bay Bridge, to help cool down the state's economy, in line with President Richard M. Nixon's anti-inflationary federal spending cuts.

The budget approved by the State Highway Commission Tuesday is $72 million less than the $854,773,000 it is spending this fiscal year.

More than half the total, as usual, goes for construction, right-of-way and engineering. This comes to $434.27 million.

There was no discussion of details of the construction section of the budget during more than three hours of debate, but friction developed between the Division of Highways and the Reagan administration over whether to sacrifice some landscape projects to increase spending for safety.

State Highway Engineer John Legarra, head of the Division of Highways, had recommended that the commission spend about $12 million for landscaping as part of a five-year plan his staff had worked up.

But James A. Moe, the Reagan administration's spokesman as director of the Department of Public Works, recommended that $6 million in landscape work be deferred and the money used "to correct deficiencies in traffic safety."

The commission finally compromised and raised landscape spending to $9 million and safety projects to $13 million — an increase of $3 million for each.

Widening of Richardson Bay Bridge to eight lanes at a cost of $2.9 million was to have been begun next fiscal year under a $1.6 million allocation, with the remaining $1.3 million in fiscal 1971-72.

A spokesman for the commission, however, said that the bridge widening may yet be funded in time for work to begin next spring. Funding will depend on federal cutbacks in construction — which the state is attempting to balance with its own cutbacks to spead the impact throughout the state.

All that was included in the approved budget yesterday for Marin was $50,000 for rights-of-way on various state routes.

In Sonoma, $1,935,000 was budgeted, including $950,000 for rights-of-way purchases and $385,000 for construction of southbound entrance and exit ramps on Highway 101 at the Rohnert Park Expressway, and enlargement of culverts at Hinebaugh and Todd Creeks. The Sonoma County Flood Control and Water Conservation District is to pay the balance of the $600,000 cost.

But deferred beyond next fiscal year was a $750,000 project to improve Highway 116 for four miles, from Highway 101 in Petaluma to the Lakeville Road. The project included construction of shoulders, resurfacing and rebuilding two bridges. This project, however, may be refunded in time for construction next spring, the commission spokesman said.

Most Feared Driver: 21 To 25 Age Drinker

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The drinking driver who is involved in an auto accident in California is likely to be 21 to 25 years old, male and more of a fatal danger to himself than others.

Those facts emerged today from a detailed report by the California Highway Patrol on accidents in 1968 in which the symbol "HBD" appeared on the report.

It stands for "had been drinking."

In 1968, that symbol appeared on 31,228 fatal and injury accident reports.

Some 856 drivers who were obviously drunk or whose ability was impaired by alcohol were involved in fatal accidents last year Of these, 489 were single-car accidents, 329 involved another vehicle and 38 hit a pedestrian.

However, the number of fatalities involving a drinking driver dropped by 73 from 1967, to 1,688. Patrol officials said they didn't know why.

Of the 5,852 persons who died on state roads last year, 34.8 per cent were in an accident which involved a drinking driver.

Drunks also can kill themselves on foot, the patrol noted. It reported 177 pedestrians who had been drinking died in motor vehicle accidents.

The most frequent violation by drinking drivers involved in fatalities was exceeding the speed limit.

Four Drinking Drivers Fined

Four persons have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving.

Joseph Paul Becker, 40, of San Francisco, who was arrested May 18 in Sausalito was placed on six months' probation and fined $100.

Casey Johnson, 45, fo San Francisco, who was arrested Oct. 5 on Highway 101, was placed on two years' probation, sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $302.

Kurk Richard Toohey, 34, of 9 Peninsula Road, Belvedere, who was arrested Aug. 14 on Golden Gate Bridge, was placed on one-year probation and fined $240.

William Patrick Regan, 38, of Forest Knolls, who was arrested Aug. 16 in Forest Knolls, was placed on one-year probation and fined $75.

More, Bigger Explosions; The Question Is, Why?

" 'Everything appears to be normal,' the Atomic Energy Commission said. The weapon's force was estimated at less than the equivalent of one million tons of TNT."

That is a paragraph from an Associated Press report from Las Vegas on Oct. 8, after the AEC set off the latest in its long — and recently speeded-up — series of underground nuclear explosions in Nevada.

THAT BLAST came only a few days after the AEC set off a million-ton explosion in a 4,000-foot deep hole in the Aleutians — and breathed a sigh of relief that it did not trigger an earthquake or tidal wave as some scientists had feared.

It came less than a month after the AEC shipped a trainload of radioactive waste from its Rocky Flats, Colo., plant by rail to a burial ground near Idaho Falls, Idaho.

It came less than two months after a hydrogen "device" — again with the force of a million tons of TNT — was exploded underground in Nevada, shaking buildings in Las Vegas. And it was also less than two months after a 40,000-ton explosion in Colorado knocked bricks off chimneys in the towns of Grand Valley and Rifle. And it was less than three months after a "low yield" (equal to 20,000 tons of TNT) underground explosion in Nevada admittedly leaked radiation poison into the atmosphere.

A MONTH BEFORE that, a "medium yield" (equal to 200,000 tons of TNT) Nevada explosion set off a tremor recorded on seismographs 200 miles distant.

Some nuclear testing almost had to be delayed. A fire broke out May 11 at the AEC's plant in Rocky Flats, Colo. The AEC rushed to the Senate with warning that this might halt nuclear missile production for the rest of the year. Senators quickly appropriated $45 million to repair the plant. But they did it behind closed doors. Not until more than a month later was the "near-tragedy" bared when the committee's minutes were made public.

BLAST BY BLAST, the AEC announces the explosions—because they obviously cannot be concealed. But there is little information as to how many of them are planned, or as to the possible results.

Some came to light, however, last April, thanks to Howard Hughes, the multimillionaire industrialist who owns a lot of real estate in Nevada and appears to be buying the state piece by piece.

Hughes felt the value of his real estate was threatened by the continuing explosions. So he put the AEC on the spot with some questions. He got this answer, as reported from Las Vegas by United Press International:

"Future underground nuclear tests in Central Nevada will have a punch of several megatons and detonations in Alaska will be larger."

THOSE HORRENDOUS explosions are yet to come.

The AEC has been chary with information about the number and force of such explosions. And it has never answered the key question:

Why?

It would appear that the destructive force of the atom was proved a long time ago at Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Must scientists, underwritten by the taxpayers, behave like children playing with fire, until they destroy the world to find out how powerful that force can be?

The Last Frontier

Space is the last frontier. First man polluted the land, the air and the fresh water. Now, he has a good start at ruining the oceans with sewage, chemicals and assorted rubbish. Those who fly much tell us it is not uncommon to find debris, such as a half-water-soaked mattress, miles and miles from any coastline.

Just recently, man first set foot upon the moon. And when he left, the moon was a bit littered. A creature from another planet might shake his head and say we are hopeless.

"Jish one more little ol' shot for the road!"

Hair Issue Even Reaches Vietnam

I'd just like to put in my two cents worth about the Bob Troppmann hair thing that's causing a lot of hate and letter writing. Before I entered the service of our country I had semi-long hair and liked it that way. I was never in any team of any kind at Redwood. But I want to give my written and moral support to Mr. Troppmann who from what I observed during my time at Redwood was an excellent coach, respected and I suppose loved by the people on his teams. Hair, I've decided, is not absolutely important; it's the person underneath that hair that counts. Valmar Schaff is not quite right when he alludes that Mr. Troppmann cannot lead his men and implies that Troppmann is the second coming of Hitler (I-J, Oct. 1). I must add also, that I find Tom Wickert's "hair," such as it is or perhaps isn't, not to my personal liking. Much too long and hippyish.

Mr. Troppmann, don't resign, and all the rest of you clowns sit down. Everything will be right in the end.

Times Have Changed And So Must Rules

Your editorial of Oct. 13 printed at great length excerpts from a letter by Mrs. Carol Pasquinelli regarding the action of Supt. Robert Torrey in rescinding the haircut regulation. Mrs. Pasquinelli has made an unwarranted and totally unjustified insinuation concerning Coach (Douglas) Basham's action in permitting "long-haired" members of the team to run. . . . You may be certain that Coach Basham has not won the confidence and cooperation of the boys by shows of favoritism.

The editorial comments on the fact that the school board meeting drew so large a turnout. It is unfortunate that the so-called "concerned" parents who were busy with their petitions did not feel compelled to appear in equally large numbers last spring when a seminar was held at the Little Theater of Redwood High School to discuss drug problems there. . . . Is it possible that the parents of Redwood High School students have a rather warped view of what issues are truly important? Where were they then?

Superintendent Torrey is to be congratulated, not chastised, for posing questions to the athletic coaches concerning the relevance of existing rules. Times have changed and rules must be changed or adapted accordingly. . . .

You conclude your editorial with the following: "We trust the Tamalpais High School District Board will get the message." I would guess that they most certainly did get the message very clearly that those who would fight to keep the status quo are also those who threaten, harangue and hate.

'Why Does Everyone Seem To Hate Us?'

I have never seen so many happy people before here and in San Francisco. Today, Oct. 15, as it was raining I could hear them remark "Man oh man, I hope those traitors get soaked!" or "I hate rain but today I love it." It seems as though the majority of people hate these doves and peace marchers. Why? There are a few of them that riot. People can be deadly and dangerous. Specially when they are silent and icy with a cold fierce stare. Look out!

I am a peace marcher and I am worried. I have never rioted, only been with those that have. Although I never condoned it I did try to stop them.

I am afraid that a lot of people will let go some time and taks out after the few of us who are only dedicated to peace and a people's world. Just why does everyone seem to hate us?

Professionals Show They Really Care

Anyone wanting a list of outstanding doctors and lawyers in Marin should keep handy the advertisement on page 7 of the Oct. 15 I-J.

Those professionals who signed the get-out-of-Vietnam statement show they really care, beyond the dollar-producing aspect of the professions they represent.

Some Footnotes On Red Tape Plaint

Thank you for printing my story "Novatan Winning Bureaucracy War," Sept. 29. The article was well written and fair — however may I add a few more items?

The social worker was not interested in my previous experience with children, or perhaps this is of little or no consequence. . . .

With regards to the breakdown in communications: after the social worker's first visit, I felt something was lacking. Therefore I contacted the supervisor and questioned her, only to be informed that this particular social worker was more than efficient and lengthy visits were necessary before my capabilities could be decided.

May I conclude with, "Is it any wonder Marin County lacks a sufficient number of good day care homes?" . . .

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Albert von der Werth Sr. of Greenbrae, a developer, said a Greenbrae yacht harbor containing nearly 300 berths would be constructed east of Highway 101.

California's crime rate dropped to its lowest point in two years.

20 YEARS AGO

Oct. 22, 1949

Dist. Atty. Albert E. Bagshaw proposed licensing tow-truck operators after reports they were racing to accident scenes to beat their competition.

THE DRUMMONDS

On The Record, Russ Leaders Would Lose In Real Election

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — It's not five years since Party Chairman Leonid Brezhnev and Premier Alexei Kosygin tossed Nikita Khrushchev out and seized power in Russia.

Fortunately for them, there is no way the Russian people can render a verdict, no way they can turn them out of office for poor performance.

During this time, the voters of France ousted Charles de Gaulle, the voters of West Germany ousted Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger, and the people of Czechoslovakia cheered when Alexander Dubcek ousted the Stalinist reactionary — until the Russian army voted the other way.

But in the Doviet Union the government is of the party by the party and for the party, and if people don't like it they are free to go to jail.

IF THERE COULD be an opposition party in the Soviet Union, what would it be saying about the five-year record of the Brezhnev-Kosygin team?

It certainly wouldn't be less than this — that the new ruling group:

— Earned the hostility of most of the Communist governments and most of the people of its Eastern European empire.

— Lost the support of the Communist parties of Western Europe and many elsewhere because of the occupation of Czechoslovakia.

— Ignited a war in the Middle East from which the whole world still suffers.

— Partly restored Josef Stalin to respectability and began a new reign of repression against independent-minded artists, writers, teachers and others.

— Continued to put arms ahead of consumer goods and kept the Russian standard of living at a distressingly low level.

— Lost the race to the moon.

THE SOVIET UNION has lost the trust of its Eastern European neighbors. It has been unable to repair its break with Yugoslavia. Romania pursues an independent foreign policy. Czechoslovakia is a nation under Russian siege. And the Brezhnev doctrine — that the Soviet Union possesses unlimited sovereignty but other Communist nations possess only limited sovereignty and are subject to Russian intervention whenever the Kremlin chooses — has slienated Communist leaders the world over.

The Russian economy — industrial and agricultural — is in difficulty. The rate of growth appears to be slowing down, and the outlook now is that farm output may well fall below last year's figure.

Yes, there is substantial tranquility throughout the Soviet Union. There are no protests against the draft, there is no visible campus unrest against the continued sale of heavy armaments to Egypt to replace what was lost in the 1967 war, there is no longer any visible revolt against the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

No protest, no dissent, no demonstration — all quiet because the protesters, the dissenters and the demonstrators have been repressed with a vigor reminiscent of Stalin. The secret police are again busy at their work to make sure that more writers like Anatoly Kuznetsov are not allowed to slip out of the country, to defect and tell the truth. Intellectuals are given steady jobs at hard labor.

IT SEEMS EVIDENT that today the Soviet Union has the tranquility of the jail in which those who might disturb that tranquility are kept in solitary But dissenting Russian intellectuals have shown themselves made of stern stuff. They will surely break out again and shatter this artificial peace.

Six months after Brezhnev and Kosygin maneuvered themselves into power, one of the most experienced of the western diplomats in Moscow said privately: "The wrong men got in." He meant that the prospect for some liberalization within the Soviet Union and for improved relations with the West were dimmer than ever.

State Employees' Strike Threat May Bring Retaliatory Laws

By JAMES K. WOODWORTH

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The California State Employees' Association is carrying a chip on its shoulder.

This was shown by the approval recently by the organization of removing the "no-strike" pledge from its constitution.

The action, according to CSEA, puts "teeth in the campaign for higher pay and improved benefits."

"FOR TWO YEARS, 1967 and 1968, the (CSEA general) council overwhelmingly rebuffed attempts to remove the no-strike pledge, expressing the belief the legislature and the governor would respond to a display of good faith by the employees.

"That belief was wrong. It didn't work," the CSEA statement declares. "Council delegates stressed time and again they don't currently anticipate a strike . . . Delegates felt it was time to put guts in the demand to be heard. Years of frustration were vented in the chorus of 'ayes' for removal of the no-strike clause. The legislature and the governor know it is time for action."

ONE PART of the statement certainly is true: the legislature and the governor do know it is time for action, but it may turn out to be a different kind of action than anticipated by the state employees.

When state employees charge that the list of inequities attendant to their employment with the state is growing almost daily, it is a statement that needs much clarification.

Are these inequities claimed by the CSEA determined when comparisons are made with other state governments, or the federal government? Or are they comparisons with private enterprise?

Comparison with private industry would be unfair to the state since there is a vast difference between the state and private enterprise. It is like comparing apples with oranges.

Should the comparison be made with federal jobs, then in most cases, the state worker certainly has the best of it.

IF THE ACTION of the association's general council is upheld by the many chapters that must ratify the action on removing the no-strike pledge, then the state legislature has received its warning and the 1970 session of that body should result in some legislation banning strikes by state employees.

State employees, like the rest of us, always believe they are worth more than they are receiving in pay and benefits.

While demanding more pay and benefits, and backing these demands with a threat of strike, the CSEA is opposing economy in state government, particularly any economies which result in a cutback in the number of employees.

With the nation and the state threatened by run-away inflation, it is common sense to hold the line on state spending if possible. If the employees are demanding additional pay, then cuts must be made elsewhere in the system.

Threats sometimes backfire.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Spy Role Assigned Russian Who Tried To Steal Plane

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Alexander S. Khomyakov, the Russian "diplomat" wounded in a plot to steal a Lebanese Mirage jet fighter, has been positively identified as a top agent for GRU, the Russian military intelligence organization.

That non-diplomatic identification puts the bizarre attempted theft on a new focus. It has also promoted some interesting speculation among officials here.

The incident, early this month, was interesting enough for the U.S. intelligence community without the further embellishment. Diplomat Khomyakov and Vladimir Vasiliev, an embassy employee, were charged with the plot after a gun battle with Lebanese military police in Beirut.

Also involved in the incident was a flight lieutenant in the Air Force of Lebanon who, according to Lebanese authorities, had played along with the Russian offer of a $2 million bribe to fly one of Lebanon's French-built Mirages to a Russian airfield near Baku on the Caspian Sea.

ACCORDING to Lebanese reports, the pilot, Lt. Mahmoud Mattar, had accepted a $200,000 down payment when military police broke into Vasiliev's apartment on signal. Mattar, according to Lebanon's official account, had taped all his negotiations with the Russians on a small recording device.

There were other cloak-and-dagger touches too. Khomyakov, shot five times in the gunplay, was reported to have attempted suicide twice before he was declared persona non grata and returned to Moscow. For a couple of days the incident was widely publicized as a lovely spy story.

Russian authorities denied everything, however, and very quickly a lid was applied to news of developments in Beirut. Officials here assume that the United Arab Repbulic and other Arab states pressured Lebanon to soft-pedal the incident, which was embarrassing the Arabs' Russian friends.

KHOMYAKOV, ostensibly the first secretary in the Russian embassy in Beirut, proves to be an experienced hand in the Middle East.

Information available here indicates that he arrived in Istanbul in 1950 as an aide to the naval attache at the Russian embassy there. After some home leave in Russia in 1953, he returned to Turkey as the assistant naval attache and remained there until 1955.

In 1960 Khomyakov was again sent to Istanbul, this time as the Russian embassy's economic attache. On that assignment he remained for five years, until 1965.

His "diplomatic" assignment to Lebanon was also supposed to serve as the press officer for Russian Ambassador Sarvar Azimov.

AUTHORITIES HERE are convinced that Khomyakov used the naval attache, economist and press office posts as cover for his work as a top operative for GRU in the Middle East.

The purpose of the botched plot is what intrigues authorities here. The French-built Mirage is not a new war plane, and it is not at all apparent why such a theft was worth $2 million — or a $200,000 bribe — even if the mission had not failed.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

An officer on a navy supply ship was drilling his crew one sunny, hot morning on deck. "I want every man," he commanded, "to lie on his back, put his legs in the air, and move them as if he was riding a bicycle." Moments later he hollered, "Hey Murphy, over there, why the devil have you stopped?" "If you please, sir," was the reply, "I'm coasting."

DIALOGUE:

1. Irate traffic cop: "Why do you keep sounding your horn that way?"

Fun-loving motorist: "I can't help it. I have honk-honk flu."

2. Summer visitor to Maine lobsterman: "I bet you know where every rock along this coast is."

Lobsterman: "Nope. But I know where they ain't."

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

School Board's Opt To Live In Constant Fiscal Misery

By BRYCE W. ANDERSEN

"Annual income 20 pounds, annual expenditure 19, 19 and six, result happiness. Annual income 20 pounds, annual expenditure 20 pounds ought and six, result misery." — Mr. Micawber in Dickens's "David Copperfield."

California school boards must love misery.

This year has provided a good example. At the time school districts had to adopt their budgets, there was uncertainty as to how much money they would receive from the state. Two school finance bills were still in the legislature, with no assurance either would pass.

Accordingly, the school districts in most cases provided for the maximum general purpose tax allowed them, added whatever overrides they could, then came up with budgets which could be financed from these sources plus the amount they were assured from the state. With few exceptions, they found it possible to give teachers and other employees a cost-of-living raise within such a budget.

THE SCHOOL FINANCE bill that finally passed the legislature, however, provided more money than the schools had expected. Most districts received a considerable "windfall."

This could have meant the districts would have a nice cushion toward next year, if they had wished. Since the budgets already adopted provided for programs the boards had agreed to accept, and gave employees raises to meet the increase in living costs, the additional state money could have been held in reserve against emergencies, or to provide needed funds in case next year's legislature proves more miserly.

"Result: Happiness."

WITH FEW EXCEPTIONS, however, the school districts did not even consider such an approach. As soon as the amount of additional state funds was known, administrators went to work putting back items that had been cut for economy's sake. And in many cases, they recommended an additional raise for teachers, beyond the cost-of-living increase already granted.

If restoring items previously considered, and giving another raise to employees, did not eat up all the additional funds, the administrators inserted new items — programs that had been suggested previously but had not been considered as they were too expensive.

These budget revisions are now going to the boards for approval, which — again with few exceptions — they will get. The result will be that every penny of the school districts' income is committed, although that income is considerably more than was expected. Reserves will not be built up. And if anything goes wrong during the year — as something often does — the boards will be in the familiar position of having to make cuts in midterm or go to county governments to beg for loans against next year's taxes.

THIS PROCESS has been going on for so many years that it has become an unquestioned ritual.

Each year, all the schools' available income is committed in advance. Personnel are added, new programs launched, which eat up every penny. If more money becomes available, the same is done with it —as was the case this year.

When the next year rolls around, the process is repeated. The new personnel, once added, are rarely dropped. The new programs, once launched, are rarely abandoned — even when they prove less than satisfactory. There are again demands for more new programs, more personnel, more salary increases.

All the money in sight is again budgeted. Often it is not enough to cover all the new programs, added personnel, increased salaries. So the board goes to the people to ask an increase in the general operating tax limit to meet the demands, and the school boards' and teachers' associations go to the legislature to ask more state money.

Sometimes (not regularly, but sometimes) they get both —higher tax limits and greater state appropriations. And when they do, these also are promptly budgeted en toto, so that the following year it is the same story over again.

("Result: misery.")

'New Life' Styles To Be Forum Topic

Members of the Establishment will discuss "new life styles" with representatives of the younger generation at a panel discussion sponsored by the Mill Valley Forum at 8 p.m. today in Mill Valley City Hall.

Establishment representatives who have achieved a measure of success will question the young about new ideas concerning work and leisure, sex and marriage, community and communes, drugs and art and women's liberation.

The meeting will be the first sponsored this year by the forum, which has been holding community discussions on current issues for the past three years.

Representing the young will be Pat Hansen, who has lived in communes for five years and worked with the Students for a Democratic Society, the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party, Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee and the Women's Liberation Front in San Francisco, and George Weddleton, leader of the Fairfax Fight Against Hippie Ordinances, who will discuss the drug culture and its importance in his life.

Also speaking for the young will be Eliu Carranza, a San Jose State College art education student and Vietnam veteran, who hopes to teach in Mexican-American community, and Chris Schuepbach, director of the Mill Valley Drop In House for Teen-Agers and a teacher of disturbed children at the Behavior Therapy Institute in Sausalito.

Establishment representatives will be Joyce Gross, former Mill Valley School District trustee; Hubert James, a Mill Valley manufacturer's representative, and Marvin Haiken, former trial attorney for the Department of Justice in Washington, D. C., assistant U.S. attorney for Northern California and a member of the Marin Democratic Central Committee.

Marna Cohen, a psychiatric social worker with the University of California Medical Center, will moderate.

For the first time, the forum discussion will be in the round with panelists sitting in the audience. Spectators will be invited to participate in the discussion.

Today's penny is a blend of bronze instead of copper.

Kidnaped Swiss Free In Colombia

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Two Swiss citizens kidnaped Oct. 5 were found today by Colombian police.

Hermann Buff, 30, secretary to the Swiss Embassy in Bogota and Josef Straessler, 15, son of the Swiss consul in Cali, were found shortly after midnight between Buga and Cali, in the western part of the country.

The two were kidnaped by several men disguised as soldiers and carrying submachine guns. The kidnapers demanded $300,000 ransom, and the government offered $60,000 for information leading to recovery of the victims.

The police announcement did not say whether the ransom was paid.

Of the first five U.S. presidents, four were natives of Virginia—George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, James Madison and James Monroe.

Extension Of Hilltop Route Gets Endorsed

To the delight of about 150 spectators, the Novato Planning Commission has narrowly endorsed a hilltop route for the proposed eastern extension of De Long Avenue.

City Planning Director Brian W. Mattson said the vote at Monday night's commission meeting was 3-2, with Lee C. Wise, George S. Quesada and Wayne Sartain in favor and Eugene McGillicuddy and Kay England opposed.

The decision requires city council ratification.

De Long Avenue now dead ends at the proposed route of the Highway 101 bypass, but the state Division of Highways sought to extend it to obtain fill for the bypass project. When the division proposed a route that would take the extension near a group of homes, residents protested.

Approximately 150 residents of the area east of the proposed bypass attended the meeting last night and all agreed on a hilltop route, Mattson said.

Arguing in favor of the hilltop route were John Schoonover, president of the Gnoss Estates Association; Guthrie R. Greene, representing the North Marin Federation, and Howard Slade of the Poplar Terrace Improvement Association.

The Novato Public Works Department estimated the lower route would cost $180,000 and the upper route, $375,000.

The commission in other business, permitted Novato Toyota to erect a 105-square-foot and 18-foot-high free-standing dign and a 35-square-foot sign for its sales parts and service headquarters.

The commission also agreed that the northwest corner of Novato Boulevard and Tamalpais Avenue should be used commercially. A service station was denied several years ago at that location because it is adjacent to the Novato branch of the Marin County Library.

Funds Approved For Remodeling Of Fire Station

The Tamalpais Fire Protection District board has approved spending up to $500 for emergency temporary remodeling of Station 1, spokesman Bernard Lenhart reported.

Lenhart said the remodeling calls for installation of a shower room and quarters for additional men. The board, meeting Monday night, also set a survey Sunday of Station 2 in Homestead Valley to determine need for facilities there.

The Tamalpais Fire Protection District board also:

BEAUTIFICATION — Decided to discuss with the parks and recreation committee of the Tamalpais Community Services District the possibility of a cooperative planting program at the stations.

HIRED — Approved hiring of Jack Nepil as mechanic starting in January at $750 a month.

CONTRACT — Approved around -the-clock radio maintenance contract with delta communications for $78 a month.

POINT REYES — Approved a resolution backing purchase of the rest of the proposed Point Reyes National Seashore.

Nature Walks

Conservationist Elizabeth Terwilliger of Mill Valley will lead groups of mothers and children on nature walks on six consecutive Friday mornings starting this week at 9:30 a.m. from the Louise A. Boyd Science Museum, 76 Albert Park Lane, San Rafael.

Cleanup Drive Success Again

Novato is about 1,200 cubic yards of litter cleaner after two Saturdays of the fall cleanup campaign, William Bode, assistant city engineer, has reported to the city's beautification committee.

The amount is the total refuse dumped by residents at the free pickup area, Bode told the committee Monday night.

In addition, 20 high school students hired by the city for the two Saturdays picked up an additional 50 cubic yards of debris from roadsides, Bode reported.

The committee planned to view a flood control project in Napa today.

Teacher Query Stalls Fairfax Pay Decision

A recommendatinn to give Fairfax School District employees an additional 2 per cent salary increase with extra money received from the state was tabled last night after teachers questioned the distribution.

Supt. H. Reginald Hammond said the Fairfax Teachers' Association Salary Committee appeared before the board to question the distribution of the additional money to all employees instead of just to teachers.

His recommendation was to divide the $12,000 among both teaching and nonteaching employees, he reported.

Apparently, he said, teachers misunderstood the proposed distribution when it was promised earlier. The board directed Hammond to meet with the salary committee before making a decision.

Employees had received a 4.5 per cent salary increase and a promise there would be more if more funds were available. The additional money would bring raises almost up to the point requested by teachers, 7 per cent.

The Fairfax School District board also:

READING — Learned that while Manor School qualifies for state funds for two teachers in a reading specialist program, only one may be hired. Hammond said the program must start by Nov. 3 but tests for certification are not given until Nov. 8.

OBJECTIVES — Was told the first meeting of the citizens committees studying district goals and objectives will be held at 8 p.m. Nov. 6 at White Hill School. Three members of the district board will sit in on the meeting.

TRANSPORTATION — Reiterated its position that there will be no school buses this year, when concerned parents discussed safety of children crossing busy streets. Board President Laurence G. Herrnstein reported the Fairfax City Council had promised to cooperate in solving the problem.

ENROLLMENT — Heard enrollment now stands at 1,122, up eight from the last meeting, continuing the reversal of last year's trend. Hammond could not explain why it is going up this year.

UNIFICATION — Adopted a resolution asking the Marin County Committee on School District Reorganization to stop studying unification plans for the Tamalpais High School District.

CREDIT — Rejected a request from Diane Dreier, home economics teacher, that she be granted six units of in-service credit for a trip to Europe.

POINT REYES — Approved a resolution urging completion of Point Reyes National Seashore, but added to the resolution the point that the board believes the seashore is important as an educational tool.

DELEGATES — Supported Lawrence I. Kramer of San Rafael, David D. Ring of Tamalpais, and Eleanor Nesbit of San Mateo, as delegates to the California School Boards Association.

Hurricane Laurie On Slow Course

MIAMI (AP) — Coastal residents watched warily today as Hurricane Laurie churned slowly toward the Florida Keys with 90 mile per hour winds.

The big, wet storm circled slowly southward during the early morning hours and lost some of its fury in the waters of the Gulf of Mexico.

It was moving on a southeast course, headed for Florida's southwest tip.

Forecasters at the National Hurricane Center in Miami said Laurie was about 315 miles southwest of Fort Myers and 375 miles west northwest of Key West at midmorning, moving southward at about 10 m.p.h.

The storm's calm center was pinpointed in the Gulf at Latitude 25.4 north, Longitude 86.8 west.

Gales extended out 175 miles to the east, toward Florida and storm tides were forecast along the Florida West Coast. Boaters along a 350 mile stretch of shoreline were alerted to watch for the storm.

Laurie's slow movement made its future track hard to predict, said Gil Clark at the hurricane center. But he said the shift to a southerly track made further intensification unlikely.

If Laurie continued on its southeasterly course it would enter remote Florida Bay, some 50 miles south of Naples, early tomorrow and across the Florida Keys north of Key West.

However, Clark pointed out forecasters had no way of knowing for certain what course the storm would be on by late today.

Pupils Plan Play

A play, "The Ugly Duckling," will be presented at 8 p.m. Friday in the Wade Thomas School Auditorium, San Anselmo, by students of Red Hill Junior High School, also in San Anselmo.

Safecrackers Get $13,000 Haul In Petaluma

Safecrackers took $10,000 in cash and $3,000 in jewelry from Petaluma Grocery, 601 Petaluma Boulevard North, Petaluma, late Monday or early yesterday, police reported today.

Police said the burglars worked for several hours on the heavy safe using screwdrivers and small tools taken from a downstairs hardware box. The tools and papers from the safe were left behind.

Police were uncertain whether the burglars had hidden in the store at the 9 p.m. closing Monday or had entered through a skylight at the rear of the building. Inspector William Reed said it was obvious that exit was made through the skylight because gravel from the roof had been dropped onto cartons below.

Raymond Hing, store manager, discovered the burglary yesterday morning and said the safe had contained $10,000 in small bills, a large silver pearl valued at $2,000 and a jade necklace valued at $1,000.

Split Novato Council Orders Lagoon Work

The Novato City Council last night awarded a $1,500 contract for the small boat lagoon and authorized a contract for $17,250 for the spray pool in Pioneer Memorial Park on Simmons Lane.

The vote on each item was 3-2 with Mayor Harley A. McAskill and Councilman Babe Silva against.

The contract for the small boat lagoon was awarded to D. Piccinini Co. of San Francisco, the only bidder.

The $17,250 contract for the spray pool with Martin Metal and Associates will be submitted to the council later for final approval.

The mechanical filter for the water will be installed by the public works department at a cost estimated at $1,500 to $1,700 by Parks and Recreation Director Edward W. Adams.

The council, which had made an offer of $29,350 for the Rodoni property just north of the Community House would not raise its offer to the $35,500 price asked by Frank Perachiotti. A motion to hire a second appraiser on the property failed. The city's first appraisal was the figure offered for the property.

The council voted unamiously to support Holmes S. Norvell, vice mayor of Corte Madera, for appointment to the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

Youth To Superior Court On Burglary

Stanley Robert Wagner, 18, of Terra Linda, was bound over to Marin Superior Court on a charge of burglarizing a boat in Lowrie's Yacht Harbor in San Rafael Oct. 12 after a preliminary hearing in municipal court yesterday.

He was told to appear in court Monday for arraignment.

The Critical Viaduct Bottleneck

By JOANNE GRANT

Watching the traffic population seemingly exploding daily — on the Highway 101 viaduct through San Rafael and the city streets parallel to it — the contractor is ready to try a new tactic to speed up the work.

Unwilling to abandon what he believes can be done with a little extra money, J. Paul Silvestri Jr. of Murphy-Pacific Enterprises has decided he may hire a private traffic engineer to review the problem.

An engineer may succeed in convincing the state Division of Highways of the need for finishing the viaduct as soon as possible. Silvestri believes. The traveling public has failed, he added.

Based on a study by Stanford Research Institute, Silvestri believes it is costing the traveling public about $15,000 a week just sitting in their cars crawling through San Rafael.

Silvestri has been working since July to convince the highway division to spend about $100,000 extra on the $2.7 million project to speed the work by six to 12 months. In return, he promised to cut 100 working days from the contract or pay a penalty.

On Sept. 2, Silvestri presented his plan at a meeting in Sacramento to representatives of the state Department of Public Works and the highways division. A public works spokesman reported after the meeting the department was definitely interested in the proposal and appeared confident at least part of it could be implemented.

A later letter to Silvestri, reinforced the announcement.

It said: "Studied of the rough costs submitted to date indicate that only about 50 per cent would be directly applicable to project acceleration."

It warned that unless Silvestri submitted a detailed cost analysis to support the other half, state participation would not be recommended, and was signed by the resident engineer, J. M. Bouler.

After that, Silvestri said yesterday, he was called on repeatedly by representatives of the highway division for more information, which, he said, he gave. He said he also submitted an outline; a time schedule, and items of work he proposed to do.

He also revealed yesterday he had offered to tie a completion time to a calendar date instead of the customary number of working days to further bind himself.

On Oct. 2, Alan S. Hart, chief engineer of district four, wrote Silvestri his proposal had been rejected because he failed to supply "more detailed information."

Hart left no alternative in his letter to Silvestri, but Hart's assistant, Jack O. Grasberger, said the possibility of reconsideration is open if the required data is submitted.

Based on that, Silvestri is willing to do something to call more attention to the problem, such as the traffic engineer's survey, but he does not plan to return to the division of highways immediately. "It's their turn to come to me," he added.

Highway division engineers have maintained that the opening of additional lanes over Puerto Suello Hill will ease the situation considerably. They also have contended that Silvestri could finish the job early and save money by reducing overhead.

The latter has some validity, Silvestri admitted, but "not the amount of money they're talking about." The gain would not be equal to the risk he would have to take, he said.

Both Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, and Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, have said they support Silvestri's proposal to speed the work. Both have also said they would do what they could, without tangible results.

Another problem discussed yesterday in connection with the viaduct work was the increasing clogging of city streets as motorists apparently attempt to avoid the viaduct.

S. K. Herzog, a member of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce highway committee, said traffic backs up on Third Street in central San Rafael because of difficulties in moving traffic on Irwin Street.

A new proposal to provide temporary relief on the existing viaduct has been well received by the Chamber of Commerce.

The plan, to remove the center barrier and use changeable lane markers to provide three lanes in the appropriate direction during rush hours, is an "excellent" idea, believes Glenn Adair, chamber manager who has been working hard on the viaduct bottleneck.

However, the California Highway Patrol said it would oppose the idea because removing the center barrier would create a tremendous risk of head-on accidents. Severe accidents prompted the barrier in the first place, the patrol said.

The highway division was also opposed, indicating one lane would not carry off-peak traffic. In addition, the division believes the viaduct project will be complete by next summer regardless of the contract date, and the expense would be the less much for such a short time.

Purchase Of Unsold Bonds Is Rejected

Richardson Bay Sanitary District directors last night declined to purchase any of the Reed School District's $180,000 in unsold construction bonds, director Douglas de La Fontaine reported.

Reed District representatives have asked all public agencies in the school district's boundaries to consider purchasing the bonds at 5 per cent interest because the district has been unable to sell them on the open market at such a low interest rate.

Last week, the Tiburon City Council agreed to purchase $10,000 in bonds.

De La Fontaine said the board decided the district did not have adequate cash reserves to purchase long term bonds. Also, he said, the board agreed that since four school districts lie within its boundaries it should not favor one district and cannot afford to purchase bonds from all districts.

The board also set a special meeting for 8 p.m. Nov. 4 at the Trestle Glen treatment plant to discuss a new retirement plan.

Directors also voted to pay time-and-a-half for work in excess of 40 hours per week for all employees, he said.

HANOI PRISONER OF WAR

Only A Photograph To His Children

By JOANNE GRANT

"When Bill comes home he'll have a family," said Julie Butler, smiling and proudly hugging young Peter and Sheila.

Bill is Capt. William Buter, 28, husband, father, pilot—and prisoner of war.

He has never seen Sheila nor the home in Glenwood where his wife waits with subdued impatience for his return.

To his children, he is a man in a picture, usually with an airplane in the background.

A Stanford graduate who had majored in biology, Butler fell in love with flying and in March 1964 enlisted in the Air Force for a five-year stint with pilot training.

He was assigned to duty in Vietnam in August 1967 and Mrs. Butler went to live with her family near Sacramento until the baby was born.

On Nov. 20, 1967, about three weeks after his daughter arrived, Butler's F105 was shot down near Hanoi.

Until two months ago, he was officially listed as "presumed captured," a term used when authorities don't really know what has happened to a man; a classification that is tough to live with. "Not knowing for sure is terrible," said Mrs. Butler quietly.

Then, in August, she learned her husband is alive, in a North Vietnam prison camp.

"I was very optimistic all along," said the spunky Mrs. Butler, explaining Air Force authorities had told her his parachute was seen after the plane was downed. Usually, Americans are rescued quickly, because there is a bounty on their heads, she added.

The news that Butler was alive came from a trio of prisoners released last summer by the North Vietnamese and Mrs. Butler was invited to meet with one to learn more.

The man who had seen her husband reported he'd suffered a broken leg when his plane was downed but that he'd been walking on it without help two months later.

Beyond that there wasn't much the returned prisoner could tell her about her husband — contact among prisoners is simply not allowed by the North Vietnamese.

From her conference with the former prisoner, contacts with other families of prisoners, the Air Force and extensive research, Mrs. Butler has pieced together a picture of the life her husband must be leading with the more than 1,340 other Americans believed to be prisoners of war in Southeast Asia.

Physically, even the best of the prison camps are miserable, but more difficult, Mrs. Butler believes, is the mental anguish. "The biggest thing they have to fight over there is boredom," she said.

Prisoners are kept in solitary as much as possible, with little to occupy their minds or bodies.

For example, she learned the boxes families sent for Christmas last year were delivered, but first, all reading matter, games or anything that might occupy the mind were removed.

She doesn't believe letters are ever delivered, except for propaganda purposes, such as when news reporters visit the single "show" camp near Hanoi which has been opened from time to time.

Families of American prisoners are allowed to write three letters through the Red Cross and one to a Hanoi address each month. Mrs. Butler shares these opportunities with her husband's parents and they all write faithfully, though they're convinced the letters are not delivered.

"If one day they decide to let a package of Red Cross letters in, I want mine to be in it," said Mrs. Butler firmly.

On the other hand, enemy prisoners, some 4,500 held in South Vietnam, are permitted to write, but don't, having been told in advance their letters will not be delivered in the north. The north does not acknowledge having men in the south, she explained, adding the supposed lack of troops makes the Americans "war criminals" in the eyes of the North Vietnamese.

Mrs. Butler, allied with other wives and parents of the missing men, is working hard to change that and all aspects of North Vietnam's treatment of the captured Americans; to force them to follow the articles of the Geneva Convention concerning prisoners of war.

For example, North Vietnam has never released the names of the men its holds and many families, estimate at 800, have had men missing for as long as five years without a word. "A list would do a lot about easing the burden," she said.

United in a somewhat informal group, the National League of Families of American Prisoners in Southeast Asia, they ask friends to write letters to arouse world opinion to force Hanoi to treat prisoners humanely.

Their first campaign had letters flowing to senators and representatives and now they are working on foreign governments and United Nations ambassadors to make them aware of the concern.

"This is not a political issue, but a humanitarian one which transcends political boundaries," said Mrs. Butler, stressing the group is independent of the U.S. government.

The group also serves as an information exchange and offers support in times of depression.

"You can get down sometimes," said Mrs. Butler, explaining that a call to another wife — there are two others in Marin and about 20 in the Bay Area — eases the loneliness. "Someone else's problems are always worse," she said.

And the Air Force does its part. "I was astounded at the way they help," she said.

A central casualty division is available to answer questions and each base has a casualty officer whose duties include seeing that the wives and families of war prisoners have no problems.

It's still a long wait. "At first I thought it would be two years. Now I think it will be one more," said Mrs. Butler.

A LONG WAIT — Julie Butler holds Peter, 3, and Sheila, who will be 2 Saturday as she talks of her husband, Capt. William Butler, a prisoner of war whom she hasn't seen im more than two years — except in pictures such as the one she is holding. (Independent-Journal photo by Bob Hax)

Nixon Opposes Hike In GI Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon, battling Congress over money again, says a $60 increase over the $130 monthly education benefit available to a returning Vietnam veteran is excessive.

The $60 increase is in a bill that goes on the Senate calendar today and may be called up tomorrow for debate.

"As President, I have no option but to view with extreme concern the possible enactment of this measure," Nixon said yesterday in possibly hinting a veto if the bill passes.

The President's statement came in a letter to Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex., chairman of a Senate Labor subcommittee which championed the $60 boost.

Closed Session

Ross Mayor Frederick S. Allen said yesterday he has called a closed meeting of the town council at 8 p.m. tomorrow in town hall to discuss charges against a town employee.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Both Men, Women Have More Fat In Bodies When They Age

VAN DELLEN

Most of us gain weight with age. The added poundage is fat and the proportion is greater in women than in men. In a group of persons varying in age from 20 to 60 years, the fat content of women was 23.7 per cent whereas in men it was 16.8 per cent.

These individuals were not considered to be stout.

X-ray studies showed that as men grew older, fat was deposited in the flanks. The hips and breast areas were next, and the least fat was noted over the shins and the mid-portion of the arms.

THE FAT CONTENT of the body of normal women increased from 26 per cent at age 25 to 38 per cent at 55. The deposits were most marked over the chest, hips, waist, and back. The extremities remained the same.

All of the women in this study were of ideal weight for their age and height.

These changes account for the middle-age spread, bay window, and other uncomplimentary bulges that occur with each succeeding decade. The adornment may be a natural phenomenon.

In this respect, slender hips and waistlines separate the boys from the men.

STANDARD INSURANCE weight tables take into consideration body build (frame), but not tissue composition. An athlete's fat may be converted to muscle after extensive strenuous exercise. Since muscle is heavier, the individual may weigh more than the charts allow for maximum health.

Professional football players in peak condition may be 20 per cent (or more) overweight according to the tables for their height and age. Yet, they have little fat and can hardly be considered obese.

BELCHES ALL NIGHT

C. C. writes: I am in my 60s and spend so many sleepless nights belching, I'm afraid to eat. I am sure my diet is not proper, therefore, I plan to give up meats. Are vegetarians less prone to this condition?

REPLY

No. The manner is which you eat is more likely to be responsible than the types of foods consumed. An exception to the rule is a carbonated beverage. Many nervous people belch because they swallow considerable air, especially when gulping their food and also before belching. Now and then the symptom is secondary to gallbladder disease.

A HUNDRY FEELING

J. E. writes: After my gallbladder operation, I was put on the diet. I eat well and I feel fine, but have a feeling of hunger. What should I do?

REPLY

Bring this to the attention of the doctor who put you on the diet. You may get fat if you abide by the dictates of your stomach. If hunger pangs develop between meals, you may have too little sugar in the blood.

KNUCKLE CRACKING

E. P. writes: What makes a person constantly crack his knuckles?

REPLY

These is no explanation for many bad habits. The person you inquire about may not know what to do with his hands. Or, knuckle cracking may be his way of working off tension.

THROAT IS SCRATCHY

G. B. writes: My throat feels scratchy, as though a foreign body was imbedded in it. The doctor found nothing wrong. Could this sensation be a nervous reaction?

REPLY

Yes, provided your physician has made a thorough search of the scratchy area.

TELEVISION IN REVIEW

'The Odd Couple' To Become ABC Series

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"The Odd Couple," Neil Simon's smash Broadway hit that also was made into a movie, will become a half-hour situation comedy series on ABC-TV next season.

The stars will be Tony Randall and Jack Klugman.

Randall will play the part of Felix Ungar, an overly neat and fussy television newsman recently divorced by his wife. The role was created by Art Carney on Broadway and then done by Jack Lemmon in the movie.

Klugman will portray Oscar Madison, a slovenly, divorced, sportswriter friend of Felix who runs a messy household which includes a very sloppy, weekly poker game. This part was played by Walter Matthau as Oscar on Broadway. He later continued in the role on the London stage.

GOOD COMBO

Numerous actors and comedians have taken on the parts of Felix and Oscar in the many productions of "The Odd Couple." But the casting of Randall and Lugman seems a hard combination to beat.

Fine comedy teams are, curiously, all too rare on video. One thinks of the old Jim Arness-Dennis Weaver relationship on "Gunsmoke"—as Matt and Chester. Then there were Bill Cosby and Bob Culp on "I Spy," and John Astin and Marty Ingels in "I'm Dickens . . . He's Fenster." And of course there are Carney and Jackie Gleason on the Gleason series.

Not to be overlooked, however, are Bob Denver and Herb Edelman of CBS-TV's "The Good Guys," for their slapstick comedy pairing has increased greatly in skill in their relatively short time on the air. The series, which did rather well in the ratings last season, is reported a bit iffy at the moment, but one hopes the network realizes this comedy team is worth more of a shot than many other performers with far less talent.

A HEADACHE

Another situation comedy that went through a headache is NBC's Debbie Reynolds show. The comedienne pulled a one-day walkout after a cigarette commercial was used on her debut, and the tobacco sponsor soon quit the show as a result. This meant subsequent advertisers sought for the series were in a buyers' market, and the price was naturally lower, affecting income all around.

Says the daily trade paper "Variety": "As a result of the performer's blast against American Brands . . . there has been an agreement reached between Filmways TV (the comedienne's partner) and Miss Reynolds, whereby 'substantial' adjustments and mutual changes were made in her contract to give 'relief' to the network. This was to compensate NBC-TV for financial damage incurred when the sponsor pulled out of the show . . ."

Spanish-American Leader Resigns

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Reies Lopez Tijerina, leader and founder of a Spanish-American group claiming to be heirs of old Spanish land grants, has resigned from the group, apparently angered over action it took while he sat in jail.

In a letter written yesterday in the Albuquerque City Jail, Tijerina resigned as president of the Spanish-American Alianza, saying he does not believe in the present course of the group's administration. "My motto is justice but not independence nor revolution against the present government of the United States," he wrote.

A weekend convention of the Alianza called for establishment of an independent country for Spanish-Americans called "La Republica de Aztlan."

Cosmonauts Get Heroes' Welcome

MOSCOW (AP) — Top Soviet leaders and the people of Moscow gave a heroes' welcome today to seven cosmonauts who made history's first troika space flight.

The four colonels and three civilian engineers from Soyuz 6, 7 and 8, arrived in the Soviet capital from the Baikonur cosmodrome in an Ilyushin 62 airliner, accompanied by a formation of six jet fighters.

Communits Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, President Nikolai V. Podgorny and other high-ranking Soviet leaders greeted the cosmonauts at Moscow's VIP Vnukovo Airport on a gray fall day.

South African farmers have increased the volume of agricultural output by 92 per cent in the last 20 years and the industry is now the second largest single earner of foreign currency in the country.

Reagan Flays Moratorium

FLINT, Mich. (UPI)—California Gov. Ronald Reagan said last night persons who marched in parades and demonstrations during last Wednesday's Vietnam moratorium "did indeed lend comfort and aid to the enemy."

Reagan, speaking at the 5th annual Michigan Republican legislators' dinner here, said the moratorium "was a moratorium on free speech and discussion of all sides of the issue. The organizers took care of that."

The dinner was attended by 1,500 receptive party faithful who paid $100 a plate. It was considered a kickoff to the 1970 state election campaign.

Dinner To Mark U.N. Observance

United Nations Day will be celebrated with an international dinner at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Sonoma State College cafeteria.

Dr. Urban Whitaker, dean of undergraduate studies at San Francisco State College, will speak on "Individual Responsibility for the United Nations."

The dinner is co-sponsored by the Model United Nations of the college and the Sonoma County chapter of the United Nations Association. Music will be provided by members of the college opera workshop.

Leary's Son Warned Of Court Scene

SANTA ANA (UPI) — John Leary, 20, son of Dr. Timothy Leary was warned by a judge yesterday that if he didn't stop spitting on the courtroom carpet he would be jailed for three days.

The long-haired youth was present with his father and mother for a pretrial hearing on a motion to suppress evidence that resulted in charges of possession of marijuana and LSD against the three.

Young Leary denied he was spitting and his attorney, Marvin Cooper, told Superior Court Judge Byron McMillan that the youth was wiping the saliva on his trousers.

The judge directed that a large box of tissues be placed before Leary and the hearing proceeded.

The family was arrested last Dec. 26 in Laguna Beach, by police man Neal Purcell. Leary is noted for experimenting with LSD and other drugs.

The officer testified earlier that he saw the Leary station-wagon blocking a residential street and stopped to investigate.

He said John was down on "all fours" in the back seat. Purcell said John's pupils were dilated and he was acting erratic, thus leading the officer to believe John had been smoking marijuana.

Dr. David A. Smith of San Francisco, founder of the Haight Asbury Medical Center and a nationally known expert on the use of drugs, testified for the defense. He said it is almost impossible to detect marijuana users because their pupils do not dilate, their behavior is not odd and only a slight redness of the whites of their eyes betrays them.

Smith said young Leary's eyes were dilated when he was arrested because of fear and darkness, not because he was high on marijuana.

The first electric street railway in the United States made its inaugural run Aug. 10, 1885.

JIM GILMARTIN

You Saw It First
In The Ol' I-J

I see where the Associated Press learned yesterday that automotive engineering whiz Roger Penske is switching from Chevrolet Camaros to American Motors' Javelins for the Trans-American Sedan road racing series for the so-called "Pony" cars.

I-J readers got wind of that scoop here last Friday, and I must confess I got my tip from William C. McCormick Jr., executive veep of Sears Point International Raceway.

McCormick also adds an ironic twist to the story: Penske is the state of Pennsylvania's largest Chevrolet dealer. By switching his racing allegiance, I imagine Roger will now become Pa.'s largest American Motors dealer.

Even I'm Going To Switch

MORE TIPS: Ronnie Kaplan, who headed the A. M. Javelin team this year, will switch to Dodge Darts, Carroll Shelby will abandon his Ford Mustang team and Bud Moore will take over the entire Mustang operation. Me? I'm switching from VW to Datsun to get a new slant on economy driving. So solly, Adolph.

I MUST BE well read in Missoula because my implication here last week that University of Montana is a small potatoes football school has hurt some feelings. So far I've heard from alumni, the Grizzly coaching staff and the U.M. Director of Information. I expect the Governor to be knocking at the door next.

What I said was that I was surprised that a "major football power" didn't proselyte San Anselman Karl Stein, now a Montana star. The Grizzlies are undefeated in six games this season and are rated in the NCAA "College Division" football polls, not "Major Division."

Not Small, Not Major, Either

But the Grizzlies are NOT a small college team, according to a release from the school's Sports Information Director, Don Brunnel, who writes: "The only reason Montana is not considered major college is that we do not schedule five or more majors in a season. While we're not considered major by the NCAA, Coach Jack Swarthout's team is far from a small college club."

Which is what I think I said in the first place. Anyhoo, the larcenous Mr. Stein swiped his eighth pass interception of the season last Saturday, breaking the school record and moving to within two interceptions of the Big Sky Conference record. Bill Hickerson, another San Anselman, is another defensive standout for the Grizzlies at middle linebacker.

SAN RAFAEL furniture tycoon Milt Schwartz swears he saw an NBC television crew at Sunday's 49er-Atlanta game filming segments for next week's production of "Laugh-In."

Coach Injured In Accident

LARRY McINERNEY of Greenbrae, seriously injured in an auto accident on Highway 101 in Marin last Friday night, is the head football coach at Galileo High in San Francisco.

HERE'S A GOOD quote from Nate "The Great" Thurmond of the S. F. Warriors that aspiring young basketballers might remember:

"When I was in high school my coach pointed out that if I scored 20 points and the man I was guarding scored 25, all I had accomplished was a minus five. I've never forgotten that."

Which is one of the reasons Nate is generally regarded as the finest all around pivot man in basketball — at both ends of the court.

Thurmond To Test Hawks' New Center

ATLANTA (AP) — Nate Thurmond will have something besides a height advantage tonight when his San Francisco Warriors play Atlanta's unbeaten Hawks in a National Basketball Association game.

Because Zelmo Beaty decided to sign with the Los Angeles Stars of the American Basketball Association, he won't be on hand to oppose Thurmond at center.

In his place will be Jim Davis, a forward who was switched to the center spot. Davis lacks experience at that position-and at 6 feet 9, is two inches shorter than Thurmond.

Atlanta is 2-0 in the association's west division, while San Francisco is 0-1.

Baseball's Ultimatum To Seattle

CHICAGO (AP) — The City of Seattle has been given a little more than a week to meet a three-point ultimatum or face the possibility of losing the Pilots' American League baseball franchise.

The matter came to a head yesterday when the American League held an informal session following a joint meeting of the National and American Leagues concerning schedules and players' problems.

TO MEET AGAIN

Binding the situation was President Joe Cronin's acknowledgement that the American League will meet again in Chicago Oct. 29 ostensibly to study the 1970 schedule.

However, it was learned that the meeting will be held to find out if Seattle will abide by the three-point ultimatum which is:

1. Sicks' Stadium, temporary home of the Pilots, must be enlarged from 22,500 seats to 28,000 by the start of the 1970 season.

2. Plans must be completed for breaking ground for a $40 million domed stadium by Dec. 31, 1970, and the structure must be ready for opening day of the 1973 season.

EVIDENCE

3. There must be evidence of enough Seattle financial interest so that Cleveland investor William Daley, who owns more than 50 per cent of the club, can get out and give the Pilots local ownership.

Cronin and six owners met Monday night to hear the plea of a Seattle delegation bent on keeping the club in the Pacific Northwest.

Both the American and National Leagues met jointly yesterday to hear progress reports on 41 requests from the Players' Association after which Cronin and all American League owners or their representatives convened to discuss the Seattle situation.

OPTIMISTIC

Following that meeting, Cronin said he was optimistic that Seattle would meet the requirements to remain in the American League.

Daley, however, added to the possibility of a franchise shift by saying if Seattle cannot hold onto the ball club, it would very likely go to Milwaukee.

"I'd prefer to keep the club in Seattle," said Daley, "and I'm so sincere about that that I'd sell my end for less to Seattle than to groups from other cities that are interested.

"But if the franchise should be moved, I'm sure Milwaukee will get it for one big reason. The American League prefers Milwaukee over the other bidders."

Films Of 49ers To Be Shown

Travel films and highlights of the 1968 San Francisco 49ers football season will be shown at 8 p.m. today at the Petaluma Veterans' Memorial Building.

Sponsored by the American Legion Post 28 of Petaluma, the public may attend the showings that will also include films on underwater spear fishing, Yellowstone National Park and Yosemite National Park.

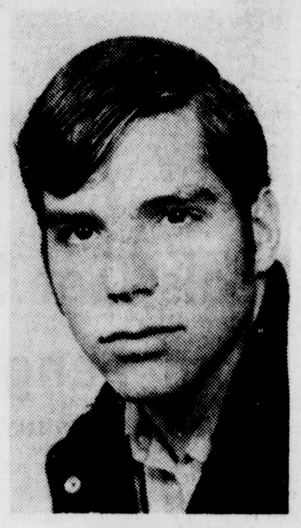
TOM JACKSON
Key players . . .



JACK BURNAM
. . . in victories

PREPS OF WEEK

Two Grid Stars Share Honors

An ace quarterback in the Marin County Athletic League and a young linebacker from a very young school are the Independent-Journal's back and lineman of the week.

Tom Jackson, easily the league's standout quarterback, was one of the few backs last week to generate any kind of offensive excitement as he tossed two long touchdown bombs, completed eight of 16 passes for 159 yards to spark Terra Linda High School's defending MCAL champions to a 28-12 win over Tamalpais.

Jack Burman, a junior linebacker for fledgling and unbeaten San Marin High of Novato, was the key man in a tremendous San Marin defensive effort that held Novato to just 10 yards total offense and one first down in a 9-0 Mustang win Saturday.

Jackson, an occasionally brilliant thrower last season, seems to have settled down into a steadily excellent quarterback who specializes in the long touchdown bomb, who calls his own game and who may have a sparkling future in the offing.

"He's got an awful lot of talent," said Terra Linda coach Don Lucas. "I don't think he's reached his full potential yet. He does a lot of things naturally that you just can't teach or coach. He's easily the best passer we've had here."

LAUDS RECEIVERS

Jackson doesn't really prefer throwing long instead of short. Things have just sort of worked that way.

"I like to throw either way," he said. "But one of our ends will come in the huddle and say he can beat his man, so we call the play. And I've got some great receivers."

Jackson threw two long TD bombs against defensively tough Riordan in the Trojans' 21-13 opening-game loss. The strikes came within two minutes of each other and today Jackson feels the Trojans could probably beat the unbeaten Crusaders.

So far this season, Jackson has thrown nine touchdown passes, most of them fairly long and sudden. In league play, he has four, two each against Drake and Tamalpais.

"I couldn't do anything without our line," he said. "That has to be one of the best lines ever at Terra Linda."

Passing is Jackson's thing, however. He admits he probably couldn't do much without it.

"I doubt if i'd be playing if I couldn't throw," he said. "That's it. I can't do much of enything else. I'm not too fast, and I don't block that well."

Burnam is still flushed over that triumph against Novato. It's the biggest athletic moment, and despite the fact that the fellow is only a junior, that's saying a lot. Burnam was the starting catcher on the Novato Babe Ruth baseball team that went all the way to the World Series in Alaska in 1967.

"That (the football game) has to be my greatest thrill," Burnam said. "That was some kind of game."

QUITE A DAY

Burnam had a lot to do with the outcome. His linebacking on that day was on a par with anybody in the league, including his rival at Novato, Dave Perron.

Burnam stopped sweeps, broke up plays in the backfield, stopped possible breakaways and was in more than half of the plays.

He had no comments about possibilities that the Mustangs might be able to upset Terra Linda.

"One at a time," he said "I'm going to think of the games one at a time."

The Mustangs, still unbeaten in four varsity tries, meet the Trojans on Saturday, Nov. 1 at 1:30 p.m., on the San Rafael High School field.

Rigney To Take Twins Job

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — President Calvin Griffith of the Minnesota Twins says he has offered the job of manager to Bill Rigney, who is expected to accept it tomorrow.

Rigney had a two-year contract with the California Angels, also an American League baseball club, when he was fired On May 28.

AGREED

"I offered Rigney the job in Chicago," Griffith said late last night on his return from an American League meeting in Chicago. "We have agreed on a one-year contract and also the terms."

Griffith added, "the only thing holding up the signing is that Rigney wants to make a settlement with the California Angels on his 1970 contract."

Rigney would succeed Billy Martin, who in his first years as a major league manager piloted the Twins to the A.L. Western Division crown. Griffith fired Martin Oct. 13, after the Twins lost three straight games to Baltimore in the league championship playoff.

REDUCED LIST

Griffith said early this week he had reduced his original list of 50 managerial possibilities to four. He said they were Billy Hunter, Baltimore coach; Joe Schultz, Seattle Pilots' manager in 1969; Eddie Yost, New York Mets' coach, and Rigney.

Rigney, 51, is well-known among baseball fans in the Minneapolis and St. Paul areas. He managed the old American Association Minneapolis Millers in 1954-55, before he became manager of the old New York Giants in 1956. He remained manager of the Giants in New York and then San Francisco until early in the 1960 season. He went to the Angels in 1961. In 1962, California finished third in the American League and Rigney was named Manager of the Year.

He was fired by the Angels' new general manager, Dick Walsh, after California had won 11 games and lost 28 as of May 28 this season. He has been doing color commentary for radio broadcasts of Giant games this past season.

MUST-WIN SITUATION

Tough Task For Marin

From now on, it's must-win time for College of Marin's football team.

The Tars can't really afford to lose another Camino Norte Conference game if they want to keep any thoughts of repeating as co-champions.

College of Marin, which lost to West Valley (Campbell) in its opener last week, 34-27, faces its first must situation Friday when it entertains long-time rival Solano Junior College of Vallejo at Marin Catholic High in Kentfield, 3 p.m.

The Tars came out of the West Valley heartbreaker with only one semi-serious injury — a back sprain to safety Jim Taylor — and with a lot of wounded pride and the knowledge that they can indeed move the football.

'BEAT OURSELVES'

"We just beat ourselves in that one," coach Dick Read said "So many penalties, and those interceptions. We helped them an awful lot. On the other hand,we really moved the football, scoring four times like that on legitimate drives."

The conference race, if the first weekend was any indication of things to come, is already shaping up into a dogfight between West Valley and DeAnza of Cupertino. DeAnza smashed a supposedly strong Contra Costa team last week, 48-8 while Santa Rosa nicked Solano, 7-6.

One point could be the point spread Friday. The Tars and Solano have a tradition of tight battles. College of Marin won their first meeting, 33-0 in 1963 but since it's been nip and tuck. Solano won 6-0 in 1964. College of Marin gained a 14-14 tie in 1965 on a punt return in the last 54 seconds, won 16-15 in 1966, and 21-20 last year. They didn't play in 1967.

Solano is 3-2 on the season with non-league wins over Menlo, Cabrillo (Apotos) and Monterey while losing to Eureka's College of the Redwoods, 42-6, in addition to Santa Rosa.

"They're a real quick team," Read said. "They have people like Spencer Davis, a 9.9 sprinter, in the backfield and probably Fred Brown, last year's outstanding back of the conference."

Brown sat out half of the Santa Rosa game, but is expected to be ready for the Tars.

GOOD BALANCE

"They're a very well-balanced team," Read said. "They alternate quarterbacks — Doug Herren, who is fairly quick, and Mike Golovich, who is a good thrower."

The Tars have pretty good throwers themselves in a pair of Redwood High School grads — Jim Peters and Kevin Wilson. In fact, the offense is no real worry for Read. And the defense is getting better.

"They're coming along," he said. "We got a lot of penalties for aggressiveness, but that's partly eagerness and will iron itself out."

Bench, Seaver Head Star-Studded Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Bench of the Cincinnati Reds and Tom Seaver of New York's world champion Mets head The Associated Press' all-star major league baseball team announced today.

The 21-year-old Bench, who hit .293 with 20 homers and 90 runs batted in in his second full season in the majors, was the top vote-getter, attracting 264 in the nation-wide balloting by 283 sports writers and broadcasters.

Seaver, the smooth right-hander whose 25-7 record was the best in the majors and whose exuberance and zest played a big role in the Mets miracle, was next with 237 votes.

He was the only member of the world champions to make either the first or second team.

In fact, Cincinnati was the only team to land two players on the first team—outfielder Pete Rose, who led the National

SAN FRANCISCO OPEN GOLF

It's Tough To Find A Favorite

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Billy Casper is the defending champion and Arnold Palmer the sentimental choice, but a clear cut favorite is hard to find in the $100,000 San Francisco Open Golf Tournament.

With numerous winners on the tour already this year and no one dominating the game as Palmer, Casper, Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus have done in recent years, a flock of young lions must be among the top choices.

They include Ray Floyd, the controversial PGA champion and winner of three events; outspoken Dave Hill, the only other three-time winner this year; steady Frank Beard, the year's leading money winner; and possibly slim Dale Douglass, who has played very well in recent events.

Palmer, however, is almost certain to be the gallery favorite. The 40-year-old millionaire is on a comeback from a two-month absence from the game that he, more than any other man, made a popular favorite.

He hasn't won in more than a year and had a disappointing last start in his comeback in the Sahara Invitational last week, finishing far back in the field. But the old crowd-appeal magic still exists.

Nicklaus, winner of the Sahara, is taking a week off. "I haven't been home in four weeks, and that's too long," big Jack said after his victory in Las Vegas.

Also among the missing are Lee Trevino and Orville Moody, who teamed to win the World Cup for the United States a few weeks ago. Both are on tour in the Far East. Player is through for the year.

George Archer, the Masters champion who had to pull out of the Sahara because of continuing tendonitis in his left elbow, is a question mark. If he's able to play, the 6-foot-6 Archer must be rated among the favorites because of his familiarity with the Harding Park course.

The tournament, being played under the San Francisco Open Label for the first time, replaces the Lucky International on the tour schedule. It's under new sponsorship.

The site is the 6,677-yard par 71 Harding Park golf course, a heavily played municipal layout on the shore of Lake Merced, one of the more testing municipal courses in the area.

The pro-amateur event, a prelude to the regular tournament, was held today. The tourney gets underway tomorrow and lasts until Sunday.

Bay Area Tracks Name New Boss

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Golden Gate Fields and Tanforan race tracks both named a new general manager yesterday — Philip J. Dunn, advertising and promotions director for the Aqueduct, Belmont and Saratoga meetings in New York.

Dunn in December will succeed Bob Gunderson, who will devote full time to his duties as general manager of the California Jockey Club, which operates Bay Meadows here.

ARCADIA — Bill Shoemaker, America's top jockey, has been suspended for five days beginning Friday on a race interference charge and the penalty puts him out of Saturday's $116,175 Oak Leaf Stakes at Santa Anita. His mount Sailors Mate was a strong favorite.

The Shoe's suspension was announced yesterday after the board of stewards at Oak Tree looked at films of his disqualification last Saturday when he finished first oboard Knight in Armor.

The stewards ruled he interfered with the second place finisher at the 16th pole.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

If you're not bending your back and your left knee, you are not delivering the ball as well as you might. You'll frequently leave pins standing on a pocket hit and wonder why. Get down. Start the ball from as slight an angle as possible and it will roll, rather than skid, into the pins.

McCovey, Others To Be Honored

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI)—A day long celebration on Oct. 25 will honor major league baseball players who began their careers here.

Heading the list will be Tommie Agee and Cleon Jones of the New York Mets. Others to be honored are Hank and Tommy Aaron of the Atlanta Braves, Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants, Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs, Amos Otis of the Mets, Frank and Milt Bolling, Satchel Paige and Eddie Stanky.

Bobby Burnett rushed for 766 yards in 1966 for the Buffalo Bills.

Crucial Contests In Marin Warner Grid This Week

San Rafael Junior Bulldogs and Novato Junior Hornets, two teams which fought to a scoreless tie in their meeting earlier this season, will be trying for the Marin County Pop Warner Football League championship in separate games this weekend.

San Rafael will be going against Terra Linda Junior Trojans 1 p.m. Saturday at Terra Linda High School field, and Novato will be hosting Drake Junior Pirates at 2 p.m. Sunday on the Novato High School field. League with a .348 average, was the Reds' other representative.

Others on the first team were Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants at first, Rod Carew of Minnesota at second, Rico Petrocelli of Boston at shortstop, Ron Santo of the Chicago Cubs at third, outfielders Hank Aaron of Atlanta and Frank Howard of Washington and left-handed pitcher Mike Cueller of Baltimore's American League champs.

Bench was an overwhelming choice as catcher. The young slugger's nearest rival, Bill Freehan of Detroit, drew only eight votes.

SOLID CHOICE

Seaver similarly was a solid choice as the right-handed pitcher, drawing 211 votes more than runnerup Denny McLain of Detroit, the 31-game winner of 1968 who was 24-9 last season.

Carew, who led the American League with a .322 average, beat out Glenn Beckert of the Cubs as the second baseman, 217 votes to 42.

Petrocelli, who hit .297 with 40 homers and 96 RBI, also had a comfortable margin over another Cub, Don Kessinger, at short —234 votes to 40.

Aaron, who helped the Braves to the N.L. West title with a .299 average, 44 homers and 96 RBI, led the outfield balloting with 224.

Rose was next with 186 while Howard, who had his greatest year with 48 homers, 111 RBI and a .296 average, had 112.

RUNNERSUP

The three runnersup were Frank Robinson of Baltimore (.308), Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh (.345) and Reggie Jackson of Oakland (.276), who led the A.L. in homers much of the season before being sidelined late in the campaign and finishing with 47.

Jackson edged out Cleon Jones of the Mets for final outfield spot on the second team by just three votes.

Because of some vote splitting, Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota wound up as both the first and third baseman of the second team.

Killebrew, who hit .277 in leading the majors with 49 homers and 140 RBI, played both positions during the season and had 53 votes at first and 83 at third. However, his total vote for both positions—136—would still have put him behind either Santo at third or McCovey at first.

KEY ROLE

McCovey, who played a key role in the Giants' pennant bid, drew the attention of the voters with 45 homers, 126 RBI and a .320 average.

Santo, the Cubs' captain, produced 129 RBI, 29 homers and a .287 average.

Seals Get Some Help From Penguin Goalie

By DAVID DIETZ

OAKLAND — In his net or out of it, Joe Daley, lanky goaltender of the Pittsburgh Penguins, found persistent misery last night.

In goal, Daley could have found urgent use for a barn door as the Oakland Seals scored three easy tallies that carried them to a 4-3 win and back into first place in the Western Division of the National Hockey League.

Out of the goalmouth, Daley embellished his role as game goat. Near the end of the game, with the Penguins threatening to tie, Daley wandered behind his net for a loose puck. Ted Hampson, the Seals' diminutive center, chugged along and rammed the helpless goalie, sending him crashing ignominiously to the ice.

The Penguins, showered with boos from a crowd of 2,812, roughed up Hampson for his tactics and drew a penalty with less than two minutes left that crushed any hope for a tie.

Daley's loose goaltending helped the Seals rush to a 3-0 lead. First, Norm Ferguson's shot from behind the Pittsburgh net at 3:02 of the first period caromed off Daley's skate. Twelve minutes later, Bill Hicke's skate. Twelve minutes later, Bill Hicke's backhand shot struck Daley's leg pad and spun into the net.

Left wing Gary Jarrett scored the Seals' third goal — Oakland's only "honest" tally of the night — when he beat Daley with a whistler from 30 feet at 1:15 of the second period.

But the Penguins, aided by Oakland lapses, swept back. Goals by Ron Schock, Wally Boyer, a former Seal, and Bob Woytowich tied the game. Woytowich's tally came when the Seals had one man in the penalty box and Daley had been lifted in favor of another attacker when Oakland was about to be penalized again.

With 12 minutes left in the game, Daley was Oakland's benefactor for the last time. Hicke fed helmeted Mike Laughton about 20 feet out and Laughton's soft backhander skipped off Daley's leg into the cage.

Outside the Penguins' dressing room later, Pittsburgh coach Red Kelly probably had the thoughts of his goaltender in mind when he said, "It's bad enough when you lose a game, but when you give it away. . . ."

San Jose '11' Will Wear Armbands

SAN JOSE (UPI)—Members of the San Jose State College football team say the entire squad will wear multi-colored armbands Saturday as an answer to the racial troubles currently affecting their opponents, the Wyoming Cowboys.

Fourteen black players were dismissed from the Cowboy squad by coach Lloyd Eaton after joining a Wyoming Black Students Alliance protest of alleged racial discrimination at Brigham Young University. The Cowboys, without the services of their black players, defeated BYU last weekend, 40-7.

SPECULATION

There had been speculation that some San Jose State players would join the protest of the Wyoming blacks by refusing to play Saturday in Wyoming and Nov. 8 at Brigham Young.

But four Spartan players—two blacks and two whites—issued a statement yesterday saying the team had voted unanimously in a pre-practice meeting to go ahead with the game Saturday.

Defensive end Tony Jackson and halfback Frank Slaton joined split end Glenn Massengale and tight end Mark Woods in announcing the Spartans will wear multi-colored armbands as a "symbolic gesture of our understanding of the feelings about BYU."

ARMBANDS

All members of the team will wear multi-colored armbands expressing our concern for all racial minorities—not just on the football field, but within the greater society," the players said.

BYU has been the target of protest several times in recent years. Blacks have been criticizing the beliefs of the church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) which operates the Provo, Utah, university.

There are no blacks on BYU's football squad, and BYU president Ernest L. Wilkinson says there are almost no blacks living in Provo. He claims there is only one black family living in the town of more than 36,000.

49er Nolan Still Shopping For QB

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — It will be Friday before the winless San Francisco 49ers know whether veteran quarterback John Brodie will start against Baltimore on Sunday.

Brodie, who has a chronic case of "pitcher's elbow" that is crippling his passing ability, will rest his arm until Friday.

Coach Dick Nolan, who has been shopping around the National Football League for a replacement, said yesterday all inquiries were fruitless.

He expressed confidence that reserve quarterback Steve Spurrier will be able to fill the gap if necessary.

Nolan said he hopes Brodie can work out the arm problem. "If it lingers," Noland said, "it could be very serious, but I'm optimistic to the point where I don't think it will be.'

Trojans Lead Offense Marks

Terra Linda and San Marin high schools rule the statistical roost after three weeks of Marin County Athletic League football action.

Terra Linda, unbeaten in league play with a 2-0 mark, has the most high-powered offense, with no fear of looking back. The Trojans are averaging 300 yards per game, some 105 yards better than runnerup San Rafael.

San Marin, also unbeatedn in league play with a 2-0 mark, and bolstered by a 9-0 win over Novato, has the best defensive record, allowing 98 yards per game, 25 yards less than runnerup San Rafael.

The Mustangs were helped considerably by the Novato game, in which they allowed the Hornets just 10 yards total offense, including no yards passing.

Redwood has the best defense against the rush, allowing just 45 yards rushing per game.

On the individual scene, Jay Lehman of Redwood, a sophomore, Tom Jackson of Terra Linda, Mark Silverman of Drake, Clifford Hall of Tamalpais and Bod Daniele of Terra Linda lead the pack.

Lehman is the top rusher with 165 yards, followed closely by Silverman with 16. Jackson tops all the passers with 262 yards on 12 of 28 completions. Next in line is Tamalpais sophomore Dan Locey with 12 of 22 completions for 175 yards and three touchdowns. Jackson has thrown four touchdown strikes.

Silverman and Hall top the receivers with eight catches each, just a shade ahead of Jim Dominguez of Drake with seven catches.

Daniele leads the scoring with four touchdowns, seven extra points and a field goal, all good for 34 points.

Ron Petroni of Tomales continues to lead Marin County rushers with a whopping 708 yards in 63 carries. Runnerup is Mark Lewis of Marin Catholic with 414 yards. Petroni also jumped into the scoring lead with a four-touchdown splurge against Middletown, pushing his season total to 56 points, six ahead of Daniele, who has 50.

Jackson leads the passers with 33 completions in 67 tries good for 696 yards and nine touchdowns. Hall is the top receiver with 13, followed by Dominquez with 12 and Dewy Forry of Terra Linda and Daniele with 11 each.

Coast's Top Quarterback To Be Decided Saturday

Dennis Dummit is a dandy quarterback. He proved that once again when he directed UCLA's undefeated Bruins to their sirth straight victory in a 32-0 shutout of California's Golden Bears. The Bruins believe Dummit is the best quarterback in the Pacific-8.

Stanford will dispute that and with good reason. Stanford's Jim Plunkett still is the total offense leader in the Pac-8 with a slight passing and rushing edge over Dummit.

THIS SATURDAY in Stanford Stadium football fans will get an opportunity to watch Dummit and Plunkett in direct head-to-head competition when the Bruins and Indians clash.

At the moment just 37 yards separate Dummit and Plunkett in total offense. Plunkett leads with 1,330 yards to Dummit's 1,293.

PLUNKETT'S PASSING edge over Dummit is 36 yards, just one rushing. It couldn't be much closer.

Of 153 passes, Plunkett has completed 88 for 1,237 yards and a .575 percentage. Of 107 passes, Dummit has completed 61 for 1,201 yards and a .570 percentage. Plunkett has thrown seven interceptions, Dummit three.

IN 24 option keepers, Plunkett added 93 rushing yards to his total. In 57 carries, Dummit added 92 yards to his.

There will be much more at stake in the Stanford-UCLA game than Plunkett's and Dummit's total offense records. Stanford could get back on the Pasadena road to the roses with a win over the Bruins who are 3-0 in the Pac-8. Stanford is 2-1 in the conference because of that 26-24 loss to USC a couple of weekends ago on Ron Ayala's 34-yard field goal just as the clock was ticking the final second of the game.

SHOULD STANFORD beat the Bruins and the Bruins beat the Trojans next month in their season finale, Stanford, UCLA and USC conveivably could wind up in a Pac-8 tie with one defeat each. Of course, that possibility is contingent on their winning their other Pac-8 games. But it's interesting speculation.

However, there isn't anything speculative about Dummit being a top quarterback. He is the difference between the 1968 and 1969 Bruins. The Bruins of last year and this year are the same except for Dummit who joined them this year as a junior college transfer from Long Beach City College.

LAST SEASON the Bruins finished 3-7. This year they are 6-0. It's all Dummit's doing. This becomes evident in light of the fact that most of last year's Bruin regulars on defense and offense—30 of them—are back this year.

THE BRUIN running game still is focused on Greg Jones and Mickey Cureton. Owen Cooper and George Farmer still are the UCLA pass receivers. Dummit's direction of them in a balanced running-passing game is the reason the Bruins are 6-0 this season as contrasted with last year's 3-7 record.

Grid Game Changed

Sonoma State College's football game against San Francisco State College's junior varsity has been changed from Saturday at Durst Field in Petaluma to Friday night at 7:30 at Analy High School, Sebastopol.

Boxing's Al Weill Dies At 76

MIAMI (UPI)—Al Weill, who made his reputation as a matchmaker for Madison Square Garden and later used the knowledge he picked up to manage Rocky Marciano to the heavyweight title, died last night in a state hospital after a long illness.

The 76-year-old Weill is survived by his wife, Sonja, a son, daughter and two grandchildren. The burial is to be tomorrow in Miami.

FOUR CHAMPS

He was the manager of four world champions during his colorful career—featherweight Joey Archibald, lightweight Lou Ambers, welterweight Marty Servo and Marciano—and his shrewd ability to pick opponents was responsible for the success of his fighters.

His death follows Marciano's by less than two months. Charley Goldman, the gnome-like trainer who always worked with Weill and polished Marciano's crude style, and Allie Columbo, Marciano's best friend and advisor, also died this year.

A BUNDLE

Besides the Garden, Weill had made matches for several small clubs, the Polo Grounds and Ebbetts Field. During the middle of the depression, he had attracted a gate of $118,000 for a Tournament of Chanpions at the Polo Grounds and came out with $25,000.

He also was the man who first took notice of an unorthodox South American named Arturo Godoy and brought him to the United States for two title bouts with Joe Louis.

Early Wynn holds the record for most years pitched in the major leagues—23.

Dixon Is Still Question Mark

OAKLAND (AP) — A decision on the availability of Oakland Raiders fullback Hewritt Dixon probably won't be made until near game time Sunday when the Raiders meet the San Diego Chargers.

Hewritt has been out of action with a bruised knee but is believed to have recovered sufficiently to play.

Though the team is at full strength for the first time since winning the 1967 AFL championship, Raiders' Coach John Madden has developed a keen appreciation for its reserve forces.

Madden said he was well satisfied with the 50-21 win over Buffalo in which reserve players had a chance at some extended playing.

MARIN-SONOMA GOLF NOTES

Palmer's Secret Visit

By RALPH CHATOIAN

If you happened to be around Meadow Club in Fairfax Tuesday of last week, that guy who looked like Arnold Palmer getting out of a helicopter WAS Arnold Palmer.

It was Arnie without his Army, a very secret thing put on by Newsweek Magazine.

Newsweek, you see, has contracted Palmer for four days to play a little golf with some of the magazine's top advertising clients. There were 24 of them from all parts of the country, and Arnie played three holes of golf with six different foursomes, all of the men being able to say, "I played golf with Arnie."

Meadow Club was honored to be chosen as the site for the affair, since it was the first time one of these "meet Arnie" things has been held on the West Coast, according to Meadow Club pro Joe Ferrero.

Palmer, competing in the Sahara Invitational last week, and his pilot flew Arnie's personal jet to San Francisco International Airport from Las Vegas, Nev., and from there came to Meadow Club by helicopter, landing in the parking lot. That's when some of the Meadow Clubbers began getting suspicious.

Newsweek people, you see, demanded strict secrecy concerning Palmer's visit. But when the Meadow Club members who happened to be present heard over the club's P.A. system, "Arnold Palmer, you're wanted on the telephone," the bag was out of the cat, or something like that.

So, although it was raining heavily, about 20 club members volunteered for Army duty and followed Palmer and the golfers around the course.

And what did Arnie shoot?

"A 69, and in the rain, too," said Ferrero. "He didn't even line up a putt, just walked up and hit. He is quite a guy. I just can't say enough good things about him." It sounds like Joe's bucking for sergeant stripes.

THERE'S GOING to be a Pro-Am golf tournament at the Meadow Club, with all proceeds going to San Rafael's Marindale School for the orthopedically handicapped, that is if enough players help out.

Dr. Doug Ramsey, one of the tourney organizers, said more players are needed for the tournament which is scheduled for Nov. 3, a shotgun start at 12:30 p.m. Each foursome will consist of three amateurs and a Bay Area professional. Cost is $30, which includes lunch. And all the money, says Dr. Ramsey, goes to the Marindale School. To enter, call the pro shop at Meadow Club.

MILL VALLEY'S club champion is scheduled to be decided Saturday when Earl Brown goes against Jim Brown (no relation) in the long delayed finals. Latest date change for the heralded meeting was from Sunday to Saturday.

Chuck Akins won the ninth annual Columbus Day golf tourney last Friday at Sonoma National. His 77-10—67 won over Ray Fowler, 79-10—69. In guest flight, Rocky Alexander won with blind bogey score of 52 to Msgr. John Farrell's 59. Hole-in-one contest won by John Phalen, 2 feet, 6 inches.

FIRST ROHNERT PARK Invitational is scheduled Nov. 16, an 18-hole tourney with gross, handicap and Calloway divisions. The $8 entry fee includes golf, lunch and prizes.

MEMBERS of Petaluma Golf and Country Club will gather tomorrow night at 6 o'clock for their annual club dinner and awards night.

AMONG tournaments coming up around the area will be the Cellars Invitational Monday at San Geronimo National, with 120 golfers expected; a home-and-home match hosted by Petaluma Golf and Country Club against golfers from Mill Valley Golf Club Sunday, starting at 8:30 a.m., with 30 golfers from each club going at it; and a Colgate-Palmolive employees tourney for 50 players Saturday at Peacock Gap Country Club in San Rafael.

Today is Wednesday, Oct. 22, the 295th day of 1969 with 70 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The mornings stars are Mercury, Venus, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening star is Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1836, Gen. Sam Houston was sworn in as first president of the Republic of Texas.

In 1883, the Metropolitan Opera House in New York City staged its grand opening with a performance of "Faust."

In 1962, President John F. Kennedy announced the arms blockade of Cuba after Soviet missiles were discovered on the island.

In 1968, the Apollo 7 astronauts splashed down after an 11-day earth orbital flight.

A thought for the day: George Bernard Shaw said, "There is only one religion, though here are a hundred versions of it."

Restaurant Gets Sign Approval

An identification sign for Hamby's take-out food restaurant at 600 Miller Avenue has been approved by the Mill Valley Architectural Advisory Committee, Howard R. McGill, zoning administrator reported.

McGill said the restaurant owners agreed to a block letter sign attached to the bulding.

A pale yellow enamel was approved for the Sycamore Avenue street light standards, McGill said.

The committee, meeting Monday night, also named member August Rath as its representative to the joint street lighting committee.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

An Unusual Play Must Be Executed To Halt The Enemy

Not all opponents are equally hostile. In some cases, one opponent may be a tiger, while the other is just a pussycat. If you can tell the difference, keep the tiger at a safe distance even if this means giving an unexpected trick to the tame tabby.

CLUB LEAD

When West led the king of clubs, declarer had to win with dummy's ace in order to preserve a possible second club trick in the South hand. South's jack would provide a second stopper if West continued the clubs; but it would be worthless if East led clubs.

Under these circumstances, it was clear that East was the tiger and West the pussycat. South didn't mind losing a trick to West, but he had to keep East out of the lead at almost any cost.

Since declarer needed four diamond tricks to make sure of his contract, he led the nine of diamonds from dummy, intending to duck the trick around to West if allowed to do so.

COVERS NINE

East naturally covered the nine of diamonds with the ten (it would have done him no good to play low), and South won with the ace. The fall of the seven gave declarer a clue to the diamond position.

South led a spade to dummy's king and led the six of diamonds, once more intending to pass the trick to West if East played low. East put up the eight of diamonds, and South won with the king. West's spade discard confirmed South's suspicions.

HEART TO DUMMY

Now South led a heart to dummy's king and led the deuce of diamonds. South had the Q-5-3 of diamonds behind East's J-4 and could safely finesse with the five to make sure of five diamond tricks. If South had played the diamonds "normally," East would have won a diamond trick, and then his club return would defeat the contract.

What do you say?

Answer: Pass.

The hand is not quite worth an opening bid. If the jack of hearts were the queen, you would open one heart.

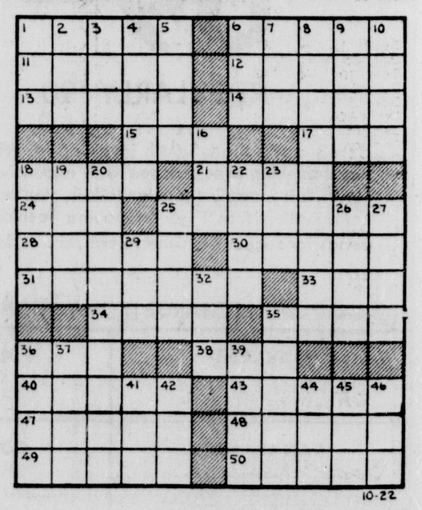
Yesterday's Answer



Three Inducted Into Service

Three men were inducted into the armed forces this month by the Marin County Selective Service Board, executive secretary Joy M. Kinser reported yesterday.

They are John M. McNaboe of San Anselmo, Curtis O. Kamai of Sausalito and Meludi Miles of Mill Valley.

The county draft quota for October was seven, but the quota is seldom filled, Mrs. Kinser said. The quota for November is 37.

Nader Wants Firms' Executives On Ballot

BERKELEY (UPI) — Consumer crusader Ralph Nader believes executives of the nation's top 200 corporations ought to be elected by the public.

"The leaders of the largest industries have more power than the politicians, yet are not responsive to the public good," Nader told a University of California audience Monday night.

"Not one of the presidents of the top 200 corporations has ever spoken at a university or to a city council," he said. "They don't like speaking before groups they don't control."

Nader singled out the auto industry for perpetrating "organized crime" on the public. He said the greatest contribution Communism has made to the world is to keep a car out of the average Russian and Chinese garage.

The crusader for consumers was particularly irked at the industry's failure to adopt in the construction of automobiles safety features "that were realized a couple of millennia ago."

Nader, who uses sarcasm the way a carpenter handles a hammer, said: "Although Hippocrates realized the human body had a greater relation to a flat yielding surface than to a sharp protruding edge, this was not realized by Detroit in 1969."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Payroll Deduction Good Way To Buy Into Funds

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Our company offers a plan whereby employees can purchase shares from Keystone Custodian Funds through payroll deductions. I have never bought stock but would like to begin. Is there a good company? — R.H.

A. Keysyone Custodian acts as investment adviser for 10 mutual funds; its eleventh is now in registratiion. Close to $1.5 billion in combined assets are under its management. The various funds cover a wide range of investment goals from stability to performance. Each has consistently achieved above-average results within the limits of its stated goals. In the past 10 years two income and one balanced fund were in the top 8 per cent for income return. Over the same period three Keystone growth funds reached the top 8 per cent for performance results. Regular purchase through payroll deductions offers the additional benefit of dollar-cost averaging. By studying the literature on each fund you can determine which one most closely meets your needs.

Q. I have $16,000 in the bank drawing 5 per cent interest. Would it be sensible to invest $10,000 in bonds for their 8 per cent interest? — G.S.

A. A good many Americans have done just this. Disintermediation — the tranferral of capital from one form of savings to another — has reached unprecedented levels. This year individual savings deposits should total about $7.5 billion, down $10 billion from 1968. Conversely, individual investments in various bonds and other money market instruments are expected to rise 12 per cent this year.

Individuals in the past have played an insignificant role in this particular investment area. Yet this year individuals as a group will invest almost as much as institutions, excluding banks.

Wall Street Still Rising

NEW YORK (UPI)—Peace hopes triggered another sharp advance on Wall Street today in heavy trading.

Volume exceeded 18,000,000 shares.

Motorola, one of the many strong spots in the electronics, climbed several points.

Singer Co., which spurted 5 1-8 yesterday, continued to attract demand. The concern has entered the office copier market.

Motors were another impressive group, while Dow gained ground among the chemicals. The chemical firm plans to invest up to $250 million during the next five years at its complex in West Germany.

Airlines and aircrafts showed scattered strength. But several oils lost ground, including Midwest Oil Corp., which reported an increase in nine months' net.

Steels traded in both directions.

Among the most active issues were Benguiet, Occidental and International Telephone.

Prices climbed on the American Stock Exchange in active trading.

Hurricane Gnaws Fruit Firm Profit

BOSTON (BW) — United Fruit Co.'s earnings for the third quarter ended Oct. 4 were $9,176,000, equal to $1.11 per common share before making provision of $3.2 million of net after-tax loss as a result of Hurricane Francelia.

After that loss, earnings available to common stock were $5,976,000, or 72 cents per common share. Net earnings for the third quarter of 1968 were $5,896,000, or 73 cents per common share.

Earnings after taxes available to common stock in the first nine months of 1969 were $31,219,000, or $3.80 per common share before the special charge for the hurricane loss of $3.2 million. The company earned $3.80 per common share for the entire 1968 fiscal year.

After providing for the hurricane loss, earnings for the nine months amounted to $28,019,000, or $3.41 per common share. The company earned $26,161,000, or $3.25 per common share in the comparable 1968 period.

Tire Firm Still Has Franchise Despite Shop's Loss In Blaze

The Marin County dealership for Firestone tires is still held by Brodie and Schwerin, who formerly operated San Rafael Tire and Brake which was destroyed by fire last July.

This together with the fact that the firm has not ruled out succeeding itself when a new San Rafael location is secured, negates any claim Deming and Granger might make to successorship (as carried in this column of Oct. 6), according to Arthur W. Brodie.

Meanwhile, Brodie and Schwerin is servicing its commercial, truck, ready-mix and construction accounts from the Novato store, Novato Firestone, at 7374 Redwood Highway, under the management of Ronald Lammer.

The firm also has the Firestone dealership in Petaluma under the name of Petaluma Firestone, at 19 Petaluma Boulevard South. Vern Bergstrom is the manager here.

DOROTHEA PORTRAIT STUDIO at 1311 Fourth Street, San Rafael has been sold by Mrs. Dorothea Rode to Marin Upholstery at 1321 Fourth Street. The latter will continue the combined studio and picture framing business. Mrs. Rode is said to be moving to Arizona.

ALFA PHOTOJOURNALISTS COOPERATIVE, with offices in London and New York, has opened a Marin office at 704 Cabin Drive, Mill Valley, directed by Walter Odets.

Activities of the cooperative, composed of both photographers and journalists, are described as "environmental portraiture work for private individuals," along with book and magazine work.

A FACILITY of the Marin County Communications Department for the repair of county communications vehicles will be opened at 77 Mitchell Boulevard, Northgate Industrial Park on Nov. 1. The county has leased 3,000 square feet in the structure owned by builder John Ribeiro, through William W. Hoey and Co.

K. L. (JIM) RICE of Tiburon has been appointed director of client services for Hoefer, Dieterich and Brown, Inc., San Francisco and has also been elected to the agency's executive committee. He joined the company last year as vice president and account supervisor after four years as director of advertising for Hills Bros. Coffee of San Francisco.

Kroeter

JAY KROETER of Novato has been appointed marketing specialist for the West Coast region for Boise-Cascade Building Products. Prior to joining the company in 1966 he was a salesman for Woodall Industries, Inc. Since then he has been market development representative for Boise-Cascade for the West Coast.

NEW ACCOUNT EXECUTIVE at the San Rafael office of Dean Witter and Co., Inc., is Glenn A. Giacomazzi, formerly of San Francisco and now living in San Rafael. He is accredited by the New York Stock Exchange and will handle individual brokerage accounts. Prior to joining the company he was a field representative for Avco Corp. of Sacramento.

JOHN A. (JACK) GANSLOSER of San Rafael has joined P. Leiner and Sons, America, Inc., a gelatin manufacturer, as western sales manager. He was formerly with Halo Sales Corp.

Involve Public, Probers Urge Tam Trustees

A survey of community attitudes in Tamalpais High School District indicates the district needs to try to involve the public to greater extent in decisions, the men who made the survey told board members last night.

Mervin D. Field of Belvedere, who heads Field Research Corp., and his assistant, Peter Sherril, reviewed the survey findings in a special workshop meeting with three district trustees: chairman Bette Wallace, David D. Ring and Frank L. Miller. Trustees Gloria Melbostad and Robert W. Corlett were absent.

MAIN SORE POINT

The survey, made last May, showed general public satisfaction with the school district, despite the fact it followed the third successive bond issue defeat at the polls, said Field. But it pointed up some areas of public concern, particularly over discipline.

Sherril, who plumped repeatedly for trying to get the community more involved, told the trustees:

"You should have some kind of program to bring teachers together with parents as often as possible." Such a program, he said, might result in parent-teacher confrontations, but "this would be good — both parties can benefit."

SOCIAL PROBLEM

Field and Sherrill said they were struck with the findings about social responsibility. Citizens and faculty polled in the May survey agreed this is an area calling for greater emphasis. An 22 per cent of community members who added volunteered comments on the survey sheets expressed concern over lack of discipline — which Field and Sherril agreed is a closely related matter.

Trustee Ring, in a series of questions, sought to find out whether the persons who made this comment in the survey might be the same ones who chastised board and superintendent in a boisterous meeting two weeks ago over rescinding of Redwood High School haircut regulations for athletes. Field said most of the comments were unsigned but it might be possible to check how many came from each high school's attendance area.

Principal Harold Allison of Sir Francis Drake High School suggested what was absent from the survey comments might be important, too. Although 22 per cent commented on lack of discipline, 15 per cent on "deplorable school attire and hair length," none made the comment that the schools are too strict and repressive, he noted.

TEACHERS CONCERNED

Although the survey showed teachers did not put such high emphasis on developing social responsibility. Sherril said he spent yesterday talking with teachers at Drake High and found general concern over this and the related matter of discipline.

Part of the problem, Sherril suggested, "is the isolation that education sits in."

"Allowing teachers to live in isolation and protecting them from the public" only serves to increase distrust, he suggested.

Trustees came to no conclusion as to what should be done to promote greater community participation, but agreed that some approach should be worked out.

Fire Chief Reports Loggers Cleaning Up

Loggers on the Ethel Righetti Ranch on Bolinas Ridge have cleaned up about 90 per cent of the logs and slash since the county filed a court suit last month, County Fire Chief Louis Bloom reported yesterday.

He said he visited the logging area this morning and found most of the logs hauled away and the debris stacked in neat piles ready for burning. Chief Bloom said recent rain did not cause any slides.

Cotati To Interview For City Engineer

The Cotati City Council will meet behind closed doors at 7 p.m. tomorrow at the city office to interview applicants for city engineer.

The council last week fired City Engineer Robert Hyde because his full time employment and Napa home didn't permit him to spend enough time in Cotati.
